
EARL LI HUNG CHANG.

having aided the commanding General; but two years later the Emperor restored him to his titles and the office of Grand Chancellor.

Li was at the head of Chinese affairs when the war with Japan broke out. He was blamed for the defeat of China on land and sea, and, being summoned to Pekin, was stripped of his yellow jacket and decorations. Later the jacket was restored, and Li went to Japan to settle the peace negotiations. He was shot in the face by a Japanese fanatic, but not seriously, and he concluded a treaty that was the best that could be got from Japan under the circumstances. Returning to Pekin, he was again degraded; indeed Li seldom kept his decorations more than a few months at a time. But at the time of the Czar's coronation, in 1897, Li was in favor at court, and was despatched to Moscow to attend the ceremonies. He then continued westward, and circled the globe on the return to Pekin, visiting Toronto and attracting a large crowd to the Industrial Fair.

When the Boxer trouble broke out he was Viceroy of Canton, and his influence is said to have been to prevent the spread of the disorders.

He was the greatest Chinese statesman, and one of the greatest of the world's statesmen of the last century. He was ranked with Bismarck, Gladstone, Gambetta and Disraeli. His ideas of official morality were hardly up to the European standard, as he was able to amass the greatest fortune owned by one man in the world by levying tolls for his own benefit on all those who sought privileges from the Government. His wealth is estimated at half a billion dollars.

CAVALRY OF CANADA

British War Office Finds Dominion's Offer Acceptable.

A STRONG CONTINGENT TO GO

Normals Required to Be Sent From Britain to Teach Boer Children in the Concentration Camps—Simple Rudiments and Singing the Programme—Expressions of the Dutch Anti-British Plan.

London, Nov. 7.—The British war office, it is understood, will accept Canada's offer of a strong cavalry contingent for service in South Africa.

To Go to Jamaica.

Kingston, Jamaica, Nov. 7.— The Twentieth Battery of Artillery, now at Halifax, has been ordered to proceed to Jamaica next month, to relieve the Twenty-second Battery, now here, which is under orders to embark for South Africa with the Leinster Regiment.

To Teach Boer Children.

London, Nov. 7.—Following the recent outcry against the treatment of the children in the South African concentration camps comes the advertisement, inserted by the Board of Education in yesterday morning's papers, for female teachers to go to the camps in order to teach the children simple rudiments and singing.

Dutch Anti-British Plan.

London, Nov. 7.—The Brussels correspondent of The Times says the proposed boycott of British commerce has degenerated in Holland into a simple manifestation of Socialism against capital. Many who would otherwise sympathize with the movement detest Socialism and therefore withhold their support.

AN EARLY RELEASE.

Consul-General Dickinson Receives a Letter From Miss Stone.

Constantinople, Nov. 7.—The officials of the United States legation here have received news, through Cal here have received news through Calonica, that indicates the early release of the captives in the hands of the brigands. On Oct. 29, Miss Stone and Madame Tsilka were both well.

Letter From Miss Stone.

Washington, Nov. 7.—The State Department received yesterday a cablegram from Consul-General Dickinson at Constantinople saying that he had received a letter from Miss Stone, the missionary held by brigands for ransom, dated Oct. 29,

THE FULL RETURNS

Of the New York Elections Give Mr. Low a Majority of 29,864—Shepard Carried Queen's Only.

New York, Nov. 7.—Full returns in New York city of the vote for mayor show the election of Seth Low, the Fusion candidate, by a majority of 29,864. Mr. Low received 294,992 votes, and Edward M. Shepard, Democratic candidate 265,128. Mr. Shepard carried only one borough, and in that one, Queens, his majority was only 762.

In the County of New York, the last remaining hope of the Democrats, is swept away by figures indicating the defeat of John T. Oakley for sheriff by William F. O'Brien. O'Brien's majority, however, probably is not more than 3 or 4 thousand. The majorities of the Fusionist candidates for justice of the Supreme Court and of William Travers Jerome, the Fusionist nominee for District Attorney, are even larger than reported Tuesday night. Incomplete figures indicate that Jerome has carried his district. New York County, by about 15,000.

So badly was Mayor Van Wyck scratched that returns indicating his vote for Justice of the Supreme Court are late, and it is difficult to estimate the final figures, but is is believed that he will run nearly 30,000 behind his ticket. All of the Fusionist candidates for justice of the Supreme Court in New York County are elected, and all the Democratic candidates are beaten. The name of Justice O'Brien, however, appears on both tickets as a candidate for Justice of the Supreme Court.

Appearances yesterday morning indicated that the Democrats have just one out of the 16 members of the board of estimate and apportionment of Greater New York, the board, which, under the new charter, succeeds to many of the powers formerly vested in the Mayor. The Democrat who is certain of a position on the Board of Estimate and Apportionment is Borough President Cassidy of Queens.

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

W. F. McLean, Aged 30, Instantly Killed at Toronto Junction.

Toronto Junction, Nov. 7.—A fatal accident happened about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Gasoline Engine Works on the Weston road, the victim being William F. McLean, a young man about 20 years of age, who was the only son of Mr. W. McLean, 91 Huxley street, Toronto. William McLean was an employe of the Economic Gas Construction Co., which is developing gas from peat.

The company gets its power from the Gasoline Engine Works, whose factory is only a few yards away. The gas is made from peat, stored in a tank and piped to the experimental room in the Gasoline Engine Works. It was here that the accident happened. In order to start the engine it is necessary to give the fly wheel an impetus by hand.

McLean, who had been in an adjoining room oiling a machine during the noon hour, came into the room with some oil waste on his boots, and was starting the wheel in company with Mr. Miller, who was pushing on the corresponding wheel at the other side of the engine, when he slipped and fell forward with his head on the engine bed. His head was crushed between the revolving wheel and the platform, and in another instant he was thrown about eight feet from the engine against the wall of the room, death having been instantaneous. Just how the accident happened remains for a jury to say.

Deceased had been three years in the employ of the company, and was fitting himself for a draughtsman or mechanical engineer. He leaves a father, mother and four sisters. After viewing the scene of the accident an adjournment was made until Friday night. Interment will take place at Peterboro.

Influence of Canada

Kingston, Jamaica, Nov. 7.—The law levying a tax of $62.50 on commercial travelers coming into Jamaica is to be repealed. The approaching change has been brought about by the representations of Canada.

Killed by a Bicyclist.

Toronto, Nov. 7.—Miss Maggie Tanner was run down by a bicyclist yesterday afternoon at the corner of Yonge and Elm streets and sustained such serious injuries that death resulted about six hours later. About 12.30 o'clock Miss Tanner was walking down Yonge street, and at the corner of Elm street attempted to cross the roadway. While doing so Robert Pinkney, who lives at 144 Brunswick avenue, and who was riding a bicycle, struck her. She was thrown with great force to the pavement and rendered unconscious. Despite all aid she continued to grow worse until death relieved her of her sufferings at 6.45 o'clock. An inquest will be held. Deceased was 38 years of age and lived at Belleville.

MR. WHITNEY AND MR. CONMEE.

Mr. James Conmee, the member for West Algoma, was in Toronto a few days ago. When his attention was called to Mr. Whitney's Havelock reference to the development of New Ontario, in which the party papers quote him as saying that "not one settler outside the men who had gone to work on the railway, had gone into New Ontario under the conditions of the Algoma Central Railway bill, which called for a thousand settlers a year." Mr. Conmee said, "Mr. Whitney is talking about something he knows nothing at all about.

"Mr. Clergue has not only lived up to the letter of the act in this matter of immigration, but has far exceeded it," he continued. "This I know for a fact. It may be that he has not taken in many farmers yet, but that has not been practicable, nor was it required. The men he has brought in will be permanent residents of Canada. They are most of them skilled mechanics—men who will earn far more money than farm workers—and exactly the kind of men that country needs. They are at work not only on the railway but in the mines, in the offices, in the laboratories, and in all the other industries which are being built up there." Mr. Conmee affirmed that some farmers had been brought in, and that from now on there would be more. There is plenty of good farming land, he says, and there is as good a market as any in the world—a market at the farmer's gate for all he can grow.

Perfect Cure for Bronchitis.

This disease can be cured only by a remedy carried to the affected parts along with the air breathed, for nature intended these organs for the passage of air alone, and sprays, atomizers, and internal medicines utterly fail. But Catarrhozone does not fail, for it goes wherever the air breathed goes, and its healing antiseptic vapour is sure to reach every affected part. Catarrhozone is inhaled at the mouth and after passing through every air cell of the breathing organs is slowly exhaled through the nostrils. Catarrhozone protects and heals the inflamed surfaces, relieves congestion, allays inflammation, and perfectly cures all bronchial affections. Price $1; small size, 25 cents. STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355.92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

Housekeeper's Backache.

Many women lift and strain, over-work and over-tax their strength. Their back gives out. Their kidneys becomeaffected. They have a painful or sore feeling in the small of the back that takes all the life and ambition out of them. They feel dull, depressed, lifeless.

Listen! The hard work you've been doing has thrown extra work on the kidneys. They cry out in protest through the aching back. You feel wretched all over because the kidneys are not working right and poison is circulating in your system. The kidneys must have help—better give them the benefit of the best Kidney Medicine made—Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets—the prescription of a kidney specialist—the result of years of study of kidney diseases.

PAIN PREVENTED SLEEP.

Mrs. N. Laviolette, Arnprior, Ont., writes as follows: "I have used Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. They are beyond question the best kidney remedy I have ever used. I had lameness and an acute pain between the shoulders. I could not sleep nights. I had more or less headache. Often I suffered from indigestion caused by uric acid in my system. These troubles departed after I had used Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, my kidneys were strengthened and I rested better nights. I think these Tablets the most effective kidney remedy I have ever seen. I know that they surpass every other that I have tried heretofore, and I do not hesitate in recommending them."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50c. a Box, at all druggists or by mail, THE DR. ZINA PITCHER CO., Toronto, Ont.

A NOTABLE SPEECH

Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the Banquet of Manufacturers.

QUESTIONS OF RECIPROCITY

The Premier Reminds His Audience of the Time When Canada Was Sending Delegations to Washington, But He Would Not Be Surprised If in Time to Come It Would Be the Other Way On.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—The Canadian Manufacturers' Association discussed the tariff yesterday, and passed resolutions requesting the Government to impose the following duties:

All classes of finished woollens, worsted and knitted goods and carpets, 30 per cent. net.

Yarns, 20 per cent. net.

Oatmeal (specific), 60c. per 100 lbs.

Lithograph covers on package goods, 6c. per lb.

Increase on agricultural implements (not stated).

Folding boxes, 6c. per lb.

White pine, red (Norway) pine, hemlock, tamarac, spruce, Douglas fir, cedar, $2 per thousand feet.

Shingles, 30c. per 1,000.

Laths, 20c. per 1,000.

Officers Elected.

The following officers were elected: President, Robert Meadow, the Canada Paint Company, Montreal; first vice-president, Cyrus A. Birge, the Canada Screw Company, Hamilton; Ontario vice-president, W. K. George, the Standard Silver Company, Toronto; Quebec vice-president, J. J. McGill, the Canadian Rubber Company, Montreal; New Brunswick, vice-president, C. J. Osman, the Albert Manufacturing Company, Hillsboro, N.B.; Manitoba vice-president, W. F. Thompson, the Ogilvie Milling Company, Winnipeg, Man.; British Columbia vice-president, J. Hendrie, the British Columbia Mills, Timber and Trading Company, Vancouver; treasurer, G. Booth, the Booth Copper Company, Toronto.

The Manufacturers' Association decided yesterday that Halifax should be the next place of meeting.

At the Banquet.

The banquet of the Manufacturers' Association last evening at the Windsor was a splendid success, 400 leading manufacturers of Canada being present, as were the Prime Minister, the leader of the Opposition, Lord Strathcona and Hon. Messrs. Fielding, Tarte and Paterson.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was received with enthusiastic cheers and the waving of handkerchiefs. He said: Mr. Chairman and gentlemen,—It is not my good fortune to be a manufacturer. (Hear, hear). I am but a simple and humble consumer. But it has been my good fortune for the last 25 years to see a great deal of the development of the manufacturing industries of Canada. For during 25 years and more it has been my privilege to be a member of the House of Commons of Canada. Twenty-five years is a long period in the life of a man; it is simply a dot in the life of a nation. But 25 years, whether it be in an individual life or in national life, is sure to develop a good many changes. I have seen the development of relations between Canada and the empire. I have seen with still greater interest the development of Canadian life. I have seen the ups and downs of politics. I have seen the surging rise and fall of party tide. I have served under Mr. Mackenzie. I have fought against Sir John Macdonald, and I have felt, as you all have felt, the loss of those two great men—one my chief leader, the other my chief opponent—both my personal friends. (Cheers.) But in these many changes and vicissitudes there is one thing which remained constant and unaltered. It is the devotion, if I may use the term, and I do use it advisedly—the devotion which all classes represented in the Canadian Parliament have ever bestowed and shown to the development of the industries of Canada.

When once these questions have been debated and crystalized into legislation you will agree with me that legislation should not be lightly disturbed. Tariffs are not permanent. In a country like Canada, susceptible of great developments, everything changes, everything progresses and the tariff, of course, must move with the times. But at the same time I have always felt, and you more than I must have felt also, that stability in the tariff is one of the securities of manufacturing industries. (Applause.) Of course I do not pretend that even the tariff which has been framed by my friend Mr. Fielding the Minister of Finance, is absolutely perfect! But even though there be blemishes in it, I believe the manufacturers on the whole are pretty well satisfied with it.

Some cries of "No, no."

Sir Wilfrid—That only shows there is room for improvement. (Hear, hear, and laughter.) That only shows that there are some "spots on the sun," or in the tariff, but it does not prevent the orb from doing its beneficent work in the interest of Canada at large. (Cheers.)

What is wanted by the manufacturers, I assume, is the development of markets. The home market was supposed to be the best of all. Unfortunately the home market has not developed as we had reason to expect. The last census has been disappointing to all of us, but even in the face of the last census my heart is full of hope.

Reciprocity Questions.

In connection with this, there is another feature which is now taking place. I remember, and you remember also, that since the abolition of the reciprocity treaty in 1860 we have sent delegation after delegation to Washington—(prolonged cheers)—but I rather expect, and I would not be surprised if the thing were to take place within a few years, that there will be delegations coming from Washington to Ottawa for reciprocity. (Loud cheers.) Having learned the lesson from our friends to the south how to receive such a delegation, we shall receive them with every possible politeness. (Renewed cheers.) There is something else worthy of mention. You have heard of new Ontario as well as the North-west Territories. In new Ontario is untold wealth—mineral wealth, agricultural wealth, wealth of every kind. There is not only a new Ontario; there is also a new Quebec, north of the Laurentian range; there is a new Province of Quebec equal doubtless, to the one which we know and love so well. (Cheers.) There is also, if I might say so, the new Maritime Provinces. There is on the shore of the Atlantic Ocean at Sydney a development which will some time astonish the world. (Cheers.) Three years ago I was in the city of Washington, and it was my privilege there to meet a great manufacturer and philanthropist, Mr. Andrew Carnegie. Talking of many topics which interested manufacturers, which interested public men, he went on to say these words: "The trade of Great Britain in iron is a thing of the past. We will capture the trade of England at every point of competition." I said "Mr. Carnegie, you know these things better than I do. It is quite possible that you may capture the trade of England in iron; but let me tell you this, when you have captured the iron trade of England we Canadians will capture the iron trade from you." (Hear, hear.) It is my expectation that at some time, not very distant, the works at Sydney, the iron works, will indeed not only compete with England, not only compete with the United States but capture the iron trade of the old world, and in so saying I do not think that I am too sanguine at all.

There is also the British market, and this is by far the most important to us Canadians. It would not do for me to enter into any political matter, to enter into any controversial matter, but at all events I am sure I am speaking the sentiments of everyone here when I say that in my humble opinion, at all events, the life, the security of the British Empire, rests upon mutuality of trade between all the competent parts thereof. The trade, the life of the British Empire depends upon the exchange of commodities sent from all parts of that great institution. If we can suppose a condition of things—and it is not a hard supposition to make, it is possible to harbor it. If we can suppose that there will be mutuality and freedom of exchange between the three hundred or four hundred millions which compose the British Empire, we shall have seen the greatest commercial development that the world has ever witnessed. (Cheers.) The British Empire was not so much founded upon conquest as it was founded upon colonization and trade, and it is in following lines of trade that it shall meet its best development. The British Empire was founded upon the laws of equity and justice, and though at this time it is rent in some part thereof by war, let us all hope that this war will soon be concluded, and that henceforth the laws of justice shall prevail throughout the whole length and breadth of the British Empire—these laws of justice, I say, of equity and of equal rights, of which England has been the foremost champion in the modern world. (Loud and prolonged cheers.)

Lord Strathcona said there would soon be a Canadian fast line, so British emigrants could come direct to Canada.

Mr. R. L. Borden, M.P. for Halifax, said the greater the liberty of the colonies the closer would they be drawn to the Mother Land. No doubt the future would see closer relations between the empire and the colonies, but he thought the initiative would come from the colonies themselves.

Hon. W. S. Fielding also spoke, and dwelt upon the increased trade of the Dominion. The Finance Minister made an allusion to tariff matters.

After Sugar Beet Notes.

Bay City, Mich., Nov. 7.— Five coaches loaded with Canadian farmers from the vicinity of Berlin, Ont., arrived here Tuesday afternoon to study the beet sugar industry. During the afternoon they inspected the wagons loaded with beets for the various factories. Others visited the farms, and watched the process of the preparation of the soil for next year's sugar beet crop. Yesterday morning the entire party were taken to the Bay City factories.

Beaten To Death in Buffalo.

Buffalo, Nov. 7.—Ernest Merkt, an iceman, was found lying in a pool of his blood in an alley alongside of Frank Murphy's saloon on Alabama street near Seneca street, early yesterday morning, and died before the ambulance arrived. Murphy, the saloonkeeper, and a dozen other men who were about the place, are under arrest as witnesses. Merkt apparently had been kicked and beaten to

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS . . .

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $180 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

Nervous Headache.

Irritability, Sleeplessness, Feelings of Lassitude and Depression, Weakness and Irregularity of the Bodily Organs.

These are the symptoms which point to a depleted nervous system. They tell of thin, weak, watery blood, of wasting vitality and lack of energy and ambition. They warn you that nervous prostration, locomotor ataxia, paralysis and even insanity are possibilities of the future.

It is folly to neglect nervous diseases, folly to suppose that they will disappear of their own accord, and still greater folly to deaden and destroy the nerves by the use of poisonous narcotics. It is a serious matter to trifle with the nerves. It is a question of life and death.

Mrs. Henry Clarke, Port Hope, Ontario, states:—"I have used seven boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for nervousness and a completely run down system, and can heartily recommend it as a wonderfully effective treatment. Before using this remedy I had been in very poor health for some months. I seemed to have no energy or ambition, felt tired and listless most of the time, and could scarcely drag myself about the house. I was weak, irritable and nervous, could not sleep well, and felt discouraged about my health. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has taken away these symptoms and given back my usual health and vigor, consequently I endorse it fully."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Fills the shrivelled arteries with new rich blood, strengthens a ndrevitalizes the nerves by forming new nerve force and gradually and thoroughly overcomes disease and weakness. It forms new healthy tissues and gives a well rounded form and clear, healthy complexion to all who use it. 50 cts. a box, 6 boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

HEAVY FINE.

Fred McCormick Pays $27 for Assaulting Wm. Sleaper.

Fred McCormick, of town, was this morning at the police court, before Police Magistrate Dumble, fined $10 and costs, amounting in all to $27.50, or thirty days in jail, for assaulting Wm. Sleaper of Roseneath.

The case has been hanging fire for some months, the assault having been committed on the 24th of Aug. last. It was the occasion of a baseball match on the Nicholls oval between Auburns and the Roseneath teams. There was no disorderly conduct as far as the match was concerned, but a general mixup occurred at the conclusion of the game. Sleaper in some manner lost his hat, which was in possession of a young lady, and from whom he was endeavouring to get it. Finally he came in contact with McCormick, whom it is alleged, took advantage of the position the plaintiff was in amongst strangers, and horribly kicked him. He was hit by a stone, which is also alleged to have been thrown by the accused, although McCormick denies having thrown it. The blood flowed quite freely, and the police arrived on the scene none too soon.

At the police court this morning the accused admitted having struck Sleaper, but claimed that he did so, believing that Sleaper had assaulted the lady who had the hat. This did not satisfy the Magistrate who, as a citizen of the town, said that he was ashamed of the conduct of McCormick. Instead of treating visitors to the town handsomely, he had treated the complainant shamefully.

Sleaper was given back his hat, which has been in the care of the local authorities since the day of the trouble. The bill of costs was due to the fact that it was necessary to send a constable to Roseneath to subpoena witnesses, and to bring witnesses to Peterborough for the trial. McCormick paid the fine.

LOCAL LEGAL.

The following judgements in the Court of Appeal, Osgoode Hall, was handed down yesterday;

Ennis v. McAllister—Judgement (C) on appeal by defendants from judgement of Ferguson, J., in action for damages for breach of contract by correspondence for the purchase by defendants, who are millers at Peterborough, Ontario, from the plaintiff, who is a miller at Neepawa, Manitoba, of five car-loads of baker's patent flour at $5.75 a barrel. The trial Judge found that there was a concensus and complete acceptance shown in the letters and telegrams constituting the contract. Held, that upon the evidence, that there is at least one obvious answer to the action, viz., that the contract being a single contract, the plaintiff drew upon the defendants for and insisted on attempting to make them pay more than they agreed to pay, sent forward the flour, not to them, but to the order of his own agents, the Union Bank, in whose control it remained, and from whom defendants, even had they been advised of its arrival at Owen Sound, could not have obtained it without payment of the overcharge. To secure himself, the plaintiff retained the property in the flour, and showed that he did not mean to part with it to the defendants until payment of what he wrongfully demanded as the price. See Scott v. Melady, 27 A.R. The plaintiff was never ready and willing to deliver according to the contract. Appeal allowed and action dismissed, with costs, including costs of taking additional evidence. E.B. Stone, Peterborough, and E.E.A. Du Vernet for defendants. G.F. Shepley, K.C., and C. H. Bradburn, Peterborough, for plaintiff.

FORESTERS HELD MASS MEETING.

Speeches by Head Officials of the Order.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC GATHERING

An Enjoyable Social Evening—High Chief Ranger Elliott, High Secretary White and Mr. Gartung.

The Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, was the scene of great enthusiasm, last night. It was also an important event in connection with Canadian Forestry in Peterborough, for the occasion was marked by the presence of three of the most important High Court Officers of the Order, in the person of High Chief Ranger R. Elliott, High Secretary Thomas White, and Superintendent of Organization Earnest Gartung. The idea of the visit on the part of these three gentlemen, high up in the management of the Order was to stimulate Bro. Strong in the work of canvassing in which he has been engaged for the past few weeks. The handsome quarters of Court Peterborough No. 29, were comfortably filled with Foresters representing every Court in town and several of the surrounding villages. The meeting was successful from every point of view. It was enthusiastic, demonstrative and sociable. The speeches of the three High Court Officers were most interesting and many telling facts were related in support of the Order and its claims to rank as one of the leading fraternal and insurance organizations of the country. Organizer Strong should find his way easy from this time forward in town by the impetus that was given the Order last night. At the conclusion of the addresses, the members repaired to the refreshment room where an excellent supper was partaken of.

The chair during the mass meeting was occupied by Mr. F. J. Jameson, who introduced the various speakers. The first of these was High Chief Ranger Elliott, of Ingersoll. He first expressed his pleasure at being present and then proceeding to discuss the future of the Order, the speaker went on to say that they needed money of course, and concerning the various branches of the organization he paid special attention to the sick and funeral benefit, and urged upon them the necessity of every member taking up this branch of the work. He did not believe that it was the young men who were the gainers by this, but he believed that the old members received just as much benefit from the sick and funeral benefit branch of the Order. It should be based upon a sound financial basis. The Order had been making great progress since the speaker met them in Peterborough before. Not only was this so as regards to members, but in the financial department as well. The same good results, he felt sure, would follow this year, notwithstanding the fact that they had keen competition by societies who paid more for the management of the Order than did the Canadian Order of Foresters. The Order was growing all over. They had one hundred Courts in the Maritime Provinces, and rapid progress is being made there. Quebec is doing splendidly. The Province of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories are being well looked after by energetic organizers, but the complicated state of labour, etc., was hindering the work to a great extent in British Columbia. Turning to the condition of the Order in Ontario, the speaker said that they were doing splendidly, but they require capital to facilitate the work of organization. From every quarter ther ecomes the cry, "send us along more men." At the present time the members are paying only $1.00 a year towards the management of the Order, while if it were increased to $1.20 they could place eight or ten more organizers on the road which would be of incalculable value. If the members could only appreciate the importance of this they would readily contribute the amount just mentioned. Again, they should never fail to speak a word of encouragement of the Order. It means a good deal and shows that they have faith in the institution. The speaker then pointed to the past record of the Society, showing that they have met every obligation entered into and he had no doubt that if the members had that faith in the Society that they should have they would meet every obligation in the future.

Peterborough has done nobly in the past. He always remembers with pride the time when the greatest and best movement in the interest of the Order was made, viz., the raising of the rate which was decided upon at the High Court meeting here sixteen years ago. The speaker then paid a compliment to the chairman, Mr. F. J. Jameson, whom he well knew had done much for Canadian Forestry in Peterborough. He also paid a glowing tribute to the prosperity of Peterborough and intimated that there was a likelihood of the High Court meeting in Peterborough in the near future. He had visited the lift lock, the Quaker Oats Company's premises and other concerns which gave every indication that the town was in a prosperous condition. Altogether High Chief Ranger Elliott's address was very instructive and was most attentively listened to. He closed by thanking them for their patient hearing.

THE HIGH SECRETARY.

Mr. Thomas White, High Secretary, was next introduced, and was cordially received. He began by expressing his pleasure at being present. He took for his subject, "What I Know of Forestry from Personal Experience." Mr. White then launched out by stating that the C.O.F. was the best fraternal insurance society in Canada, and to substantiate these statements he proceeded to give figures, etc., which were very interesting. The speaker in 1883 audited the books of the society for the first time. It was a small matter in those days, but the conditions were such as to ensure the order success in the future. He proceeded to demonstrate that to-day the order was the best of its kind in the world, and quoted figures to show the growth of the order from time to time since the institution of the society. They have led the world in regard to membership, and they are going to continue to do so. They had increased at the rate of 2000 per year during the first ten years. In 1893 they increased by over 3000 members, and in every year in fact the progress had averaged well, and goes on with an ever-increasing ratio.

Referring to the financial progress the speaker said that in one of the early years of the order's existence they took in $1500, while in one month alone recently their returns were not less than $3200. The society is now on a business basis, and the officers so competent in their management, that they would put it up against the system of any society in the world. They invited Government inspection to the greatest possible extent and they have adopted the principle of publishing to the world the financial affairs of the Order each month. The result is that no Order has the confidence of its members to a greater extent than the C.O.F. The members and the world in general is taken into the confidence of the Order. Again they have a record of every member at the High Office, which means 60,000 entries each month, and serves as a check on the Subordinate Financial Secretary, so that every individual may feel that his interests will not suffer even as a result of an error on the part of the Subordinate Financial Secretary.

The Sick and Funeral Benefit subject was next touched upon. They had some difficulty in getting this branch started, but it is now in operation, and the indications are that it will prove as great a success as the Insurance Branch of the Order. Then there is the freedom from litigation that was a characteristic of the management of the Order, and he hoped that the same care would continue in this regard in the future Mr. White said that they had come here for the purpose of encouraging Brother Strong, the Organizer, who had been labouring for some time amongst them. Court Peterborough, No. 29, was at one time at the head of the list, as regards membership, but of late it had dropped down, but there is no reason why it should not come up again.

The High Secretary then spoke of the enormous surplus, viz., one million one hundred and twenty five thousand dollars. It was their desire to have the year 1901, the record breaker in the history of the Order, and he hoped therefore that they would turn out and assist Bro. Strong all they could during his stay in town.

ORGANIZER GARTUNG.

Mr. Ernst Gartung, Superintendent of Organization, who was the last speaker, received a very enthusiastic reception. Owing to the fact that the evening was getting somewhat advanced, Mr. Gartung did not speak at any very great length, but sufficiently long, however, for him to become a great favourite with his hearers by reason of his happy style of address, his ready grasp of the financial affairs of the Order, and his able comparison of the assurance department of the C.O.F. with that of straight line companies. At the outset he disclaimed any intention of speaking at length, but preferred to come back at a future time and address them on the advantages to be derived from becoming a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters. The audience would not hear of this, however, and insisted that Mr. Gartung should proceed. This he did by telling a very amusing story, that at once put the brethren in great humour. Continuing, he said that it was the first occasion on which he had ever visited Peterborough in an official capacity, and he could assure them that it was a pleasure for him to meet with them this evening. They knew that they had certain objects in view—visiting the sick, burying the dead, and looking after the widows and orphans. These were all features that conduce to the public welfare, and anything that conduces to the public welfare should receive the support of the public at large. However, there was one feature in particular that they wished to lay particular stress upon, and that was the Fraternal Insurance. Taking up this branch of the subject, the speaker went on to show the success of the Fraternal Insurance Systems. A certain company makes a boast in a pamphlet it has issued that in ten years it has paid all their death claims out of the interest received from their investments, but he also noticed that the same company insured a man in the city of New York for $1500, who died after making the first payment. The speaker quoted many interesting statistics of many companies, and compared them with those of the C.O.F., much to the advantage of the latter. He referred to other companies just to give his hearers a little information in case any of these pamphlets issued by the companies should come to their notice. He compared the rates of the Fraternal Societies, and while he did not think that the rates of the C.O.F. were absolutely sufficient, still the Order is better protected than many of the old line companies. But they should remember that they have 40,000 members, and their protection should be a matter of the utmost importance.

A matter that was then touched upon by the speaker was that of having the designation properly filled in. They have had a great many object lessons in this regard in the past, and some of these object lessons have been right in Peterborough. They should see that the designation in their policies is properly filled in at once, so as to save trouble that may arise in the future. Again, they should prove their ages now, so after they had passed away their beneficiaries would be given no trouble in that regard.

Mr. Gartung's concluding remarks were concerning the cost of organization. Many had said that it was too expensive, but when they considered that during the last year they spent $19,188 in organization work, and from the new members taken in by the organizers they had received $11,825, there was only $8,105 out of the coffers of the Order. Besides this, the Organization Department had done considerable work along other lines. Mr. Gartung closed by thanking those present for their attentive hearing.

ORGANIZER STRONG.

Was called upon and made a few remarks as to the work that was being done in Peterborough under his supervision. He appealed to the members for assistance, and he felt certain that within a month they could enlist one hundred new men. The Organizer, like the other speakers made reference to the prosperity of the town.

Reeve Adams, of Ashburnham, moved, seconded by Bro. Saunders, a hearty vote of thanks to the speakers, which was carried amid much enthusiasm, and duly acknowledged by the recipients thereof.

Short speeches from visiting brethren were made by Bros. Dench, Graham and Dickson of Lakefield, and Bros. Kindred, Smithson, Dickson and Craig, of Lakefield, all of whom expressed great pleasure at being present.

The Foresters then entered the refreshment rooms and spent a delightful social evening together.

WEAKNESS

OF MEN AND WOMEN

Could we read the hearts of every man we meet, what a load of sorrow and despair would be disclosed. Indiscretions and Blood Diseases have caused more physical and mental wrecks than all other causes combined. They strike at the foundation of manhood; they sap the vital forces; they undermine the system, and not only do they often disrupt the family circle, but they may even extend their poisonous fangs into the next generation. If you have been a victim of early sinful habits, remember the seed is sown, and sooner or later you will reap a harvest. If your blood has been diseased from any cause do not risk a return later on. Our New Method Treatment will positively cure you and you need never fear any return of the disease. We will give you a guarantee bond to that effect. We would warn you sincerely against the promiscuous use of mercury, which does not cure blood poison but simply suppresses the symptoms.

WE CURE OR NO PAY.

Don't Let your Life be Drained Away, which weakens the intellect as well as the body. There is no room in this world for sexual, physical or sexual dwarfs. Our New Method Treatment will Stop all Unnatural Losses, Purify the Blood, Strengthen the Nerves, Restore Vitality, and make a man of you. If you are in trouble, call and consult us. Consultation is Free. We treat and cure Drains, Blood Diseases, Varicocele, Stricture, Lost Manhood, Impotency, Kidney and Bladder Diseases. No cutting or operations. No detention from business. Everything confidential. Consultation Free. Books Free. Question Blank Free for Home Treatment.

Lumbago Backs Straightened.

Don't lie around the house losing time and money because your back is stiff from lumbago. Do as thousands before you have done. Buy a large bottle of that unusually good liniment, Polson's Nerviline, and rub it frequently over the sore spot. It gets at the pain, drives it out, and limbers you up in no time. Nerviline is quick to relieve, never fails, never harms. Try it to-day. 25 cents.

Plan to Massacre Discovered.

Manila, Nov. 6.—A plot to massacre the American garrison at Moncada, Province of Tarlac, Island of Luzon, has been revealed by the wife of one of the conspirators. Several of the town officials are implicated in the murderous scheme. The plan was to set fire after dark to a house close to the barracks, and when the soldiers came out to assist in extinguishing the flames, 150 conspirators, armed with bolos, were to rush on the guard, capture their arms, and proceed to massacre the garrison.

NURSING MOTHERS

A mother's poor health is bad enough for the mother but worse still for the nursing baby.

Mothers find Scott's Emulsion a nourishing and strengthening food. If the breast milk is scanty or thin Scott's Emulsion will make it rich and more abundant.

When mothers take Scott's Emulsion the babies share in the benefits. Thin babies grow fat. Weak babies get strong.

We'll send you a list to try, if you like.

MANUFACTURER'S MEETING.

Canadian Commissioner in South Africa Opposing Reciprocity.

Montreal, Nov. 6.—The annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturing Association opened at the Windsor Hotel yesterday morning. The members proceeded to the City Hall, where Mayor Prefontaine read them an address of welcome, the president, Mr. P. W. Ellis, replying to His Worship.

At the opening of the afternoon session the president read his address.

Mr. James Cummings, Canadian Commissioner in South Africa, spoke last evening on the chances of securing trade with that country. He said he had formerly been in favor of a reciprocity treaty with the States, but he was now against such a policy, as it would make Canadians hewers of wood and carriers of water to the Americans.

The secretary then read a report to Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, prepared by Mr. William Whyte, dwelling on the prospect of trade with South Africa.

Strong Enough for Cancers.

Cancers are caused by poisonous humors in the blood. The only non-surgical treatment known is Merrill's System Tonic. This is a powerful blood purifier and at the same time blood builder. It cures Scrofula, Eczema, and Salt Rheum in thirty days and boils and pimples in a week. 50 doses price 50 cents. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, druggists.

Sixteen Houses Burned.

Montreal, Nov. 6.—A telephone message from Dorionville, a short distance north of Vaudreuil Station, on the main line of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways, says that sixteen houses had been burned to the ground, and asking for assistance. A portion of the Montreal brigade has been sent.

Eight families have been rendered homeless, it was later learned, and have lost their all just at the beginning of winter. The kind neighbors are helping them for the present.

Murder or Suicide.

Utica, Nov. 6.—The body of P. H. Soule of Almonte, Ont., was yesterday found floating in the Mohawk River with a heavy cord tied about the waist. It furnishes a mysterious case, which the authorities are investigating. The body had evidently been in the water some time. While it is not probable that the man died from foul play, the peculiar circumstances in his case will be investigated.

Praying for Clemency.

Ottawa, Nov. 6.—An appeal has been sent to Governor Stanley of Kansas, asking him to release Thos. Murphy of Ottawa, who is in jail on a charge of bank-breaking. Murphy, who is nineteen years of age, was sentenced five years ago to seven years' imprisonment for robbery in Topeka. It is claimed here that the boy fell into bad company, and was a tool in the hands of older criminals.

Baby Lips and a Clear Skin.

Are guaranteed to any woman who takes Merrill's System Tonic. This marvellous medicine is specially adapted for women, because it supplies iron for the blood, cures constipation, strengthens the nerves, and by its blood purifying and muscle toning properties quickly cures all female ills. 50 pleasant-to-take doses 50c. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

WERE WILLING TO WAIT.

The Burglars Decide to Postpone Their Work.

It was 1 o'clock in the morning.

In the deepest shadow of the piazza of the little suburban villa in which our story opens sat two burglars, earnestly discussing the affair that had brought them hither. A light in one of the upper windows, which had only just been extinguished, had made them postpone for awhile their attempt, and this delay had given the first burglar an opportunity to ask his partner the circumstances which had led to this particular graft.

"The lady who occupies this house," whispered the second burglar, "has $10,000 in cash. She drew it out of the bank yesterday, and tomorrow she will turn it over to the old and trusted friend of her late husband."

"Who is he?" asked the first burglar.

"He's an old cove they've known all their lives. He's going to advise her how to invest her money. In the meantime she's got it all up stairs with her in a black bag."

The first burglar was silent for awhile.

"Jim," he said at last, "I haven't the heart to do it. She's a widow. Let's wait."

"Wait!" exclaimed the second burglar. "For what?"

"Why," said his companion, "wait until the old cove has it, then rob him."—Life.

Ambitious.

"You say you are ambitious?" said the relative who lectures.

"I am," said the young man.

"But you are not doing anything to distinguish yourself from the rest of mankind."

"Yes, I am," was the serene reply. "I am staying away from the golf links. I expect in the course of time to be famous as the only man in the world who doesn't play golf."—Washington Star.

"Whis! And I ain't had me fee!"—Chicago News.

That Was It.

"Your fiancee is a very reserved girl," said Hunker to Spatts.

"She is," replied Spatts. "She is reserved for me."—Detroit Free Press.

Your Nerves are Weak.

You sleep badly, appetite variable. You eat but gain no strength. Morning tiredness makes you wish it were night. When night comes refreshing sleep is hard to obtain. You're run down, your blood is thin and watery, your nerves have grown weak, the thought of effort wearies you. You need Ferrozone; it makes blood—red, strong blood. An appetite? You'll eat everything and digest it, too. Strength? That's what plenty of food gives. Ferrozone gives hope, vigour, vim, endurance. Use Ferrozone and get strong. Sold only by Ormond & Walsh.

The Usual Way.

"Do you expect to realize a fortune from your latest invention?" asked the capitalist.

"No," said the inventor, "I don't really expect to. I had some hopes, but I suppose it will be the usual programme. I'll imagine the fortune and some one else will realize it."

I have lived to know that the secret of happiness is never to allow your energies to stagnate.—A. Clarke.

REARING QUEENS.

Three Essential Points Stated by an Experienced Beeman.

To rear good queens, equal to those reared under the swarming impulse, three essential points must be observed:

They must be reared from small larvæ. Those 12 to 24 hours old are just right for the purpose. If bees are given larvæ of all ages from which to rear queens, some of the queens will be almost worthless. Doolittle puts the limit at 36 hours, but to be on the safe side I would advise the use of larvæ not more than 24 hours old; for no queen breeder will say that the former are better than the latter.

The queen cells must be built in full colonies well supplied with young bees The young bees do the nursing; therefore, it is necessary to have plenty of young bees to feed the embryo queens a large quantity of the royal food, that strong, well developed queens may be produced.

They must be either reared during a good honey flow or, in the absence of this, liberal feeding must be practiced. This is highly important and is the only way in which we can rear good queens after the honey season is over.

During my 20 years' experience in queen rearing I have tried every method which has been brought to public notice, and I consider Doolittle's method far superior to all others. This method combines the essential points mentioned above in the highest degree. By it we are enabled to have queen cells built in the upper story of any colony devoted to the production of extracted honey having a queen excluding honey board between the upper story and brood chamber. Remove two frames from the upper story of each colony and in their place put two frames of unsealed brood. The object in doing this is to draw a large force of nurse bees above to attend to the queen cells. Two days later remove another frame from the upper story, spread the two frames of brood apart and place a prepared frame between them. By "prepared frame" is meant a frame containing a number of queen cell cups, each supplied with a little royal jelly and a larva about a day old. About 15 cells are as many as a colony should be allowed to build at one time.

In order to improve our stock for honey gathering we must keep a record each season of our best colonies and rear queens from the stock giving the best results. Have them crossed as far as possible with drones not akin of other good stock. This is accomplished by stocking our apiary with drones not related to our breeding queens. This is very important and must not be overlooked if we desire to improve our stock. In presenting the foregoing the Ohio Farmer says that the writer, a Kentucky apiarian, is considered one of the best queen raisers in the country.

Lice on Cucumbers.

The standard remedy for lice on cucumbers, except where plants are very tender, is a weak kerosene emulsion. This should be sprayed on when the lice appear and repeated until they are all killed. The emulsion is made by dissolving a half pound of hard soap or a quart of soft soap in a gallon of boiling water. Add to two gallons of kerosene and agitate violently by pumping through a force pump until the mixture assumes the consistency of cream. When a complete emulsion has been made, dilute to 50 gallons. If this injures the foliage, dilute still further, advises American Agriculturist.

An Important Question.

There was one question asked at a recent horticultural convention which is certainly important—viz. Does the free use of bordeaux mixture tend to ripen or lessen the keeping quality of the apple, and does it tend to the early maturity of the fruit?

The only reply was from a fruit grower of much experience and success, who said: "I have been spraying with bordeaux mixture for three years; previous to that with arsenites, and the fruit kept much better than it did during the last three years. It may have been the condition of the weather that made the difference."

News and Notes.

Of important wheat growing countries three alone—the United States, Russia and India—produce an important excess over their own consumptive demands. Austria-Hungary is also an exporter, but on a small scale France endeavors, with varying success from year to year, to meet her own consumptive demands. Germany and Italy are importers, the latter an important customer on the Russian markets.

A species of digger wasp destroys the apple worm. The wasp is supposed to paralyze the worm by stinging it. It then lays eggs upon the worm, and when these hatch the young larvæ feed upon the worm, sucking the juice from the carcass and leaving only the shriveled skin.

Soy beans, which are produced at the rate of 10 to 20 bushels per acre, are a valuable feeding stuff, as they are quite high in protein, and to some extent take the place of such materials as linseed meal in the ration.

The growth of free rural delivery has been so rapid that two new postal divisions have been created in order to handle the business properly.

A California grower proposes a plan to restrict the acreage of hops to be harvested next fall and thus insure more remunerative prices. Because the industry is confined to limited areas in four states American Agriculturist points out that the proposition is simpler than the cotton problem and were hop growers to work in unison it would stand a fair chance of accomplishment.

Training

Is indispensable to athletic success. In training, much stress is laid upon diet; careful attention to the quantity and quality of the food eaten, with regularity of meals. That is the secret of strength for every man. No man can be stronger than his stomach. The careless and irregular eating, of business men, causes disease of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition. There can be no sound health until these diseases are cured.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and enables the body to be built up into vigorous health by the assimilation of the nutrition extracted from food.

"I was taken with the grippe, which resulted in heart and stomach trouble," writes Mr. T. R. Cundill, of Moutland, Alleghany Co., N. C. "I was unable to do anything a good part of the time. I wrote to Dr. Pierce about my condition, having full confidence in his medicine. He advised me to take his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' which I did. Before I had finished the second bottle I began to feel better. I have used nearly six bottles. I feel thankful to God for the benefit I have received from Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I can highly recommend it to all persons as a good and safe medicine."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure constipation.

The silo adds nothing to the value of the corn that goes into it perhaps, but it does the next best thing in preserving the feeding value of it more completely than is possible under any other process, says W. F. McSparran in National Stockman. Just when the corn shall be put into the silo is an unsettled question among farmers, and I believe the tendency among those in authority is to advise toward letting the corn get too old. They tell us we get more dry matter by allowing the grain to glaze, but as for me and my herd we generally have an abundance of dry matter without going to the length of sacrificing the valuable succulence that makes silage a pre-eminent dairy feed.

My time for cutting the corn is as near as may be when the ears are just thinking about glazing. When it is too old for me to eat it, it is old enough for my silo. I do not intend to run counter to the scientific fellows by saying I am not robbing my silage of dry properties it might have acquired if I had not interfered, but I have imprisoned for my cows the sweet juices and flavors so much relished in the mangers.

Silo Experience.

Mr. D. M. Macpherson of Lancaster, Canada, is one of the few men on this continent who hunt this dairy question down to the utmost profit in everything, says Hoard's Dairyman. On 120 acres of available land he carries about 70 cows. He does not breed his cows, but he is so close a judge that he made his entire herd average last year over 7,000 pounds of milk per cow. The gross receipts from his farm in cash last year were over $6,000. Mr. Macpherson is a great believer in the economy of the silo. Here is some evidence he bears to the same in a dairy convention held at Ormstown, Canada, a year ago:

"Last fall I tried feeding cornstalks with five pounds of meal per cow. The way I came to have the stalks was this: After filling my silos I had two acres of corn over, and I told my manager to stook it up. The cows, fed these stalks with a ration of meal, went down in their milk and could not keep up with the others that got ensilage. After three weeks on stalks we went back to ensilage, when from the 70 cows the milk increased 200 pounds a day."

Sweet Silage.

Sweet ensilage is comparatively an uncertain term, but amount of moisture increases the acidity. Slow filling and little tramping tends to produce sweet ensilage, but it should not be allowed to reach a temperature above 140 degrees, or waste may ensue. It is also well to avoid freezing, though it does not seriously injure the palatability of the ensilage, and there is seldom any serious loss from this cause.

Ensilage a Cow Food.

Ensilage is readily eaten by all animals, but is pre-eminently a cow food. By its succulence and palatability it promotes milk flow, and when a grain ration goes along with it which tends to balance the ration it is an exceedingly cheap food. Wheat bran or shorts make an admirable grain ration for growing animals fed on silage, and an addition of a small quantity of gluten or cottonseed meal makes an ideal ration for milk production.

FASHIONS IN SKIRTS.

Tucked and Box Plaited Ruffles Are Headed by Wavy Insertions.

We are again overwhelmed with a craze for polka dots. They are not universally becoming by any means, especially when the tendency is to have them large, as at present.

Skirts are as much ruffled as ever, but few of the ruffles are put on in straight lines. They usually dip in front and are raised slightly in the back to go with the long fronts. A favorite way is to put ruffles in a series of toothed effects or to head them with wide, diamond shaped applications of lace and tuckings. A popular way of making the wide gored ruffle is to lay it in small box plaits headed with a strapped effect or a wavy insertion. One of the newest ruffles is tucked on the bias instead of perpendicularly, as was the fashion this summer. A chic touch is given to a skirt ruffle by tacking a smart satin bow a little to the left of the front of it.

It is very easy to lengthen a skirt which has grown too short by letting it down with a lace yoke or putting a wide lace insertion between the ruffles and the body of the skirt.

It would be hard to find a prettier gown for a debutante than the one presented in the illustration. It is made of cream silk veiling over nile green satin and is trimmed with cream chiffon and yellow lace. The waist is made in a full blouse, both back and front confined at the waist line by a crushed belt of green panne. The decolletage is ornamented by a fichu of the cream chiffon edged with deep yellow lace. The skirt is laid in fine tucks at the waist line, and it is finished at the bottom with three ruffles of the yellow lace headed by an elaborate arrangement of green satin ribbon in bows and rosettes. With this is worn a long chain of pearls, and the belt is trimmed with four pearl and brilliant buttons. JUDIC CHOLLET.

TO PROTECT THE NORTH.

Dr. C. A. Hodgetts Appointed Medical Examiner.

Will Guard Against the Invasion of Smallpox and Also see to the Enforcement of the New Sanitary Regulations.

In order to secure the observance of the recently-adopted sanitary regulations, and to protect the newer portions of the Province from the spread of smallpox, the Government yesterday appointed Dr. C. A. Hodgetts, of Toronto, to the position of Medical Inspector for the unorganized districts of Ontario. The appointment takes effect at once, and Dr. Hodgetts left in the afternoon for Sudbury, whence a case of smallpox had been reported in the forenoon. The necessity for such an official has been apparent for some time. There is a population of about 100,000 scattered over some 400 unorganized townships, extending from the Ottawa river to the Manitoba boundary, some 1,200 miles. This territory has a frontier of 6,000 miles of railway, lake and river, over which the population is distributed, and from which there is danger of contagion being brought in. To meet the conditions of the scattered population, the Government recently adopted regulations for the protection of the health of the men working in the lumber and mining camps, sawmills, smelting works, or railway construction camps. To see thatt these regulations will be uniformly observed will be part of Dr. Hodgett's duties. The danger from smallpox contagion is also great, owing to the isolated character of the camps, and the frequent arrival of workmen from across the line. In fact, cases are reported almost daily. The Provincial Secretary, Hon. Mr. Stratton, has also communicated with Hon. Sydney Fisher, asking the co-operation of the Dominion Government in the proper protection of the frontier from this disease.

In appointing Dr. Hodgetts, a wise selection has been made. He has already had extensive experience in northern Ontario, where his prompt and decisive action last winter did much to curb what threatened to be a most serious and widespread epidemic of smallpox.

Hallowe'en passed very quietly in Havelock, very few pranks being played by the small boys. It has been their custom to upset everything which they could turn over on Hallowe'en night. One of our citizens expecting a call from them, tied a wire around a small out-building near the house and took the wire into the window of his bedroom. Shortly after he retired he felt a tug at the wire, and opened the window and fired off an old shot gun. Well, I guess the boys are running yet.

A Daily Nuisance.

A Simple Remedy Which Will Interest Catarrh Sufferers.

In its earlier stages catarrh is more of a nuisance than a menace to the general health, but sooner or later the disease extends to the throat, bronchial tubes and even to the stomach and intestines.

Catarrh is essentially a disease of the mucous membrane, the local symptoms being a profuse discharge of mucous, stoppage of the nostrils, irritation in throat, causing coughing, sneezing, gagging, and frequent clearings of the throat and head.

The usual treatment by local douches, snuffs, salves, etc., often give temporary relief, but anything like a cure can only be obtained by a treatment which removes the catarrhal taint from the blood and the disappearance of the inflammation from the mucous surfaces.

A new remedy which meets these requirements and which so far has been remarkably successful in curing catarrh, is Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

These Tablets act upon the blood and mucous membranes only. They can hardly be called a secret patent medicine as they are composed of such valuable remedies as Sanguinaria, Hydrastin, Eucalyptol and similar cleansing antiseptics, which cure by eliminating from the blood and mucous surfaces the catarrhal poison.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are large, pleasant tasting lozenges, taken internally, allowing them to dissolve slowly in the mouth, in this way they reach the throat, fauces and the entire alimentary canal.

If desired, they can also be dissolved in water and used as a douche, in addition to the internal use, but it is not at all necessary to use a douche—a few of them dissolved in the mouth daily will be sufficient. However, when there is much stoppage of the nose a douche made from these tablets will give immediate relief, but the regular daily use internally of these tablets will cure the whole catarrhal trouble without resorting to the inconvenience of a douche.

Dr. Bement states "that the internal treatment for catarrh is rapidly taking the place of the old plan of douching and local applications, and further says that probably the best and certainly the safest remedy at present on the market is Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, as no secret is made of their composition and all the really efficient remedies for catarrh are contained in this tablet."

Druggists sell Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at fifty cents for full sized packages. Ask your druggist, and if he is honest he will tell you there is no safer, more palatable, more efficient and convenient remedy on the market.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

RUGBY.

Toronto Globe —Peterborough is stronger than London in the back division; "Shorty" McPherson, "Vic" McWilliams and Burnham make a formidable trio of halfbacks.

The Varsity authorities have decided to allow the intermediates to arrange a match, if possible, with either London or Peterborough, the winners of the O. R. F. U. intermediate championship. If Varsity 11. can secure a suitable guarantee, the team will meet the winner for the championship of Ontario on Thanksgivig Day.

The secretary of the O. R. F. U. has notified the local club that Mr. Griffiths, St. Catharines, has been appointed referee for the match in London on Satuday.

The locals are still working hard and are confident of winning from London on Saturday. The boys will leave here at 4.45 to-morrow afternoon. They will occupy a special coach. It is quite likely that a number of enthusiasts will accompany the boys.

The London News says: "Neither London nor Peterborough has played enough games this season to enable either to say what the outcome will be. Peterborough's wings are lightning fast, their half-backs are sure and swift, and their scrimmage good. London is stronger behind the line than it was last year. Jack McNee is one of the best halves there is, and is probably the surest kick in the Intermediate Series. Of course the absence of Hobbs leaves a big hole but the boys are confident of filling his place. Frank Taylor has shown up well at quarter and will likely have the position, while Stevens will likely take Hugh Labatt's place at full back. The loss in one season of men like Hobbs, Gibbons, Labatt, Hennessy, Peel and Gilmour, is enought to break up most teams but it has not daunted London. The new men are fast and strong, and it is simply a case of "drill ye terriers, drill," until the whistle blows on Saturday afternoon. If Peterborough plays an open game and depends upon the kicking of their halves and the speed of the wings, London should pile up a big score. If the visitors elect to try a close game they will more than likely make the result a little dubious. At the same time London should win, and by a comfortable margin.

WHAT LONDON THINKS.

(The London News.)

"The football game which took place Saturday was intended to serve as a try out for the men, and from the showing made this afternoon will be picked a provisional team to play against Peterborough.

"The local people are not worrying about the case of Peel as it is practically settled that he will be reinstated.

"Saturday night the members of the team turned out in force and held a practice at the Jubilee rink.

"The men went into every kind of work, running, kicking, scrimmaging and mixing things up lively.

"The men are as hard as rocks, and in excellent shape. Peterborough will have to get a move on to take home anything from London."

THE KENNEL.

Mr. Robert Kerr has shipped his wirehaired fox terrier, "Billy White," to the Hamilton Bench Show. Dr. King's "Fordham Cyrano," and "Nosegay Sunflower," have also been sent.

LACROSSE.

Lacrosse followers in Peterborough as well as all over Ontario, will regret sincerely to learn of the demise of "Dobbin" Went, who for many years was identified with the Orillia Lacrosse Team, and was one of the few men, while a hard, close check, would never stoop to dirty work in the field, and his death will be a distinct loss to athletic circles.

One mark of progress in our village is the ever-increasing telephone exchange. The Lakefield Portland Cement Co., and J. C. Sherin and Son have recently placed in telephones.

Mr. William Trude had the misfortune to inflict quite a severe wound on his hand on Tuesday morning which will lay him up for a few days repair, but we hope he will be soon back on duty.

Mr. Fred LeFevre, who has been employed on a survey in Cuba, is now home on a visit to his parents.

Miss McEwan's many friends will be pleased to hear that she is doing nicely under the watchful care of Nurse Ferguson, of the Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough.

Clementi Lodge, A.F. & A.M., held their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening.

Miss Gertrude Wallace, who has been spending the summer in Buffalo, with her aunt, has returned home.

Mr. Morrison was successful on Sunday morning in arresting a tramp who had stolen an overcoat from Mr. Tate of Smith. The culprit was tried before Police Magistrate Edmison, of Peterborough, on Monday, and was remanded for a week. Meantime he is getting free board at the county jail.

Casket That Went Around the World to Receive Earl Li's Body

CHINESE CUSTOMS OBSERVED

Court May Grant Him Posthumous Honors, and His Son May Thus Become a Marquis—Ministers of the Powers Will Be Accorded in Which to Pay Their Respects to Body.

Pekin, Nov. 8.—The end of Li Hung Chang was quiet. For a time he lost consciousness, but he showed great tenacity, rallied at midnight, became semi-conscious, partook of nourishment and appeared to recognize his relatives. The foreign doctors left him early yesterday, saying that nothing more could be done. His personal physician, Dr. Watt, then took charge. The controversy between the foreign and Chinese doctors had no effect upon the patient, because he was already beyond the hope of remedy.

The flames of a procession of paper effigies, chairs, horses and bearers, burned in the court yard of the Yamen to carry his spirit to heaven, told the crowd of officials who were gathered in the narrow street outside the Yamen that the end had come. Soon afterwards a procession appeared bearing a costly coffin of teakwood, beautifully lacquered. This coffin Li Hung Chang took on his trip around the world, and he brought it from Canton when he came to Pekin to settle the "Boxer" troubles. Since that time it had been kept in a temple here. The body will be placed in the coffin tomorrow with the customary rites. On Sunday there will be a ceremonial corresponding to a lying-in-state and all the Chinese officials will pay their respects. A separate day will be designated for the Ministers of the powers. The interment will be at the birth place of the deceased statesman, a little village in the Province of An Hui. The time has not yet been decided upon.

A memorial was telegraphed to the court announcing his death, and a death circular sent to the Ministers of the powers. It is expected that when the court receives the news an edict will be issued bestowing posthumous honors on the deceased, and probably advancing him to the rank of a marquis, which title will descend to his eldest son. The Ministers of the powers are personally sending messages of sympathy. The Chinese officials were unable to obtain communication with Prince Ching yesterday. The Governor of Pekin, the Provincial Treasurer, and the generals commanding the Chinese troops have sent a joint telegram to various points, recommending Prince Ching to proceed and join the court in order to present to the court the situation in Pekin before returning to the Capitol. There are no signs of mourning in the city, although the populace is considerably excited.

The death of Li Hung Chang is doubly regretted, because he was the only influential statesmen who could deal with foreign movements with an appreciation of the foreign points of view. Officials attached to Earl Li's households state to-day that the Russian Minister, M. Paul Lessar, called early in the morning and strenuously endeavored to have the seal of Li Hung Chang attached to the Manchurian convention before he died. It is impossible to verify this statement from other than Chinese sources.

Russia Seeks Trouble.

London, Nov. 8.—A secret despatch passed through this city to-day, says the Shanghai correspondent of The Standard, reputed to be from the Chinese Minister in St. Petersburg, warning the Empress Dowager that Russia is determined to retain possession of Manchuria, and that if the Manchurian convention is denounced other terms will be exacted, which will gravely menace China's independence.

SCHLEY COURT OVER.

Admiral Dewey and His Associates Considering the Verdict.

Washington, Nov. 8.—After sittings covering 40 days the Schley Court of Inquiry concluded yesterday with the address of Captain Lamly, judge advocate. The speech of Captain Lamly was, in the main, an analysis of testimony, but occasionally a conclusion was drawn and frequently there was criticism of the course pursued by Admiral Schley. He said he did not believe, nor did he claim, from the evidence, that personal misconduct or cowardice was exhibited by Admiral Schley, but in some of his movements he exhibited unsteadiness in purpose and failure to obey orders.

Canadian Schooner Wrecked.

Orleans, Mass., Nov. 8.—The large British schooner John S. Parker of St. John, N.B., bound from that city for a sound port with a cargo of lumber, struck on the bar off here during a heavy northeast gale yesterday morning and was wrecked. Captain Ernest and his crew of five men were rescued in the breeches buoy by the Orleans life saving crew after a gallant struggle.

WAR TO A SPEEDY END

British Cabinet Arranging for a Strenuous Effort.

FOUR THOUSAND CAVALRY TO GO

Boer Loss Was Heavy at Brakenlaagte—Forty-four Killed and One Hundred Wounded—Gen. Opperman Among the Dead—Arrival of Louis Botha With 600 Men Made Attack Harder to Repulse.

London, Nov. 8.—The meetings of the British Cabinet recently have been chiefly devoted to South Africa and to drawing up plans for more strenuous efforts to end the campaign. One of the immediate results will be the despatch of 4,000 cavalry from England to South Africa.

As Mr. Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary, went Wednesday afternoon, directly from the Cabinet meeting to the scene of the presentation to Major-General Baden-Powell, the defender of Mafeking, of the sword of honor sent from Australia, the Secretary's declaration on that occasion may be accepted as the decision reached by the Cabinet, and as the Government's reply to recent suggestions that the Boers should be offered terms.

Presiding yesterday at the presentation of the sword of honor mentioned, Mr. Chamberlain said, now that the long struggle in South Africa was approaching its termination neither the country nor the Government had any right or wish to make any settlement which would render futile the sacrifices which had been made.

Boers Lost 44.

London, Nov. 8.—Lord Kitchener, cabling supplementary details of the recent fight near Brakenlaagte, Eastern Transvaal, says: "The Boer loss was 44 killed, including General Opperman, and 100 wounded. The Boers got nothing beyond the guns. The Boer attack was easily repulsed until the arrival of Louis Botha with 600 men."

Cheers for Buller.

London, Nov. 8.—At Nottingham, yesterday, where Lord Roberts, the Commander-in-Chief, distributed a thousand war medals, he was repeatedly "booed," and cheers were raised for Gen. Buller. The recipients of the medals, at the luncheon subsequently given in their honor, repeatedly broke into cheers for Gen. Buller.

Seddon and the Boers.

Wellington, Nov. 8.—The possibility of Mr. Seddon being appointed Governor of the Orange River Colony is being seriously discussed in New Zealand. It is definitely announced that Mr. and Mrs. Seddon will attend the King's coronation.

Miss Hobhouse Arrested.

London, Nov. 8.—The Daily News says: "We learn that Miss Hobhouse and a lady companion have been arrested in South Africa, and presumably deported." Miss Hobhouse was the first to agitate regarding the condition of the British concentration camps.

Medals for Correspondents.

London, Nov. 8.—A correspondent has called Lord Roberts' attention to public expressions of regret that the work of war correspondents in South Africa has not met with better recognition on the part of the government.

On behalf of the Commander-in-Chief, Lieut.-Col. H. Streatfield has replied that the subject of war medals being issued to the war correspondents is still under consideration.

Histerious on the War.

London, Nov. 8.—In a three column letter to The Times, Sir William Vernon Harcourt indicts the Government's policy and conduct in the South African war, especially in the later stages. He declares that the banishment of Boers and the confiscation of the property are both unconstitutional and mischievous, and can be defended neither by the laws of war nor by civil law.

A Horrible Fate.

Springfield, Mo., Nov. 8.—In a collision between a switch engine and a double-header freight on the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad here yesterday, three trainmen were killed. The dead: William Nichols, engineer; Harry Rosin, fireman, and John Tyner, switchman. The engineer and fireman of the switch engine were scalded to death. Switchman Tyner was standing on the tender and was torn to pieces.

Germany's Huge Deficit.

Berlin, Nov. 8.—The German Imperial deficit has heretofore been estimated at 100,000,000 marks ($15,000,000.) It is now asserted that the budget will assume a deficit of 140,000,000 marks ($35,000,000) in view of the severe commercial crisis through which Germany is passing, the size of the deficit in the Imperial budget must be regarded as likely to entail very serious consequences.

No Strained Relations.

Santiago De Chili, Nov. 8.—In the Chilian Chamber of Deputies yesterday Senor Yanez, Minister of Foreign Affairs, declared that alarmist rumors regarding the relations between Chili and Argentina were absolutely without foundation, and the relations between the two states continued to be marked by a spirit of justice, equity and cordiality.

A Department Worthy Of Buyers' Attention.

Sutcliffe's Ready-to-Wear Garments have a chicness, a certain modest, neat, but jaunty style about them that isn't found elsewhere. Suits and Coats are garments in a women's wardrobe that she doesn't wish to buy every season. This realized, we avoid the gingerbread trimmed sort, yet we manage to get that distinct smartness in them that marks them select garments.

You will naturally understand that it is much easier for you to see this smartness in the garment than in the advertisement. Could we have the pleasure of personally introducing you to these Select Coats and Suits?

Just a couple of instances for those who may not be able to visit the store:—

A CHEAP COAT with a surprising lot of goodness, made of a bright Black Curl Cloth, medici collar and large lapels, effectively stitched, semi-fitting back, with deep vents, lined with black sateen, 6 large smoked pearl buttons, only 5.00

ANOTHER WONDER is how they can put so much good cloth into this priced Mantle. Namely, a decent Castor Beaver Cloth with storm collar, large lapels, well lined with coloured sateen, faced well back, 28 inches long, and only 5.00

WONDERS DON'T CEASE at this store, for following these previous two numbers comes as smart a Coat as any woman need wear. Is made of fine kersey cloth, 36 inches long, newest sleeve richly stitched, flap pockets, deep vent, graceful semi-fitting back, coat collar or medici collar and lined twill silk. You'll think it grand value at 8.50

OUR TWELVE DOLLAR COAT, as well as our Ten and Fifteen Dollar Coats, are worthy of the visit we ask you to make. Try them on and realise their goodness of VALUE.

SUITS—FIVE DIFFERENT STYLES to select from at this price. They have the required smartness and a heap more value than a person would ordinarily look for at the price. See them 12.50

TOBACCO AND STREET-SWEEPING SKIRTS.

The ladies are always charming, but not always consistent. Individually, and as societies, guilds, associations, councils and unions, they enveigh against tobacco, for instance, and, in general, with good reason. They should however sometimes pluck out the mote from their own bright eyes, instead of trying exclusively to pluck out the beam in horrid man's eyes. Why don't the ladies, burning with the ardour of reform, try treading on the tail of the trailing skirt. The use of tobacco involves a great deal of nastiness, it must be confessed. While the ladies rail against the filthy habit of tobacco expectoration on the streets, they don't seem to say a word against the trailing skirt, which sweeps up, not only all this salivary filth, but with it a million or two microbes, and pounds of pulverised offal, every day, and carry them to their own homes. A trailing skirt that has made an excursion around town, brings home an amount of disease-breeding filth and pollution, infinitely greater, and infinitely more dangerous, than the tobacco smoke that may yellow the snowy lustre of a few lace curtains. A few dollars will buy new curtains, but no money will, in many cases, bring back the health which the trailing skirt has destroyed, with consumption, from skirt-sown germs, nor restore the life smothered in the street tobacco-stained, and microbe-laden folds of the deadly trailing skirt. Ladies, when you clear your own skirts, then come and talk to us about tobacco. Don't fight one admitted evil, with some redeeming merits, and tolerate and encourage another, without a thread of redeeming merit, and inexpressibly greater and more dangerous to the health of your homes.

MR. WHITNEY A POLITICAL ACROBAT.

Mr. Whitney is a political acrobat.

For example:

He advocated the "home manufacture" of Ontario's sawlogs, but he opposed the application of this principle to our pulpwood, and denounced the action of the Government in asking power to extend it to our minerals.

He supported three of the pulp concessions made by the Government, and he opposed three other concessions along the same line.

He opposed in violent language the agreement made by the Government with the Algoma Central Railway Company, and afterwards voted for a less favourable contract, from a provincial point of view, made by the Government with the same people.

He opposed the succession duties, and is now advocating that these duties, which have been specifically set aside for the support of hospitals and charities, should be devoted to the needs of Toronto University.

He was long a strenuous critic of the agricultural college at Guelph, and opposed several of the grants intended to put it in a more efficient state, and he is now found advocating the establishment of additional agricultural colleges.

He ridiculed the proposal made by Mr. Ross that the Government should encourage our dressed meat trade with Great Britain, and in his latest platform advocates this very thing, as if the idea had just struck him.

In short he can turn a complete somersault with a rapidity that is absolutely startling. — Brantford Expositor.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

If some charge of dishonesty were brought home to the Ontario Government, the Globe thinks, it would be more effective than calling it "Tammany." That, in view of the Government's record, is merely silly.

The New Zealand Government has decided that swimming and life-saving shall be taught in all the schools. The Life Saving Society's method having been adopted, 2,000 handbooks and charts have been sent by order of the Government for the use of the schoolmasters.

Mr. Goldwin Smith seems to doubt that Great Britain could successfully defend Canada in case of war. Mr. Smith may pump clear water with great facility from the well of English undefiled, but his dictum on political questions is not always to be accepted, except cum grano salis—and sometimes in big lumps, too. Does Mr. Smith think that Canada wouldn't be able to give a little help in the event of an invasion? History tells us that when Canada was unsuccessfully invaded in 1812-14, the colonial troops contributed most to the expulsion of the invader. Things may have changed, but there has been a change on both sides of the line. Canadians would fight for their homes as energetically as the Boers or Filipinos, with a success and stubbornness, which have largely taxed the resources of two great nations, and without any material outside help. Surely Canada, with Great Britain to back her, could make some little stand against an invading enemy?

STURGEON FALLS PULP COMPANY SUCCEEDS.

The Misunderstanding With the Lloyd Company Settled—Work Will now Proceed.

The arbitration proceedings which have been pending for about a year between the Sturgeon Falls Pulp Company and the Edward Lloyd Company, Ltd., of London, Eng., has resulted in a satisfactory settlement. About a year ago the property of the Sturgeon Falls Company was sold to the Lloyd Company, the purchase price being in the neighbourhood of a million dollars. Before all the purchase money had been paid a protest was entered to the effect that the property was not as represented. The matter was referred to Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick, Solicitor-General, as sole arbitrator, and sittings of the court were held at Toronto, Sturgeon Falls, Montreal, Quebec and Ottawa. The document embodying the terms of settlement is signed by Mr. W. J. White, representing the Lloyd Company, and Mr. Ernest A. Bremner, representing the Sturgeon Falls Company, and it contains a withdrawal of all allegations as to the truthfulness or good faith of the company, and an acknowledgment that a survey of the timber lands alters the view of the Lloyd Company. The Lloyd Company also acknowledges that the trouble was the the result of business misunderstanding. The property will be conveyed to the Sturgeon Falls Pulp Company, which will proceed with the completion of the mills. The Lloyd Company will purchase at market price the output of paper for two years after the mills are put in operation.

John Haggart, Peterborough's lightning auctioneer passed through the village this week.

Mr. Stewart of the Bobcaygeon Independent wheeled to Bridgenorth on Wednesday, on business.

The Rev. Mr. Houck who has been conducting the anniversary services here, accompanied by Mrs. Houck, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Kelly during their stay in the village.

Rev. George Nickle was called away to Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan drove over to Lakefield to take in the Baptist tea last week.

The Misses Elliott of Mount Pleasant are spending a few days in the village.

Mrs. Nicholls of Dakota, who has been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Nicholls has returned home.

John Turver has taken a position with the Dickson Co. of Peterborough. John was a great favorite among the ladies and his departure from Bridgenorth is to be regretted.

Mr. William and Noble Kelly started off on a little jaunt last week. On their trip they visited the Pan-American Niagara Falls, Hamilton and other western cities and returned home highly pleased with their little outing.

Mr. Parks of the firm of Gough Bros. took part in the Methodist concert and also in the fowl supper.

Miss Victoria Northey is spending a week with her sisters in the village.

The steamer Empire came in on Thursday evening with Mr. R. B. Rogers on board. Mr. George Giroux was on hand with a carriage to convey him to Peterborough.

Mr. W. H. Hill and Mr. H. S. Mc Donald who own cottages in the park have purchased a large floating island and at present is anchored in the lake in front of their cottages. Chemong Park must be growing.

The Methodist parsonage and outbuildings are undergoing some repairs during the past week. A large addition was made to the stable, which will no doubt be appreciated very much by the pastor, Mr. Nichle, as he has a large stock. Jim Cullen who is an expert with the paint brush is adding greatly to the appearance of the old worn out parsonage with a coat of terra cotta which when finished will look like new. Mr. Aaron Mann who had charge of the carpenter work will insure work of the highest order.

Mr. W. B. Kelly is having an addition put to one of his houses at present occupied by Mrs. Turver.

Mr W. P. Robinson, one of our contractors, with a gang of men is kept busy in the country these days.

A farmer from Ennismore lost a bag of peas off his wagon between here and Peterborough, one day this week, and he is wondering if the person who picked them up would be small enough to feed them to his hogs.

Mr. C. H. Brown has a carpenter at work and is making some wonderful improvements.

Mr. Sandy Morrison received a letter this week from his son Fred, who is in South Africa. He has seen hard times and done some fighting also, but altogether Fred says he rather likes a soldier's life chasing Boers.

Mr. Wm. King of Ennismore, shipped a carload of Plymouth Rock chickens to Lindsay this week.

The new bridge which has been planklengthwise is completed.

Mr. Belcher accompanied by his right hand bower Mr. Fitzgerald and also Mr. McDermid the Toronto contractor drove up on Wednesday to inspect the work and pronounced it in perfect shape.

A number of the residents are of the opinion that if Mr. Jopling, who made the Smith side approach, had been instructed to use fine gravel, the road would have been greatly benefited. However, if they would engage a few men and break up the large boulders which cover the main roadbed it might add a little to the comfort of those who are loads over at the present time, as most of the Ennismore farmers who have loads of any kind at present, drive through Mr. Kelly's lumber yard and prefer the long pull through the sawdust rather than face boulders. The planking which was taken off the old bridge and piled along the shore on the Smith side after being culled over was sold by auction last week by Mr. C. Stabler, auctioneer. The county treasury was increased by some $76 through the proceeds of the sale.

A Sour Stomach

Is Often the Real Cause of a Sour Temper.

That the condition of the digestive organs has a marked effect upon the character or disposition, is a truism as old as the hills. Old Ben Johnston wisely said, "the pleasure of living depends upon the liver," and it is a fact which none may dispute that a sunny disposition more often results from a healthy digestion than from any other cause.

Acid dyspepsia, commonly called sour stomach or heartburn, is caused by slow digestion of food; instead of being promptly digested and converted into blood, bone and muscle, it lies in the stomach for hours, fermenting and decaying, creating gases, which cause pressure on the lungs and heart, short breath and general discomfort and irritation.

Such half digested food is indeed poor nourishment for the body, brain and nerves, and the result is shown in irritable tempers, unaccountable headaches and that depressing condition usually called the "blues," but how quickly all these disappear when appetite and digestion are restored!

Laxative medicines only irritate the already irritated stomach and bowels and have no effect upon actual digestion of food.

The sensible course to follow is to make use of simple natural digestives like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals until the stomach has a chance to recuperate.

The natural digestives which every healthy stomach contains are peptones, diastase and hydrochloric and lactic acids, and when any of them are lacking the trouble begins. The reason Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are so valuable and successful in curing stomach trouble is because they contain in a pleasant concentrated tablet form all these absolutely necessary essentials for perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

Henry Kirkpatrick, of Lawrence, Mass., says, "Men and women whose occupation precludes an active outdoor life, should make it a daily practice to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals. I have done so myself, and I know positively that I owe my present health and vigour to their daily use.

"From the time I was 22 when I graduated from school with broken health from overwork, until I was 34, I scarcely knew what it was to be free from stomach weakness. I had no appetite whatever for breakfast and very little for any other meal.

"I had acidity and heartburn nearly every day and sometimes was alarmed by irregularity and palpitation of the heart, but all this gradually disappeared after I began using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I can eat my meals with relish and satisfaction, which I had not known since I was a growing boy."

The success and popularity of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is enormous, but it is deserved, and every druggist in the United States, Canada and Great Britain has a good word for this meritorious preparation.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS...

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $180 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

TALK ABOUT TARIFFS

Negotiations for Reciprocity with Australia Soon to Open.

ON HON. W. MULOCK'S RETURN

Mr. Barton, Premier of the Newly-Federated Colonies, Not Indisposed to Discuss Question of Reciprocal Trade Relations With Canada—Manufacturers Have a Pleasant Conference With Ministers.

Ottawa, Nov. 8.—It is understood that when Hon. William Mulock returns to the capital negotiations will be opened with the Government of the Australian Commonwealth, with a view to effecting, if possible, a treaty for reciprocal trade. When the Postmaster-General was in Australia at the opening of the Commonwealth Parliament he enjoyed the privilege of a preliminary chat with the Premier of the newly-federated colonies, and from what can be learned Mr. Barton was not indisposed to discuss the question of reciprocal trade relations with Canada. The subject has lain in abeyance since then, owing to the severe attack of rheumatism which for a time rendered Mr. Mulock almost an invalid, but now that the Postmaster-General is on the high road to recovery, it will not be long before the question of improved trade relations with the Australian Commonwealth will again be taken up and earnestly dealt with. A hint that the Government had the matter under contemplation was given by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to the deputation of manufacturers that waited upon the Premier and his colleagues at Montreal yesterday morning, and, needless to say, caused the liveliest satisfaction.

CONFERRED WITH MINISTERS.

Manufacturers Talk Tariff Changes With Members of the Cabinet.

Montreal, Nov. 8.—The Tariff Committee of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association held a conference yesterday at the Windsor, with these Ministers: Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier; Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, and Hon. William Paterson, Minister of Customs, each of whom showed considerable interest in the somewhat lengthy discussion.

The Minister of Finance showed much interest in the woollen question and the resolution passed yesterday upon the subject.

Messrs. Paterson and Fielding discussed at length with prominent members of the committee the present condition of trade in iron and steel, and the change asked for in the tariff on oatmeal.

It is understood that the resolution with regard to the increase in the tariff on woollens will be further considered by the Government, and that when next it comes before members of the Cabinet it will be accompanied by certain trade schedules asked for by the Finance Minister and the Minister of Customs.

A Pleasant Conference.

Montreal, Nov. 8.—Mr. P. W. Ellis, the late President, said afterwards: "We have had a most satisfactory interview with the members of the Government at present in this city. In fact, I don't think our association ever had a more pleasant conference with Ministers of the Crown. They showed the keenest interest in the matters under discussion, and seemed to thoroughly appreciate the situation. Some of the bigger subjects, such as the increased demand on woollens, were not exhaustively discussed owing to the impossibility of completely covering the ground in the time at our disposal. We are well satisfied, however, with the conference."

Canadian Club Dinner.

New York, Nov. 8.—Prominent Canadians and Americans dined together at the Waldorf-Astoria last night at the fifth annual banquet of the Canadian Society. Nearly 300 members and invited guests were present. Among those present were: Sir Percy Sanderson, Hon. Sydney A. Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, Ottawa; A. E. Ames, President of the Toronto Board of Trade; John Coates, President of the Ottawa Board of Trade; Dr. Robert H. Upham, president of the Canadian Club, Boston; Albert E. Jones, President of the Victoria Club, Buffalo; Charles Clinton Burke, treasurer of the New England Society, and Noel Marshall, President of the National Club, Toronto.

Canada for Canadians.

Montreal, Nov. 8.—The Prime Minister announced yesterday before leaving for Ottawa that all horses for South Africa would have to be shipped from Canadian ports.

Spanish Minister Resigns.

Madrid, Nov. 8.—As a result of a difference with the Budget Committee of the Spanish Chamber of Deputies, Senor Urzaiz, Minister of Finance, has resigned his portfolio. A Cabinet crisis is threatened.

Mine Fire Dooms Two Men.

Bessemer, Mich., Nov. 8.—The Mikado Mine is on fire in the seventh level. Two men who were at work below are imprisoned by the flames, with no means of escape.

A MODERN JOB

Faith, patience and six bottles of South American Nervine "made over" Mr. Wright—and all his troubles started in a disordered stomach.

"As a general builder up of the system I believe nothing can equal South American Nervine. At one time I seemed to be afflicted with almost all the ills that flesh is heir to—indigestion, nervousness, gastric and nasal catarrh, and liver and kidney disorders. This great remedy was recommended to me. I took six bottles in all, and what was apparently a hopeless case was quickly and permanently cured. I felt myself improving from the first few doses."—Noble Wright, Orangeville, Ont. 74

SQUARING WITH THE SULTAN.

French Marines Landed and Customs at Midilli Seized.

Paris, Nov. 8.—Admiral Caillard has landed marines on the Island of Mitylene and seized the customs at Madilli without resistance.

The French Government has received satisfactory replies from all the powers without exception, to its note explaining the measures taken against Turkey. An excellent impression has been created in official circles by the tone of the response of the United States, which is couched in the most friendly terms.

The Government is satisfied with the progress already achieved. The Sultan has promised to settle all monetary claims, and has offered guarantees which fall little short of those demanded. France, however, will insist on full guarantees, and also on the surrender of Turkey in the matter of treaty rights before evacuating Mitylene. No international complications are expected.

The Porte has given France authority to rebuild sixteen churches, convents and other institutions.

Since the negotiations have been so successful it is understood other powers will discover claims against Turkey.

Sultan Gives Up.

Paris, Nov. 8.—The Greek Minister in Constantinople, according to a despatch to a Paris news agency from Athens has telegraphed the Greek Government that the Porte has accepted all the demands of France.

No Appeal to Britain.

Constantinople, Nov. 8.—There is absolutely no foundation for the report that the Porte has demanded that Great Britain should protect Asiatic Turkey from French attack.

Looking to Canada.

Buffalo, Nov. 8.—Next Thursday the Boards of Trade of a large number of the leading cities of the United States will have representatives in Washington, delegated to call upon the President and solicit his interest in the matter of closer trade relations between the United States and Canada. The intention is to have him incorporate in his message to Congress a strong recommendation for such measures as will make possible a fairer trade policy towards Canada. C. H. Keep, former secretary of Buffalo Merchants' Exchange, will be the delegate from Buffalo.

TOO RAPID FOR RUSSIA.

Course of France May Force Russia to Another Attitude.

Berlin, Nov. 8.—"It is reported here," says a despatch from St. Petersburg to The Cologne Gazette, "that France and Russia have arrived at an agreement for common action with a view to the execution of reforms in Armenia and the European provinces of the Ottoman Empire guaranteed by the Sultan in the Berlin treaty. They propose to invite the signatory powers to meet in conference for this subject. It is expected here that all the powers will accept this invitation; but the conference could not well be held before spring.

"In well-informed circles in St. Petersburg a fear is expressed that the present steps of France may force matters to develop so rapidly that Russia, despite the Czar's love of peace, may find herself driven into an attitude of another kind in order to safeguard her own interests. Events in Turkey and the Balkans are regarded in political circles with great anxiety."

Coughs, colds, hoarseness, and other throat ailments are quickly relieved by Vapo-Cresolene tablets, ten cents per box. All druggists.

Mail Boat Beached.

London, Nov. 8.— Yesterday the southern and eastern coasts were enveloped in a denser mantle than before. The Dutch mail boat, Koningin Regentes, collided with the British third-class cruiser Proserpine, off Shearness, at midnight. The passengers and mails were transferred to the Proserpine, and the mail boat was beached.

DeCrey, pianists.

Transfer of Meat Business.

Mr. H. P. Kennedy has bought out the well-conducted meat business of Messrs. Goselin & Rose, next to the Market Arcade. This deal is largely due to Mr. Kennedy's rapidly growing trade, so that the individual interests of the customers of Goselin & Rose will be efficiently safeguarded by the transfer. In another column will be found separate announcements from both parties to the transaction, which are sufficiently clear to warrant no further explanations. It is creditable to Mr. Kennedy to know that his wants justify this further expansion of his business premises. Additional salesmen are being engaged every week. Mr. Lorne Giddy of Port Hope, has been added to the selling staff this week. Mr. Giddy has been brought up to the business from his youth, and is a competent all round man. He was in the employ of the George Matthews Co. for two years, and lately has been engaged with the W. Harris Co. of Toronto.

The Port Hope Knitting Works are showing a most complete and tempting range of little vests and drawers for boys and girls at 5c, 10c, 15, 20c, 25c and up. The choice and values are unexcelled.

THE KING'S BIRTHDAY.

Saturday is Declared a Public Holiday in the Province.

At a meeting of the Ontario Cabinet held Tuesday, it was decided that a public holiday should be proclaimed for Saturday next, Nov. 9th, the birthday of King Edward VII. The Dominion proclamation, although it applies to financial institutions, does not apply to business concerns generally. The proclamation by the Ontario government makes every individual eligible to a holiday, and he may claim it of his employees and obtain damages if dismissed for not turning up that day.

BUILDING PERMITS.

The First one Taken out by the Peterborough Canoe Company.

The first building permit to be issued by the town engineer has been taken out by the Peterborough Canoe Company, who have commenced the construction of a 24x40 ft. addition to their factory on Water street. Their new addition will be three storeys in height, and will be a substantial brick structure.

In regard to the taking out of building permits, the law regarding the same does not seem to be thoroughly understood. According to a by-law enacted by the Town Council some time ago, every building, no matter what size, that is being erected within the fire limits, must be commenced only after taking out a permit from the Town Engineer. The permit merely asks the general description of the structure about to be erected, location, architect or builder, and the cost. It is for the purpose of preventing the erection of undesirable structures, and at the same time it affords a means of keeping a record of the building operations within the fire limits of the town. The permits cost nothing, and persons who are contemplating the construction of houses or buildings of any kind are asked to bear in mind the provisions of the by-law in this regard.

OUR NAVY
OPERA HOUSE TO-NIGHT
PRICES—50c, 35c, 25c.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE PUBLIC.

November 8th, 1901.

This is to notify our many customers that we have this day sold our Meat Business at 328 George street (Market Arcade) to Mr. H. P. Kennedy, who will continue business for present at the old stand.

In retiring from business we have to thank our many customers for the patronage which they have accorded us, and to bespeak for the new proprietor a continuance of the same.

We are free to admit that the service given under the new management should be even more satisfactory than in the past, as the facilities afforded Mr. Kennedy in his large Live Stock trade throughout Ontario, are such that enable him to furnish his meat market with a greater variety and a choicer stock of meats than others have the opportunity of doing.

Our customers can rest assured that only the choicest Beef, Lamb, Pork, Fowl of all kinds, and Meats, the variety of which are only to be found in all well equipped meat markets, will be found in the new store, and for the present we will both be in Mr. Kennedy's employ, and will be glad to welcome not only our old customers, but the general public.

All outstanding accounts will be expected to be promptly settled with the undersigned.

ROYAL CHORUS A GREAT SUCCESS.

Large Audience Delighted With Programme.

MAY CONTINUE THE WORK.

Such an Organization Must not be Allowed to Disband—Mere of Such Music Wanted.

Between five and six hundred citizens assembled in the Market Hall last evening to greet the first public appearance in town of the local contingent of the Royal Chorus, which sung a welcome to the Royal Party on the occasion of their recent visit to Toronto.

Peterborough has every reason to take pride in the musical talent of which the town can boast, but which has, until lately, lain dormant, as far as any organized united effort was concerned.

As the result of the formation of the Royal Chorus by Mr. G. W. Mulligan, a large number of singers have been introduced to the public, who have, up to this time, hidden their light under a bushel. Of course, many of the vocalists were drawn from the various excellent local choirs, but by far the greater majority are connected with no musical organization whatever, through which fact the citizens at large have been deprived of an incalculable amount of pleasure, as the talent possessed has proved to be of a class and character possessed by few, if any, towns in Canada.

That the large audience was more than delighted goes without saying. The audience was drawn largely from a desire to patronize an entertainment having for its laudable object the desire to assist the Children's Aid Society and the "Colours Fund" of the 57th Battalion, but the manner in which the many difficult numbers were interpreted afforded such thorough enjoyment that the Royal Chorus, in announcing another concert (and it is but voicing the wish of all present to hope that it may be soon) may rest assured of a bumper house, attracted by a desire to avail themselves of an opportunity of listening to a programme which they will be sure will be one of exceptional merit.

The Chorus has established itself firmly in the estimation of all music lovers of the town, and every effort should be made to encourage the members to avoid any idea of dissolution, but on the contrary to keep together, and undertake some important musical work, during the winter months.

The various selections given last evening argued careful and conscientious training by their capable leader, Mr. Mulligan, who has reason to be exceedingly gratified by the credit reflected on him by his apt pupils. The opening chorus, "The Maple Leaf," was sung with a zest, rythm and swing which captivated the audience, and when each member waved a maple leaf on high during the singing of the last line, the effect was charming. Wagner's beautiful "Hail, Bright Abode" was magnificently handled, the altos, bass, sopranos and tenors catching up their parts with a precision and accuracy which was most pleasing to the musical ear. "Our Country and our King," a new composition of Torrington's, was well received and well rendered, its patriotic sentiment being warmly applauded, the climax being reached when every singer waved a miniature Union Jack over head.

The "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's Messiah, was probably the most difficult number on the programme, and the delicate shading with the skillful handling of the cadenzas brought out its many beauties in a more effective manner.

Little Master Mowat made his debut before a Peterborough audience and won golden opinions by his spirited rendering of "There's No Flag Like the Red, White and Blue." One of the great charms of his voice is in his clear and distinct enunciation. As an encore he gave "Kruger's Hat." Mr. Walter Stocker's "My Ship's the Girl For Me," from the Opera Dolly Varden," was one of those swinging nautical songs, to which Mr. Stocker's voice is singularly adapted. He did full justice to the number.

Miss Myrtle Hendren, always a warm favourite with a Peterborough audience, sang "Auld Robin Gray" in a manner which invested that fine old song with new beauties. Later in the evening she gave Lardelli's Russian song, "Across the Steeples" most pleasingly and as encores sang two of those charming little chansons which are always given by her with such taste.

Mr. James Dawson was in fine voice, and his "Deathless Army" was splendidly given as was the repeat number, "The Skipper." In the second half of the programme he sang "Mama's In The Cold, Cold, Ground," with imitation banjo accompaniment by the Canadian General Electric Glee Club. The number was enjoyed to such an extent that the club had to give ont of their glees as an encore. Mr. Mulligan received a very hearty ovation from both the chorus and the audience when he came upon the platform to give his solo number. His voice was never heard to better advantage than in De Koven's "Shipbuilder's Song," from the Comic Opera "Foxy Quiller. The anvil accompaniment was a pleasing innovation, the anvil and hammer being charged with electricity, and emitting most realistic sparks. As an encore he gave Godfrey's new composition "Prince George."

Mrs. W. Daly did full justice to Millard's "Waiting," the number proving to be one of the most popular on the programme.

Mr. H. Milne gave a very skilful rendering of "True Until Death," which was so favourable received that he had to give a repeat number.

The accompanists were Mrs. Mowat, Miss Hurley, and Mr. J. Crane, and their excellent work was fully appreciated by the chorus and soloists.

Owing to the fact that the necessary music did not arrive the band was unable to accompany the chorus, and the work therefore fell on the shoulders of Mrs. Mowat and Miss Hurley, who presided at the two magnificent Stanley Grands which were kindly loaned for the occasion. The band was in attendance however, and played a selection during the evening.

At the conclusion of the National Anthem, Mr. G. E. Martin, on behalf of the chorus, presented an envelope containing a snug little sum of money, to Mr. Mulligan, and at the same time voiced the pleasure of the chorus in being able to testify to the very high esteem in which they held Mr. Mulligan, and also their desire that he should be given due credit for the work which he had done in connection with preparing the choruses. The money was not taken from the sum realized at the door, he explained, but was voluntarily and willingly contributed personally by the members of the chorus.

Mr. Mulligan, in accepting the gift, fittingly expressed his thanks, and spoke of the pleasure it had given him to know that he possessed the confidence of one hundred and fifty of the best voices in the County of Peterborough.

POULTRY ASSOCIATION.

The Annual Show—Last Night's Meeting—The Matter of Coops.

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Peterborough Poultry and Pet Stock Association was held in the town council chamber last night. The chair was occupied by Mr. R.H. Leary, the President of the Society, and there was a splendid turn out of poultry fanciers.

The object of the meeting was to discuss the matter of the size of coops to be made for the annual show, which will take place in the Market Hall on Jan. 22nd, 23rd and 24th. The local society has in the past had to borrow the coops from the Ontario Poultry Association, but it was felt that if the Peterborough Central Agricultural Society would assist in getting new coops, they could be used by both parties. The Agricultural Society, however, did not feel inclined to enter into such an arrangement, and the Poultry Association will have to undertake the matter themselves. They will start out by getting 250 this year.

Nothing further was done at the meeting.

HUNTING NOTES.

Messrs. Harry LeBrun and Ed. Brown, have returned from a hunting trip in the vicinity of Burleigh, where they were the guests of Mr. Willie Boyd on his yacht. The party were lucky in securing three deer. Unfortunately Mr. LeBrun took ill, necessitating his return.

Lindsay Post: All kinds of game must be plentiful in the north country this season. Nearly every hunter that has so far returned has secured his full complement of deer. Every morning this week the Haliburton train has brought down from northern points a large number of deer. This morning a dozen carcases, comprising some fine bucks, were consigned to Toronto, Peterborough and Kingston parties. Among the lot was the carcass of a large bear.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

RUGBY.

The Rugbyists of the town had a very good practice in the drill shed last night, which was the final skirmish before going to London. Among those who were out last night were Messrs. Crowley, Rickey, Meagher, Dainard, Noble, McPherson, Burnham, Vic McWilliams, Paterson, Robinson, Bell, Morden, Revell, Dillon and Picard. For a time Crowley was badly laid out and it was thought that his chances for going to London were rather slim. He came in contact with one other members of the team with telling effect to himself. However Crowley will be on the team when it lines up against London.

Rugby is flourishing in the west and of the town and the boys have organized a junior team. They are open to receive challenges from any junior Rugby team in town; average age 16 years. Address Arthur Yokome, Drawer D, Town.

The London News booms up Saturday's game as follows:—

"Trees and flowers! Trees and flowers!
Tries and Rouges! Tries and Rouges!
When London plays the enemy loses!
Sis boom bah! Sis boom bah!
London—London—Rah, Rah, Rah."

This is the soul stirring war cry of the London Football Club. It was thus the junior champions of '98 and '99 chortled as they annexed each year the highest honours in their class. Hundreds of rooters sang the chorus last fall when Peterboroughs hopes were shattered and the Ontario championship gathered in. On a bleak afternoon in November last, a small band of faithful executed a wild and wooly war dance as they escorted the champions of Canada from the Montreal A. A. A. grounds, exclaiming delirously with what voice yet remained, that "when London plays the enemy loses." Perhaps it may not be artistic, but it's the genuine thing, and as a slogan it has the merit of age and the halo of victory. Prepare to sing it with all your voice on Saturday next, for then the red, white and black cohorts battle with their ancient enemies from Peterborough. If there are not at least two thousand at the game, London does not deserve a football club at all. Everyone be on hand, with voice in shape to encourage our own boys, who are playing to uphold the honour of their own city.

The Toronto Telegram says—The Ontario Hockey Association will meet tonight to consider the recommendation that Peel, the great London rush, be reinstated. A strong deputation is backing Peel's interests, which are also London's interests, for with Peel in the field, London's somewhat weak back will be greatly strengthened.—London News.

The O. H. A. executive say that so far no application for Peel's reinstatement has been received. Consequently London had better put a porous plaster on on that weak back and get it in shape for Peterborough.

BASKET-BALL.

If indications are to count, basketball in town this year will certainly boom. Last night after the Intermediate class in the gymnasium, a league was partially formed containing six teams—two juniors and four seniors. The Juniors are captained by Messrs. Will Graham and Harry Kingscote, which is an indication that things will move lively in this class. For the Senior Intermediates, the captains are Messrs. John Tully, Louis Johnston, John Cameron and How. Humphries. Each captain has strong team supporting him, and with such captains at the head, great interest should be taken in this league. All new men who will join each week, will have an opportunity of playing.

To-night at the Senior Gymnasium Class, which will likely be large, captains will be chosen sufficient to accomodate the number of men attending the gym. All senior men are asked to turn out to-night, as new work preparatory to contests will be given.

HOCKEY.

And now comes the season of the year when towns lift up their voices and wail because they either have no rinks or the men who built the ones they have did it on the plans prepared for bath-tubs. Numerous are the towns that could and would play hockey if they could. Orangeville has the material for a splendid seven; Fergus has some good men; and there is hardly a lacrosse town in the country but what could take its part in the winter half of the national game if it only had the ice. Then look at Peterborough, Port Hope—aad, yes, even Toronto. For far more will be heard about the rink we need when the first big game has happened along, and only those in the front row have been able to see any part of it.—Telegram.

THE GOLDEN LION RAMPANT.

R. Fair & Co's Past Trade Results and Prospective Advantages.

The public may not be in love with puzzling conundrum, but they enjoy one easily answered. It has been sometimes quite a conundrum to some person why the Golden Lion, the establishment of R. Fair & Co., drygoods merchants, attracts the crowds that daily and weekly flock to their counters. This is easily answered. Because the public always finds at R. Fair & Co's., at all seasons, a choice, complete and seasonable stock of carefully selected and carefully bought goods — insuring both quality and reasonable price. Because the regular patrons of R. Fair & Co. are always greeted with the same familiar faces of proprietors and staff, always at their post, personally looking after the wants of those customers. Because customers are always able to count upon courteous attention and ready service, with goods whose price represents the best value obtainable for such articles in this district. With these facts in view, it is no surprise that the past year's trade with the Golden Lion has been a record one—the largest trade turnover in the history of the firm. The firm began the trade year with the determination to increase business this year by 25 per cent., and this has been accomplished. Thanks to good times, to the influx of new citizens through new industries, meaning more consumers, and generally increased prosperity in the community, R. Fair & Co. have shared liberally in the increased business done in Peterborough. As an example it may be mentioned that the dress and mantle department has quite outgrown the quarters that not long ago were considered ample, and one entire floor has had to be given up to this department. The trade in this, and all other departments has grown by leaps and bounds; and, encouraged, by this trade expansion, the firm has made most elaborate preparations for a still greater trade. The firm, always on the look out for the most favourable markets, has placed its orders for its numerous lines for the fall and winter trade in the most favourable marts — most favourable for furnishing the highest class of goods at the most reasonable range of prices.

It is a pleasure to note the success which Canadian manufacturers are meeting in producing in certain lines goods that compete very favourably with the best grades of foreign products. R. Fair & Co., expecting the patronage of the home trade, have felt it a duty, as well as their interest, to largely patronize home manufacturers in placing the orders for their fall equipment of high-class goods, as much as possible with Canadian manufacturers. The conditions of purchase, the guarantee of first-class quality, the assurance of unlimited choice for selection, the certainty of prompt, courteous and satisfactory service, have won for the Golden Lion a popularity and demand for its wares that tax even their extensive capacity for supply, to the utmost. As before stated, the dressmaking department has expanded till now one entire floor, and a staff of twenty five to thirty hands, is needed to meet the inundation of orders which come, from not only local sources, but from all parts of Ontario, Manitoba, and the Northwest. The same general activity of demand met by an inexhaustible capacity of supply, abounds in every department of the Golden Lion. It is no surprise, therefore, that the present staff of about fifty employees is kept busily employed in catering to and supplying the insistent demands of the numerous patrons of the establishment. For the past eighteen years this establishment has been growing in importance and in the favour of the public, and never before in its history has it been so well equipped with a stock of all kinds of goods, and so thoroughly well equipped to attract and meet the wants of its multitude of esteemed patrons. Come when you will, come as often as you will, come as many as may, the Golden Lion is prepared to meet every want it aims to supply, and to meet it with complete satisfaction to the patron, either in the matter of quality, style or monetary equivalent.

DELICIOUS PEARS.

As Excellent in Quality as Great in Size.

Yesterday, Mr. Robert Fife, Chemong Road, delighted the Examiner staff with the present of a basket of superb pears. They were of the Duchess variety, and of unusually large, in fact for pears, enormous, dimensions. This variety was shown by Mr. Fife at the Central Exhibition and though in size, texture, soundness and freedom from knot or spot they were perfect, the judge declined to award them a prize—on the ground that the flavour was lacking. This might have been true of the pears at that time in a somewhat unripe condition, but if this same judge could taste the pears our staff sampled yesterday, he would have been delighted with the delicious flavour of the ripened fruit, delicately sub-acid, and unsurpassable in bouquet. If the fruit that Mother Eve ate was as delicious as Mr. Fife's Duchess pears, it is no wonder she was tempted, and the origin of the name of her fruit garden is accounted for—it must have indeed been a Pearadise.

BRITISH CABINET MEETING.

Conjectured That the Franco-Turkish Embroglio Engages Its Attention.

London, Nov. 7.—The prolonged sittings of the British Cabinet Tuesday and yesterday have caused much conjecture. Mr. Chamberlain's organ, The Birmingham Post, avers that one of the principal subjects discussed was the threatening relations between France and Turkey, which might be a prelude to grave international complications.

Wants to Settle Now.

Constantinople, Nov. 7.—The Porte has sent a note to M. Bapst, councilor of the French Legation, enclosing monthly drafts on the customs in payment of the Lorando and Tubini claims, and embodying certain decisions of the Turkish Government regarding the Quays difficulty. M. Bapst has forwarded the communication to Paris.

No Landing Yet.

Paris, Nov. 7.—A despatch from Admiral Caillard, received here last night, but dated yesterday morning, announces that his squadron is still lying before the Island of Mitylene. No landing has yet been affected. A heavy sea is running.

Sultan's Head Turned.

London, Nov. 7.—Those best initiated into the mysteries of the Yildiz Kiosk, says the Vienna correspondent of The Times, have for some time represented the Sultan as being in a state of overweening infatuation, which bodes ill for the tranquility of the Near East. The patronage which Abdul Hamid has received from Germany is said to have contributed more than anything else to turn his head.

Beane Was Found Guilty.

Toronto, Nov. 7.—John Beane of Whitchurch Township, was found guilty in the Criminal Assizes yesterday on a charge preferred by a 14-year-old girl. The crime is a most serious one, and the penalty of death is empowered by law, but seldom enforced. The lad will be sentenced in a few days.

The Schley Enquiry.

Washington, Nov. 6.—The time of the Schley court of inquiry was entirely devoted yesterday to hearing arguments in the case of Admiral Schley. Mr. Hanna finished his argument in behalf of the department, which had begun Monday, and Captain James Parker began, but did not conclude, his presentation of the case for Admiral Schley.

Mr. Hanna yesterday considered the retrograde movement, the bombardment of the Colon and the charge made against Admiral Schley of disobedience of orders. Captain Parker had only reached the coaling question when the court adjourned. He defended the conduct of his client at all stages of the campaign, so far as he went.

It is expected that Captain Parker will conclude his speech to-day, when Mr. Rayner will begin.

Dr. Hodgetts Appointed.

Toronto, Nov. 6.—Dr. C. A. Hodgetts, of Spadina avenue, was yesterday appointed medical health officer for the unorganized districts of Ontario. It will be his duty to look after the outbreaks of smallpox, which have been occurring with alarming frequency of late, and also to see that the act passed at the last session of the Legislature is carried out. Dr. Hodgetts left yesterday for Sudbury to look into the case of a man who was traveling on the C.P.R., who is suspected of having smallpox.

Mgr. Murphy Dead.

Halifax, N.S., Nov. 6.—The death of Monsignor Murphy, one of the most prominent Roman Catholic clergymen in Lower Canada, and rector of St. Mary's Cathedral, in this city, occurred yesterday. He was a native of Cork, Ireland, and was fifty-eight years old. He came here in 1866, was ordained in 1867, received the degree of D.D. in 1892, and was appointed prothonotary about three years ago. He had been in ill-health for about twelve months.

Holocaust in a Theatre.

Ironwood, Mich., Nov. 7.— Ten lives were lost and four buildings destroyed by a fire which started in the Klondike Theatre at Hurley, Wis., yesterday. The Klondike was a vaudeville theatre and all of the dead and injured were connected with the theatre as performers. Most of them lived at Hurley. Thomas Leclaire, a brother of the proprietor of the theatre, is among the dead. The Klondike Theatre burned once before, in July, 1897, when eleven women lost their lives.

A Student's Rash Act.

Winnipeg, Nov. 7.—Willis Froats, a third year man of Queen's University, attempted suicide in the city last night. He will probably recover.

Don't lie around the house losing time and money because your back is stiff from lumbago. Do as thousands before you have done. Nerviline is quick to relieve, never fails, never harms. Try it to-day. 25 cents.

Divides the Deutsch Prize.

New York, Nov. 7.—A despatch from Paris to The London Times says that M. Santos-Dumont will divide the Deutsch prize of 100,000 francs, awarded to him on Monday by the committee of the Aero Club, as follows. Fifty thousand francs for the poor of Paris, 30,000 for M. Santos-Dumont's assistant, Emanuel Aime, and the remaining 20,000 to the aeronaut's other co-laborers.

A New Canal Treaty Will Probably Then Be Ready.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Ambassador Choate, who arrived in Washington Monday night, called upon Secretary Hay yesterday and had a long talk about the projected Hay-Pauncefote treaty and other matters. Mr. Choate will remain in Washington until to-day to see the President.

Lord Pauncefote, the British ambassador, has notified Secretary Hay that the British government accepts the American proposition relative to the Clayton-Bulwer treaty as the base for a new treaty. Within a day or two the State Department will begin the preparation of the convention itself. It is possible that this work will be finished in two weeks.

A Common Form of Indigestion

Which cannot be cured by ordinary stomach medicine—The kidneys, liver and bowels become deranged — Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pill.

By far the most important part of digestion takes place in the intestines, as has been repeatedly shown in cases where the stomach has been removed and the patient has lived and digested food without the aid of the stomach.

It frequently happens that people who continually dose the stomach for indigestion and use pepsin and various kinds of digestive tablets and powders can obtain no relief from such treatment, because the real trouble is in the intestines, the liver and the kidneys.

There is fullness and pains after meals, coated tongue, headache, loss of appetite, pains in the limbs and in the back and shoulders, flatulency and constipation, frequently alternating with diarrhoea.

In cases of intestinal indigestion the liver and kidneys usually become clogged and sluggish in action, and poisonous impurities are left in the blood, which should be removed by these filtering organs.

There has yet to be a remedy discovered that is so prompt and thorough in curing intestinal indigestion as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. And as this is the most common and severe form of indigestion it can well be claimed that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the most successful treatment extant for indigestion and dyspepsia.

Mrs. T. Woodley, Tyrone, Ont., writes:—"I was a great sufferer for a long time with indigestion and very distressing pains in my stomach. I was persuaded to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Their mild yet powerful action worked wonders in me."

It is not unusual for persons who have long been suffering from chronic indigestion, biliousness and constipation to be thoroughly cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which have by far the largest sale of any similar remedy. You may be skeptical, as others have been before you, but a single trial of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will convince you of their unusual medicinal value. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 5

There are at present 14 municipalities in Ontario in which smallpox exists. It is not known, however, how many cases there are. The outbreak at Brockville and in Waterloo and Oxford Counties, has been wiped out.

A Treaty of Arbitration.

Mexico City, Nov. 7.—The prospectus of a treaty of arbitration and court of arbitration which was submitted to the Pan-American conference yesterday by the Mexican delegation is largely framed on lines raised by The Hague Peace Conference. However, it proposes an increased number of obligatory subjects for arbitration, and has in view coercion or punishment of nations which, after signing a treaty, fail to live up to it.

COULD NOT WALK.

Their Second Meeting.

When Miss Swagger met Mr. Saphedde at the seaside, she thought he was a millionaire, and he permitted her to think so, although he was a humble clerk in a hotel at the Skwedunk. On her return home some weeks after his departure it so happened that she stopped over night at the Skwedunk hotel. Her meeting with Mr. Saphedde was very embarrassing to him until she said, "Oh, you didn't tell me you were a hotel proprietor."

"No," he said airily. "I own several hotels over the country, but I didn't think they were hardly worth mentioning."—Ohio State Journal.

Laying Plans.

"What style of house does your husband expect to build, Mrs. Neoritche? Do you favor the Gothic or the Italian renaissance?"

"Well, I don't know just which of them I like best. It don't make much difference to me as long as it has more rooms in it than the Blewbluds have and the doorknobs are real brass. We can get along without a Gothic or that Italian thing, I guess, as long as we have a good high attic finished off and a Turkish corner."—Chicago Record-Herald.

She Felt Wicked.

Revivalist—Is it possible that you dance?

Fair Sinner—Oh, yes, often.

"Now, tell me, honestly and fairly, don't you think the tendency of dancing is toward sin?"

"I must confess that sometimes while dancing I have very wicked thoughts."

"Aha! I feared so. When is it that you have wicked thoughts?"

"When my partner steps on my toes."—New York Weekly.

Your Nerves are Weak.

You sleep badly, appetite variable. You eat but gain no strength. Morning tiredness makes you wish it were night. When night comes refreshing sleep is hard to obtain. You're run down, your blood is thin and watery, your nerves have grown weak, the thought of effort wearies you. You need Ferrosone; it makes blood—red, strong blood. An appetite? You'll eat everything and digest it, too. Strength? That's what plenty of food gives. Ferrosone gives hope, vigour, vim, endurance. Use Ferrosone and get strong. Sold only by Ormond & Walsh.

Fruit Acids Kill Germs.

A writer in a scientific periodical states that it is not generally known that fruit acids are germicidal. "The juice," he says, "of limes and lemons is as deadly to cholera germs as corrosive sublimate or sulphur fumes or formaldehyde or any other disinfectant. It is so powerful a germicide that if the juice of one lime or lemon be squeezed into a glass of water that is then left standing for ten or fifteen minutes the water will be disinfected. It makes little difference where the water has been obtained or whether it has been boiled or filtered." As boiled or filtered water is not always obtainable this is worth remembering.

THE FIRST AERONAUT

HIS INITIAL FLIGHT INTO SPACE WAS AT PARIS IN 1783.

Pilatre des Rosiers Was the Pioneer of the Long Line of Daring Spirits Who Perished In Their Attempts to Navigate the Air.

The first attempts to make ascensions by means of balloons were made in Paris in the year 1783. Pilatre des Rosiers was the first and most illustrious of the long list of aeronauts who have fallen victims to their desire to advance the art of aerostatics.

In July and August of the year 1783 balloons filled with hydrogen gas were sent up from Paris, and in September at Versailles the first balloon was sent up freighted with living animals.

In the same year Montgolfier constructed a balloon which he claimed would be capable of carrying passengers, his workshop being in the gardens of the Faubourg St. Antoine. The balloon was sixty feet in height and forty-eight broad. Its exterior was richly painted and embroidered, there being represented upon it the twelve signs of the zodiac, the arms of the king of France and numberless fleurs-de-lis and lower down, amid a crowd of grotesque heads and garlands of flowers, a flock of eagles, with extended wings, that seemed to be flying and supporting the huge balloon upon their shoulders.

Below the balloon proper was constructed a circular platform of wicker-work, covered with silk, which was used as a car. This platform was very large and was surrounded by a balustrade to prevent the aeronauts from falling out. In the center of this platform or car was an opening, below which was suspended by chains an iron stove, which was to be used for rarefying the air in the balloon, while in one corner was a magazine intended for the storing up of an immense quantity of straw, which served as fuel.

Pilatre des Rosiers, generally alone, but at one time accompanied by the Marquis d'Arlandes and on another occasion by M. Giroud de Villette, had ascended in the balloon without cutting the rope which held it captive to a height of 1,200 feet.

Rosiers had much difficulty in obtaining permission from the king to make an ascent without being held down by the rope, but consent was at last secured, and on the 20th of November, 1783, everything was made ready. During the day the wind and rain were violent, and it was found necessary to postpone the ascent. The next day, the 21st, the weather was more favorable, and at 1:20 in the afternoon in the presence of the dauphin and his suit Pilatre des Rosiers and the Marquis d'Arlandes set out together from the Jardins de la Muette upon the first aerial voyage ever attempted and performed. The wind was still very rough and the weather stormy, but in spite of these disadvantages the balloon rose rapidly.

Having passed over Paris and become free from all fear of getting entangled among the buildings of the city, the aeronauts suffered themselves to descend considerably until they found themselves in a fresh current of air, which bore them in a southerly direction.

After proceeding a few miles farther the fire was allowed to die out, and the balloon descended about five miles from Paris. When the aeronauts returned to the Chateau de la Muette, they were greeted with the utmost enthusiasm by the assembled crowds. Benjamin Franklin was a witness of the whole spectacle, and when asked what he thought of it he replied, "I have seen a child born which may one day be a man."

Aerostatics had advanced to such a degree that on the 7th of January, 1785, Blanchard, a rival of Rosiers, crossed over the channel from Dover to Calais.

Rosiers was spurred on by Blanchard's success and set to work constructing a balloon which, when completed, he called an aeromontgolfier. It consisted of an immense balloon of hydrogen gas, with a large cylinder placed under it, the use of it being to rarefy the air without losing gas.

When a favorable day had arrived, Pilatre for the last time made his preparations. He was assisted by a Boulogne physician named Romain, and on June 15, 1785, they stepped into the basket, the ropes were cast off, and the balloon rose with the utmost majesty from the earth.

When it had risen about 200 feet, it struck a fresh current of air which took it directly toward the sea. It soon found another current which rapidly carried it back again. It possibly may have been the desire of the aeronauts to descend to find a more favorable current of air, for while opening the valve to let the cold air into his cylinder unfortunately a huge rent was made in the balloon. The consequences were immediate and horrible. At that time the balloon was 1,700 feet above the surface of the earth. A few moments afterward the two aeronauts lay on the ground dead and horribly mutilated.

Near the spot where Pilatre des Rosiers was buried a monument was erected in 1833 to commemorate the almost miraculous crossing of the sea by Blanchard, upon the very spot of earth on which that intrepid aeronaut descended. He had become for France a hero, and numbers of inscriptions are still readable.

Spools and Thread.

The spool mills use about 82,000 cords, or 16,000,000 feet, of birch annually, turning out 800,000,000 spools, each spool large enough to carry 200 yards of thread. The amount of thread that could be wound upon these 800,000,000 spools would reach 3,000 times around the world at the equator and leave a little for mending.

MAKES THE DIFFERENCE.

A Siege

The matrons of the Edison Orphanage at Lowell, Mass., U.S.A., wrote they had a siege of whooping-cough in their institution. They said that every case was promptly relieved by Vapo-Cresolene. Its value in coughs and colds was so great they always kept it ready for use. You know how it's used, don't you? 'Tis heated by a vaporizer and you inhale it. Write us for a book that tells all about it.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. The Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a lifetime, and a bottle of Cresolene complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. BUFF ORPINGTONS.

A Breeder Who Is an Enthusiastic Admirer of These Birds.

The Buff Orpingtons are of English origin and are made up of the best blood of three widely known breeds, the Golden Spangled Hamburgs, excellent layers; the English Dorkings, a splendid table fowl, and the Buff Cochins, from which they get their color and size. The object of the originator in forming this new variety was to combine prolific egg production with superior flesh for the table, taking pains to secure also hardiness of constitution, rapid growth, good form and attractive plumage.

First, they have the fashionable color—namely, buff. There is not so much in the shade of buff as in the evenness of it. The club's standard calls for "clear, even, dense buff throughout to the skin, from lemon to orange." To color alone is given 50 points, so it is evident that color is a main consideration in breeding Buff Orpingtons. The color as demanded is difficult to obtain. Hence we have work here for the fancier to do.

The young are extremely hardy and of quick growth. Pullets begin laying when from 4½ to 5 months old and keep it up the year round through all changes of weather. They are gentle as sitters and make excellent mothers; in fact, they are big bodied fowls, good layers, healthy, vigorous, active and remarkably docile.

In my opinion there will be a lot of money made in the next few years in supplying the great demand that will arise from Buff Orpingtons, and the poultry breeder who possesses a fine flock of them, small or large, is indeed fortunate. All who see or hear of them have a desire to own some breeding stock. To-day the demand is far in advance of the supply. Prices range high, and a scarcity exists at any price. This is advantageous in a way to the breed, for it places them in the hands of a class of people who will breed them well up toward perfection and push them to the front.

Live Tree Fenceposts.

The best post for a wire fence at a corner of a field or on a bluff or in a hollow is a live tree, says Alva Agee. Fifteen years ago I set out a few trees here and there along rough land, and since then some more have been set, and this is much cheaper and better than trying to get a solid post set in rocky ground. In a depression crossed by wire a tree is surer than an anchored post. I should not want a great number of trees along the line on account of the extra amount of shade, but it is a good idea to set them wherever one sees that they will serve a good purpose. Too often such work is put off because the pay seems far in the future, but the trees can be used in a very few years if the wire is stapled to a stake that is tied to the tree.

The Examination.

"You think you are qualified for the position?"

"That's what."

"Good at figures?"

"When they don't run too far."

"What's your experience?"

"Saved by grace."

"Ever in the war?"

"Naw, but I've heard tell it's over."—Atlanta Constitution.

GIRLS OF THE AWKWARD AGE

They Should Be Dressed With the Greatest Care and Simplicity.

It is usually very difficult to dress a girl who has reached what is known as the awkward age. One thing is sure—simplicity must predominate in her wardrobe. Pretty party gowns can be made of china silk, soft liberty satins and crepe de chines. The popularity and youthfulness of the mash should be the excuse for its being introduced as often as possible. Full blouses pouched both back and front are becoming to a youthful figure, and so are broad collars and fichus of net and lace.

Care should be taken not to hide the angularities of a girl's figure with too many ruffles and bows which mean nothing and detract from the simplicity of the whole. Neither should the waist line be accentuated by conspicuous belt or styles requiring a tightly laced corset.

Great Droughts.

The first great drought on record happened in 678 and the two succeeding years, when, according to the records, there was practically no rainfall in England. 870 the springs in England were dried up, and it was impossible for men to work in the open air. In 993 and 994 the nuts on the trees were "roasted as if in an oven."

An Inference.

"The Blakes must buy everything on the installment plan."

"What makes you think so?"

"I heard Jimmy Blake ask his father whether their new baby would be taken away if they couldn't keep up the payments."

Occasionally you meet a smart fellow who is making a mistake, and you feel like saying, "Oh, well, go ahead, and find it out, as I did."

Ruby Lips and a Clear Skin.

Sold at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

A Household Heroine.

The woman behind the preserving pot
Is certainly deserving of fame;
She's not like the man behind the gun,
But she's getting there just the same!
The hero is trying to maim or kill,
And great is his showing of nerve,
But praise also goes to the woman who
Is using her skill to preserve.

No time she is wasting in drill or march
Which fit the brave soldier for strife,
Or she gathers round her what she'll attack
And then gets to work with her knife.
She pares, and she cores, and she cuts with care
Till fingers and muscles are sore,
Then hither and thither in other tasks
She's hurrying over the floor.

She gallantly stands at the firing line,
Unmindful of heat and of toil;
All flushed is her face, and her eyes are strained
By watching the things that there boil.
She spices and sweetens and stirs and skims
Till weary in arms, back and feet,
But bravely she stands till her work is done,
With never a thought of retreat.

She carefully gathers the stores of sweets
That she has so patiently made,
And soon the good things for the winter treats
In jars, cans and crocks are arrayed.
She thinks not of plaudits for triumph won,
Yet, while she no laurels will claim,
The woman behind the preserving pot
Is certainly worthy of fame.

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355,-92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

MET DEATH IN THE STREET.

James Fitzgerald Late of Millbrook, Expires After a Fall.

(Toronto Globe.)

Mr. James Fitzgerald, of 243 Bathurst street, and late of Millbrook, died in the ambulance on the way to the Emergency Hospital Saturday night shortly after 6 o'clock. A small flesh wound was visible on the face, but there was nothing by which to determine the cause of his death. He had been seen to fall at the corner of Queen and Bathurst streets, and had been picked up unconscious, or apparently dead, his head having struck against the curb stone. Dr. J. H. Fisher, his physician, called later at the hospital, and was of the opinion that a stroke of paralysis, such as had stricken Mr. Fitzgerald about five years previously, was the real cause of death.

Mr. Fitzgerald had not been as well as usual for some time, but yesterday evening, feeling better, he went out to get a newspaper. When crossing Queen street he fell forward. He was 64 years of age, and leaves a widow and a grown-up family. Two sons are in Montana—Thomas, a doctor, and Harold, a merchant. A son and daughter live at home. John Fitzgerald, of Colborne, was a brother. The deceased was born at Avon Ont., and for many years carried on a mercantile business at Millbrook.

Coroner Aikins has issued a warrant for an inquest this afternoon at 4 o'clock, but it will probably be withdrawn.

The deceased a great many years ago kept a store at Baillieboro, and was well known to many South Monaghan residents.

RIVERDALE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The annual business meeting of Riverdale Union S.S. was held on Tuesday evening, Nov. 5th, and the good attendance gave evidence of the lively interest taken in the work of the school.

The secretary's report for the past year showed a decided increase of attendance, and a good financial standing.

The officers appointed for the next year were;—

Superintendent, Mr. N.W. Mabee;
Sec.-Treas., Miss Gertie Sanders;
Organist, Mrs. Mabee;
Librarian, Miss Emily Smith.

Under Miss Smith's careful management our library is greatly improved. During the summer a voluntary subscription was asked for, and about $10 worth of new books bought, which the scholars greatly appreciate.

The trustees decided to use part of the "balance on hand" fund for the building of a wood-shed and some indoor improvements.

At the beginning of the year we decided that we would discontinue using lesson helps in the school room, using Bibles instead. For this purpose our library was supplied with Bibles, and we found the new plan a great improvement on the old one, and the lessons are better prepared than formally. We also gave a half-dozen Bibles as rewards for careful study and good attendance.

Though our school is a small one, and we have many discouragements, we feel that God has greatly blessed our humble efforts in His service, and we hopefully take up the work of another year, trusting for guidance to Him who said— "Suffer the the children to come unto me and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

Perfect Cure for Bronchitis.

This disease can be cured only by a remedy carried to the affected parts along with the air breathed, for nature intended these organs for the passage of air alone, and sprays, atomizers, and internal medicines utterly fail. But Catarrhozone does not fail, for it goes wherever the air breathed goes, and its healing antiseptic vapour is sure to reach every affected part. Catarrhozone is inhaled at the mouth and after passing through every air cell of the breathing organs is slowly exhaled through the nostrils. Catarrhozone protects and heals the inflamed surfaces, relieves congestion, allays inflammation, and perfectly cures all bronchial affections. Price $1; small size, 25 cents. REARING-PONDS FOR BASS.

A Convenience for Restocking the Lakes Next Year.

Now Under Consideration by Hon. Mr. Latchford, That the Working Season may be Longer—Work Will be Increased.

In view of the success of the work of restocking the inland waters of Ontario with parent bass during the past season, the work will probably be carried on a much larger scale next year. Hon. Mr. Latchford will, it is understood, ask the Legislature for an increased appropriation for that purpose at the coming session. He has also under consideration the establishment of rearing ponds in the Province, from which a supply of fish could readily be obtained at any season of the year. One of the difficulties now is in catching the bass for transplanting in the cool weather of the fall, which is more suitable for transportation, as they then take to deeper water. The rearing ponds, it is believed, would overcome this trouble.

The result of the season's work has convinced the officials of the department that they are working in the right direction, as the people more directly concerned have manifested a livelier interest in the welfare of the inland fisheries. The Muskoka district, to which the majority of the bass were taken, was visited by more American tourists than ever before, and the traffic will doubtless increase. A wealthy New Yorker, who is erecting a $10,000 cottage on the Rideau, is reported to have ventured the prophesy that in ten years hence 10,000 Americans would be seeking rest and recreation among the picturesque islands and along the shores of those beautiful waters. —Globe.

A large circle of friends unite in wishing the happy young couple a very happy and prosperous wedded life.

On Magnetic Healing.

Much is spoken and written during these times about this mysterious method of treating disease. The most remarkable cases of magnetic healing which have come under the notice of the writer have been those in which Dr. Chase's Ointment was used. This preparation seems to have magical powers in stopping the dreadful itching, burning sensations of Salt Rheum and Eczema, and when used regularly makes the cure permanent and thorough.

Both men and women are cordially invited to attend.

WON'T HURT LAKEFIELD.

(From the Lakefield News.)

The Examiner had an article in Tuesday's edition on the subject of the Peterborough Street Railway, making it appear as though the concern, which closed down a few years ago for want of patronage, would shortly be revived. It is stated that amongst the possibilities was a line to Lakefield and Chemong. How this would affect Lakefield it is hard to conjecture. In some ways, it would be of great service to the residents. The most important question to some minds is how would it affect our merchants. There is no gainsaying the fact that they would be confronted with competition with large and stronger firms, as the advent of such a line would make access to Peterborough trade much easier than it is at present. For our own part, however, we consider that so long as our merchants keep up their present efficient stocks and hold to their very reasonable price they have nothing whatever to fear on this score.

The whole stote is overflowing with quick-buying snaps in new and seasonable goods. Greater attractions than ever are still to come. Overloaded manufacturers can afford to sell great lots to a single contributor far cheaper than to a dozen, This explains many of our offerings.

New evidences of our CARPET SUPREMACY have developed this season. Our regular sales, as well as our special sales, have never been so large. There are some great chances for housekeepers on the Carpet Floor, especially in BRUSSELS, TAPESTRIES and UNION REVERSIBLE CARPETS.

LACE CURTAINS and FELT TABLE COVERS include novelties that are not duplicable. Our superiority in these lines is at once apparent.

The mission of this store is to save you money.

ARE RENEWING YOUTH

Old British Admirals in Atmosphere of Promised Strife.

SOME NAVAL POSSIBILITIES

Moves of Continental Nation's Viewed With Suspicion, as They All Hate England—Britain, Without Reciprocating That Feeling, Stands Ready to Fight Them All If Necessary—The Situation.

London, Nov. 9.—France's bold move in Turkish waters rivets the attention of the British navy, and, though the possibility of war is regarded as remote, monopolizes the minds of the men who would have to bear the brunt of the struggle should it come. Fresh comparisons of the sea strength of the various European powers are common in the naval clubs of London. Grizzled admirals of long experience are renewing their youth in the atmosphere of promised strife.

Nine out of ten British naval officers view every move of the leading continental nations with suspicion, and would welcome an opportunity to square accounts on the score of South Africa. A correspondent interviewed last night one of the most prominent men in the British navy, who said:

"If not now, before a great while, in my opinion, Britain's naval supremacy will be put to the test. Every great continental power hates us. Not one of them attempts to conceal the fact. I cannot say that we stand ready to take whatever measures are necessary to protect the interests of the Empire and vindicate the Imperial honor.

"Russia, Germany and France are scratching one another's backs and would deal a blow with unmixed joy, if they dared take the risk. France and Russia are working hand in hand in the Levant, while Germany views the situation with complacent sympathy. As the world stands, Germany finds itself blocked, and would regard a violent disturbance of existing political spheres as promising the Fatherland a chance of large profit.

"The Kaiser dares not buck against the Monroe doctrine in South America, and he encounters the British flag in almost every other direction. He is seeking the line of least resistance, which he thinks may lie across the Bosphorus. He has tried in vain to split through British South Africa, but dreams of a time when Britain will be helpless. His wharves whence he hopes one day to embark troops for the invasion of this island are already built.

"We all understand Russia's high vaulting political spirit. We know that France cannot reconcile its ideas of dominion with due respect to the pink patches on the map of the earth. We are not keen for the job, but we will fight the lot of them, if necessary. Despite the South African affair, we can get plenty of soldiers and sailors, and we have the sinews of war.

"The only nation we have no heart to fight is the United States. This is not because we fear America, but on account of fraternal instincts and the consciousness of the identity of Anglo-Saxon interests and duties.

"As far as the present situation in the Levant is concerned, the Mediterranean squadron is able to keep the British colors afloat there. Reinforcements can go quickly from the Channel squadron, and the reserve fleet can guard the home coasts. In an extremely short time we would be able to put more than sixty war vessels in Turkish waters to see that the strategical situation in that region be not altered to our disadvantage."

British Navy's Efficiency.

London, Nov. 9.—The Berlin correspondent of The Times says both The Cologne Gazette and The Marine Rundschau contradict the depreciatory statements in regard to the British navy which have been appearing in various German journals. The Cologne Gazette refutes the assertions that the British navy artillery is defective, and that the gunners are inefficient. The Marine Rundschau declares that any attempt to mislead German opinion in this perilous manner deserves to be repudiated.

Fishermen for the Navy.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 9.— Next Monday the British cruiser Charybdis will sail for the West Indies, taking 50 naval reservists chosen from among the fishermen of Newfoundland.

First for South Africa.

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—The first offer for service in South Africa on a third contingent, should another one be sent, came from Major Boulanger of the 1st Field Battery, Quebec. Major Boulanger was in the second Canadian contingent, and, when he returned to Canada, offered his services to the British Government for service in China. They were accepted, and he was at the seige of Pekin.

A Canadian Ill.

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—A cable from Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain yesterday says that William Jamieson, South African Constabulary, is dangerously ill with enteric fever at Kimberley.

From a Canadian Port.

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—The efforts to have horses purchased in Canada for the War Office shipped from St. John, N.B., instead of from Portland, have proved successful. Word has come from the War Office that orders will be given henceforth to ship the horses from St. John.

Larkin Committed for Trial.

Toronto, Nov. 9.—Joseph Larkin was committed for trial in the Police Court yesterday for the alleged theft of the bag of gold, worth $586, from the Customs House last month. Several witnesses were examined.

INDIGNANTLY REPUDIATED.

Mr. Blezard Positively Denies That he is an Office Seeker.

NEVER THOUGHT OF IT.

He has Been Trying to get out of Politics for the Last Ten Years and is Glad to Retire.

Mr. Thomas Blezard, M.P.P., was in town to-day, and was seen by a reporter of the Examiner in reference to the following paragraph, which appeared in the Mail and Empire yesterday, to the effect that Mr. Blezard was in Toronto seeking a Government office.

"Mr. Thomas Blezard, M. P. P., for East Peterborough, called on the Premier yesterday. Mr. Blezard is still on friendly terms with one or two of the Ministers, despite the ungrateful treatment he received at the hands of the Government machine. The feeling against the Government amongst the Liberals in his section on account of the manner in which he was slaughtered at the convention is so strong that an effort will be made to cast oil upon the waters by promising a position in the public service to Mr. Blezard."

To the reporter, Mr. Blezard said that he had not seen the paragraph in question until his attention had been called to it. He said that the Toronto Mail and Empire and the Peterborough Review seemed to take a great deal of interest in him recently. Their crocodile tears were very transparent and significant. "When I am in Toronto I generally call upon the Provincial Secretary, as coming from my own section, and also upon the other members of the Government, when I have occasion to do so. There is nothing suggestive about that, for I have been calling at the Parliament Buildings, from time to time, between sessions, for twenty-five years. On Thursday when in the city, I called as usual to see my friend Stratton, and as an act of courtesy, I called upon the Premier, as I had not seen him since his return from the old country. With regard to the insinuation that I was applying for an office, it is a thing which never entered my mind. I have been trying for ten years to get out of politics, so that I could give a little attention to my own affairs, and not have the anxiety of public matters. I have had a long term of duty in the House, and it is not likely that I would again put myself in harness by becoming an office seeker, which I have never been. You may say most positively that I have not applied, and have no thought of applying, for a public office. And you may also say as emphatically that there is no difference or trouble between me and the Liberal party, or its leaders, or Mr. Stratton, who was at the first convention that nominated me, and whose exertions, with others, in organising the Riding, resulted in my entering politics. There seems to be an attempt in the Conservative press to create an impression that there is a breach and lack of sympathy existing between us, but there is nothing in it, whatever. Mr. Stratton has been a good friend to me, and I to him, from that time to the present. The Mail, Review, and the Conservative press have been trying to knife me for years, and now when I am retiring from political life, I have become their 'white-haired boy,' and it seems as if they must find me an office now whether I want it or not. For my own part I don't care a rap for the rot the Mail and Review are writing about me. All of it is false—made out of the whole cloth. As a rule the Tory press only sympathize with a dead Liberal, but I want them to understand that I am a real live one. They will realize this every time I have an opportunity of showing them."

A TROUBLESOME TRAMP.

He Could not Account Satisfactorily for Having Certain Articles in His Possession.

Tramps do not seem to be giving Peterborough the wide birth which they used to do when the big stone pile grew and flourished in the back yard of the County Gaol. The other day one of the fraternity caused little trouble out in Lakefield, commandeering a coat and a pair of mitts from Mr. Tait's premises. Mr. Tait isn't the kind of a man to put anthing of this kind go without an effort to assert his rights, and he cured Mr. Ezra McFadden to gether they traced the Weary W north through Young's Point, as to Burleigh. With a double-barr shot gun as a persuader, the tra was quickly induced to climb into democrat and accompany the amateur detectives back to L where the coat and mitts were found on his person.

A skeleton key was also fo and likewise two bags, whiskey. Tramp doubtless used as receptacles for commandeered goods, and tary offerings of [illegible] brought before Magistrate [illegible] prisoner stated that his name was and that he came from Louisiana, which [illegible] court, was [illegible] and that that was where he bought the coat. The coat he had owned for [illegible] the coat had this name [illegible] knows Peterborough, and [illegible] lapel, and [illegible] mentably lashing [illegible] istrate pronounced the [illegible] pending [illegible] sentence.

Mrs. Ellen Ripley, Chaplain Ladies Aid, Grand Army of the Republic, No. 7, 222 10th Ave., N. E., Minneapolis, Minn., Strongly Endorses Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Your Vegetable Compound cured me of ulceration of the womb, and getting such a complete cure I felt that the medicine had genuine merit and was well worth recommending to other sick women.

"For fifteen years I have been your friend. I have never written you before, but I have advised hundreds of women to take your medicine, in fact it is the only real reliable remedy I know of for a sick woman.

"I have not yet found a case of ovarian or womb trouble which has not been relieved or cured by the faithful use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"You have brought health to hundreds of women in Minneapolis as you have no doubt to others over the country."—MRS. ELLEN RIPLEY.

$5000 FORFEIT IF THE ABOVE LETTER IS NOT GENUINE.

When women are troubled with irregular or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, flatulence, general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine.

THE KING'S BIRTHDAY.

To-day is the first anniversary of the birthday of King Edward VII, that is the first anniversary since he ascended the throne as ruler of the Empire. For three score years we were accustomed to celebrate the late Queen's birthday with such loyal abandon, with such universal abstention from all business activity, such universal devotion to holiday making, that the quiet observance of the King's birthday, seems almost a disloyal contrast. But is it really so? The Queen's birthday came in the genial and mellow month of May, and was almost always associated with perfect weather — "Queen's weather," a season when the demands of business were not so exacting as they are in the first week of November. Altogether the conditions were most favourable on May 24th for the surrender to the observance of the day as a complete holiday, of all business occupations. In the view of many, therefore, the setting apart of November 9th, is not so strictly called for, for the reason that business would be unduly interfered with, and that the weather is not so suitable for holidaying. Then the question arises, are our obligations of loyalty or duty to be measured by the standard of our convenience and comfort? If we do our duty only when it suits us, only when it is pleasant to us, do we not run the risk of being time-servers, and lip-loyalists? It seems that an unusually whole-souled keeping of the King's first birthday is called for. We have just welcomed the future heir of the British throne on his circuit of the Empire, which meant the circle of the globe. His tour and the attendant circumstances, have knit the people and the throne more closely, if possible, than before, and it would seem fitting that the people of Canada, the most important of the outposts of the Empire, should enter into the celebration of so auspicious an occasion as the birthday of the King, with unusual fervour. True, there can be no doubt of the loyalty of Canadians to the Crown and the Empire—they have proved it by sacrifices and great services to maintain the integrity of the Empire — the highest test of devotion. The loyalty that perpetually bubbles over at the lips too often suggests that the reservoir in the heart is exhausted. But if we mark the day quietly in Peterborough, that is not to say that we are not at heart loyal, though there are times, and the present is one of them, when we are called upon to show our colours. There is something to be said from all points of view in favour of celebrating the King's birthday on the 24th of May, which has been the holiday of holidays to Canadians for sixty years, and it is fitting that the two birthdays should be jointly celebrated. The King has succeeded to the imperial heritage which his august mother may be said to have made and consolidated, and we cannot celebrate the King's birthday without at the same time commemorating the beneficent influence of the late Queen's reign. However, if we have no fireworks or set display on the King's first birthday, we can keep the feast in our hearts, and, perhaps, all the more fervently pray, "God Save the King!"

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The candidate for mayor of a town or city, will not share the possible partiality of some sitting mayors, for the United States municipal system by which a mayor is elected for a term of four years. It nearly always makes a difference whose ox is gored.

In more than 3000 schools in Great Britain, the boys are studying textbooks on Canada which set forth her history, explain her system of government, and lay stress upon her natural resources. These books are supplied free by the Dominion, and Lord Strathcona, Canada's High Commissioner to the mother country, will give valuable medals next spring to the scholars who pass the best examinations on them. The aim of Strathcona and his countrymen is to impress British youth with the advantages of the Dominion as a field for immigration.

"Hon. J. R. Stratton quotes the Mabee pamphlet as a Liberal authority, yet so good a Liberal newspaper as the Picton Gazette says of it."—London Free Press.

"The good people of Prince Edward and many others who read that very excellent paper, the Picton Gazette, will be driven mad when they see it quoted as a Liberal newspaper. The Picton Gazette was established in 1866, and since that time has been one of the most consistent, bright and intelligent advocates of Conservative principles in the Dominion of Canada."—London News.

There is nothing new in such a "mistake." The Conservative journals have a way of settling the political standing of a journal or any authority, to suit their own purposes, especially that of trying to make a point against the Ontario Government.

THE JUDICIALLY JUMPED ON SCRAP IRON AMENDMENT CLAUSE.

The Clause Vetoed, Introduced by a Conservative Member.

Here, says the Hamilton Times, is the way the Hamilton Spectator falls on the author of the so-called scrap-iron amendment, (Mr. H. Carscallen, Conservative M. P. Hamilton) which has been adversely pronounced upon by the courts;

"Surely there was one lawyer in that wonderful aggregation of most wonderful men who could see as far through the amendment as the county Judges can. If it was only a "simple blunder" it was a most disgraceful performance—a performance which ought to forever close out the blunderers from the position of law-makers for the Province of Ontario.

Isn't that a beautiful bouquet to throw at a man?

Of course the Spectator aimed it at Hon. Mr. Ross, but it did not hit him. Oh, no!

Whom did it hit?

Henry Carscallen, M. P. P., the silver-tongued, iron-jawed, adamant-cheeked young political prodigy, to whom the Spectator has been kow-towing so abjectly, and whom it wants to see a leading member in a cabinet presided over by Mr. James Pliny Whitney.

Ye gods! What a compliment!

The clause in the statutes of 1901, to which the Spectator refers is as it was introduced by Mr. Carscallen on March 13th, in Bill No. 155, and reads;

"The Assessment Act is amended by inserting therein after section 16 the following section;

"16a. Real property belonging to or in the possession of any person or incorporated company, and extending over more than one ward in any city or town, may be assessed together in any one of such wards, at the option of the assessor, or the assessment of the property may be apportioned amongst two or more of such wards in such manner as he may deem convenient, and in either case the property shall be valued as a whole or as an intregral part of the whole."

Not a line, not a word, not a letter has been altered, save to add after "town," "or situate in any township"; the section stands otherwise as it left the hand of the man whom the Spectator boosts for Whitney's Cabinet, should Ontario be so unfortunate as to give him a majority. The judges have declared that the section does not mean what Mr. Carscallen thought it meant, and intended it to mean, and the Spectator blunderingly supposing it was striking at Ross, declares that a man who is such a bungler should be closed out forever from the position of a law-maker.

A Case of Kidney Disease That Could Not be Cured by Ordinary Drugs and Medicines.

THE DREAD DISEASE WAS BANISHED AFTER USE OF TWO BOTTLES OF

Paine's Celery Compound

A Statement Carrying Warning and Encouragement to Every Sufferer.

While the blood is the life of the system, carrying to every part its share of force and energy, it is also the means by which the waste matter, the result of decomposition of the tissues, is removed from the body. If disease has touched the kidneys, there is great danger, and deadly oppression will settle upon the body and mind.

If you have any of the symptoms of Bright's disease or diabetes, Paine's Celery Compound is the only medicine on earth that can stay the ravages of the disease and cure permanently. Mr. C. Kevill, of Dunsford, Ont., testifies as follows;

"For the past fifteen years I have been troubled with diseased kidneys. Often while working in a stooping postition I would find it difficult to straighten up at once, and could only do so after repeated efforts. While under very severe attacks of my trouble, I became very nervous, and continually had tired, worn-out feelings. My rest at night seemed to do me no good, as I always felt tired in the morning. I had been taking medicines and was getting worse all the time. At last I decided to give Paine's Celery Compound a trial. I procured a bottle, and took it as directed, and found its effect wonderful. Before I had finished the first bottle I felt as well as ever I did in my life. It banished all my aches and pains, and my nervousness disappeared. I can go to bed now, sleep well and rise in the morning rested and refreshed."

Sank in the Mud

Sunderland, Ont., Nov. 9.—J. H. Glendining of J. H. Glendining & Co., hardware merchants, was drowned in Lake Scugog yesterday. He was out duck shooting, and the recoil of his gun capsized his boat, upsetting him into shallow water, covering very deep mud, in which he stuck fast. His cries attracted the McLean boys, who came in small canoes, but were unable to render him any assistance, owing to the depth to which he sank in the mud. The boys called down their father, who, with Mr. King, went in a punt and drew Mr. Glendining out of the mud, but owing to the long exposure in the cold water, he expired about ten minutes after he was taken into the punt. He leaves a widow and one child to mourn his loss.

R. train of beef collided with several empty cars near Guelph Junction yesterday, and in the collision, Joseph Trendle, the fireman, who lives at 127 Dundas street, Toronto Junction, had his hip and leg badly bruised. He was brought to the city and removed to the General Hospital.

ANOTHER STARTLING OTTAWA CASE, A LETTER FROM MR. S. A. CASSIDY.

Following the Report of G. H. Kent's Cure of Bright's Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills, an Ottawa Paper Calls Attention to Another Remarkable Cure.

(From the Ottawa Citizen.)

A representative of the Citizen recently learned of a remarkable cure of a well-known resident of Ottawa, who has suffered for many years with a terrible affliction. The well-known resident is Mr. S. A. Cassidy, and the affliction was stone in the Kidneys. The Citizen representative called on Mr. Cassidy to verify the reports of his recovery and found them to be true. He is the proprietor of the Bijou Hotel, Metcalfe street.

He is known by almost everybody and is liked as generally as he is known. His hostelry is between the main entrance to Parliament Buildings and the principal thoroughfare of the city, and it is not to be wondered that time he has more than a nodding acquaintance with the gentlemen who hold the destiny of this country in their hands.

When old residents of Ottawa are in a reminiscent mood and talk of the good old sporting days, they always associate the name of Sam A. Cassidy, who took an active part in sport 20 years ago. He was a fast runner, a jumper of local renown, and took an active part in all lines of sport. To-day he is forty years old, and tips the scales at 250 pounds.

The intimate friends of this robust man have known that for the past ten years he has been a sufferer from a disease that baffled medical skill, and that he has lingered between life and death on many occasions since he was first attacked. At the initial stage of the disease he was taken with violent cramps in the left side of his stomach, and the best skilled physicians could afford him very little relief. The attacks were of about two weeks' duration, and when he left his bed he was reduced in flesh, and was almost a physical wreck. Some years ago an eminent physician diagnosed his disease as "Stone in the Kidney," but even after the diagnosis the physicians were unable to effect a permanent cure. To-day he is a well man. He has found a remedy that has banished the disease—a remedy that has cured where medical aid was ineffectual. The remedy is Dodd's Kidney Pills, and Mr. Cassidy feels so elated over his release from the excruciating sufferings that he has given the following statement over his own signature to a well-known Ottawa newspaper man;—

Ottawa, Aug. 8, 1901.

Dear Sir,—I want you to publish for the benefit of others who are suffering as I have suffered for years about how I was cured of Stone in the Kidneys. My friends all know that I have been a martyr to this disease for years. They know that besides consulting the best physicians in the city and trying every kind of remedy I could think of, I was unable to get better. Some time ago a friend of mine told me that Dodd's Kidney Pills would cure me. As a last resort I tried them, and they have cured me. This is the first year in a great many that I have not been confined to my bed with the disease. I could not imagine more severe suffering than one endures who is afflicted with Stone in the Kidney, and I feel the greatest gratitude to Dodd's Kidney Pills, for they have cured me. Anyone who has suffered need suffer no more.

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355,-92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

CHINKS GOT INTO BUFFALO,

But the Smuggler Acted Suspiciously and the Bunch Was Arrested.

Buffalo, Nov. 8.—An attempt to smuggle Chinamen into this country from Canada was frustrated by the police at an early hour yesterday morning. While two patrolmen who were standing at Niagara street and Hertel avenue, they saw a carriage rapidly approaching them, and, when the driver saw the patrolmen, he whipped up his horses. That excited their suspicions and they ordered the driver to stop. The door of the carriage was opened and in it were four Chinamen, huddled as far out of sight as they could get. The driver of the rig, who gave his name as Grant Householder, was taken in custody and ordered to proceed to the police station. He is charged with attempting to smuggle Chinamen in violation of the Exclusion Act.

It is supposed that the Chinamen were brought across the river from a point near Fort Erie, and the authorities are trying to locate the boat which brought them across the river. It is also believed that Householder had accomplices on this side of the river in the attempted smuggling.

RUSSIAN BARBARITY.

Prisoners Caged on Board Ship Like Wild Beasts.

Singapore, Nov. 7.—The Saigon (Tonkin) journal "L'Opinion" appeals to humanity in regard to the sufferings of 700 Russian prisoners proceeding aboard the Volunteer Fleet vessel Yaroslav from Odessa to Vladivostock. The ship left Singapore an Sept. 7th. Owing to a breakdown she has been now over a month at Saigon. The prisoners are confined like wild beasts in three tiers of iron-barred cages on the lower decks. This month's protraction of the voyage means a perfect inferno below in the sweltering heat of the Saigon River. "L'Opinion" is indignant, and urges that the prisoners should be put ashore, under guard, to breathe the fresh air. It recalls the horrors of the "Middle passage" and the Black Hole of Calcutta. It is impossible to ascertain the mortality.

FERDINAND RESCUES WOUNDED.

Personally Directs Relief Measures at Scene of Railway Wreck.

Sofia, Nov. 8.—Prince Ferdinand, manifested his interest in his subjects yesterday, and did something to strengthen the kindly feeling between him and the nation in view of the reforms promised in the recent speech from the throne by personally directing the relief measures at the scene of a railway accident near this city. A passenger train had drawn up at a station about eight miles from Sofia, when a freight train ran into it. Three coaches were telescoped, five passengers were killed and nine dangerously injured, while twenty received more or less serious bruises. Prince Ferdinand was particularly active in rescuing the wounded from the wreck.

WHEN DOES DEAFNESS BECOME INCURABLE?

The interesting article on a new treatment for Deafness which appeared in our columns about a week ago, has brought us so many inquiries from our readers that we are obliged to remind those who are interested in this subject that "The Journal for the Deaf" contains full particulars of some two hundred recently cured cases. A free copy of this publication can be obtained by addressing the secretary of the Drouet Institute, 72, Regent's Park Road, London, England. The Journal is always accompanied by a pathological report form which enables each patient to describe his case so clearly that the consulting surgeon can send accurate information of the treatment necessary to effect a cure.

Took His Life.

Fonthill, Nov. 9.—William Tice of Ridgeville, Welland County, Ont., who has been in poor health for the past year, took his own life in a fit of despondency yesterday. Deceased left his home soon after breakfast, leaving a note on the table which was shortly after found by his sister, intimating that they would find him in Haist's bush. Alarmed by this, search was at once made, resulting in the discovery of his body with two bullet wounds in his head, his hand still grasping a 32-calibre revolver, three chambers of which were empty and two loaded. Deceased was unconscious when found. His body was removed to his brother's residence close by, where he expired shortly after. Deceased was a son of the late Israel Tice, 38 years of age and unmarried.

The Defence of London.

London, Nov. 8.—During the past few weeks a careful survey has been made of the districts surrounding the metropolis with a view to strengthening the batteries and fortifications commanding the main London roads. Lord Roberts has personally inspected several of the positions, and as the result of his recommendations, heavy modern guns are to be mounted in the place of the now obsolete muzzle-loading weapons along the entire range of the Surrey hills and in several commanding positions on the outskirts of North London.

Lineman Killed at Prescott.

Prescott, Nov. 8.—A sad accident occurred about 4.40 o'clock yesterday afternoon by which a man named Barney Fontain lost his life. The Town of Prescott is making some changes in the electric light system. Barney Fontain, who was a good line repairer, was working for the company, and, as he was in the act of pulling up the wires to make a connection, the current was turned on and the shock caused his death. He leaves a wife and several small children. An inquest is being held.

Austrian Wonder Doctors.

Vienna, Nov. 8.—The Provincial Diet of Upper Austria has resolved to grant three peasants residing at the remote village of Landhaag — Francis, Karl and Wenzel Stadlbauer —the right of undertaking the duties of doctors. These three brothers cannot read or write, but they enjoy the reputation of being wonder-doctors, and of having performed some miraculous cures in cases of broken legs and arms. The country folk believe that the family Stadlbauer is endowed by Divine favor with the power of healing wounds.

YEARS OF SUFFERING.

How Relief Came to Thomas Findlay, of Petrolia.

He had Suffered for Forty Years From Dyspepsia.—Food Became Detestable and Stomach Cramps Made Life a Burden.

From the Topic, Petrolea, Ont.

Few men in Petrolea are better known than Mr. Thomas Findlay, who has resided here nearly forty years. In 1862 Mr. Findlay came here, and before the railroad connected with Petrolea he drove a stage coach bringing the early oil men. When the railroad came here Mr. Findlay engaged in the oil business, but latter he suffered from a gun accident that disabled his hands permanently. After recovering from this Mr. Findlay was appointed constable and night watchman for the town, which office he has held during thirty years past. The accident was by no means Mr. Findlay's worst misfortune. From early youth he had been a martyr to dyspepsia, which finally became so bad that he looked forward to death as a merciful release. Happening to hear that Mr. Findlay had found complete relief from his lifelong foe, a Topic reporter waited on him to find if this was true. Mr. Findlay was only too glad to tell his story, hoping its publication might help some other sufferer. "I am a pretty old man now," said Mr. Findlay, "but I cannot remember the time when I was not in pain from pernicious dyspepsia and stomach touble until lately. As a young man on the farm I suffered all sorts of pains with it; food would sour on my stomach and violent vomiting spells would follow. As I grew older my sufferings increased. I could not eat anything but the simplest kind of food, and little of that. My system became badly run down and I grew so weak that I really looked forward to death as a release from my misery. One after another I tried doctors and medicines, but could get no relief; then in despair I concluded to quit all and await the end. Meantime my condition became worse. Violent cramps attacked my legs, prostrating me for a time. They became worse and more frequent until the one day attacked my stomach, and I thought my end had come. Unable to move and in agony I was driven home, as I thought to die, but after an injection of morphine I gradually recovered. From that time on the cramps increased in frequency and violence. Nothing gave me relief except the temporary immunity from pain afforded by morphine. I became so weak from pure starvation that death stared me in the face. Finally a friend said: "Why don't you try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills?" "What's the use?" I said, "I've tried everything and just got worse all the time." "Well," she said, "you try a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, they cured me, and I believe they will do you good." Well, I purchased a box and started taking them. After a little I thought they helped me, so I kept on taking them for a couple of months when I felt I was really cured after so many years of suffering. My strength came back, my stomach recovered its power, and I was able to eat anything I fancied, and once more could enjoy life. This is nearly two years ago, but I was cured to stay cured. I have never had a sick day since or known the slightest stomach trouble. I am confident I would be a dead man now if it were not for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills — nothing else ever helped me."

The old adage, "experience is the best teacher," might well be applied in cases of dyspepsia, and if sufferers would only be guided by the experience of those who have suffered but are now well and happy through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, there would be less distress throughout the land. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be had at all dealers in medicine or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Dairy—Season fair. Creamery and home-made butter, of good quality on the whole.

Threshing and Marketing—Active and work practically completed in many sections.

Bees and Honey—A good average season.

Children Love to Take It.

And It Cures Them of Coughs, Colds, Croup, Bronchitis, Sore Throat and Whooping Cough.

Because it contains turpentine some people imagine that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is disagreeable to the taste. On the contrary it is sweet and palatable, and children love to take it. They soon learn that, besides being pleasant to take, it brings immediate relief to soreness, irritation and inflammation of the throat and lungs. At this season of the year all mothers desire to have in the house some reliable medicine to give when the children catch colds, or awake in the night with the hollow, croupy cough which strikes a chill to every mother's heart. You can rely absolutely on Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It has stood the test.

A HACKING COUGH.

Mr. W. A. Wylie, 57 Seaton street, Toronto, states:—"My little grandchild had suffered with a nasty, hacking cough for about eight weeks, when we procured a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. After the first dose she called it "honey" and was eager for medicine time to come around. I can simply state that part of one bottle cured her, and she is now well and as bright as a cricket."

A NASTY CROUPY COUGH.

Mr. J. Gilroy of High Park avenue, Toronto, states:—Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine cured my two-year-old boy of a nasty croupy cough which he could not seem to get rid of. After this experience with this remedy we intend to keep some in the house for emergencies.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

There are other preparations of linseed and turpentine put up in imitation of Dr. Chase's. Be sure the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase are on the bottle you buy. 25 cents a bottle; family size, three times as much, 60 cents. All dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Elected Officers.

Great excitement prevailed at the Y.M.C.A. this morning when the elections of officers for the coming year took place. Over 60 votes were polled for each office, and the voting was all done from 9 till 11 o'clock. The results were very close, as will be seen by the following. President M. Robinson was elected by a majority of 14 votes; Vice-Pres. E. Daly was elected by a majority of two votes; Secretary Alfred Hodgson was elected by a majority of two votes, and for Treasurer Robert Hall was elected by a majority of ten votes.

CORDAGE CO. NOTES.

A Siding to be Laid on Either Aylmer or Bethune Streets.

The building operations down at the Cordage Company Works are being rushed forward with every degree of expediency. It is expected that the brickwork will be completed by the end of next week, and contractors Hartley and Rutherford are to be congratulated on the manner in which they are endeavouring to have the big building in a fit state for occupancy by the first of the year.

The directors of the Company are now considering the question of a siding into the works, and are undecided as to whether it would be most advisable to run a track down Aylmer street or Bethune street.

A petition has been presented to the town council by some of the ratepayers on Bethune street, objecting to the Cordage Company placing a siding on the west side of their property on Bethune street. In consequence it is said that the Cordage Company are considering the erection of their store houses on the east side of their main factory, and the running of a siding on their own property, making connection with the Grand Junction on Perry street. It is said Aylmer street people object to the siding on Aylmer street, and that members of the council are opposed to Aylmer street, as that is a main travelled thoroughfare, and it is contended by some of the Council that it would be less injurious to have the siding on Bethune street. However, there always seem to be difficulties in connection with progressive enterprises in getting details settled, and no doubt the council will do what they believe to be fair in the matter.

EVERYONE ENDORSES IT.

"Our Navy" the Most Entertaining Attraction at the Opera House for Many Years.

It is with the heartiest goodwill that the Examiner commends to the public the entertainment which is to be repeated at the opera house to-night, and which was witnessed last evening by the most thoroughly pleased audience that has assembled in the opera house in many a long day. "Our Navy" is something which no one can afford to miss seeing. The pictures deal with every phase of life in the British navy, and the best of advertisements exists to-day in the high encomiums which are being passed by those who were in attendance last evening. No moving pictures of this character have been shown here before — they stand in a class by themselves, and the lecture, interlarded with songs and recitations, by thoroughly competent artists, is one of the most pleasing features. When every picture was received with such hearty applause, it would be difficult to name any which were popular above the others. All were excellent, and it is to be hoped that another large house will greet "Our Navy" to-night.

HUNTING NOTES.

Jack Fitzgerald has an Adventure With a Bear.

Reports From all the Parties Show That Plenty of Deer are Being Taken.

Pigeon No. 9 arrived yesterday afternoon at its loft at the Snowden House, with the following message:

"Roger shot fine deer; putting out dog; all well; ask no questions. M. Tooley met four deer this a. m. Shot 27 shots; had not even a look of hair. Examiner please copy. 'Cinderella.' Time, 1.20 p.m. 8th Nov. 1901."

The pigeon was sent up north with the Laroque - Hamilton - Fitzgerald party, which is located at Gull Lake. However, it contains the news from two other parties as well, as will be observed.

The pigeon belonged to Mr. Dixon Jewett's loft.

Word has been received from Mr. Complin, Mr. Hatton and party to the effect that they have seven deer, and have also bagged any number of partridges and ducks.

Word has been received in town that Mr. Jack Fitzgerald shot and killed a fine bear weighing 275 lbs. on Thursday morning.

• • •

Mr. J. M. Brooks, who is with an Oshawa party up near Sundridge, sends word that he has already shot one deer and the party have five.

The party on Grubbe's Island, Stony Lake, have six deer and the Hall's have eight. This makes fourteen for Stony Lake this season.

Mr. R. W. Grubbe, who is down from his Stony Lake cottage, where a large party of hunters are camped, is loud in his praise of the Dummer and Burleigh shores as hunting grounds. His party is composed of Messrs. John J. Dick, Christy and Walter Crowe, Reeve Henry Moore, D. Delaney and Peter Fairman, of Dummer; Dr. Fraser, of Lakefield; George Burnham, of town, W. H. Casement, of Lakefield, and Mr. Mitchell, of Toronto. Mr. Grubbe has an exciting story to tell, of Mr. F. Miles, of Dummer, whose fine qualities of heart and mind have made him many life-long friends. Fred's hunting instincts are largely developed, and so when he heard the hounds crossing the end of his farm in full cry the other day, he dropped the ploughshare and took to the sword—or, more properly speaking, the rifle, and started on a brisk canter to the lake shore, half-a-mile distant. On arriving there he found that someone had borrowed his canoe, but as he saw the quarry enter the lake and start for the opposite shore just at this minute, he hurried to the next boat-house, and finding it locked, laid hold of a projecting scantling and ripped the whole side out of the concern. Quickly launching a canoe, he gave chase, but even then would have lost the deer had not the animal been turned from its course by the fact that a flock of geese on which it was bearing down, became frightened, and flapped their wings. As the buck turned its head to strike out in a new direction, Fred sent in two bullets just below the root of the horns, and laid the monarch of the forest low. It was a beauty, weighing over 300 pounds.

At about 2.30 o'clock this afternoon another of Mr. Jewett's carrier pigeons arrived with a message from the Laroque - Fitzgerald-Hamilton party. It read as follows:

"Farm Point Hunt Club, Limited. Our bag at present is 7 deer and a 275 pound black bear, shot by Jack Fitzgerald. He wounded two more but they were lost in the dark; we are going after them after the first snowfall. Geo. Dawson, the returned Klondiker, has gained 14 pounds, and is tanning a deer skin to make a larger belt, while Gus White, the celebrated coon hunter, is practically a walking skeleton. The party wishes to thank Jack Cunningham for a box of fine cigars. We are smoking them now. The boys are developing fearful muscles carrying the deer in from the woods, as they are all shot on the runways. Nelson Windover is in great form, and the boys are living on the height of the land. Smith Milburn joined the party yesterday, with a new .44 Winchester, and spends most of his time greasing it and working the mechanism. 12.45 started pigeon."

Mr. John Montgomery has returned from a hunting trip in the vicinity of Parry Harbour with his brother Frank, who lives there. He was accompanied by Mr. Gus Sawers, and the three hunters got five deer in two days and a half. Mr. Sawers is not home yet.

A True Story.

Haselwood Lodge, Stony Lake.

"Far from the madding crowd," etc., "Far from a cold world's strife."

Scene, a hunter's cabin.

A few feathers on the floor, a few drops of blood on the side of the wall, a smell of burnt feathers and a smoking stove.

A small party of hunters had arrived with two deer, and were sitting chatting near the shore, when we heard a racket in the cabin; on going to find out the cause we found that the big genial, good-hearted C. C. had brought home a young owl which he had caught, and brought back with him to make a pet of it. It was sitting blinking on the window sill and C.C. reached forth his hands to take the pet up, but it fastened a grip of its claws into a finger of each hand! To make it let go C.C. bend down his head to pull of the claws with his teeth. The owl caught C.C by the nose with its beak! Here was a fix. C.C. was ashamed to call us in, so he jabbed the owl against the side of the door. This loosened the owl's beak off C. C's. nose and made it bleed. He then held the owl close to the wall and kicked it to pieces, but as C. C. had taken off his boots, it hurt. The air was filled with feathers and fury. R. W. Grubbe.

THE KING'S BIRTHDAY.

How it was Observed in Peterborough —The Stores Open as Usual.

The King's Birthday is being celebrated in Peterborough in a partial manner only. The banks and government offices are closed, but the business houses of the town are all open. The cheap fares on the railroads has brought many to town from the neighboring villages, but the Saturday market is quite a small one. Altogether, the town presents its usual brisk Saturday appearance. There is one feature, at least, however that characterizes the day apart from the ordinary day, and that is that flags are flying all over the town as a mark of recognition of the King's birthday.

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons have their place suitably decorated with their characteristic enterprise. A banner across the street bears the motto "Long Live King Edward VII." They have also the Royal Standard and the three flags—the English, Scotch and Irish emblems.

The Peterborough section of the 14th Field Battery, under the command of Lieut. Bradburn and Lieut. Ackerman, made things lively at 12 o'clock. The boys turned out with two guns, and took up their position in front of the Court House. Here they fired a Royal salute of 21 guns.

MR. A. W. BEALL M. A.

Will Speak at a Meeting of the W. C. T. U. on Monday Afternoon.

The adjourned meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held in the Y.M.C.A. on Monday afternoon next, Nov. 11th, commencing at half past three punctually. The members are requested to come out in full force. Also we would invite every lady in Peterborough, who is interested in this work of women "For God, and Home, and Native Land," to come to the meeting and hear Mr. A. W. Beall, M. A., give a synopsis of the work of the Provincial convention, and also what has been done in the Province during the past year. There is a wide field in Peterborough for this Society, and we ask for the co-operation of the mothers of the town. Come on Monday afternoon and hear Mr. Beall.

THE CARRIER PIGEONS.

What Mr. Dixon Jewett Intends Doing With His Birds.

Mr. Dixon Jewett, the popular steward of the Snowden House, has a loft of carrier pigeons that are not only the pride of the Snowden House but of the hunters of the town who go back to the north country. Mr. Jewett has in all 25 of these birds, and of late he has been using them to good advantage by sending them with the dear hunters when they go back north, and in this manner receiving daily messages from the various parties. One or two of the pigeons have not yet reached their destination here, which is due to the fact, no doubt, that they have been fed just before they started out. This should not be done, as no pigeon will fly any distance on a full stomach. However, on the whole, the experiment has proved very satisfactory, and Mr. Jewett intends offering his birds for service during the next Provincial general election. They would be sent back north to the farthest polling sub-division, and and the note containing the state of poll may be fastened to the bird's tail in the usual manner. It is calculated that the pigeon would arrive at its loft from the farthest polling station in an hour and a half at the very least. This would, indeed, be a very quick way of getting the returns from isolated points.

Coughs, colds, hoarseness, and other throat ailments are quickly relieved by Vapo-Cresolene tablets, ten cents per box. All druggists.

FROM TROOPER ERNIE HENRY

A Letter Written Over a Month Ago Just Arrives.

He has Some Great Experiences While on the March—Plenty of Rain in South Africa.

The appended characteristically amusing and interesting letter has just been received in town by relatives of Trooper Ernie Henry, who is out with the South African Constabularly;—

"On the veldt somewhere" in South Africa, Sunday, September 29th, 1901.

To-day is Sunday. The way we know Sunday is that we always trek, build a fort, or have fatigue duty of some kind.

Clergymen are a scarce number here; I have not seen one since we left Ottawa of any denomination whatever. We have just sent all our oxen in to Jacobsdal to be inoculated for tuberculosis. There are very few oxen or horses in this country worth a cent. The last two years trekking has run them off their feet.

I have not received a letter from Canada since I arrived here last March. The mail arrives here about every three weeks, and when it comes we all make a rush for the captain's tent, and he calls out the lucky names. The captain is the only one who has a tent; we sleep in the "fresh air," the ventilation is better and then we get good shower baths, as it rains for days and nights at a time. The first night I slept in the rain (the Dutch call it rain) but I thought the Little Lake at home had fallen on me. I had to swim out and pull my two blankets after me, as I had made my bed in a donga, which is a dry ravine before rain but a regular river after. I think any of us who go home can easily get positions with any circus as "freaks" who can live under water like sea lions in water tanks. When on horse back it is lovely—my breeches are so tight at the knee and so baggy at the seat that I feel as if sitting on a pail of water, but one good feature is that when the sun does come out our clothes dry in a very few minutes.

This is the greatest snap in the world fighting out here, and some of the men say it is the first picnic they ever went to that lasted for months, instead of a day. Our captain has just received a football, and a baseball and a bat sent to us from Kimberley. He says it will be better for us than our physical drill.

We had two days of racing sports here. There were eight troops trekked here to compete for prizes. The smallest prize was ten pounds. I was not in any of the racing contests as my horse was useless. I entered in a sack race on foot, but did not win. It was the first sports I ever saw where each spectator stood with a rifle ready for surprises of any kind. This is about all the news I have at present.

Yours, etc.,
E. Henry,
Trooper 2199, E Division, S.A.C.

P.S. — Sept. 30. — A convoy coming to us with provisions, mail, etc., has just been captured and we are ordered to fall in and give chase for it. I hope there is no mail on it as we may not capture it.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE PUBLIC.

November 8th, 1901.

This is to notify our many customers that we have this day sold our Meat Business at 328 George street (Market Arcade) to Mr. H. P. Kennedy, who will continue business for present at the old stand.

In retiring from business we have to thank our many customers for the patronage which they have accorded us, and to bespeak for the new proprietor a continuance of the same.

We are free to admit that the service given under the new management should be even more satisfactory than in the past, as the facilities afforded Mr. Kennedy in his large Live Stock trade throughout Ontario, are such that enable him to furnish his meat market with a greater variety and a choicer stock of meats than others have the opportunity of doing.

Our customers can rest assured that only the choicest Beef, Lamb, Pork, Fowl of all kinds, and Meats, the variety of which are only to be found in all well equipped meat markets, will be found in the new store, and for the present we will both be in Mr. Kennedy's employ, and will be glad to welcome not only our old customers, but the general public.

All outstanding accounts will be expected to be promptly settled with the undersigned.

Peterborough Rugby Team Left Last Night for London — Other Sporting Items.

RUGBY.

The Peterborough Rugby Team left at 4.45 o'clock yesterday afternoon for London, where they will play their first match in the O.R.F.U. final. The boys left per special coach, which had been arranged for, and which will ensure for them greater comfort in travelling. They were seen off at the station by a large crowd of enthusiasts, who shouted words of encouragement to them as the train steamed westward. Messrs. R. F. McWilliams, H. R. H. Kenner, A. A. Hollingshead and Harry Rush, accompanied the team.

Unfortunately the Peterborough team is not as strong as it was thought it would have been for the game in London, and the local enthusiasts can only hope for the best. While the team was practicing in the drill shed on Thursday night, Crowley had the misfortune to meet with an accident which prevented his accompanying the team. Again Revell, of the scrimmage, was unable to go at the eleventh hour, so that Robinson and Armstrong were taken along. It is most likely that Hal. Burnham will be moved forward to the scrimmage, Scott will go on the half back line and Armstrong will play full back. If the boys can only hold down the score, Peterborough will more than even matters up when the Londoners come here on Saturday next.

The Peterborough team will be Armstrong, McPherson, Scott, V. McWilliams, Bell, Burnham, Dainard, Noble, Graham, Rickey, Meagher, Dillon, Robinson, Paterson and Picard.

The London papers do not give the athletic organizations of that city the support which is their due. Reports of horse races, prize fights and the like which are taking place a thousand miles away, get plenty of space, but it is little notice that is taken of the football team which is to-day playing for the Intermediate Championship of the O.R.F.U.

The Trinity College School, Port Hope, second fifteen, went through town on their way to Lakefield this morning. They will play the Grove team.

There will be a radical change in the rules governing Canadian Rugby football before another season comes round. That is very nearly certain. In the college union the word has already gone forth that changes will be encompassed at the next annual meeting that will revolutionize the game; while in the Ontario and the Quebec unions, though openly there has not been much said on the subject, yet there is a strong feeling that something must be done to improve the game so that it will continue to hold its position in the affections of the sporting public. The objection against the present style of play is that it is too close and scrimmage work predominates; there is not enough open play, and consequently the game, as it is played, does not contain sufficient interest for the average spectator. The collegians propose to remedy this by the substitution of the American snap-back for the present scrimmage, and the "downs" system, making it requisite for a team to advance the ball ten yards in the scrimmage or lose the ball. This would certainly make the game an open one, and would energize the fast men as well as those of strength. Then, with the reduction in the number of players to say, twelve, the game would certainly be improved.

HOCKEY.

The Peterborough Hockey Club will hold their organization meeting very shortly. The boys want to see the worst of the Rugby season over before they enter upon Canada's national winter game.

As the winter season approaches the talk of winter athletics becomes more animated, and the hockey clubs throughout the Province are getting ready for the fray. The indications are that hockey will see a very successful season in this district, and some fast exhibitions of Canada's national winter game may be looked forward to.

Hockey, during the past two years, has made very rapid strides around here, and in the towns surrounding Peterborough, teams of an intermediate calibre vie with each other with intense enthusiasm for supremacy. There is no getting over the fact that a great deal of the credit for this rapid growth in the popularity of the game is due to the management of the Trent Valley Hockey League, which is now entering upon the third year of its existence, and which stretches out its arms to the small and less pretentious clubs, offering easy inducements to join, fair treatment when they do join, and a good amount of fun besides. The League last year had ten clubs, viz., Madoc, Marmora, Campbellford, Norwood, Keene, Lakeviews of Peterborough, Lakefield, Lindsay, Fenelon Falls, and Bobcaygeon. The eastern division, comprising Madoc, Marmora, Campbellford and Norwood, was won by the latter club; and the central district, comprising Keene, Lakeviews and Lakefield, was won by Keene, whilst Fenelon Falls not only won from Lindsay and Bobcaygeon, but won the championship of the entire League as well. Imagine how surprised the other clubs were! There was Fenelon Falls, in an isolated position, standing outside the circuit of the O.H.A. They never had a chance of showing the hockey-loving public what they could do, as a match or two with Lindsay or Bobcaygeon was the limit of their out-of-town games. They joined the Trent Valley League, which infused additional energy into the players, and greater enthusiasm into the townspeople, and they entered into the series with a determination to win out, which, as before stated, they did. About the same story might be told of every other club in the League. Encouraged by this success, the management intends taking in more clubs this year. The low entrance fee and the small annual fee are certainly inducements for those clubs that cannot obtain the finances to join a more expensive organization, such as the O.H.A. An effort then will be made to have a new district to the west, comprising Beaverton, Port Perry, Cannington and Uxbridge, and another to the east taking in Belleville, and some of the clubs in that section. The annual meeting of the League will be held in the course of a few weeks, when the application of new clubs for membership should be in. The League is in good financial standing, and possesses an elegant trophy, which has been very kindly donated by Mr. A. H. Stratton, the Hon. President of the League. This is held by Fenelon Falls. The clubs in the Trent Valley League should organize at once, and have everything in readiness.

COUNTY POLICE COURT.

County Magistrate Edmison will go down to Havelock on Friday next to dispose of a number of cases.

John Dolan, of Lakefield, will come before County Magistrate Edmison on Monday for sentence. He was found guilty a few days ago of stealing an overcoat and a pair of mits from Walter Tait on Nov. 2nd.

Charges of violation of the Liquor License Act have been laid by Inspector Crowe against two hotel keepers in Norwood, and a Havelock hotel man.

STOCK EXCHANGE.

Daily Letter From Haight & Freeze's New York Offices.

No London market to-day, holiday there. Washington sends big news to-day. Agreement reached between Secretary Gage and Chairman Payne, of ways and means committee to abolish war taxes, then reduce internal revenue taxes, this will let loose millions of of gold annually, that now goes into treasury. Northern Pacific matters definitely settled and under writing. Syndicates now at work.

Buy St. Paul and L. N. Atchison and soft coalers going higher. Immense short interest in Po. and sugar. Buy steels, Chicago Great Western and Vanderbilts.

Stock market is assured, we advise the purchase of railroad shares on any declines, especially St. Paul, Union, N. Y. C., Penna, Southern, L. N. and Readings. Don't sell copper short. Sugar will work lower. The low priced stocks will pay to pick up, and B. R. T. and Man. will sell much higher. The London market is closed to-day, and there will be no quotations from there.

The character of the bank statement to-day will depend upon the change in the item of loans, which in view of the greater activity in the stock market, is likely to show an increase, and not withstanding the gain in cash, a reduction in the surplus reserve is not improbable, but with improving monetary conditions any such decrease will have little market influence. Affairs are shaping in the direction of better results. The Northern Pacific question will soon be removed, and with the development of plans for the unification of the Vanderbilt properties, concentration of control of the roads in the South, West and other important deals better.

Vanderbilts consolidation rumors still current, but unconfirmed. From quotation companies manufacturing coppers, believed unofficial cut has been made. Pacific preferred will be retired January 1st. Moderate demand for stocks in the loan crowd.

On Magnetic Healing.

Much is spoken and written during these times about this mysterious method of treating disease. The most remarkable cases of magnetic healing which have come under the notice of the writer have been those in which Dr. Chase's Ointment was used. This preparation seems to have magical powers in stopping the dreadful itching, burning sensations of Salt Rheum and Eczema, and when used regularly makes the cure permanent and thorough.

The matrons of the Edison Orphanage at Lowell, Mass., U.S.A., wrote they had a siege of whooping-cough in their institution. They said that every case was promptly relieved by Vapo-Cresolene. SHERIFF TO SEIZE PIPES.

Government Moves to Shut Off the Export of Natural Gas.

Windsor, Nov. 9.—J. M. Gibson, Attorney-General, has sent a notice to the Sheriff of Essex County to seize the submarine pipes which are used by the Interior Construction Company of Detroit to convey natural gas from Windsor to Detroit.

This action has been taken as a result of the failure of the company to obey the Order-in-Council passed by the Ontario Cabinet some time ago, for the purpose of having the pipes removed from the Canadian bed of the Detroit River. The sheriff has not yet received the notice personally, as he went to his farm in Colchester a couple of days ago, and will not be back until to-day.

Secretary Kennedy of the United Gas and Oil Company, which supplies the gas to the Detroit company, went to Toronto yesterday afternoon for the purpose of getting out an injunction restraining the sheriff from executing the order. Mr. Kennedy said that the company would fight the Ontario Government on the ground that the channel banks in Canadian waters are controlled by the Dominion Government. If necessary, he says, the case will be appealed to the Privy Council of England, the highest tribunal in the British Empire.

Italian Murders a Greek.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 9.—Tom Neles, a Greek fisherman, married, was murdered on Herald street here yesterday morning by Frank Nicolas, aged 47, an Italian fisherman. The two men had been drinking, and when visiting some resorts below the dead-line they quarreled over their catches of fish and after fighting a few minutes Nicolas stabbed Neles in the abdomen and left breast the latter wound causing death twenty minutes later. The murdered man was carried from where he was found on the street to the police station. Nicolas fled to the fishing village, and made off in his sloop. The police pursued in a steam launch, but the fugitive has so far avoided capture.

Lord's Day Alliance.

Toronto, Nov. 9.—The sixth annual convention of the Lord's Day Alliance of Ontario was held yesterday in the Guild Hall. Tho attendance was not large.

At this time last year there were but 110 organizations in the province, while now there are 170, and the work in the other provinces shows growth.

The treasurer's report showed the receipts to have been $3,747, and the expenditures leave a small balance, whereas last year the Alliance was deeply in debt.

Student Shot.

Grenfell, Man., Nov. 9.—A fatal shooting accident occurred here Thursday. Paul Bushe, eldest son of the late Dr. Bushe, was driving with his brother, having a loaded gun between them, which was cocked. The jolting of the rig caused the gun to be accidentally discharged, and the charge entered the lower part of the face and passed upwards into the skull of the elder brother. There is little or no hope of his recovery.

DELICIOUS AND HEALTHFUL.

Malt Breakfast Food

Delicious and healthful! A happy combination found only in Malt Breakfast Food.

You may be a user of stomach irritating oatmeal or other grain foods difficult to digest. You use them merely from force of habit. Can you truly say that they are delicious and appetizing? We think not. They certainly do not conduce to good digestion and regular health. They contain too much insoluble starch. This element taxes the powers of digestion, uses up bodily energy, and too often aids Bright's Disease and diabetes.

Malt Breakfast Food is a sustaining and energising food, a nourisher of body and brain, a builder of flesh, bone and muscle. You are not half enjoying life if you are without Malt Breakfast Food each morning. Breakfast commenced with a dish of Malt Breakfast Food means that you go to your day's work fortified with energy and strength.

Hawley of the Switchmen's Union of America, who is in charge of the strike on the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad, called into effect late Thursday afternoon, indicate that the strike order has been obeyed by every switchman employed on the Rio Grande system, numbering 235 men.

An International Court.

Mexico City, Nov. 9.—The Pan-American Congress, at its session yesterday morning, decided to adjourn for a fortnight in order to allow the committees to consider the projects submitted to them. At yesterday's session the project of a treaty for an international court of claims was presented by the Mexican delegation.

THE ESQUIMO

The Esquimo eats blubber. The lumbermen eat pork. These people are constantly exposed to cold and physical strain. Experience has taught them that fatty foods give warmth and nourishment.

For those who have cold and thin bodies, or are threatened with consumption or any wasting disease, there is no fat in so digestible and palatable a form as Scott's Emulsion. Physicians prescribe it.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

FRANCE IS VICTORIOUS.

The Sultan Has Yielded to All the French Demands.

Paris, Nov. 9.—The Sultan has yielded to the entire demands of the French Government, and only the question of form regarding the execution of the engagements remains to be settled. When this is done, Admiral Caillard will relinquish his occupation of the Island of Mitylene.

In accepting the French demands, the Sultan authorizes the working of the French schools hitherto unrecognized, recognizes officially the existance of the religious and hospitable institutions already founded, and authorizes the construction of schools and other institutions destroyed at the time of the Armenian troubles.

Afraid of Canadian Hay.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—The Inter-State Commerce Commission was told yesterday by witnesses of the American Hay Association that the rates charged by the railroads will make it possible for Canadian hay to crowd the product of the middle west out of the New England States. Dealers from various points of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois gave testimony. Prior to the time when the railroads changed the classification of hay from sixth to fifth class, on January 1st, 1900, the western dealers shipped from one-third to one-half of all their hay to New York and New England points. Now they are shipping practically nothing to New England points, and less than 5 per cent. to New York.

FOR COOL WEATHER.

Capes For Traveling and Coats For Driving.

The new steamer capes are long and fit the shoulders very closely, but the edges are rather wide and reach to the knees. Smarter capes suitable for driving are of fawn or palest gray cloth, much braided or inlet with medallions of lace or net, showing a lining of silk.

The loose coat wrap is quite the accepted style for autumn, and there are many charming little coats of black silk or soft materials which are very smart to be worn with the now universally accepted black skirt. These coats have usually large sleeves, and they are much tucked.

Eminently sportsmanlike and sensible is the smart hunting costume shown in the illustration. It is made of dark green tweed trimmed with bands of leather strongly stitched. The coat is made in the Russian blouse shape, with a yoke and three bands of leather. It is made collarless, and with it there is worn a waist of buff flannel somewhat on the shade of the leather trimmings. The sleeves are bishop, and the cuffs are ornamented with narrow bands of the leather. Each gore of the skirt is ornamented by a band of leather, and the bottom shows an elaborate arrangement of the strappings.

No Limit to New Ideas.

There never has been a time when the individual has stood for so much as he does at present. There has never been a time when individuality and personal initiative brought such amazing rewards. There never has been a time when the individual could or did exert so much influence as at present. There is no individual today so insignificant that, if he became the medium of a new or potent ideal, he would be prevented by uncontrollable conditions from expressing his idea and reaping his just reward.

In all ages up to this man has been, owing to his limitations of physical force, a plaything of conditions, a slave of his environment. Skill and intelligence were but two of the factors in his progress, bounded and restrained by limitations to their employment. Now, however, with universal energy at the disposal of each individual, this terrestrial sphere scarce puts bounds to his field of influence.

Your Nerves are Weak.

You sleep badly, appetite variable. You eat but gain no strength. Morning tiredness makes you wish it were night. When night comes refreshing sleep is hard to obtain. You're run down, your blood is thin and watery, your nerves have grown weak, the thought of effort wearies you. You need Ferrozone; it makes blood—red, strong blood. An appetite? You'll eat everything and digest it, too. Strength? That's what plenty of food gives. Ferrozone gives hope, vigour, vim, endurance. Use Ferrozone and get strong. Sold only by Ormond & Walsh.

Encouraging.

Now that the steamer excursion was nearly over and they could see the lights of the city dancing on the waters the young man grew serious.

"I should like," he said, "to pursue the acquaintance we have begun in so casual a way on this boat, and with your permission I shall venture to call upon you at your home."

"But I don't even know your name," protested the maiden, with becoming diffidence.

"My name," he replied, "is Eddy."

And the friendly darkness hid the blush that suffused her cheek as she responded softly:

"You may call, Eddy."—Chicago Tribune.

A DISPLAY OF NERVE

REMARKABLE FORTITUDE OF A MAN SUFFERING UNTOLD AGONY.

A Ride in a Hospital Ambulance That Even Sickened the Surgeon. The Case of a Negro Who Operated Upon Himself.

"Much has been written of the fortitude shown by wounded soldiers on the battlefield," said an ambulance surgeon to a reporter the other day, "but there are instances of brave endurance of terrible suffering in daily life which no battlefield hero could excel. None has better opportunity for noting this than the surgeons who respond to the hurry calls for the ambulances.

"One of the most remarkable instances of a display of nerve which I ever witnessed," continued the surgeon, "was in the case of an old man who was terribly burned in the Delamater Iron works in East Fourteenth street some years ago. He was over sixty years old and was engaged with a number of fellow workmen in pouring a huge pot of molten iron into molds when he slipped and fell into the white hot metal. Almost instantly he was grabbed and pulled out of the frightful bath, but his burns were frightful.

"His left thigh had been eaten off almost the instant it struck the fluid. One of his feet had slipped into the vessel in the instinctive struggle he made to free himself, and splotches of the liquid iron had burned him here and there on the arm and the lower part of the leg. So hot was the metal that as the man's foot slipped into it the shoe disappeared and no trace of it was ever found. Every particle of clothing had been burned off wherever the molten iron had touched.

"I did what I could for the old man on the spot and then hurried him into the ambulance, not believing there was one chance in a hundred of 'bringing him in' alive. On the way he remained lying on the stretcher, his lips compressed, pale as death, and his breast heaving with the dreadful effort of suppressing the agony within, yet not even a sigh escaped him.

"I leaned over him and asked him if he wanted anything. With an effort that showed all the pent up agony which was threatening to burst him he cried out almost at the top of his voice:

"'Thanks, doctor—oh, God!'

"It almost sickened me to watch the suffering of the old man, and I was used to seeing some pretty hard sights at that. I left my seat and knelt beside him as the ambulance tore over the pavement and forced open the clinched fists of the man and put my own hand inside to give him something to hold on to. I thought even then that he was dying. He was almost frantic with pain, and, half dead though he was, he could not be quiet. He forced himself into a sitting position and stared with a seemingly sightless gaze over the rear of the ambulance. A funeral procession caught his eye.

"'That's a bad sign,' he said between his clinched teeth, but never a moan or a complaint escaped him.

"That was the most horrible ride I ever had on an ambulance. It seemed supernatural. The man was as if dead and in another world, and yet he fought with all the grit and obstinacy against the least sign of weakness. Well, strange to say, within three months he left the hospital—alive. He was a hopeless cripple and was taken care of by the foundry people and did no work for ten years after until he died. His last words to me a few days before he left the hospital were:

"'Doctor, no one but God Almighty will ever know what kind of an angel you were to me that day when you first poured that stuff on me. If any one asks you if there's any nerve in old Dennis, you do me a good turn and tell him what you saw, will you?'

"Here is another case. One afternoon I was sent on a hurry call to an address not far from the hospital. I found that a painter's swinging scaffold had broken and two young men had fallen four stories to the pavement. Both were under twenty-four years old. One of them lay on the sidewalk breathing heavily; he was unconscious. The other lay within five feet of the first, leaning on one elbow, pale as death and not a word or sound coming from him.

"I went first to the man who seemed worst hurt and was about to look for broken ribs when the death rattle began. I knew then there was no use, and I turned quickly to the survivor.

"'Fix the other fellow first; I'm all right. Fix Terry,' he said weakly, waving me back. But Terry was beyond help, and I worked over the brave young fellow, whom I feared was bleeding to death inside somewhere. Throughout he kept telling me to 'fix Terry first.' I told him Terry was fixed. Terry died on the sidewalk and was not even put into the ambulance. Billy, poor fellow, died as they were lifting him from the ambulance into the hospital. He had five ribs broken and one of them had entered his stomach.

"By way of variation," continued the surgeon, "here is an instance where fear led a person to a very nervy act. It happened after a comparatively trivial accident where a man's great toe was smashed so that it had to be amputated. The patient was a big, burly negro, and I took him to the hospital, where he was laid on the operating table. As the instruments lying about caught his eye and the surgeon picked up the knife it took the combined strength of four men to hold the man down. Even then he continued kicking and screaming and finally, when an attempt was made to administer chloroform, broke loose and ran about the room, yelling at the top of his voice, 'Murder, murder!'

"The operating surgeon began to argue. He told him that the toe would have to come off and that it would not be painful if he would only hold still for the chloroform. He told him also about every lie he could think of except that he would like the sensation. Finally the negro said he would cut off his own toe if the doctor would give him the knife, and the surgeon agreed providing he would cut it as directed. He did so, and it upset half a dozen men who were used to seeing all kinds of things much more grewsome. In fact, one of the attendants fainted at the sight. It was the novelty of seeing a man operate on himself."

Value of Quality.

Quality is always an important factor in disposing of farm products, but in many cases its cost to the farmer is practically nothing. In the matter of butter making it costs absolutely no more to make a high grade quality than inferior butter. Even the cost of extra labor in keeping things clean and sweet about the dairy cannot be counted, for it really does not take more work to keep things clean than to let them go dirty. It is merely a question of method and system. Quality is worth a good deal in the market. Whether it is butter, fruit or vegetables or animals that one is selling, the determining factor is the quality of the goods. The extra payment received for good quality most generally represents the difference between profit and loss. The farmers who find that no branch of farming pays are usually those who pay little regard to the quality of their goods.

"I Advise

All women who suffer from chronic diseases to write to Dr. Pierce."

That advice is based upon practical experience. After suffering for months, and finding no benefit result from the treatment of the local physician, Miss Belle Hedrick wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice. She acted on the advice, regained her appetite, recovered her strength, and gained several pounds in weight.

"Write to Doctor Pierce" is good advice for every woman to follow. It costs nothing. Dr. Pierce invites sick women to consult him, by letter, free. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

In a little over thirty years, Dr. Pierce, assisted by his staff of nearly a score of physicians, has treated and cured over half a million women.

"I suffered from female weakness for five months," writes Miss Belle Hedrick of Nye, Putnam Co., W. Va. "I was treated by a good physician, but he never seemed to do me any good. I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce for advice which I received, telling me to take his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I took thirteen bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and eight of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' When I had used the medicine a month my health was much improved. It has continued to improve until now I can work at almost all kinds of housework. I had scarcely any appetite, but it is all right now. Have gained several pounds in weight. I advise all who suffer from chronic diseases to write to Dr. Pierce."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the bowels.

Trade was slow and prices were not nearly as good as on Tuesday. Dealers would have paid as high prices had the quality of cattle been there. There was scarcely one straight load of any one class of cattle, nearly every load being mixed butchers, or a few feeders and exporters.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, Nov. 7.—There were no really prime cattle offered for sale to-day at the East End Abattoir, much the larger proportion of the stock being lean, or only half fatted, and for these there is very little demand, except from canners, who pay from 1½c to 2¼c per lb.

Medium cattle sold at from 3c to near 4c per lb., and for the best among these there was a good demand at firm prices. About 600 head of cattle were offered for sale here to-day, but some of them will have to be held for a future market. Some 200 head of cattle were sold here yesterday. The calves were a rather poor lot, the best veals having been bought yesterday, leaving the graziers for to-day's market. These sold at from 2½c to 4c per lb., but good veals would bring 5c per lb. Shippers paid 3c per lb. for good large sheep and the butchers paid from 2½c to 3c per lb. for the others. Lambs sold at from 3c to 3½c per lb. Fat hogs are still declining in price, selling at from 5c to 5⅛c per lb., weighed off the cars.

Receipts of live stock at the East End Abattoir this morning were 880 head of cattle, 60 calves, 900 sheep, 700 lambs. A good trade was done in the better grades, but many of the inferior stock were left unsold.

Cattle, choice, sold at from 4c to 4¼c per lb.; good sold at 3¼c to 3⅝c per lb.; lower grade from 1½c to 2½c per lb.

Calves were sold from $3 to $8 each.

Sheep brought from 2½c to 3c per lb.

Hogs brought from 5⅛c to 6¼c per lb.

What You Put In Your Mouth.

It is through the mouth that most malignant germs find their way into the body, and therefore one would think that it was hardly necessary to warn people against the risks they are running in using it as a sort of third hand. One would imagine that hardly any one needed cautioning against holding money with the lips, and yet an immense number of otherwise thoroughly cleanly people indulge in this dirty, dangerous practice.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Canton flannel makes a good bath blanket for baby. It should be made large enough to completely envelop the child while it is being wiped dry.

Windows should be cleaned the last thing after the sweeping and dusting are done. Many housekeepers use no soap in window washing, believing it clouds the glass. Ordinary tissue paper gives a good polish.

A recommended polish to use on a piano case is made from equal parts of vinegar and paraffin oil. Put together in a bottle and shake well before using. This is said to give a particularly brilliant polish.

When the ankle has been severely sprained, immerse it immediately in hot water, keeping it there for 15 or 20 minutes. After it has been taken out of the water keep it bandaged with cloths wrung out of hot water.

Don't hang heavy curtains around baby's bed. The most that can be endured are light swiss draperies, and these should be laundered every week. Children need fresh air, especially when sleeping, and curtains prevent free circulation, while they collect dust.

Returned For the Pan.

Only the experienced and methodical housekeeper knows the agony of the woman whose maid forgets her tray while performing the ceremonious obligations of the house. That the importance of the tray is recognized in Milwaukee is evidenced by the relation by The Sentinel of the horror which seized upon a fashionable mistress while listening to conversation in the hall.

The maid had just arrived and had been solemnly instructed as to the necessity of carrying the silver card tray when answering the doorbell. It was an "at home" day, and the domestic, in immaculate cap and apron, rushed to the door at the first tinkle. The caller proved to be the most imposing representative of the very upper set.

"Sure an she's in," said Mary affably in answer to the usual inquiry and started up stairs. Half way up she turned and rushed madly back, snatched the card tray from the table and, holding it out to the astonished visitor, exclaimed:

"An wasn't I after forgettin me pan!"

A Lincoln Retort.

In the series of debates between Stephen A. Douglas and Abraham Lincoln in 1858 on one occasion Douglas sneeringly referred to the fact that he once saw Lincoln retailing whisky. "Yes," replied Lincoln, "it is true that the first time I saw Judge Douglas I was selling whisky by the drink. I was on the inside of the bar, and the judge was on the outside, I busy selling, he busy buying," which is about as neat a retort as the annals of the stump afford—rich, but not malicious.

THE "DROP-OFF" HEART

Doctors didn't give Mrs. James long to live—but Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart foiled them and cured her.

For fifteen years Mrs. John A. James, of Wiarton, Ont., was a great sufferer from Heart Disease. For days at a time she was confined to bed, and it seemed as though every breath might be her last. Her physicians said that she might "drop off" any minute. With woman's tenacity in suffering, and believing that "while there's life there's hope," she started using Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. Three bottles cured her. This remedy relieves in thirty minutes. 75

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS . . .

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $130 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

CHAPTER IX.

The vessel was booked to sail at 4 p. m. but she only proceeded a short distance down the harbour, when she dropped anchor and remained there over night. It was well she did for a most tempestuous gale prevailed all that Saturday night and Sunday. It was one of the worst hurricanes that had visited the coast for years. In Newfoundland it raged with even more violence, and a mail train as it rounded a sharp curve was blown off the track. Many of the passengers, including some Halifax citizens were more or less injured.

I never experienced anything to equal it. It blew so strongly that when we were going over to tea, across the parade ground, it compelled us to turn round two or three times. We were obliged to place our heads in line with our waists to travel at all.

On Sunday the 16th of February, we experienced a typical blizzard. The hail was driven with such force it was impossible to face it, unless you were protected in some way. Our church parade was cancelled and the clergy came up and held service in the sergeant's mess at the conclusion of which the Communion was administered to all who wished to take it. The storm went on unabated, as we left the temporary sanctuary, and proceeded to the stables to attend to our horses. Stables over we had dinner. The remainder of A Squadron was coming in that afternoon from Toronto and according to a custom in vogue in the British army, we were ordered out to meet the new-comers and relieve them of all their duties. Certainly if this was a regulation in the British regular army, we were going to be regulars and although the storm still raged, and we went, I won't say cheerfully, willingly or good-humouredly, and waded through snow a foot or more deep, as we marched to Richmond Station, a mile or so away. When we reached the depot the train was reported some hours late. The hail soon ceased and for about half an hour we had fine weather, in which the boys amused themselves by snow-balling each other. A man daren't make an appearance on a box-car or he would be greeted with a perfect fusillade of balls. The lads were about as miserable marksmen as the Boers for the man would escape unscathed, while the side of the car was painted white and the air completely riddled. While this part of the play was taking place the elements had decided on a change in the weather and we had a most beautiful rain. Our yarn-knitted hoods were soon saturated, and, as we vainly sought shelter, we wondered if the train was ever going to come. The hours wore slowly on, and as the rays of Old Sol became almost parallel with the surface of Mother Earth, we were formed up in line and the train rushed wildly in amid a volley of cheers. We immediately began to unload their horses and proceed to camp. I was very fortunate in having only one to bring up, but he was a bad one. No sooner had we left the car than he struck off on the double with me hanging on to the tie rope like a Jew to a farthing. I could do nothing only go wherever he wanted to bring me, and you may rest assured I shed no tears when he was placed in his stall at Willow Park. We then fed and watered them and furnished a stable piquet for the night. Our comrades were exempt from all duties till the following morning.

Barrack room life is anything but pleasant, and to the moral young man who enjoys pure society, good manners, freedom of thought, speech and action, it is a veritable prison. To endure it without resentment you must be born in the barracks and gradually assume that careless, indifferent mode of living where you, in reality, never merge from infancy. You develop in stature, grow in mental ability to a very ordinary degree, but never acquire that independent, self-sufficient feeling that is the heritage of the civilian or volunteer. It is a prescribed rule, though possibly never recorded in the Army Statutes, that you are there to be seen and not heard, and it is a difficult matter indeed for an ambitious volunteer to permit himself to be thus tongue-tied and treated like a child. While in the army we must conform to army rules and regulations, whether pleasing or exasperating, but since we have severed our connection therewith and the shackles have fallen off, facts will be revealed that heretofore have been enshrouded in mystery.

The following was our regular routine of duties:—

Reveille at 6 a.m.
Stables at 6.30 a. m.
Breakfast at 8.00 a. m.
Mounted drill at 9.30 — 12.00 a. m.
Dinner at 1.00 p. m.
Foot drill at 2.30—4.00 p. m.
Stables at 5.00 p. m.
Tea at 6.00 p. m.
Lights out at 10.15 p. m.

Guards, stable-piquets, room-orderlies etc. were generally relieved at 6 o'clock p. m. None of our duties were arduous but became so monotonous, they lost all their fascinating interest, and it was no uncommon thing to find a stable-picquet asleep on duty. As a matter of fact it was immaterial whether he was or not, for the horses generally behaved well, and there was really nothing to do.

MATTERS REACHING A CLIMAX

The Peterborough Young Man and the Chicago Girl.

How Mrs. Julia Carr Makes Many People Happy—Regular Land Office Business.

Matters have about reached a climax in the negotiations that have been pending for several weeks between the Peterborough young man and an alleged Chicago heiress. Last Saturday the Examiner published the correspondence that had passed between the two parties, and which originated in the following add, which appeared in these columns:—

HEIRESS, ONLY 22, WITH $100,000 worth of coal mines, timber lands, plantations and money wants husband's protection and care. Address, Susie B., Drawer H., Chicago, Ill.—3d 97.

The first reply, which appeared in last Saturday's Examiner, asked that 20 cents be forwarded to a certain address, in order that the young man here might be placed in more direct communication with the young heiress, and stating if the young man was sincere in his intentions he would not mind the investment of that amount. Accordingly, the 20 cents was forwarded.

The reply which has been received this time is as follows:—

Chicago, Nov. 6th, 1901.

Dear sir,—Your esteemed favor received, and in reply I send description of the lady whose add. you answered, and particulars of Harmony League with business rules and terms, for your careful consideration, also an Application blank, which, should you desire to engage my services to introduce you personally to this lady, kindly answer the questions truthfully and return to me with registering fee of $5.00. I will then place you in direct correspondence with the lady of your choice either by letter or personal introduction. Should a meeting with her later on not prove entirely satisfactory, you will then be entitled to other introductions until you are married or find the "right one," without further charge. Thus you see it is for my interest to suit you as soon as possible. A large number of wealthy and in every way desirable ladies from every city and state in the Union have trusted me to quietly find for them suitable husbands, and I am confident I can assist you to secure a suitable wife, and you will find the money a good investment and the result will bring you a new interest in life.

I do not have a class of patrons who permit their names and addresses to be sold ten for a dollar and sent out over the country, but I have secured the well-to-do and wealthy class, educated and honest, that anyone would be proud to know. Every letter is held in confidence. Your interest is mine. The Harmony League averages 20 weddings a month, the result of my introductions.

If you desire to know the lady whose add you answered most of all, do not delay too long, but let me hear from you at your earliest convenience.

Respectfully,
MRS. JULIA CARR.

P.S. Each step taken to bring about mutual satisfactory results—experience has demonstrated it absolutely necessary, although some are disappointed by the methods employed—persistence and courage are required to win.

The description of the young lady in question is as follows:—

SUSIE.—Pretty; age 22, 5 feet, 4 in. high; 126 pounds; gray eyes; black hair; fair complexion; American; not prejudiced as to religion; will soon possess $100,000 worth of property, consisting of plantation, personal property, timber lands, coal mines and money, and will inherit more than above very soon; wants husband who can protect her property. She is quite accomplished, plays piano and sings, and would marry at once, if suited.

Again, there was a list of testimonials of persons whom, it is alleged, have married through the Harmony League agency, and have been made very happy. Some of these testimonials are very funny. For instance, here are several:—

Randolph, Minn., Sept. 27th, 1900.
Mrs. Julia Carr,
1900 Michigan Ave., Chicago.

Dear Friend—I wish to thank you for your kindness in putting me in correspondence with the dearest, sweetest girl I ever met. I have just been to see her; a trip of nearly 2,000 miles. I would not kick now if your price was twice as much. Please return my photo and send me your latest list and prices for there is a man here much interested.

Yours very truly,
W. A. E—.

There ware many other such testimonials, but space will not permit of any more being published at the present time. A list of young ladies anxious to marry was also amongst the correspondence. One of these is as follows;

1558.—Young maiden lady, very nice looking, nice figure, good disposition, American woman, has made $7 her own efforts $24,000. Prefers the East to the West for permanent home, would be independent financially, but dependent upon his love for happiness; no drinking man will be considered; prefers steady, quiet, business man of good health and appearance; is fond of children, but prefers not to be a stepmother.

The young man is further requested to fill out a number of blanks in another sheet of paper that is enclosed. This is for the purpose of furnishing Mrs. Julia with a full description of himself. He must tell his age, nationality, and in all about 25 questions are to be answered. But above all, there must be $5.00 forwarded before any further information will be forth coming regarding the young lady. The young man is just now considering whether or not it will pay him to make the investment. He may do so, and if such be the case the correspondence in reply will be published next Saturday.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

The New Classes are all Progressing Favourably—An Entertainment.

The regular Gospel meeting held on Nov. 3rd was well attended, and a most helpful address delivered by Rev. J. G. Potter upon "The Curiosity of a Queen" based upon the story of the visit of the Queen of Sheba to King Soloman. He dwelt specially upon the thought that she was curious regarding his fame "concerning the name of the Lord," and in that respect was worthy of emulation.

The educational classes and clubs which met during the week were up to the average in attendance, and a growing interest in the work is constantly manifested. Classes in wood-carving and English Literature have been organized during the week, to meet respectively on Tuesday afternoon at 4.15 and Thursday at 8 p.m.

It is reported that a company of very highly cultured and most talented sisters are manifesting a great interest in the furnishing of the new Y. W. C. A. rooms, and will, in the course of the next two weeks, give an entertainment for that object. Watch daily papers for further announcements.

The week beginning Nov. 10th has been set apart as a time of special prayer by the world's Young Women's Christian Association. Special services will be held in the Y. W. C. A. rooms on George street as follows;—

Sunday, 4.15—Led by the Secretary.
Tuesday, 8 p.m.—Led by Rev. J. Bastow;
Thursday, 8 p.m.—Led by Mrs. H. P. Kennedy;
Friday, 8 p.m.—Led by Rev. J. P. Wilson;
Saturday, 8 p.m.

There will be special music at each meeting as well as most helpful addresses, and we most cordially invite all friends interested in the world's work for young women to join us in these services.

Owing to these special meetings the Tuesday and Thursday gymnasium classes and the I.W.T. club will be suspended for the week. The members of these classes are requested to be present at the services held on the above mentioned evenings.

The members of the Association and all other young women are specially invited to be present at as many of these services as possible.

MEDALS ARRIVE

For Non-commissioned Officers who Have Served 20 Years in the Canadian Militia.

The long service medals for non-commissioned officers and men who have served twenty years in the Canadian militia, have arrived. They number about 350. As soon as the list of those entitled to them has been prepared the medals will be sent to the engravers to be inscribed with the recipient's name. Lord Strathcona informs the department that the officers' decorations will not be ready until the 15th. This means that they will reach Ottawa about the end of the month. The Minister of Militia, who has thirty years service to his credit, has sent in his application for a decoration. Colonel Pinault, Deputy Minister, who served twenty years as an officer and twelve years in subordinate ranks, will also file an application.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

How to Keep the Baby Healthy and Happy—Avoid the So-Called Soothing Medicines.

Every mother is naturally solicitous as to the health of her children, but not every one treats their little troubles in the right way. The so-called soothing remedies are still used altogether too much, although physicians have preached against them for many years. The fact that they put children to sleep is no sign that they are helpful. On the contrary, soothing drugs are dangerous and distinctly harmful. At the slightest sign of ill-health or disorders, give the little ones Baby's Own Tablets. This medicine is purely vegetable and is guaranteed to contain no opiate or poisonous soothing stuff. For indigestion, sour stomach, colic, constipation, simple fevers, diarrhoea, the irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth, there can be no better, no safer remedy than this. Baby's Own Tablets are a sweet, pleasant little tablet which any child will take readily, and dissolved in water, may be given with absolute safety to the youngest infant. Mothers who have used these tablets cheerfully testify to the benefit their little ones have derived from them. Mrs. R. L. McFarlane, Bristol, Que., says, "In my estimation Baby's Own Tablets have no equal as a medicine for little children. In cases of children teething I would not be without them on any account, as they keep my baby healthy and happy." Druggists sell them, but if you can't find them conveniently, send 25 cents directly to us, and we will forward a box by mail prepaid. The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Every mother should have our valuable little book on the care of infants and young children. Sent free for the asking.

SURVEY TO BE CONTINUED.

Supplies "Cached" for the Temiskaming Railway Surveyors.

Supplies have been taken in to New Liskeard and "cached" at points southward, for the use of the surveyors now engaged in locating the route for the Government Railway to the Temiskaming Region. Hon. Mr. Latchford has stated that it was the Government's intention that Engineer Russell should prosecute the work until the $10,000 appropriation voted last year was exhausted.

IT IS THOS. F. WALLACE.

West York Conservatives Have Selected a Candidate.

Weston, Nov. 11.—Mr. Thos. F. Wallace, Woodbridge, will carry the standard of the Conservative party in West York. Such was the decision of the Conservative convention which assembled at Bailey's Hall here Saturday. The attendance was very large, so much so that the hall failed to accommodate all those who desired to take part. There was some little excitement when the convention assembled, owing to the uncertainty as to who the choice of the convention would be. Many delegates, personal friends of the late member, were prepared to stand by the candidature of Captain Thomas G. Wallace, who had done much of the hard work of recent campaigns for his father. Dr. W. Beattie Nesbitt also had a strong following in the convention. Mr. J. W. St. John, who was nominated, speedily intimated that he intended sticking to Provincial politics. Capt. Thos. Wallace was the next to retire, and when Dr. Nesbitt announced that he intended standing by Tom F. Wallace there was great cheering. The nomination was made unanimous, and Mr. Wallace accepted it and pledged himself to strive to the extent of his power to retain West York in the ranks of the Conservative party.

AN IMPORTANT STELLAR DISCOVERY.

The Lick Observatory Watching the Formation of a New World.

San Jose, Cal., Nov. 11.—W. W. Campbell of Lick Observatory has issued a bulletin regarding the discovery made by Prof. Perine of a new star in the constellation Perseus. It appeared suddenly last February. In some four days the star increased in brightness from invisibility in ordinary telescopes until it became the brightest star in the northern sky. The spectroscope has shown that it is now a nebula, though retaining to the eye and to the telescope the point form of an ordinary star. A recent photograph recorded the phenomenal features that the brightest portions of the nebula, and perhaps, the nebula itself, had removed to the southeast more than one minute of arc in the past six weeks.

MOTHER SUES HER SON.

Defendant is Premier Dunsmuir—Surrender of Stock Demanded.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 11.—Mrs. R. Dunsmuir, has begun an action against her son, the Hon. Jas. Dunsmuir, Premier of British Columbia, for the delivery of about 5,000 shares in the R. Dunsmuir Co., which controls an immense amount of property, including a railway, collieries and coasting steamers. Mother and son, it is said, have had many differences in the last few years. The shares mentioned in the suit are believed to be those left by the late Alexander Dunsmuir, another son, to his brother, and the action in no way affects the fortune left by the father to his wife or to his daughter, Edna Wallace Hopper, the actress.

Preparing for the Coronation.

London, Nov. 11.—Preparations for the coronation are advancing rapidly. It is probable that there will be the most representative assemblage of the reigning houses of Europe known for a generation. The German Emperor will be present, and the Emperor of Austria, the Kings of Italy, Belgium, Sweden, Portugal and Denmark have accepted invitations, according to current reports. The Czar has been urged to visit England in June, but he is not likely to join in the coronation festivities. The royal guests will arrive in London a fortnight before the coronation, and several hotels will be reserved for them since they cannot be accommodated in palaces.

Oxford Stroke Dies at 21.

London, Nov. 11.—The death at the age of 21 of Mr. Culme-Seymour, the stroke oar in last year's Oxford University boat, has re-opened for discussion as to whether the severity of the strain of university rowing is not too great for many young men, who are perfectly free from organic weakness and are passed as fit by the doctors. In the last few days Messrs. Balfour, Heywood-Lonsdale, Stretch, Cotton, Poole and Wright, all young men who have rowed either in the Oxford or Cambridge eights, have succumbed quickly to illness within a few days of leaving their university. Mr. Culme-Seymour succumbed to pleurisy.

Cardinal Svampa Dying.

Rome, Nov. 11.—Cardinal Svampa, Archbishop of Bologna, is now lying on his deathbed. The question of the successor to Leo XIII. in the Papal Chair will be influenced in a very important degree by Cardinal Svampa's death, for he has long been regarded in Vatican circles as the most eligible of all the members of the Sacred College. He is, moreover, the youngest of the suitable candidates, being only 50 years of age.

A PLAN OF CAMPAIGN

A New One to Be Developed on Gen. Ian Hamilton's Arrival.

SPEECH BY LORD SALISBURY.

At the Lord Mayor's Banquet He Gives an Answer to Recent Criticism of the War—British Determination—Necessary to Remove a Menace to the British in South Africa —War News.

London, Nov. 11.—In a letter dated October 23, the Cape Town correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "Lord Kitchener and Sir John Gordon Sprigg, the Cape Premier, have arranged a scheme for the expulsion of the invaders from Cape Colony. A joint commission of Imperial and Colonial and military chiefs has been sitting here for some days past to draft a scheme.

"It is understood that this provides for the colony taking a large share in the future of the campaign and contributing largely towards its cost. Apparently a levy of loyalists en masse is the idea involved."

With a More Vigorous Plan.

According to the Daily News, Major-General Ian Hamilton, who sailed Saturday for South Africa to act as Lord Kitchener's chief of staff, takes a plan, prepared in London, for a more vigorous campaign, with a view of ending the war before the coronation festivities begin.

"Gen. Hamilton's appointment," says The Daily News, "is part of a plan arranged after the King's return from the continent about six weeks ago. Unless Lord Kitchener should decline to be complainant the new scheme is likely to develop about the beginning of the year."

A Clergyman's Appeal.

Ottawa, Nov. 11.—Rev. S. G. Bland, in the Eastern Methodist Church yesterday, called upon the Church and press to urge the Government to send 5,000 Canadians to South Africa to help end the war. He described Britain as denuded of men and British statesmen as too proud to beg for help, but he said Canada should not go swaggering about her prosperity and giving subsidies to railways while the Mother Country is carrying on a great struggle.

Death of Trooper Mackenzie.

Ottawa, Nov. 11.—The following cable has been received at the Militia Department from the casualty department at Cape Town:

"Please inform Mrs. Johanna Summerville, 473 East Queen street, Toronto, that 34,307 Trooper Robert William Mackenzie, Roberts' Horse, died of enteric fever, Standerton, Nov. 1."

Toronto, Nov. 11.—The deceased was only 22 years of age, and for two years previous to his departure for South Africa, or March 8th, was a member of the Toronto Mounted Police. His young wife, married a week before his departure, is left destitute in this city, she having received no monetary support from her husband.

NOTES OF THE WAR.

In commemoration of King Edward's birthday 16,000 trees were planted and sports were held in all the refugee camps of the Orange River Colony at Bloemfontein.

Gen. Ian Hamilton was seen off for Cape Town from London on Sunday by a great crush of friends. He will be Lord Kitchener's right-hand man there.

Cecil Rhodes is in Venice, but will return to London next month and sail for Cape Town early in January. His friends are confident that he will soon be playing an active part in the political re-organization of South Africa, and he has always had a talent for managing the Dutch element of Cape Colony.

THE PREMIER'S SPEECH.

Premier of Britain Says Some Things to Comfort Those Who Are Worrying About the Boer War.

New York, Nov. 11.—The 9th of November is always interesting because at the Lord Mayor's banquet the Prime Minister makes a speech at a moment when Parliament has not been sitting for some time. Interest in the occasion Saturday night was far greater than usual, because the British people wished to hear what Lord Salisbury had to say on the war.

Besides the Prime Minister there were present the Right Hon. C. T. Ritchie, Home Secretary; the Earl of Selborne, First Lord of the Admiralty, and other members of the administration, and representatives of the bench and the city. Lord Salisbury, in responding to the toast of "His Majesty's Ministers," said:

Peace of the World.

"In considering the embarrassment and difficulties in which it may be thought that our country is standing, it is a matter for congratulation that the peace of the world has been on the whole so little disturbed, and that we have found such a kindly feeling and such a correct attitude on the part of all the powers with whom we have been in alliance. I venture to say that 50 years ago that would not have been the case. It is a great improvement in our public habits of thought that we have through all these difficulties enjoyed as favorable, certainly as neutral, a position as any of the Governments of Europe could have been able to occupy. This has been no small advantage.

"A slight cloud during the last few weeks settled over the eastern end of the Mediterranean, but it has passed away. That is a great achievement. I do not think that difficulties so great or opportunities so embarrassing would 50 years ago have left so light a mark upon the history of our time.

"There is really nothing upon which the eye can dwell of a serious nature except the sad and lamentable war that we are still pursuing in South Africa."

Deprecates Pessimism at Home.

The Premier deprecated the pessimism expressed by public men and the newspapers of the country, for which, he declared, he saw no cause. He thought that steady and unvarying progress toward a successful issue was absolutely secured. Undoubtedly, the war had not reached a conclusion as early as they had expected, but it was absurd to suppose that Great Britain would not be able to meet due and expected difficulties because after the capture of Pretoria guerilla warfare was not immediately concluded. It would be discouraging if there were any grounds for believing that Great Britain was not now making sufficient progress.

The Prime Minister proceeded in his gravest tones: "Therein lies our difficulty. We cannot lay before you the whole circumstances of the case. We cannot tell you publicly all that is going on. We should be greatly neglecting our duty if we did. Yet it is only by some such revelation that we can give you full and entire satisfaction.

"All I can say is, and I am speaking the judgment of those who have the best opportunity for determining what is really going on, that we are making month by month and week by week sure and substantial progress.

His Answer to Criticism.

"The belief has been expressed in public that it is owing to some neglect or luke-warmness on the part of the Government that the war has not been brought to an earlier conclusion. There is no doubt that guerilla warfare has been considerably diminished, and we do not admit that any act or neglect on our part has had anything to do with the prolongation of the war. It is easy to say these things against us, and it is absolutely impossible to refute them without betraying our duty. We maintain that there is no ground for saying that the Government has in any degree neglected its duty, either in meeting the demands of the generals on the spot or in making other preparations necessary for the conduct of the war."

Lord Salisbury went on to say that he hoped that this declaration would induce a more confident feeling in the country. Turning to the many critics of his Government, he complained that the indefinite nature of their charges made it impossible for the administration to defend itself.

His offer to the Boers.

The position of the Government has not changed. It desired nothing better than bringing back these territories to the blessings of the British Empire, that they should enjoy immediately peace, freedom and civil rights, and, within the earliest opportunity which circumstances and time might permit, that they should enjoy the other blessings of self-government, which were enjoyed by all the British self-governing colonies.

Continuing the Marquis said: "We are met with the assertion by our opponents that they will accept nothing but independence. We reply to neighbors who attack us on two days' notice, who have evidently spent more than as many years in accumulating materials for a colossal war of independence, that this is inconsistent with our security."

British Determination.

That the trouble should never recur was, he believed, the deep resolve of the British people. However, much sacrifice and labor it required, he felt sure they would enthusiastically support their Government whatever happened. He was convinced that the country recognised how deeply the interests of the British Empire were bound up in carrying to a successful issue the undertaking which they had taken up and that they would not allow themselves by any temporary difficulty or imaginary discouragement to be drawn away from this result.

NEW UP-TO-DATE GEOGRAPHY

Mr. Harcourt Discusses Recent Criticisms.

Revision of the High School Geography Foreshadowed — New Public School Geography is Authorized—Blame the Department Anyway—A Short Turn.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt in speaking the other day of a recent article in a Conservative paper, in which some ridicule was cast upon the public school geography, said:—"The writer, had he inquired, would have learned that the geography from which he took his extracts has been superseded by a new up-to-date geography, which, so far as is known, is free from all inaccuracies. The new book has been in the hands of the scholars for Public Schools for nearly a year. However, there is a regulation in the department, of which everyone approves, to the effect that the disuse of any text-book must be gradual, so that parents may not be put to unnecessary expense. In this particular case, in conformity with this regulation, the geography which was superseded a year ago may yet be found in the hands of some children who were not prepared to buy the new book."

"It will be noticed that the department is to be censured whatever happens. The main cry thus far has been 'too frequent changes in text-books, imposing new books unnecessarily on parents for the advantage of the school book ring, etc.' In this instance the corner is turned short and the cry is, 'The department does not change books often enough, and state books are allowed to remain in the children's hands; the newer books of enterprising publishers should be allowed a chance, etc.'

"The High School geography is admittedly faulty in some respects owing to the fact that history is being made very rapidly of late. Owing to the new discoveries, new settlements in newer portions of this or that country, a revision would even now be timely. A revised edition will, it is hoped, ere long be placed in the hands of the scholars."

Enthusiastic Converts.

There are Thousands of Them Who Believes as This Woman Does.

Miss Ira Knowlton, of Butte, Montana, is a most enthusiastic convert to the virtues of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets as a cure for obstinate stomach troubles. She says: "I had poor digestion nearly all my life. It now seems to me that for years I never knew what it was to be hungry, to have a good natural appetite.

"I was troubled with gas in the stomach, causing pressure on the heart with palpitation and short breath. Nearly everything I ate soured on my stomach; sometimes I had cramps in the stomach which almost resembled spasms.

"Doctors told me I had catarrh of the stomach, but their medicines would not reach it, and I would still be a sufferer had I not in sheer desperation decided to try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"I knew they were an advertised remedy, and I didn't believe anything I read about them, as I had no confidence in advertised remedies, but my sister living in Pittsburg wrote me last spring telling me how Stuart's Tablets had cured her little daughters of indigestion and loss of flesh and appetite and I hesitated no longer.

"I bought a fifty cent box at my drug store, and took two of the large Tablets after each meal, and found them delightful to take, being as pleasant to the taste as caramel candy. Whenever during the day or night I felt any pain or uneasiness in the stomach or about the heart I took one of the small tablets and in three weeks it seemed to me as if I had never known what stomach trouble was.

"I keep Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in the house and every member of our family uses them occasionally after a hearty meal or when any of us have a pain or ache in the digestive organs."

Mr. E. H. Davis, of Hampton, Va., says; "I doctored five years for dyspepsia, but in two months I got more benefit from Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, than in five years of the doctor's treatment."

"Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of the stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, bloating after meals, sympathetic heart trouble.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is not a cheap cathartic but an active digestive remedy containing the pepsin and diastase which every weak stomach lacks, and they cure stomach troubles because they digest the food eaten, and give the weak, abused, over-worked stomach a chance to rest and recuperate.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold in every drug store in the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

WILLIAM FLETCHER CURED OF BRIGHTS DISEASE

by

Powley's Liquified Ozone

Bright's disease of the kidneys is one of the most fatal sicknesses there is. It practically means the decay of these important organs. The evidence is found by tests of the urine. The presence of albumen is detected, and in the last stages the presence of minute kidney cells, called casts, is noted. When the disease becomes very deeply seated, the water, instead of being passed off is retained in the system and the sufferer becomes tremendously bloated. Powley's Liquified Ozone has made some remarkable cures of Bright's disease of the kidneys. Notice the case of Mr. Wm. Fletcher, of Emsdale, Ont. It's remarkable.

For about two years I have been running down in energy and health, caused by kidney disease. Last February I finally collapsed; my body and limbs were terribly swollen. I then sent for my doctor, and he treated my case as best he could, but I was getting worse all the time. Finally my doctor told me if I had any business to settle I had better do so. I got the doctor to draw up my will, as I was informed that I had but a short time to live.

A neighbor, Mr. Connover, came over to see me and advised me to take Ozone, as it had done his wife a world of good. Mr. Connover brought me a bottle from Mr. Cavan's store at Springdale. I had not taken the second dose before I felt an improvement. I have now taken five bottles, and I am a living testimonial of the great curative powers of Powley's Liquified Ozone.

I and my daughter have done all the work on my farm the latter part of the summer. Since being cured by Ozone, I feel good for another ten years, although I am now 72 years of age.

I am getting stronger every day, and all the praise my neighbors are giving Ozone, and it is worthy of all they can say of it. I hope you may have great success with it.

You are at liberty to publish this for the benefit of others suffering from kidney trouble. (Signed) WILLIAM X. FLETCHER, Emsdale, Ont.

Powley's Liquified Ozone strengthens the kidneys, clears out all impurities, and soothes all inflammations of the tracts of the kidneys. The oxygen, in Powley's Liquified Ozone, makes new tissues. It is this latter quality that makes this preparation so valuable. If there is the least chance, if there is any healthy parts left in the kidneys, the Ozone will bring back all to health. Ozone is life.

HASTENED LI'S DEATH

Earl Had Strong Interview With the Russian Minister.

THE MANCHURIAN AGREEMENT

Japan Forced a Disclosure of the Terms—Empress Dowager Had Commissioned Li Hung Chang to Communicate Terms of the Treaty to Ministers of the Powers—Russian Minister Strongly Objected.

Pekin, Nov. 8.—A violent dispute with M. Paul Lessar, Russian Minister to China, over the Manchurian treaty appears to have been the immediate cause of the death of Li Hung Chang.

The diplomatic events preceding this tragic climax have enabled Japan for a moment to frustrate the designs of Russia. A fortnight ago the Japanese Legation secured a reliable outline of the terms of the treaty, and thereupon demanded that the Chinese plenipotentiaries officially lay before them the text, basing this demand upon the allegation that Japanese interests were involved in any change of the status of Manchuria. The Chinese plenipotentiaries refused to comply with the demands. Thereupon the Japanese Government from Tokio communicated with the southern viceroys and induced them to use their influence with the Empress Dowager against the treaty.

In the meantime the Empress Dowager instructed Li Hung Chang to communicate the treaty, after certain modifications, to the Ministers of the powers, and if they did not object, to sign the same.

Li Hung Chang visited M. Lessar, and explained to him the instructions. The Russian Minister strongly objected to revealing the text of the treaty to the Ministers of the other powers, and a stormy interview ensued. Li Hung Chang went home in a violent passion, and had a hemorrhage, which the doctors attribute to the over-exertion of a weakened system.

While these things were happening in Pekin the southern viceroys sent to the Empress Dowager a memorial against the treaty. On receiving it she telegraphed to Li Hung Chang, countermanding the order to sign. This instruction came after Li Hung Chang had become unconscious. When M. Lessar endeavored to have Li Hung Chang's seal affixed to the treaty Chu Fu, provincial treasurer, had arrived from Pao Ting Fu, and taken charge of the seals as the temporary successor of Earl Li.

Li Hung Chang's Successor.

Pekin, Nov. 9.—An Imperial edict has arrived here, appointing Yuan Shi Kai to be Governor of the Province of Chi Li, and appointing Wang Wen Shao, who is vice-president of the Foreign Office, and a member of the Cabinet, to succeed Li Hung Chang as Plenipotentiary. They are both ordered to come to Pekin forthwith.

Another edict created Li Hung Chang a marquis and bestowed on him the new name of Li Wen Chung, by which he will be known in history.

Manchurian Pact.

London, Nov. 9.—The Hankow correspondent of The Times supplies what he alleges is a correct translation of the authentic text of the Manchurian convention proposed by Russia. The convention stipulates for the gradual withdrawal of the Russian forces within three years, "provided no other rebellion occurs, and the powers do not interfere."

Sees Gain for Britain.

Berlin, Nov. 8.—An official of the Foreign Office said to a correspondent last night that he believed that Li Hung Chang's death would be Britain's gain. He added that the passing of the old Russophile statesman would give rise to a new generation of Chinese diplomats more favorable to foreign powers.

A Verdict of Not Guilty.

Toronto, Nov. 9.—The trial of Dr. Stephen B. Pollard and Mrs. Julia Thompson on a charge of performing a criminal operation upon Ada Rose Horne was concluded in the Criminal Assizes at 5.30 o'clock last evening, when the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. The prisoners were discharged by Mr. Justice Ferguson, who is presiding over the court this week. The verdict was not unexpected, after Miss Horne, the Crown's chief witness, had given her evidence, and had made many important admissions favorable to the defence. The young woman, who was in court when the verdict was announced, seemed pleased with the outcome of the trial. The jury occupied one hour and twenty minutes in arriving at the verdict.

Adrift for Two Days.

Thessalon, Nov. 11.—Mr. W. J. Harper, a pioneer resident of Cockburn Island, now residing at Thessalon, had a terrible experience last week. He was crossing from Thessalon to Little Current in his sail boat, when a squall capsized the boat. He succeeded in getting upon the bottom of the boat, and for two days and two nights drifted helplessly, the water at times washing over him, and once he fell asleep and fell overboard, losing his hat. After more than 50 hours the boat touched Grant's Island, and Mr. Harper crawled ashore. He lived on winter-green berries, strawberry leaves, birch buds, etc., for several days, when a party of Indians coming from John's Island camped on Grant's Island, and found Mr. Harper almost exhausted. He has come through this terrible experience very well, and will soon be around as usual.

GONE TO HER REWARD.

Sudden Demise of Mrs. Richard Morgan of Ashburnham—Aged 63 Years.

The very sudden death of Mrs. Richard Morgan, of Ashburnham, which occurred on Saturday evening, will come as a great shock to a wide circle of friends, and to the community in which she has for so many years resided. At about eight o'clock on Saturday evening Mrs. Morgan was stricken with paralysis and a few hours later she passed peacefully away Up until Saturday evening she showed no other signs than that she was in her usual good health, so that her demise was quite unexpected.

The late Mrs. Morgan's maiden name was Margaret J. Rutherford, and she had been a resident of Ashburnham for over 35 years, where her model Christian life, her warm heart, and her motherly manner, made her a favourite with both young and old. She was 63 years of age. Her husband pre-deceased her about 34 years, but she leaves a family of two, a son and a daughter, to mourn her loss. The son is Mr. Harry Morgan of Ashburnham, and the daughter is Miss Isabella Morgan, of Toronto. Besides these, she leaves two sisters, Mrs. John McWilliams, of Ashburnham, and Mrs. W. J. Rombough, of Toronto, and a brother, Mr. Wm. Rutherford, of Zion, Otonabee.

Mrs. Morgan will be very greatly missed in the neighbourhood where she resided. She was in the widest sense of the word, a good neighbour. Wherever there was good to be done, wherever there was trouble or illness, she was always willing and ready, and, what was better, actually did all she could to give assistance and relief. It is not too much to say that there are many families in Ashburnham where the death of Mrs. Morgan will mean as great a loss as if some of the members of these families themselves had been removed. While her death will be greatly mourned, its suddenness seems to have in it something of compensation. She was taken away quickly to her reward, and thus spared the suffering such as she had in her lifetime done so much to alleviate.

The funeral will take place tomorrow at 1.30 p.m., to Zion cemetery, Otonabee.

DEFEATED BY LONDON'S TEAM.

Peterboroughs may yet win the Championship.

THE SCORE WAS 27 TO 6.

But London Used a Man who was Barred out of the Union and Whom They Were Warned not to Play.

Peterborough's Rugby team was "up against it good and hard" on Saturday, when the London fifteen was played in the first game of the finals for the Intermediate O.R.F.U. championship.

The bad luck of the Peterboroughs had an early start, beginning on Thursday night, when Crowley, the inside wing, was accidently hurt in practice so severely as to render futile any idea of playing in the game. As if this wasn't bad enough the Godess of Fortune frowned again and at the last minute Centre-scrimmager Revell could not get away from work to take the trip. With changes having to be made to fill these two positions the whole team had to be disorganized and the men shifted around to a degree which naturally materially effected their team play.

On arriving at London the train was not met by a reception committee of the character which was anticipated but by a gang of hoodlums and a row was precipitated the moment the Peterboroughs alighted. The first London aggressor, however, was dealt with so summarily, when he addressed a personal insult to one of the Peterboroughs, that when he measured his length on the platform it proved a salutary lesson to his friends who promptly made themselves scarce.

The Tecumseh House was made the team's head-quarters and here the boys found a welcome change in the aspect of affairs as nothing was too good for them, the host being most obliging.

The game started shortly before three o'clock. Peterborough won the toss and decided to play with the wind, but it did them little or no good as it was seldom that they got the ball. The London's held the pig-skin persistently and kept it in the scrimmage all the time. Being far heavier than the Peterboroughs and having the system of mass play down to a science, they could use their weight to such advantage as to push the visitors all over the field. Hal. Burnham had gone up into the scrimmage to take Revell's place, but the brawny two hundred and fifteen pound policeman Lucas made a toy of him. When that London scrimmage started to shove everything had to go. Time and again Burnham laid down in front of a rush to block it, but it passed on right over him. The Londons also had a big advantage in weight over the Peterboroughs on the wing line, and knew how to use that weight in the way it would tell the most. In the first half the Peterboroughs were pushed back over their goal line three times in succession, and consequently had twelve points registered against them. None of the tries were converted.

In the second half the Londons with the wind in their favour started to play an open game, but in this kind of play their weight was of no benefit and the Peterboroughs could more than hold their own and forced their opponents to again adopt their mass play tactics. It was in this half the spectators were given the worth of their money being treated to a sight of some sensational plays by the famous Peterborough back division. McPherson is reported as having especially distinguished himself. Once he brought the ball out from behind the Peterborough goal line and dodging through the whole field made a run of fully ninety yards before he was nailed and brought down by London's full-back. Another beautiful run which he made resulted in his scoring a touch down, which was converted by Scott in splendid style. A fact worthy of note lies in the circumstance that London did not do any of its scoring in open play by running and passing but only succeeded in tallying when they used their superior weight against their lighter opponents.

In the second half the Londons increased their score to 27 points as against Peterborough's six.

It would be well if the account of the game could end here. There is no disgrace in defeat, but when that defeat is accomplished by unfair means, then there is disgrace, but not to the defeated team. And the London team, by the methods employed in Saturday's match have placed a stigma on Rugby football matters in that town which will not soon be erased, especially in view of the facts connected with the manner in which they won the championship last year. At that time the roughness complained of by the Peterboroughs was glossed over by the O.R.F.U., as the game is not one of the lawn tennis variety, and it was thought that it was but natural for the losing team to make some excuse for their defeat. The Union, however, can no longer shut its eyes to the fact that with London it is a case of "win at any cost," as the methods employed on Saturday resulted in two Peterborough players being so brutally mauled as to render them unconscious for periods of twenty and fifteen minutes respectively—one being so badly hurt as to necessitate him retiring from the match permanently. That these little incidents were not accidents is proven by the fact that members of the Peterboroughs who were "marking" certain players, bear bruises on portions of their bodies that go to show that the injuries were inflicted deliberately.

However, "giving the devil his due," it is only fair to London to state, that in the scrimmage, where dirty work can be most handily done, without detection, everything was fair and above board. Their scrimmagers were all great burly fellows but they used their strength in a legitimate manner.

The act which is pointed out as conclusive evidence that London was determined to "win at any cost," exists in their playing Peel, a professional, to whose reinstatement as an amateur, the Union had refused to consent. It was only after play had been resumed in the second half that the Peterboroughs spotted this man, and naturally the attention of the referee was at once directed to the circumstance, but the Londons refused to remove him, and the game was accordingly finished under protest. A stranger wearing an American College uniform also figured prominently on the half back line of the Londons, and his history will also be investigated.

It seems to be the general opinion that the Londons merely wanted to win the match in their own city, and never intended to play the return game in Peterborough. What adds strength to this opinion is the statement of the Peterboroughs that they could not collect the $60 which London was ordered to pay them.

If, as is expected, the whole London team is professionalized for playing Peel, and are thrown out of the series, the championship will be awarded to the Peterboroughs.

The teams were composed as follows:

London — Back, Stevens; halves, Peel, McNee, captain, Hueston; quarter, F. Taylor; scrimmage, Lucas, G. Rice, S. Taylor, wings, Field, Carrothers, Clarkson, A. Bice, Black, Kerrigan and Regan.

Peterborough — Back, Armstrong; halves, Scott, McPherson, V. McWilliams; quarter back, N. Bell; scrimmage, Dainard, Burnham, Noble; wings, R. McWilliams, Rickey, Graham, Meagher, Dillon, Picard, Patterson and W. Robinson.

Mr. Griffiths, of the Bishop Ridley College, did most satisfactory work as referee.

In reference to the game the Mail and Empire says "There were no stars on the London team. Every player worked unselfishly, and the combination was perfect. In touch-line tactics, in defence and in attack they were immeasureably superior to their opponents, in fact, they seemed to play a different style of game. Owing to the fact that nearly all London's practice has been in-door work, the team did practically no kicking, but depended entirely upon a running game, varied with line-bucking. The visitors' halves kicked well when they got a chance, but the London wings broke through and smothered their plays. McPherson's two runs, on one of which he scored, were the spectacular features of the game. There were four new men on the London team, two of them juniors, but they proved quite equal to their tasks. The scrimmage, which is the same as last year, is as near perfect as possible. If anything, the visitors were in better physical condition, but although weight was about equal, they seemed utterly unable to hold their men. On yesterday's showing it is morally certain that the Intermediate Cup will stay in London for another year at least."

YESTERDAY AT ST. JOHN'S.

Rev. Prof. Clark of Toronto was Here.

The Re-opening Services Were Continued—A Very Eloquent Sermon—The Music.

St. John's dedication festival and re-opening of the church, was continued yesterday, when the special feature of the day was the presence of Rev. Prof. Clark, D.C.L., of Trinity University, Toronto. Prof. Clark is one of the best known preachers and literary men of Ontario, and he has several times before kindly addressed Peterborough audiences, his striking lecture on Kingsley's Water Babies, Savonara and Robert Burns, having been delivered before large and appreciative audiences. It is to be hoped that his suggestion last night that these were his last words in Peterborough, will not prove true. However, Prof. Clark intimated that he had positively decided not to go outside of Toronto, Peterborough and Hamilton being the only two places that he had consented to visit. A man of gracious and commanding presence, sympathetic voice, and using only the most polished language, contact with him cannot but prove wholesome, pleasing and inspiring. Trinity College is to be congratulated on possessing him.

In the morning his address was based on the words, "Our citizenship is in heaven," and he set forth the high privileges of the members of the Christian church, in the present as well as in future enjoyment of celestial privileges.

In the evening his eloquent and touching sermon was based on the words, "My people shall never be ashamed," Joel ii, 26, and dealt with the confidence that should inspire all Christians, and the certainty of the ground of their hopes. Even if men did fail grievously at times, still there was forgiveness for those who really desired it, and restoration to a position of safety. The speaker believed that, notwithstanding some appearances to the contrary, there never was a time when more real religion was found than at the present time. It was said that men were more and more giving up the reading of the Bible, and attendance at church. If this were being done it was a mistake which would be yet recognized. It was only through the Bible that a knowledge was obtained, for instance, of the mercy of God, which was not revealed by the world of nature. The truths of the Bible and the Church were as needful as ever for men who could not live aright their God-given lives without them. Prof. Clarke closed his splendid sermon with a few local references and touching words. He was glad indeed to observe the progress of the church, and to note the evidence of kindly good will between the church and the community, exemplified by the presence of the leading citizens. And he prayed that Heaven's best blessings might descend on the church and town.

The congregation was very large, and included Lieut.-Col. H. C. Rogers, Lieut.-Col. E. B. Edwards, and other officers of the 57th Regiment, several members of the Board of Education, the principals of the schools, and a number of other officials and representative citizens. The service was most bright and inspiring, Mr. Gliddon being assisted by his orchestra. The anthem "What Shall I Render," was given with fine effect during the offertory. Mrs. Seward taking the incidental opening solo with excellent effect. She sang with both sweetness, taste and suitable expression, her every note chording true as a bell with the orchestral accompaniment, which added great effectiveness to the music of the anthem, as well as the other musical portions of the service. The well known hymns were enthusiastically sung.

To-night there will be a congregational re-union in the school house, which will conclude the festival. An invitation was yesterday tendered the members of All Saints' church.

THE SUGAR BEET INDUSTRY

Negotiations for a Factory in Peterborough.

A New York Capitalist was Here on Saturday—What the Company Would ask as Inducements.

Peterborough may in the near future see a sugar beet establishment that will rank among the most prominent industries in the Province. Negotiations with this end in view are now in progress, and the success of the scheme depends to a great extent upon the people of the town of Peterborough, and on the farmers throughout the Province.

Saturday a gentleman was here, of New York, who is one of a company which owns and operates a sugar beet factory at East Bay City, Mich., and another in Colorado. The company is willing to establish a factory here when the farmers of the community can demonstrate to the company that they can grow beets with a satisfactory percentage of sugar in them, and, also that they have the proper quality of lime-stone and in sufficient quantities in this vicinity. The company would ask from the town thirty acres of land, and exemption from taxation for a certain number of years, and proper railway sidings. They would erect buildings that would not only do for the present, but such that, as the industry progressed, the plant could be enlarged by simply adding additional machinery. The concern would employ at the least about 150 men, being divided into night and day shifts. They would necessarily be men, no boys or women being employed. The factory which they would locate here would consume 4,500 tons of lime-stone in a year, 9,000 tons of coal in the same period of time, and would use two millions and a half gallons of water. Should their proposal be met by the town of Peterborough and the country round about, the company would invest themselves 6-7 of the required capital, and would expect the remainder of the capital to be put up by local people, the object of this being that it would be a guarantee to them that the farmers of the community would go into the sugar beet raising and feel the responsibility attached thereto.

The company would also require the Town Council and the Board of Trade to enter into an agreement with them whereby they would guarantee that the farmers of the surrounding country would place under cultivation the first year at least three thousand acres of sugar beets, —after the first year or so there will be no uneasiness as to whether or not the farmers would enter into the cultivation of this new product. It would require five hundred thousand tons of sugar beets a year to keep a factory such as they would locate here, running.

The New York gentleman, while in town, was taken in hand by Mayor Denne and other representative men and shown the town, including the magnificient water power, and needless to say, he was very favourably impressed.

In regard to the growing of sugar beets in this vicinity, it will be remembered that a number of samples were given out last spring. The government analysis has not yet been given, but it is said Mr. Shuttleworth, of the Agricultural College, Guelph, has stated that the beets were of a very high percentage of sugar.

CHURCH CHIMES.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

Prof. Davies assumed his duties yesterday as organist and leader of St. Andrew's Presbyterian choir. A class in vocal instruction will be held every Friday evening, which those interested are kindly asked to attend.

CHARLOTTE STREET CHURCH.

Rev. Mr. White, of Cavan South, occupied the pulpit of the Charlotte street church, at both services yesterday. In the evening he confined his remarks to an analysis of the character of Paul of Tarsus. In referring to his achievements the speaker pointed out that if Paul could attain to such prominence with the educational facilities which were at his command, to what greater height could the students of Peterborough reach with the finest educational system in the universe at their doors.

STOCK EXCHANGE.

Daily Letter From Haight & Freeze's New York Offices.

"Market rapidly broadening, interests spreading." The general trend is upwards, and the various pools seem now to be taking hold of their specialties, aggressively showing them to have accumulated their lines. Better precede the procession than to follow it. The general market should be safe bull proposition for some time to come. The public have but small marginal holdings. Markets do not seriously break until the public are heavily loaded, and their buying power is exhausted. This condition is a long way off, it will come later on however and at much higher figures.

Speculations now out of the market will be up to their limit, this comes from the general unity of the action of the public, which brings its own cue. In the meantime, the public are slowly entering, and as prices continue to advance, they will increase in numbers and courage. Buy stocks now. Metropolitan came to the front this morning advancing over five points to the discomfiture of the short interests. B. R. T. sympathized by a rise of about 2 points. The Grangers and South Western issues were extremely firm, under leadership of Atchison issues and Mop. Penna has very nearly recovered its dividend. N. Y. C. halted, but was extremely firm, maintaining its five advances splendidly. All the industrials sold higher under good buying. The market looks well. It should record immediately higher prices.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

True.

How man hops briskly out of bed
And, blue and shivering,
Looks for the nice new overcoat
He hung away last spring.
He brings it from the closet, and
He looks and throws a fit.
The moths all through the summer time
Have feasted well on it.

Two Likings.

"I like your nerve!" gasped the beautiful girl, struggling against the inevitable.

"And I like your cheek!" chuckled the young man as he continued the osculatory exercise.

A Little Encouragement.

Peary, Peary,
Don't get weary;
Keep a-movin' on the pole.
If you slow up,
You won't go up;
Don't back out so near the goal.

A Great Egg.

"Farmer Jones hez made th' record f'r hen eggs this year."

"Yeou don't say! What is it?"

"One of his chickens laid an egg as big as a hailstone."

An Appeal.

Margaret taught me how to love,
Then she left me; now I fret.
Won't some nice miss come along
And teach me, please, how to forget?

His Reason.

She—You played a very careless game, Jack. Why don't you keep your eye on the ball?

He—I can't keep it on both of you.

The Plutocrats.

We criticise them all we can
And oft with a superior air,
And yet there never was a man
Who wouldn't be a millionaire.

Rather Dangerous.

"Was it a successful game?"

"You bet! The other team had one nose, four legs, three ribs and an arm broken. Best game of the year."

A Good Way.

Representative Nue—What do you consider the most convenient and economical way to travel?

Senator Pulem—On a pass.

Commendation.

We greet the man who finds no fault,
With praise, and all the rest of it,
But the kicker whom we ne'er exalt
Still, somehow, gets the best of it.

Very Clever, Indeed.

Patience—She is very clever with the pencil.

Patrice—Yes; her eyebrows are all right.

Sterling.

Cholly—I lost five pounds coming ovah.

Dolly—Mal de mer?

Cholly—Naw; pokah.

The Debtor's Woe.

This life is full of sorrow,
Which increases day by day.
It's mighty hard to borrow,
And it's harder still to pay.

Correct.

"Why, Johnny, don't you know what your coat is made of?"

"Yes, mum; the seat of me father's breeches."

Cheeks Aflame.

Florence—My cheeks are burning like fire.

Estelle—I thought I smelled burning paint.

Seems Long, Anyhow.

At late's decree I cannot smile,
But count is grievous wrong
That girls are wooed so short awhile
And wedded for so long!

Painless to Him.

"Do you call that painless dentistry?" asked the irate patient.

"Certainly," replied the dentist. "It didn't hurt me at all."

An Unnecessary Incumbrance.

Daisy—I have made up my mind to enter society.

Hardhead—What has your mind got to do with it?

Rolling Around.

"There's glory enough for all," he said
When he put the fox in the soup,
And now they say there wasn't enough
To go around the loop.

Her Fault.

"She is always jumping to conclusions."

"Yes, I know she is a great reader of novels."

Av Course.

"Phot part of Oirland do yez coom from?"

"Th' downtrodden part."

Self Adjusted.

Chide not the man who talks too much,
But let him have his way.
His own endeavors will achieve
What he deserves some day.

Not In All Cases.

Bill—Do you believe in that saying that the good die young?

Jill—No, not when applied to songs.

A Question of Dollars.

"Is Smith's new book out?"

"Yes, but I don't know how much."

A Siege

The matrons of the Edison Orphanage at Lowell, Mass., U.S.A., wrote they had a siege of whooping-cough in their institution. They said that every case was promptly relieved by Vapo-Cresolene. Its value in coughs and colds was so great they always kept it ready for use. You know how it's used, don't you? 'Tis heated by a vaporizer and you inhale it. Write us for a book that tells all about it.

DISCOVERED BY ACCIDENT.

How the Paving Value of Asphalt Was Brought to Notice.

All forms of bituminous pavements, whether manufactured from natural or artificial asphalt, are in fact artificial stone pavements. The industry started with the use of the natural rock asphalt from the mines in the Val de Travers, Canton Neufchatel, Switzerland. The mines were discovered in 1721, but it was 1849 that its utility as a road covering was first noticed. The rock was then being mined for the purpose of extracting the bitumen contained in it for use in medicine and arts. It is a limestone found impregnated with bitumen, of which it yields on analysis from 8 to 14 per cent.

It was observed that pieces of rock which fell from the wagon were crushed by the weight of wheels, and under the combined influence of the traffic and heat of the sun a good road surface was produced. A macadam road of asphalt rock was then made which gave very good results, and finally in 1854 a portion of the Rue Bergere was laid in Paris of compressed asphalt on a concrete foundation. In 1858 a still larger sample was laid, and from that time it has been laid year by year in Paris. From Paris it extended to London, being laid on Threadneedle street in 1869 and Cheapside in 1870 and in successive years on other streets.—Municipal Journal and Engineer.

BILE POISON IN THE SYSTEM

The Result of Deranged Liver—How the Other Organs are Affected—Dr. Chase's Treatment for the Liver.

No organ in the human body has a greater influence on the general health than the liver.

A torpid, sluggish liver leaves poisonous, morbid bile in the blood, which upsets the action of the whole sytem.

There is indigestion, fullness, fermentation, flatulency and oppression in the stomach.

The tongue is coated, the head aches and there is loss of sleep, depression of spirits, and spells of dizziness and weakness.

The bowels are constipated and loose by turns, and griping pains are frequent.

The skin tells of the poisonous state of the blood, by pimples, blotches and liver spots.

In sympathy with the liver the kidneys become clogged and inactive, the urine highly coloured, and there are pains in the back and under the left shoulder blade.

Shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart and derangements of the menstrual functions are among the symptoms of liver complaint.

You should not expect to find all these symptoms in any one case, but if any of them are present, it is time to take prompt action to relieve the system of these morbid poisons.

The liver must have assistance.

The process of restoration will be hastened if the kidneys are also invigorated and strengthened.

Both these filtering systems are acted on directly and promptly by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It is through the liver and kidneys alone that the blood can be freed of all impurities and the morbid matter which collects there when the liver is deranged.

Many a suffering man, many a despondent woman, has been cured of the above distressing ailments by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the only remedy that has a combined action on both liver and kidneys.

The wisdom of Dr. Chase in preparing this wonderful remedy has been proven in scores of thousands of cases of complicated diseases of the liver and kidneys, which could be reached by no other remedy.

You do not require faith to be cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. The first dose will help you, and a few boxes at most will positively cure the most severe case of liver complaint or kidney disease. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or postpaid by Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 7

Time to Gather Seed.

Gather cabbage seed either a day or two after the pods have attained the red color, when on breaking they show dark red seed within. Lay the stalks on a tight floor, where sun and air have free access. Gather the onion seed whenever the stalk is dead just below the seed head or when a third of the seed receptacles have cracked open, it matters not how green the stalk may be. Spread the seed heads one deep on a lath frame in a dry, airy loft. Carrot seed cannot remain out longer than seed of any other vegetable without wasting. The waste begins on the outer row of each seed head. It rises up and drops off. As carrot seed requires two or three cuttings, it is well to allow as long an interval between each as is safe, with the object of threshing the last of the seed at the time of gathering, cutting the entire mass of shoots at the ground instead of each individual head.

A DARWINIAN THEORY.

Why the Drowning Man Always Throws Up His Hands.

The usual idea that a drowning man is stretching out his hands for aid or "catching at straws" is not altogether satisfactory. A possible explanation has lately been suggested, and this supposes that the drowning man, losing all his acquired habits and even some of those inherited from more recent parents, in his terror goes back to the instinctive movements of his arboreal ancestors, and the movements of the drowning man are those of a frightened ape seeking safety by clinging to the nearest tree.

The movement is certainly instinctive, for it can only be eliminated by considerable training and voluntary efforts, and yet it is fatal to the individual, for the specific gravity of no human body is so nearly that of water that the removal of the arms from the supporting fluid at once sinks the face beneath the surface. In cases of so called "cramps" the victim, often a highly trained swimmer, generally throws up the hands, but these cases are probably due to heart failure, and a similar movement takes place on land when the subject receives a fatal heart wound, and it is even a common expression of shock or astonishment. The ordinary movements of walking or running would keep a man's face above water, but these curious climbing movements of both hands and feet make floating impossible and are responsible for many deaths by drowning.

ONLY ONE ESCAPE.

A man may break away from prison but he cannot get away from the torture of rheumatism until he takes Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. It is the only reliable remedy on the market. Mr. Charles H. Clarke, Kingston, Ont., who for fifteen years in succession held the civic street watering contract could not put on his boots or walk for several weeks. He tried Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure, and three bottles, with the Climax Iron Tonic Pills, completely cured him. This great blood purifier is put up in bottles containing ten days treatment. Price 50 cents at all drug stores or The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

DRESSING BUTTER.

Value of Careful Preparation on the Market Price.

An expert Texas butter maker tells in Farm and Ranch how he holds the price on his butter. He says:

Working butter is an art not well understood by the many. Butter should be worked to get the milk and water out and to get the salt in and properly distributed. When these objects have been secured the working should cease. The working should always be by pressure and never by rubbing or scraping.

Print butter with the name of the maker or some trademark on it and wrap it up in parchment paper. We use "brick molds" with our name cut in them, and every pound we send out is an advertisement for the retailer to whom we sell.

Country butter, good, bad and indifferent, is only "country butter" and is at a discount in all our markets. There must be some distinguishing mark about buter to distinguish it from "country butter." Thousands of pounds of "country butter" are bought up by our country merchants. It is never offered to their customers at home, but shipped to the "process butter" factories to be converted into creamery (?) butter. Our first shipment of pure, rich Jersey butter to Galveston, dressed in country style, netted us about 4 cents. When we next sent, we dressed it in city style, and they sent it right up head, 3 to 5 cents ahead of Elgin, and there it stays.

There is not so much in the market as in the customer. Hotels have never bought our butter. They prefer oleo, because it is cheaper. Dress your butter so that it will be known on sight, send to some enterprising, honest retailer a sample shipment, and if your butter has the merit you will have the market.

Noted Prize Winning Jersey.

The Jersey cow Beresford Bride is one of the most noted show specimens of the breed in England, says the London Live Stock Journal, from which the accompanying cut is copied. She is the property of Mrs. Cyril E Greenall, Walton Hall, Warrington and was bred by Mr. Le Gallais, Grouville, Island of Jersey, having been got by Orme 4:200, dam Turtle Dove, by John Brown, 5608.

Vain Pursuit.

"Your husband, I believe, pursues literature for a living?"

"No. He merely pursues literature. He's never got close enough to it as yet to let anybody know what he is pursuing it for."

HEAD-ACHES and HAND SHAKES

Some imagine that because the head-aches or the hand shakes that the head or hand is the seat of the trouble. Ninety-nine times in a hundred you could trace them as unmistakable symptoms that the kidneys are in revolt.

South American Kidney Cure cleans the system of all impurities in nature's way—eradicates all the disturbing symptoms—quiets the head and steadies the hand—it puts the kidneys to rights. As a kidney cure it's next to infallible. Relieves in six hours. 78

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $180 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

A MATTER OF TEMPERAMENT

"The day is fine," quoth Mary Jane,
"Yet, lest it should come on to rain,
My waterproof and umbrell
And rubber shoes I'll take as well;
For, though these may be troublesome
In case the showers do not come,
Methinks 'twere better, after all,
To be prepared, lest worse befall."

"The day is fair," cried Jeanne Marie;
"The day is fair—ah, tres-joli!
My gayest hat, my prettiest dress,
I shall put on. What happiness!
But if it rains—well, what of that?
I'll get another dress and hat!
Ah, but I'll look so fresh [illegible]y
The sun will have to shine all day!"

FLAVOR IN FOODS.

This Quality Is as Much a Necessity as Is Nutriment.

Chemists tell us that cheese is one of the most nutritious and at the same time one of the cheapest of foods. Its nutritive value is greater than meat, while its cost is much less. But this chemical aspect of the matter does not express the real value of the cheese as a food. Cheese is eaten not because of its nutritive value as expressed by the amount of proteids, fats and carbohydrates that it contains, but always because of its flavor.

Now, physiologists do not find that flavor has any food value. They teach over and over again that our foodstuffs are proteids, fats and carbohydrates and that as food flavor plays absolutely no part. But at the same time they tell us that the body would be unable to live upon these foodstuffs were it not for the flavors. If one were compelled to eat pure food without flavors, like the white of an egg, it is doubtful whether one could for a week at a time consume a sufficiency of food to supply his bodily needs. Flavor is as necessary as nutriment. It gives a zest to the food and thus enables us to consume it properly, and, secondly, it stimulates the glands to secrete, so that the foods may be satisfactorily digested and assimilated.

The whole art of cooking, the great development of flavoring products, the high prices paid for special foods like lobsters and oysters—these and numerous other factors connected with food supply and production are based solely upon this demand for flavor. Flavor is a necessity, but it is not particularly important what the flavor may be. This is shown by the fact that different peoples have such different tastes in this respect. The garlic of the Italian and the red pepper of the Mexican serve the same purpose as the vanilla which we put in our ice cream, and all play the part of giving a relish to the food and stimulating the digestive organs to proper activity.—Professor H. W. Corn in Popular Science Monthly.

The Humming Bird's Flight.

The flight of the little humming bird is more remarkable than that of the eagle. We can understand the flapping of the eagle's immense wing supporting a comparatively light body. But our little bird has a plump body. His wings are not wide, but long, so he must move them rapidly to sustain his weight, and this he can do to perfection. The vibrations of his wings are so rapid as to make them almost invisible. He can use them to sustain himself in midair, with his body as motionless as if perched on a twig. In this way he can sip the nectar of the delicate, fine stemmed flowers without alighting for a moment. He never alights while so engaged. He moves from flower to flower with a graceful and rapid movement, sometimes chasing away a bee or humming bird moth, of which he is very jealous. Nor is he much more favorably impressed with any small birds that seem in his way. He knows his power of flight, and he has no fear of any other bird.

Lemurs For the Zoo.

The national zoo has just received through an animal dealer in Philadelphia a magnificent pair of the large black and white lemurs indigenous to the island of Madagascar. This makes the fourth pair of these animals brought to this country, and, in addition to being highly attractive by reason of their coat of long jet black and snow white hair and their abnormally large and luminous eyes, they are of very great interest from the viewpoint of science and evolution.

The lemur stands in the same relation to apes and monkeys as they in turn stand to the human race, only in the case of the lemurs and apes the "missing link" connecting the two genera is in real and actual existence, being realized in the "aye-aye," a peculiar animal, also of Madagascar, that is as much lemur as it is simian.

The Retort Courteous.

A story oft told is that of Lord ——, who when a young man was opposing Mr. Sugden, subsequently lord chancellor of England, in a parliamentary contest. "He's the son of a country barber," said the noble lord.

Replying afterward, Mr. Sugden said: "His lordship has told you that I am nothing but the son of a country barber, but he has not told you all, for I have been a barber myself and worked in my father's shop, and all I wish to say about that is that had his lordship been born the son of a country barber he would have been a barber still. That, to my mind, is quite clear."

He Had Great Expectations.

"How do you account for the fact that Miss Bullion, the wealthiest heiress of the season, is going to marry Nodo, who hasn't a cent to his name?"

"Oh, but he has great expectations."

"He has? What are they?"

"He is going to marry Miss Bullion."

"A New Woman."

Disease makes many a woman prematurely old. Dark-rimmed eyes, hollow cheeks and wasted form are accompanied by listlessness and loss of ambition. Home duties are a weariness, and social pleasures have no attraction.

One of the commonest expressions of women cured by Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription is this: "It has made a new woman of me." There's a world of meaning in the words. It means the sparkle brought back to the eyes; the complexion tinted with the rosy hue of healthy blood; the form rounded out anew in graceful curves; the whole body radiant with health.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It dries debilitating drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes new women of those prematurely aged by disease.

"Dr. Pierce's medicines are the best I have ever used," writes Mrs. C. Nelson, of Chemawa, Marion Co., Oregon. "My health was badly run down when I consulted him by letter. My limbs were cold and my head hurt me continually. I was so nervous that the least thing would startle me almost into convulsions. I had palpitation of the heart so bad that I could scarcely walk sometimes. I felt utterly discouraged, but two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery' made a new woman out of me."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for it in cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

GRAIN FOR THE COWS.

A Profitable Feeding System Which Is Gaining in Favor.

The time will soon come when many a dairyman will be asking himself whether it will pay to feed grain to his cows while they are in the pasture. Some will not be worried about the question at all, having already decided that it is folly to give cows grain when they have grass, and being very sure that grandfather never thought of such a thing. In fact, they are a little doubtful whether it pays to feed grain in winter, and they usually do not give milk more than seven months in the year, anyway. During these seven months they are mostly on grass till they begin to dry up, and after that, of course, it will not pay to feed out good grain. These are the men who say farming does not pay, and that there is no profit in keeping cows, which is very likely to be true, as these cows seldom yield more than 2,000 pounds a year. There is another class who will not be a moment in doubt about it. They will feed grain both summer and winter, excepting during about a month when the cows go dry before calving, and possibly will give a little bran each day then. During the eleven that they are in milk they expect each cow to produce at least 6,000 pounds of milk, which will be rich in butter fat, for a fat cow gives fat milk more surely than she has fat calves. They will get more income from one cow than the other class do from three, excepting possibly the manure from one well-fed cow is worth about as much as that from three that are poorly fed. It will be less work to handle it, even as it is less work to take care of one cow than three. Those who are in doubt about grain feeding have only to decide which class they prefer to belong to. For ourselves have no doubt. We knew that who we fed grain to them every day the year, if we do not get more milk from each cow in June than those who trusted to pasture alone we got more in the fall, and our cows were in milk three or four months longer and smooth, and when we wanted to fatten one that had grown old we could do it with but a little increase in the grain feed, as she began to dry off, and the beef was better than that of a cow that had been kept in poorer condition, having the fat better mixed with the lean meat.—Cultivator.

How Russia Prevents Riots.

Riots and disturbances are practically unknown in all the vast empire of the czar, stretching, as it does, in an unbroken line from the Baltic to the Pacific. The reason for this is the wise precautions taken to guard against disaffections arising from the population fraternizing with the military. The government distributes the troops in such a way that they have nothing in common with the population. Tartars are sent to districts where there are no Tartar compatriots, the Poles and Little Russians go to St. Petersburg, the Caspian regiments to Kronstadt—thousands of miles from home—and the purely Russian troops are stationed in Poland, Caucasia, Finland or any other district that might possibly cause the government trouble.

The Ant's Brain.

The brain of the ant has been the interesting subject of recent study by Professor Forel, the Swiss zoologist. This organ is well developed in the workers, smaller in the females and merely rudimentary in the males. The insects have the senses of sight, smell, touch and taste, hearing being doubtful. The ants are endowed with memory and reasoning powers, and in their warfare it is easy to see their courage, their despair, their ardor for the fray and their personal hatreds.

DAINTY TOUCHES.

Little Things Which Are Being Adopted by Smart Women.

Negligees of alternate stripe of ribbon and lace are all the vogue, and the latest are of shaded and Persian ribbon. A very stunning house gown can be made of alternate stripe of white panne and black panne dotted in white. The ruffle down the front and around the bottom, together with the short bolero and the long scarf ends, is made of sky blue liberty satin brocaded with a pattern of pink marshmallow flowers.

Mull scarfs in Persian patterns are very serviceable to throw over one's shoulders when wearing a decollete evening gown. Those of white mull or mousseline are appliqued, hand painted and embroidered in heavy silks. They also make delightful fichus and boleros to wear with thin evening gowns.

A remarkably dainty gown for a young girl is the subject of today's illustration. It is of pink liberty silk over taffeta of the same shade. The decolletage is defined by a wide band of yellow mechlin lace, with another slightly narrower band following the same outline five inches lower down on the waist. The interval between these two strips of lace is filled in with perpendicular bands of narrow velvet ribbon. The lower part of the blouse waist is full and is held in by a crushed belt of pink panne. The skirt fits plainly around the hips. It is trimmed with two full accordion plaited ruffles headed by a diamond shaped pattern composed of bands of the yellow lace filled in by strips of the black velvet ribbon. Around the neck there are a full gathered stock and a fluffy rosette of pink tulle.

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355.92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Mrs. James Kendry Speaks in Lakefield in the Interests of the Above Organization.

Mrs. Kendry, of Peterborough, District Organizer of the Women's Missionary Society, addressed the congregation of the Methodist church in the interests of the Lakefield Auxiliary of the W.M.S. on Sunday evening Nov. 3. A large audience was present on the occasion, and Mrs. Kendry gave a most excellent and forcible address. In the course of her remarks she stated that the Society had raised last year about $44,000 for missionary purposes. Missionaries are at present labouring in Japan, China, and among the Northwest Indians of Canada. Although the Society has been in existence for only twenty years, it has raised and expended in that short time for missionary purposes no less than $550,000. It is steadily growing in numbers and in influence, last year in particular showing wonderful increase in these respects and in the financial income of the Society. It is gratifying to know that the local Auxiliary has done nobly for the cause, having last year raised $44, besides sending a large amount of clothing to the poorer Canadian missions.—Lakefield News.

A CORPORATION COAL YARD.

Ottawa Proposes Establishing one in That City.

The Finance Committee of the Ottawa city council has decided to recommend to council that special legislation be applied for by the city of Ottawa at the next session of the Ontario Legislature to enable the corporation to establish a municipal coal yard. The scheme is one which was suggested by Mayor Morris some months ago to enable the municipalities to overcome the effects of the alleged combine in coal. The matter was brought up at the meeting last night in the shape of a request from the Allied Trade and Labour Association that a plebiscite be submitted to the electors at the January elections on the question "Are you in favour of the establishment of a municipal coal yard in Ottawa?" The members of the committee agreed that there was no necessity of going to the expense of having a plebiscite voted upon, as the electors would declare themselves in favour of the proposition.

QUIET BIRTHDAY.

No Official Observance of the Event in London.

London, Nov. 11.—The King spent his birthday at Sandringham with the Queen, the Prince and the Princess of Wales and the rest of the royal family. There has been no official observance of the day, with the exception of the customary salutes at Windsor, and at the naval and military headquarters, and the ringing of church bells.

The Lord Mayor's Show.

London, Nov. 11.—The first Lord Mayor's show of the present century and of the reign of King Edward took place on Saturday and was more than usually interesting with a number of new features. Special attention was paid to the colonies, which were represented by attractive cars.

Met in Honor of the King.

New York, Nov. 11.—To celebrate the birthday of King Edward VII., members of the various British societies in this city gathered to a banquet at Delmonico's Saturday night. The affair was held under the auspices of the British Schools and Universities Society. The guests numbered 90. It was a genuine Anglo-Saxon love feast.

Miss Stone's Captors.

Sofia, Nov. 11.—Information has been received here from Doubnitz that the band of brigands holding Miss Ellen M. Stone, the American missionary, called about a fortnight ago at the village of Smetchove, and subsequently proceeded to the monastery of Rilo, but the movements of the troops compelled the brigands to flee toward the frontier, where they are now hiding. It is also asserted that the brigands have recently been treating Miss Stone with more severity, in order to exercise pressure and to compel a more ready acceptance of their conditions.

On Magnetic Healing.

Much is spoken and written during these times about this mysterious method of treating disease. The most remarkable cases of magnetic healing which have come under the notice of the writer have been those in which Dr. Chase's Ointment was used. This preparation seems to have magical powers in stopping the dreadful itching, burning sensations of Salt Rheum and Eczema, and when used regularly makes the cure permanent and thorough.

Why Flowers Bloom and Birds Sing.

The old comfortable belief of our forefathers that the flowers and fruits and all the good things of the earth were created for their benefit has been completely shattered by science. The shining gold of April celandine, the scent of white violets, are not for us at all, says science, not even for the insects that come to them for honey, but just for the sake of the flowers themselves, which must get cross fertilised or die out. Self, self only, is the bedrock of it all. So the violets are not fragrant for us, and the thrush was not made to sing on our account, but to charm his mate, and the stars do not shine so as to light our way through the wood and across the wild on moonless nights.

Fortunately this discovery need not take away our appetite for the feast which is spread out. We need have no more compunction in coming to it uninvited than has the bee or the moth in sipping the nectar of the blossom. It may even be that we, like they, do render unconsciously some return for benefits received.—Saturday Review.

His Line.

Bishop Clarkson of Nebraska, known and well beloved throughout the west was accustomed to carry his fitments in an ordinary traveling case.

On one of his journeyings he was approached by a traveling man, who, mistaking him for a fellow drummer, asked, "What do you carry?"

To which the dear man replied, with indescribable good fellowship, "Lawn!"—Exchange.

FRANCE AND TURKEY

Former's Claims Settled and Caillard Ordered to Withdraw.

MINISTER CONSTANS' RETURN.

The Dispute Is Now at an End With the Honors and Added Prestige to France—Future Establishment of Schools and Religious Buildings Provided for, But Subject to the Porte's Objections.

Paris, Nov. 11.—The French Foreign Office has announced that the Sultan has signed the irade for the execution of his engagements with the French Government, and that the Franco-Turkish dispute is now at an end.

Tewfik Pacha, Ottoman Minister of Foreign Affairs, wrote a letter to M. Bapst, Councillor of the French Embassy in Constantinople, notifying him of the singing of the irade, which, while settling the original French demands, accepts the fresh demands, with an additional clause, by which the Sultan pledges himself "to consider as authorized in full right the foundations, extensions, constructions and repairs of the schools and religious hospital establishments which France may desire to carry out if the Porte is advised of her intentions and makes no objections within five months."

Reached Full Satisfaction.

France has thus reached full satisfaction, and M. Delcasse, on the receipt of M. Bapst's despatch yesterday morning, telegraphed him to inform Tewfik Pacha that diplomatic relations had been resumed and that M. Bapst would consider himself as regularly charged with the affairs of the embassy.

Instructions were also sent to Admiral Caillard at Mitylene to re-embark the marines, and to return to Greek waters, which is understood to mean the vicinage of the Island of Syra. Admiral Caillard will remain in the Levant some time longer.

M. Constans, the French Ambassador, will return to Constantinople very shortly.

The additional clause was conceded at the request of France in order to prevent future difficulties such as the Turkish provincial authorities have often raised either on their own initiative or in consequence of instigation by the Porte.

Newspapers Happy.

The Temps, which described the result as "A brilliant victory for French diplomacy," says the great merit of the government was in being able to restrict its action. Very serious difficulties might have arisen had France departed from her reserve.

"We hope the Sultan will now understand his duties toward the civilized powers and towards his own subjects, unto whom he has taken solemn engagements which he has always disregarded. Otherwise Europe, which, thanks to the energetic action of France, is now able to reassume at Constantinople the authority she lost seven years ago, will applaud the initiative which the signatory powers of the Berlin treaty are reported to be about to take to extort from the Sultan the execution of clauses too long fallen into disuse."

France Gains Prestige.

London, Nov. 11.—The fog has lifted from continental affairs. Mitylene is no longer the centre of disturbance, since the Sultan has been coerced, more rapidly than had been considered likely, by a naval demonstration. Now that the affair is virtually ended, the English press perceives the great gain in prestige made by the French Government in the vigorous management of diplomacy and naval armaments, and the importance of the moral support derived from the Dual Alliance. France has reasserted a protectorate over the Sultan's Roman Catholic subjects and strengthened her position materially in the near east. This is the English view, frankly expressed, and the German Emporer is credited with sagacity in remaining in the background and not offering to interfere.

David Hawes Found Guilty.

Toronto, Nov. 11.—David Hawes, the colored porter of Ottawa, was found guilty in the Criminal Assizes on Saturday evening of a serious charge, preferred by Louisa Lebar, 17 years of age.

The girl left Winnipeg on March 20 last, to visit her sister, Mrs. Henrietta Hamilton of Balsam, near Whitby. Attached to the train on which she came east was the Government dining and sleeping car, in charge of Hawes. The two became acquainted on the journey, and while Miss Lebar was waiting at the Union Station here for the train for Balsam, Hawes enticed her into the private car and committed the crime charged against him. The prisoner will be sentenced to-day.

The Plague at Hull.

Hull, Nov. 11.—There has been a suspicious death on board a steamship here. Indications seem to show that it was a case of bubonic plague.

Glasgow, Nov. 11.—The period of incubation since the last case of plague expired yesterday without any fresh cases being reported. The authorities consider that the disease has been stamped out. The crusade against rats continues.

Why Rheumatism is Like Catarrh.

Both are inflammations; the former of the muscle tissues, the latter of the mucous membrane. The only way to cure either is by a course of blood purifying and blood enriching treatment. Merrill's System Tonic is the most thorough blood purifier and at the same time the most rapid blood making remedy known. 50 pleasant-to-take doses for 50 cents. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

MILK IN LEIPSIC.

The Methods Used In That City to Protect Its Purity.

"I was talking to a man from Leipsic recently about the system of milk inspection in that city," said a well known New Orleans specialist, "and I am convinced that they have the best system in the world, and in my judgment American cities would do well to copy it. They unquestionably succeed in getting pure milk, and there does not seem to be much chance for spreading disease in this way.

"In Leipsic they are very careful. Stables must be kept clean. The person who keeps cows must be experienced in the business. They are particularly careful about the cows that give milk used in feeding children. In order that no mistake be made the rules governing the dairy business require the cows to be branded. The rules provide for an injection of tuberculosis lymph, and the cows must be healthy and must show no reaction after the injection. This injection takes place before the cow is placed in the stable. If a cow should happen to get sick, the fact must be immediately reported, and the veterinary surgeon who has charge of this matter reports the case to the council. The sick cow is generally isolated. This matter, however, is discretionary with the surgeon who superintends the business. The veterinary surgeon has such complete supervision of these matters that he can even pass on the food given to the cows and can reject any part or all of it if he pleases.

"But there is another point. The person who does the milking must furnish a physician's certificate to the effect that he or she is free from infectious or nauseous disease, and tuberculosis is especially mentioned in the rule. The milk is strained and centrifugally purified and must be thoroughly cooled before it is served to the customers. If the milk is sold in bottles, patent stoppers are used. All these requirements have more particular reference to the milk furnished babies. There is one thing probably more important than any other in this connection, and that is in the matter of food. Cows which give the milk used in nourishing babies are given only dry food, such as hay and meal, and they are never allowed to graze on pastures. They must be kept in the stables, and in this way the healthiest and purest milk possible is served to the infants of the country."

FOUND DEAD DOWN A WELL

A Man Whose Identity is Still in Doubt.

AN OTONABEE MYSTERY.

Is it "Silent John" Hooper or is it an Unknown Tramp?—The Body Badly Decomposed.

The corpse of a horribly decomposed man lies in the undertaking establishment of Mr. D. Belleghem, Hunter street, and the identify of the same has been in doubt, although it is now believed that the name of the unfortunate individual has been learned. Although there is some diversity of opinion as to who the dead man is, it is pretty certain that the body is that of John Hooper, who has lived in Otonabee in the vicinity of Mr. Jas. Hayes' farm, about four miles from town.

The circumstances of the finding of the body are pretty much as follows: Mr. Charles Long, a farmer who lives in Otonabee, has rented from Mr. John Crowley, a hundred acre farm, situated on lot 14, in the 10th concession of Otonabee. There is on the premises a house, which has been unoccupied for some years, and some barns, which are used only for the purpose of storing some grain, hay, etc. There is also on the premises, and near the barn, a well about 14 feet in depth, which is used occasionally for various purposes. Yesterday at noon Messrs. Alexander and Bertram Long, the two sons of Mr. Charles Long, the tenant of the Crowley Farm, had occasion to go to the well, and upon upon looking down into it they were horrified to find the body of a man lying therein. They at once notified their father, who came to town for the purpose of letting the authorities know of their discovery. Accordingly High Constable Cochrane and an undertaker started out to the scene of the mystery, and had the body at once removed from the well, in which it lay in several feet of water. It was brought to town, and is now in the undertaking establishment for the purpose of identification. Coroner Grey was notified but after consulting with County Crown Attorney Wood, they decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

The man was about six feet in height, very poorly clad, and wore a black beard. He had on no coat, but a coat belonging to some one was a week or two ago found in the barn, and it is now supposed that the garment belonged to the dead man, and also gives some foundation for the further belief that the body has been in the well for some time.

Mr. David Crowley, who lives on the adjoining farm to that on which the man was found, came to town this morning and had a look at the body. It being in a badly decomposed state, it was difficult for him to say at once whether or not he knew the dead man. However, he is now firmly of the opinion that the body is that of an old gentleman who was known in the neighborhood as "Silent" John Hooper. The only apparent difference in the appearance would be that "Silent" John's beard may not have been so dark. There can be little doubt that this is the man though, for in every other way he answers to the description of "Silent" John. Mr. Crowley says that "Silent" John Hooper was a rather prominent character in the community, and the last heard of him he was living at Mr. James Hayes. He was a simple sort of individual, about 60 years of age, and lived around amongst the people of that neighborhood. He very seldom spoke to anyone, which was how he became to be called "Silent" John. He preferred sleeping and eating in a barn to living in a house with other people, and was in every way a weak-minded though innocent creature. Some years ago he served a term in the Central Prison as a vagrant, but he has been in the neighborhood for about ten years. He has no relatives that anyone here knows of, and so no one has claimed the remains, nor is anyone likely to do so.

ANOTHER STORY.

Mr. Timothy Coughlin, of Ashburnham, who, until Saturday night had worked for Mr. John Crowley, the owner of the farm on which the man was found, was in town this morning. He was on his way to the North Shore lumber camps. He had a look at the body and recognizes it as the man whom he saw hanging around the barn about one month ago.

Mr. Coughlin does not know "Silent John," but from what he has heard he does not think that he is the man. This man, in Mr. Coughlin's opinion, is a stranger to the Crowley neighbourhood, for when he asked the man whom he saw at the barn about a month ago, as before stated, and whom he now recognizes, if he lived around that neighbourhood, the man replied that he did not. The man asked if the water in the well was fit to drink, and Mr. Crowley replied that it was. The man was eating oats, and was dressed in rags. Mr. Coughlin told his employer about seeing the man, and next day when they went to see him again he had disappeared. This was about a month ago, so that he may have been in the well ever since.

The fact that the surface of the well was covered up, leads some to believe that there was foul play, but the additional fact that the boards on the top of the well were loose in order that water might be drawn up with which to prime the pump, leads many to suppose that he fell into the well while thus engaged. Then the boards might easily have been replaced by some person since that time, for Mr. Coughlin says that he himself has been at the well since that time.

Mr. John Clancy, the proprietor of the Clancy House, says that he has known "Silent John" for years, and says that he believes the dead man to be him.

A farmer named Lynch, who resides in the vicinity of the Crowley Farm, was in town this morning, and he has doubts as to whether or not the body is John Hooper. He thinks it is that of a tramp.

Coroner Grey has issued the necessary certificate for burial, and the body will be interred to-day.

For whooping cough and croup, Vapo-Cresolene is a simple and perfect remedy.

YESTERDAY'S LECTURE.

Mr. Beal Speaks to a Meeting of the W.C.T.U.—Anti-Cigarette Movement.

There was a fair attendance at the meeting of the W.C.T.U., which was held in the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon, and which was addressed by Mr. A. W. Beal, M.A., of Stratford.

Mr. Beal is organizer for the province of the White Cross Department of the temperance movement, and his address yesterday was in the form of a synopsis of what has been done during the year for the cause of temperance, and a brief account of the Provincial Convention.

The chair was occupied by Mrs. Jas. Kendry, president of the local W.C.T.U., who introduced the speaker to the meeting.

Mr. Beal's address was exceedingly interesting and was listened to very attentively throughout. He made an earnest plea for a forward movement in the cause of temperance, and showed the progress that had been made in recent years. Concerning the W.C.T.U., he said that there were in all 27 departments, among which was the Missionary Department, which was doing excellent work in New Ontario and Algoma; and the White Cross Department, of which he himself is at the head. Miss Wiggins, of Toronto, is at the head of the Anti-Cigarette Department, and literature is being scattered broadcast on this subject, preparatory to making a big crusade against the cigarette habit amongst the boys.

Mr. Beal also spoke of the effort that is being made to extend the franchise to women on church boards and ultimately to women in political affairs. His remarks to mothers were also exceedingly interesting as well as those concerning the Petition and Legislation Department. Mr. Beal also spoke at some length on the matter of the violation of the present Liquor License Act, and he urged very strongly that every effort should be put forth to make the liquor sellers keep strictly within the limit of the law. Temperance workers should complain every opportunity that is afforded.

ROYAL CHORUS.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir,—I take this opportunity of thanking the friends who so kindly donated the many things that were so helpful to the Royal Chorus in putting on the late concert, and I have most heartily to thank those who night after night worked so hard to get the programme to such a state of perfection. I should be much pleased if something could be done to render it possible to continue the good work so auspiciously begun.

In reply to the many suggestions made through the press and to me personally that the organization of the Royal Chorus be extended and merged into a permanent musical society, I wish to point out a few of the obstacles in the way of such an undertaking as organizing and instructing a society of one hundred and fifty members.

Granted that we have the membership, it is the fact that at least one hundred dollars would have to be spent for music alone, before commencing practice. Of course there are plenty of cheap compositions but to get anything of the merit of the standard works of the composers that would meet the ambition to excel that should be the aim of such a society, would mean an expense the society might not willingly undertake.

The expense incurred to provide a room suitable for rehearsals, for use of pianos, services of accompanists and conductor would be considerable. Of course all these obstacles may cease to be if money be provided, but it is well to remember that the calls now made on those who would make up the membership are already very considerable in connection with the objects of the several churches and societies from the ranks of which the membership would undoubtedly come.

Then, again, there is the incessant call on the time and attention of singers owing to choir practices, meeting of societies, etc., and many would hesitate to engage to give another night weekly to practice.

The main obstacle, however, is the expense. If this objection can be overcome and the funds provided, there is very little doubt that a permanent musical society may be organized and carried on, for no town or city can boast of a better quality of talent than Peterborough.

Yours respectively,
G. W. MULLIGAN.

"BUILD UP ONTARIO"

Policy Enunciated by Hon. Mr. Ross, Premier of the Province.

DELIVERS A STRONG SPEECH.

Ross Liberal Club Presents Leader With Portrait—In Reply the Premier Challenges Criticism of Scrap-Iron Legislation and Discusses the Mabee Pamphlet—An Eloquent Peroration.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—"Build up Ontario!" In these words the Premier of the Province, addressing a great gathering of the members of the Ross Liberal Club and their friends in St. George's Hall last night, summed up the policy of his Government. A speech as forcible, as eloquent and as convincing as the leader of the Government has ever delivered received its keynote from these words, with which he began his splendid peroration, "Build up Ontario!"

The occasion of the address of the Premier was most auspicious for such a deliverance from him. As Honorary President of the Ross Club he was presented with a portrait in oils of himself, the gift bringing with it not only the good wishes of the members of the club, but also those of hundreds of his friends throughout the city and the Province.

Criticism Challenged.

The Premier, in glowing sentences, described the conquest by Sir Oliver Mowat of new Ontario for the Province, of the efforts of his own Government and of those which had preceded it to people this new territory, and of the success that had met their efforts. He dwelt on the Provincial legislation affecting corporations, and challenged a refutation of the statement that taxation upon corporations had not been enormously increased. In reference to the "scrap-iron" amendment, he declared that inasmuch as the three judges had declared that the clause did not carry out the intentions of those who placed it on the statute books, the Government would assist the City of Toronto in obtaining a final decision upon its meaning from the highest court. The clause, he pointed out, was adopted by the Government after it had received the approval of representatives of the different municipalities of the Province, and the exact prototype of it had been introduced in the Legislature by a Conservative member. He promised that if the legislation was ineffective he would remove the sources of the technical objections that had been raised against it.

In regard to the Mabee pamphlet the Premier pointed out that the case of the Government was too strong and its arguments too powerful, too conclusive, to require any publication bearing the shadow of misrepresentation. He traced the connection of the Chairman of the Conservative party's Executive Committee with the first Mabee pamphlet, which was at one time commended to the attention of rural Conservative voters, and declaimed all connection with the present publication.

"Build Up Ontario."

"The policy of the Liberal party is a progressive policy," the Premier went on, in his concluding peroration. "The watchword of the election is 'Build up Ontario.' (Cheers.) Build it up in every particular. Don't let us waste time on Mabee pamphlets. Don't let us waste time in even repelling the personal attacks of our opponents. As a rule on the platform I deal very lightly with my opponents, unless I have them face to face. That is my policy. It is not a question as to whether this little bill or that was advanced by the Conservative or by the Liberal party, but the question is: Is the Liberal party doing its duty to the Province of Ontario? It is not the question if here and there a Liberal forgets his duty at election times. Conservatives have forgotten their duty at election times. Two blacks do not make a white. If we keep the laws of this Province abreast of the interests and needs of the Province, our municipal law, our assessment law, our laws regarding labor, factories, education, agriculture, the future development of the Province, and if we have been doing this for thirty years, is not that a guarantee that, as in the past we have discharged our responsibilities, we will do so for all time to come? (Loud applause.)

"We do not want the people of Ontario to get away from that. I have said elsewhere, and I repeat it here, there is not a man in the Province who, after thirty years, can put his hand on any substantial grievance that he suffers under the legislation of the Government. It is thought, because there may be an occasional cloud in the sky, that the sky is a vault of brass above us. The true man is the one who looks at the whole periphery, the whole circumference and length and breadth and height and depth of a great policy, and does not wait to blister his fingers because there is some little thing wrong, but who asks if in the main they are helping the country and the people in the country. Let me say again to the Liberals, and particularly to the Liberals of this club, that the Liberal party of Ontario have a broad policy.

"'Be the Ministers of England Tory or Whig,
The men who govern England must be big.'

The Large View Needed.

"Be the party in power what it may in the Province of Ontario, it will fail in its duty if it does not take a large view of politics in this country. I want to feel that in my efforts to build up Ontario I am part and parcel of that great spirit which is building up Canada and the empire, for we are one and inseparable, as Webster has said, now and forever. (Cheers.) We must hang together, and I want to infuse into the Liberal party, if it needs it — and I do not think it does — that spirit of taking a large view, for instance, in regard to the settlement of the country. The other day I had a long interview with Mr. Sifton in regard to the settlement of new Ontario, from which I hope good results will come, and with Mr. Fisher, with a view to opening trade and a market for Canada in the old country. Wherever there is work to do for Canada I am prepared to do it, whether developing a market at home or abroad." (Loud cheers.)

An Eloquent Conclusion.

In concluding Mr. Ross quoted from Principal Tulloch: "Thought must advance, and none need try to check it. But while we move forward let us revere the past, and as we enter within the gates of a new era let us look back with admiration, and so far as we can with love, if not regret, to the great figures that stand at the illuminated portals of the old."

"We are entering," said the Premier, "upon a new era of prosperity in this Dominion. The clouds are rising, the sky is brighter than ever. Our relations with the Imperial Government are better than ever before. We hold a stronger place on this continent, our pulses beat stronger, because of the spirit of the Liberal party. But while we are entering upon this new era, let us remember the men who in the trenches laid the foundation of our present prosperity, whether in business, in politics or in education, and, trusting to that noble spirit by which they were animated, let us with the same fidelity to truth and the same zeal for our country's good, with patriotism as pure as theirs, let us put our hands to the task of statesmanship, of nation-building, our first duty being to our Province, our second duty to the Dominion, and our last and supreme duty to the great empire of which we form a part." (Loud and long continued cheers.)

Ministers in Dundas.

Dundas, Nov. 12.—A large gathering greeted the Hon. Richard Harcourt and the Hon. Mr. Latchford in the Town Hall last night. Dr. Smith occupied the chair, and after a few introductory remarks, called on Mr. R. A. Thompson, the Liberal candidate for North Wentworth, for a speech. Mr. Thompson was well received. Mr. Harcourt then delivered a speech, taking up one and a half hours on educational and financial topics. At 10.30 Mr. Latchford began a short address, and the meeting broke up with cheers for the King, Premier Ross and the candidate.

SIX MILLIONS STORED.

Some Facts Concerning the Movement of Grain in Manitoba.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 12.—The C.P.R. weekly report shows that the quantity of wheat in store west of Winnipeg was on Saturday last 6,589,000 bushels. The quantity shipped east during the week was about two millions. On Saturday 418,000 bushels were marketed, and 350 cars were loaded the same day. The number of cars to leave Winnipeg for the east on Saturday was 325, and on Sunday 435.

The receipts at Fort William for the week ending Nov. 11 were 1,121,635 bushels, the shipments 1,321,512 bushels, and the quantity in store on Saturday was 1,433,674 bushels. For the corresponding week in 1900, the figures were: Receipts, 331,666 bushels; shipments, 354,650 bushels, and in store, 1,078,686 bushels.

The Right Thing.

A New Catarrh Cure, Which is Rapidly Coming to the Front.

For several years, Eucalyptol Guaiacol and Hydrastin have been recognized as standard remedies for catarrhal troubles, but they have always been given separately, and only very recently an ingenious chemist succeeded in combining them, together with other antiseptics, into a pleasant, effective tablet.

Druggists sell the remedy under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and it has met with remarkable success in the cure of nasal catarrh, bronchial and throat catarrh, and in catarrh of the stomach.

Mr. F. N. Benton, whose address is care of Clark House, Troy, N. Y., says, "When I run up against anything that is good I like to tell the people of it. I have been troubled with catarrh more or less for some time. Last winter more than ever. Tried several so-called cures, but did not get any benefit from them. About six weeks ago I bought a 50c box of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and am glad to say that they have done wonders for me, and I do not hesitate to let all my friends know that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are the right thing."

Mr. Geo. J. Casanova, of Hotel Griffon, West 9th street, New York City, writes; "I have commenced using Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and already they have given me better results than any catarrh cure I have ever tried."

A leading physician of Pittsburgh advises the use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets in preference to any other treatment for catarrh of the head, throat or stomach.

He claims they are far superior to inhalers, salves, lotions or powder, and are much more convenient and pleasant to take and are so harmless that little children take them with benefit, as they contain no opiate, cocaine or any poisonous drugs.

All druggists sell Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at 50c for full size package, and they are probably the safest and most reliable cure for any form of catarrh.

ELECTION IN WEST HURON.

The Polling Will Take Place There on December 4.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—Premier Ross said yesterday morning that it was the intention to hold the West Huron bye-election on December 4th, and the nominations a week earlier, on the 27th of this month, which is two weeks from Wednesday. The contest will be between Mr. Garrow and Mr. Beck, the candidates of the last election.

Trade With Trinidad.

Ottawa, Nov. 12.— A. E. Tripp, Government agent at Trinidad, reports to the Department of Trade and Commerce that trade between that island and Canada is looking up. For the first quarter of the present fiscal year, there was an increase in all the goods imported from Canada, as compared with the same time last year. The report says there is an opening for printing paper, but the full value of paper imported into the island for the last year was £8,000, or $40,000.

Passenger on a Quebec Schooner Killed by Being Struck by One of the Sails—Overcome by Fire Damp—An Unknown Schooner Sunk—Man Beaten to Death by a Waiter.

New York, Nov. 12.—Richmond Mayo-Smith, a professor of political economy at Columbia University, was killed last night by falling from a window in his study, on the fourth floor of his residence, to the stone flagging.

Under 1,000 Tons of Clay.

Troy, N.Y., Nov. 12.—A big landslide at Mechanicville yesterday afternoon caused the death of three Italian laborers, who were buried under about 1,000 tons of clay. One body has been recovered. Four other workmen escaped.

Sails Killed Him.

Port Neuf Light, Saguenay County, Que., Nov. 12.—Yesterday, while coming down as a passenger on the schooner St. Pierre, bound from Quebec to this port, a man named Pitre Tremblay was struck by one of the sails, and died shortly after being landed at Mille Vaches, four miles from his residence.

Overcome by Fire Damp.

Steubenville, Ohio, Nov. 12.—Three lives were lost at the Lapelle Iron Works Mine yesterday. The mines, after being flooded for years, were being re-opened. Just as Jas. Robertson, Edward Simpson and William Vandine were let down the shaft yesterday there was an explosion of gas or fire damp. When the flash came up the shaft the engineer raised the cage through the flames, and in it were the bodies of Robertson and Simpson. An effort is being made to recover the body of Vandine.

Burned to Death.

Winnipeg, Nov. 12.—Bertie Conn, aged 4, was burned to death at Douglas, his clothes catching fire while playing with matches.

Instantly Killed.

Blythe, Ont., Nov. 12.—Mr. Dennison, employe in the Electric Light Works at Auburn, was killed instantly last night. It is not known definitely how it happened, but is supposed he took hold of the brass switch on the switch handle of the switch board by mistake.

Down a Mine to Death.

Hassey, Nov. 12.—About 11 o'clock yesterday morning an accident occurred at the copper mine located about four miles from here by which Antoine Mousseau lost his life. He and two other employes attempted to ascend the shaft in the bucket, and through some mishap Mousseau fell out and tumbled to the bottom. The other two men barely escaped the same fate. It is strictly against the rule of the company to use the bucket for that purpose.

Unknown Schooner Sunk.

Chatham, Mass., Nov. 12.—In the heavy gale which had been sweeping over the cape since early yesterday, an unknown three-masted schooner sank off here during the night. It is thought the vessel was coal laden and sprung a leak while at anchor. The Monomoy Life Saving Station has gone to the wreck to look for traces of the crew.

All for Eight Cents.

New York, Nov. 12.—Because he did not have the money — 8 cents—to pay for a meal he had eaten, Michael Vizkez, a driver, was beaten on the head with a baseball bat early yesterday morning, in a restaurant at No. 514 West Broadway, and lies in a critical condition at St. Vincent's Hospital. His assailant, Patrick Harley, a waiter, is under arrest.

Cattle Poisoning Case.

Toronto, Nov. 9.—Inspector John Murray of the Provincial Detective Force returned yesterday from investigating a cattle-poisoning case in the Township of Oakley, Muskoka. Half a dozen valuable animals belonging to Mr. James Johnston, Reeve of the Township, died mysteriously. Inspector Murray found evidence that they had been poisoned with paris green. After pursuing the enquiry as far as possible, he could not find sufficient evidence to justify any arrests, although suspicion seemed to point in certain directions. It was thought that some recent litigation in which Mr. Johnston was involved had something to do with the case.

Make a Test of the Kidneys.

Decide For Yourself by a Simple Experiment If You Have Kidney Disease.

Scores and hundreds of people who are complaining almost daily of backache, pains in the limbs, not unlike rheumatism, and stinging, scalding sensations when urinating, do not know that they are in reality suffering from kidney derangements. Gradually they become thinner and weaker, experience more or less puffiness under the eyes and swelling of the limbs, and feel chronic disease fixing itself upon the system.

It is not necessary for you to undergo an expensive examination to find out if the kidneys are diseased. You can make the examination for yourself. Take a clean glass vessel and allow some urine to stand in it for twenty-four hours. If at the end of that time there are deposits in the bottom of the vessel you can be certain that the kidneys are not in healthy working order. This test, accompanied by the symptoms referred to above, are indisputable evidence of kidney disease.

Mr. James Clark, Consecon, Prince Edward Co., Ont., states:—"Eleven years ago I was taken with pains in my back, settling in my hips and extending up my spine. The pain was very severe and at times almost unendurable, and many days I was not able to do an hour's work. My weight was reduced from 190 to 160 pounds, and though I had consulted many first-class physicians and tried several advertised medicines I could get no relief.

"At this time my father-in-law told me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and said he knew they would cure me. I secured one box, and great was my surprise when I began to feel better after using only one box. I continued their use until I had taken about four boxes, which made me a sound man and I also regained my usual weight, 190 pounds. I cannot say too much in favor of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills which have done so much for me. I have recommended them to a number of my friends and have never met with one case where they did not meet with good success. My daughter, Mrs. Charles Phillips, has also been cured of a severe stomach trouble by the use of these pills."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

There is no longer any question about the efficiency of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as a prompt, thorough and lasting cure for every form of kidney disease. Their combined action on the kidneys and liver enables them to cure chronic and complicated diseases which cannot be touched by ordinary kidney medicines. You can depend on Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills every time. One pill a dose. 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

A HERO IN THE ELEVATOR.

Kept it Going Until Every Other Life Was Saved.

New York, Nov. 12.—Fire in the carpet-making plant of the Planet Mills in Brooklyn yesterday destroyed $25,000 worth of property and endangered many lives. There were 800 women at work on the upper floors of the building. William Stewart, an elevator man, kept his cage going until the last woman had left the building, and then fell unconscious from the smoke and fire fumes he had inhaled. Three firemen were overcome by smoke and were rescued by their comrades.

Malt Breakfast Food

Is a Boon to Dyspeptics.

The weak, erratic stomach of the dyspeptic demands nourishment that can be retained and that affords strength. Malt Breakfast Food is the only grain food that perfectly fills the bill, because it agrees with the weakest stomach, and is easily assimilated and ready to be taken up by the natural process of absorption.

Malt Breakfast Food gruel is acknowledged to be the most refreshing and appetizing dish for the poor suffering dyspeptic. Its use for a few days will tone and strengthen the stomach and digestive organs, after which the patient may commence with the regular Malt Breakfast Food porridge, which will soon banish all trouble and establish a healthy and natural appetite.

The best physicians, instead of prescribing medicines, are strongly advocating the use of Malt Breakfast Food for impaired digestion. If your stomach is weak, try Malt Breakfast Food for a week; results will be so pleasing you will never give it up. Grocers everywhere.

The Whole London Aggregation May be Professionalized—What the Papers Say on the Matter.

RUGBY.

A meeting of the Executive of the Peterborough Rugby Club will be held in the Y.M.C.A. at 8 o'clock this evening, for the purpose of discussing the affairs of the club. The members of the first team are also invited to attend and take part in the discussion.

The London News in its report of Saturday's game reports as follows:

The game on Saturday was a surprise to London men, that is, a surprise to London men who did not know the team very well, who had not seen the men work together, and who believed reports published of the strength of the enemy. From the first minute to the last whistle call, against the wind, with the wind, when there was no wind at all, the game was London's and never was there any doubt about it.

And how did London win? That question is soon answered. The London team had a solid combination of physically strong men reaching from Kerrigan on the one side to Black on the other side, a foundation of muscle weight and activity, which was simply impregnable. This formation included in the ranks, Lucas, the Bices, S. Taylor, Black, Clarkson, Carrothers and Kerrigan. Each man of the octette and an unquestionable advantage over the man who opposed him. Together there was a combination with the force of a battering ram, and an exceedingly well-directed battering ram at that.

These eight men won the day for London. But it must be pointed out that they did not accomplish this good work without the assistance of other men on the field. In fact Frank Taylor, at quarter, was the key of the situation. Had he been found lacking, had he not been up to the mark all the time, the work of the strong men would have been in vain.

Besides, Fields, at the end, played a very excellent game, followed up like a run-away train. Regan held his own at this too, and Kerrigan and Carrothers had the very good fortune to be on the ball at very important occasions.

The London halves did well too. Peel in the first, McNee in the second. Hueston did very well, though he was unfortunate in a couple of instances. Stephens had no work to do.

It is no reflection on any member of the London team nor any member of the Peterborough team to say that Mc Pherson, the Peterborough half, played the cleverest game of the thirty one men on the field. His work was phenomenal, his runs were perhaps the best ever seen in London, and to one of them, and to it alone, was the Peterborough score due. Three remarkable runs he made during the day, once in the first half which seemed good until it was followed by two more of unusual excellence in the second. He stood ten yards behind the Peterborough line, caught the ball from a punt as three or four fast London wings pounced down upon him, then he skirted the end, passed more wings, dashed right through a bunch of hard tacklers, and emerged into mid-field. Here he passed the fast London man and had a clear field to the London goal; but the London men were on him and rather than risk a dash for the line he punted into touch, a clear gain from ten yards behind the Peterborough line to twenty yards in front of the London line.

A second time McPherson took the ball about mid-field, went around the left through the London men and never stopped until he scored a try right between the London posts.

TROUBLE FOR LONDON.

The Toronto Mail & Empire says;

"There promises to be "doings" when the Executive Committee of the Ontario Rugby Football Union meets on Wednesday night. The London Rugby Club, last year's intermediate champions, have got themselves in a heap of trouble. Last Saturday Peterborough played the first of the home-and-home games at London. London won by a score of 27 to 5.

"Before the game the Peterboroughs protested against London's playing Hary Peel who was professionalized with the London Hockey Club last winter. Peterborough claimed he was a professional. However, London insisted upon playing him, as they were short, and had already on two juniors. Reid also refused to play unless Peel played. London had tried at a recent meeting of the O.R.F.U. to have Peel reinstated. The O.R.F.U. laid the matter over, and stated that Peel's application and affidavits must be first passed upon by the Ontario Hockey Association, and then the O.R.F.U. would deal with the case.

"They have a queer way of doing things in London, and by playing Peel in the intermediate match against Peterborough the local team is certain to bring condign punishment upon itself. Peel was suspended by the O.H.A. along with the other members of the London hockey team for playing a ringer, and was therefore not eligible to play in Saturday's football game.

"Secretary J. D. McMurrich was interviewed last night, but had nothing to say on the matter, which will come up on Wednesday night.

"If Peel played without being reinstated or having fulfilled the conditions asked by the O.R.F.U., the whole London Rugby team will be professionalized, and will be expelled from the Union. The rules are there in black and white, and the London club would surely hesitate before allowing Peel to play without feeling confident that he was eligible. The outcome of Wednesday night's meeting will be watched with interest by all lovers of football."

HERE FOR TWO WEEKS.

The Company is the Strongest Which Marks Bros. Has Yet Brought to Peterborough.

Marks Bros. opened a two weeks engagement at the Opera House last evening by presenting "A Christmas Re-union" to a house which was crowded to the doors. The Marks people have three companies on the road this year, and the one which is in Peterborough now is known as "A 1." and the title fits aptly. It is under the management of genial "Joe" Marks, and he puts on a performance which easily outclasses many shows of the dollar variety which have visited the town. He carries sixteen artists with him, and of last night's caste it would be invidious to pick out any who were specially worthy of mention—all were good. There are no tiresome waits betoen the acts, and the line of specialty people which are carried, leave nothing to be desired. Charming little soubrette singers and dancers, nimble back and swing men, and excellent male soloists all go to make up a show which surpasses all Mark Bros. previous efforts, which is saying a great deal.

GETTING VERY POPULAR.

Hundreds Could not Gain Admittance to the T.A.S. Concert Last Evening.

The concerts which are periodically held by the T. A. Society, of St. Peter's are becoming so popular that last evening the hall was filled to overflowing before eight o'clock, and hundreds could not gain admittance.

The chair was occupied by Mr. J. Hickey.

The opening number was by chorus of little girls was sang "The Maple Leaf," in a manner which reflected great credit upon Miss M. Weir and Miss Annie Simons, by whom they were trained. Miss Carrie White then recited, and was followed by a violin solo, and later a skirt dance, both by Miss Kathleen Wallis. A recitation, "Mollie, the Milk Maid," by Miss Aggie Paterson, was succeeded by a cake walk by the little girls, with solos by little Kathleen O'Brien, Ollie Tangney and Helen O'Brien. An instrumental duet by Miss Mamie and Master Harry Theobald was followed by an amusing hypnotic entertainment. "The Fisher's Hornpipe," by Miss K. Wallis, was next on the programme, and was followed by the little tots in a chorus, with solos by Miss H. O'Brien. Master O. Giroux and Master E. Coughlin now gave a vocal selection nicely accompanied by Miss N. Coughlin. Four little girls, Misses I. Coughlin, B. Weir, Ollie Shappe and M. Callaghan, gave a dialogue, "Familiar Characters," and Miss Fobert followed with a charming vocal selection. Next came a song by four of the boys, a dialogue, and then a march and fan drill by eight young ladies, Misses M. Carveth, L. Morrow, N. Coughlin, J. Conroy, L. Devlin, G. McFadden, N. Simons and E. Tangney, and a floral procession taken part in by Miss Bessie Weir, as the queen, assisted by two little pages, Masters H. Wallis and S. Hayes, flower children. The final tableau was entitled "A Glimpse of Fairyland," and the programme was closed by singing God Save the King. Mrs. Wallis and Misses M. Doherty and A. Simons were the accompanists for the evening.

For the benefit of those who were disappointed in not gaining admittance, the performance will be repeated on Friday evening.

ANDERSON OPENS IN ASPHODEL.

A Highly Successful Meeting at Westwood.

THE ADDRESSES WHICH WERE DELIVERED

Mr. Anderson, the Liberal Candidate, Enthusiastically Received —Mr. Blezard's Complimentary Remarks—Hon. Mr. Stratton Deals Lucidly and Forcibly With Public Questions.

The first meeting held in East Peterborough in the interests of the candidature of Mr. William Anderson, the Liberal candidate, was held in the town hall, Westwood, on Monday evening. It was in every sense a highly successful gathering. Though the weather was execrable — a pouring rain, and intensely dark, making travel dangerous, the commodious hall was well filled, a number of ladies gracing the gathering with their presence.

Mr. Anderson was most cordially received by the assemblage, and the complimentary references made to his worth, fitness for the position of representative, and prospects of success made in their addresses by Hon. Mr. Stratton and Mr. Blezard, showed that the audience were heartily in sympathy with his candidature. Owing to indisposition, Mr. Anderson's remarks were brief, but to the point, the address of Mr. Blezard, characteristically energetic and telling, while the more elaborate speech of Hon. Mr. Stratton dealt fully with public questions, and gave a comprehensive and lucid treatment of the timber question, giving its history from the beginning, showing the steps that led up to the adoption of the Liberal Government's policy of home manufacture of lumber, and also showing that the Opposition had done nothing to justify Mr. Whitney's absurd claim that the Opposition deserved credit for the policy of requiring all logs cut on Ontario limits to be manufactured in Canada.

Mr. John Harrison, ex-Councillor, Asphodel, occupied the chair, and introduced the speakers, the first of

MR. ANDERSON'S REMARKS.

Mr. William Anderson, on being called upon, was received with enthusiastic cordiality. He said that, as his hearers already knew, he had been offered, and had accepted, the nomination of the Liberals of East Peterborough as their candidate to contest the riding for the Local Legislature, at the general elections, which would probably come off early next summer. He said he had not sought the honour of being the candidate, but he felt that he could not but feel that it was his duty to bow to the unanimous wish of the Liberal party as expressed so strongly at the convention at which he was nominated, especially in view of the fact that he was nominated by a gentleman who had so long and creditably represented East Peterborough, and who was, therefore, responsible for his (Mr. Anderson's) presence in the field. He would look to Mr. Blezard to second his nomination by the support which he was sure he would give to secure his election. While he did not set himself up as an orator, or an expert in politics, Mr. Anderson said he believed he had some qualifications that might fit him to be the representative of a riding like the East Riding. East Peterborough was, above everything, an agricultural riding, and its interests as such, made it plain that it could be represented to the best advantage by a farmer—a practical farmer. It had been represented by Mr. Blezard for nearly twenty-five years, and nobody could complain that the interests of East Peterborough had not been as well, if not better, looked after by a plain farmer like Mr. Blezard, than they would have been by a professional gentleman or a professional politician. (Hear, hear.) The interests of East Peterborough were almost entirely tied up with and connected with the farm, and he (Mr. Anderson) being a farmer like the great mass of the electors, felt that he need not make any apology for asking the votes and support of his fellow farmers to make him their representative. As Mr. Blezard's interests had been, so

His Interests Were the Same as theirs. Like most of his hearers, he was born and raised upon the farm, and expected to die on the farm. In Ontario, especially, it was no disgrace or discredit to a man to be a farmer, for it was very gratifying to us as farmers, to know that this province was as advanced in agriculture, if not more so, than any state of the American Union, or any country in the world. This was shown wherever this province entered into competition with other countries as at the World's Fair at Chicago, and the Pan-American Exhibition at Buffalo — Ontario took the cream of the prize list in dairying, stock and poultry. At Buffalo, out of $2300 paid in prizes for poultry, Ontario took $1100, and the whole of the United States $1200. (Applause.) And Ontario won the biggest prizes in our best market, the British market. Our cheese and butter and bacon and fruit had the lead there, and brought the best prices. Mr. Anderson said he knew of no province which was so advanced in agriculture, no province which had a better financial standing, better laws, or was generally as prosperous and enterprising as Ontario. While this was no doubt largely owing to the character of its farming population, who were thrifty and industrious, and composed about seven-tenths of the whole population, it was, he felt, but fair, to give a large share to the excellent government and management that had been given to the province for the past thirty years. (Applause.) Mr. Anderson said he had no intention of making a speech. He was a plain man, and had faithfully. He had never been an extreme man, and he was thankful that his fellow citizens had found him worthy of trust, as, he might say, was shown by the fact that he had so long been honoured with a representative position in his native township. He had been a municipal representative—as councillor, reeve, or warden, for as many years as Mr. Blezard had been in the legislature. To be so long honoured by his fellow citizens was, he felt he might say without boasting, a proof that he had some qualifications for serving the public, and that he had shown some faithfulness in discharging his duty as a municipal representative. He had always tried to do what he felt to be right, and if chosen as their representative, he would continue on the same line. While every act of his life as a municipal councillor, or otherwise, might not have been approved, his career had been guided by an honest desire to do what was right, and in the interests of those who had trusted him. Mr. Anderson concluded by thanking his hearers for the hearty and encouraging reception they had given him and excusing himself from further speaking on the ground of indisposition and the fact that Hon. Mr. Stratton and Mr. Blezard would deal with public questions more in detail, he resumed his seat amidst very hearty applause.

MR. BLEZARD'S ADDRESS.

Mr. T. Blezard, M. P. P., who was the next speaker was received, on rising to address the meeting, with very hearty cheers. He said he was glad to see so large a meeting of the electors, and a meeting which was so much in earnest. It argued well for the success of Mr. Anderson to see the hall so well filled on such a night with electors supporting that gentleman. He felt a very warm interest in Mr. Anderson's success. He (Mr. Blezard) had nominated him, not altogether as a candidate, but as his successor in representing East Peterborough, for he was sure he would be elected. He, for one, would work hard to bring about his election, and he felt that he would be heartily helped by the electors of East Peterborough. (Hear, hear.) He, (Mr. Blezard) had been a Liberal all his life, and for twenty-three years he had been the Liberal representative of East Peterborough in support of the best all-round Government this, or any country, could have. (Applause.) He had noticed in the Toronto World and other Conservative papers, attempts to show that he (Mr. Blezard) had been pushed aside, and that Hon. Mr. Stratton had used his influence to have him "turned down" at the Norwood Convention where he had nominated Mr. Anderson. This was not so. He had no doubt, Mr. Blezard said, that if he had wished to have the nomination of the Liberal party, he could have had it unanimously. (Hear, hear, and applause.) The Convention at Norwood was conducted just as he had wanted it to be conducted. He had stated eight years ago that he did not want to be a candidate, and four years ago the nomination was, in a way, forced upon him, and it was only his loyalty to the Liberal party which had so kindly supported him for so many years that made him consent to run. It was well known of late that he wished to retire from politics. He had and, not being as young as he used to be he looked for a little rest, and, for some time, to look after his private affairs, which a man must sacrifice to a certain extent if he faithfully discharged his duty as a member, which he had tried to do. It was well known to his friends in the House last session (and he was glad to say he had many, both Liberal and Conservative) that it was his intention to retire from politics at the end of the present term. He had plainly and distinctly stated at the Norwood Convention, before a nomination was made, that he would not be a candidate again; and he showed that he was in earnest by nominating Mr. Anderson to be his successor, which he was sure to be. (Applause.) He had no fear if he had wanted to run that the Liberals would not have given him the nomination, but that was what he wanted to avoid, for the reasons he had given. As before remarked, he had been the Liberal representative for a long time, and he felt that he had done, at least he had tried to do, his share in promoting the interests of East Peterborough and the Province. Ever since Mr. Stratton had entered Parliament they had worked harmoniously together. They had helped each other and he was glad to state there publicly that he had never asked Mr. Stratton, either as a private member or a Cabinet Minister, to promote the interests of East Peterborough, that he had not readily and willingly done so to the extent of his ability. Mr. Blezard said that in the past twenty-five years he never had applied to the Government for anything that had not been fairly dealt with. This was true before Mr. Stratton became a member of the Government, and he knew, and they all knew, that it was all the more true since he became a Cabinet Minister. They all knew Mr. Stratton; he had been raised amongst them and was a resident of the county and one of the

Most Prominent and Hard Working and able members of the Government, and he (Mr. Blezard) was sure they would not send to Parliament a representative to oppose a Government which had done so much for Ontario, and which had for one of its members, in the person of Mr. Stratton, a resident of the county. (Applause.) Mr. Blezard went on to point out that Mr. Stratton had the heaviest department of the Government—not only the largest spending department, but the one with more work for its minister than any other department in the Government. And his work was well done. The public institutions under Mr. Stratton's charge were managed with great ability and success, and economically. They were doing better work than ever before. They were managed in a way to defy criticism, either on the floor of the House or outside it. He (Mr. Blezard) had visited the institutions and could testify of his own knowledge to the excellent way in which they were run. There was not a member of the Cabinet doing as much work as Mr. Stratton, and the electors of East Peterborough should send Mr. Anderson as a supporter of a Government that had a resident of the County as one of its members. Although many Conservatives in this riding and some others were showing a great deal of sympathy with him (Mr. Blezard) because they said he had been "turned down," he did not need to thank them for this bogus sympathy. He was not turned down, and they all knew him too well to believe that any man could turn him down without his making it hot for anyone trying such a game. (Laughter.) He had not been "turned down" by Mr. Stratton or anyone else. He had retired, or would retire at the close of the next Parliament, of his own free will and accord, and he had nominated Mr. Anderson, whom they were going to elect. (Applause.) Mr. Anderson was just the kind of man East Peterborough wanted to represent it, just such a man as they wanted more of in the Legislature. He was an honest man, a man of strong common sense, and good business ability. He had had plenty of experience in municipal matters. He had been a member of the Township Council for years, a member of the County Council for years, and a Warden of the County. He had never neglected any of his duties, in the Township or County Councils, and he believed that he would be just as faithful in attending to his parliamentary duties. Mr. Anderson's opponent, Dr. Ford, was a good citizen and a good doctor, but he had never taken an active part in local matters, and had no experience. They had plenty of doctors and lawyers in the House and to spare. He had no hard feelings against them; they were a necessary evil, and

but they were men they did not want to have anything to do with till they had to. What a riding of farmers like East Peterborough wanted was a farmer for a representative, especially a farmer as successful and practical as Mr. Anderson, and a farmer who has had a large experience in municipal matters. Mr. Anderson has served his apprenticeship, and had all his life worked with and for farmers, and knew their wants and had a personal interest in seeing them properly looked after. Mr. Blezard said he had been in the House twenty-three years, and he knew the class of members who did the best work. He knew that the orators of the House the men that did all the talking, were not the best workers or the best qualified to work in Committee, where the great bulk of the work was to be done, and that was where the fight was put up. When he went into the House first his little experience in municipal matters, and it was very little compared to Mr. Anderson's, had given him an insight he could turn to good account. He knew, as Mr. Anderson would know, when anything was brought up that would be harmful to the interests of the farmer in a municipal sense or in other ways, and he would be would be there to fight for these rights, and he would know what he was talking about. Would a doctor or a lawyer who never had any municipal experience or who knew or cared little about farming be as good a man for their member as a practical farmer, with a quarter of a century's experience in municipal matters? This was a farmer's riding, and a good farmer was the representative it wanted. We only sent for a doctor when we were sick, and East Peterborough was not sick enough for that, at least it was not sick of him (Mr. Blezard) even though Dr. Ford and other good Conservatives

Were Shedding Crocodile Tears.

because he was going out of politics—because he had not received the nomination he did not want. They need not waste any sympathy on him. He was all right; he was retiring from politics and had nominated his successor in the person of Mr. Anderson, but those who said he had been side-tracked would find, when the contest was over that there was plenty of fight in him yet. Dr. Ford and his Conservative friends who were sympathizing with him (Mr. Blezard) because he was "turned down," would need all the sympathy for themselves when Mr. Anderson turned them down next June, which he was sure to do if he (Mr. Blezard) in co-operation with the electors could bring it about. (Applause.) He felt, he was sure, that he would be elected, for he had no fear that the farmers of East Peterborough would go back on a fellow farmer who was not only well qualified to represent their interest as far as he was concerned himself, but also because he was a supporter of a good Government, which no talent the Conservatives had in sight could improve upon. (Applause.) Mr. Whitney, the Leader of the Opposition, was a fairly good all-round man, as a man, and he could be a useful back-seat member, but he (Mr. Blezard) did not think he had the right to be a leader of a Government. At Havelock Mr. Whitney said he had a great policy for the country, but he was afraid to mention it for fear Mr. Ross or Mr. Stratton would steal it. That was not the right way. If Mr. Whitney had something locked up in his brain that would benefit the Province, he should let it be known, and not try to put his personal advantage or the advantage of his party before that of the Province. We hear a great deal of New Ontario, but we would not have had a New Ontario if it had not been for Sir Oliver Mowat, who saw it when the Conservatives were trying to rob the people of 1000,000 square miles, which was and would continue relieving the people of a great deal of local taxation. We have had good Governments in the past, but never one so progressive as the one we have to-day. (Applause.)

HON. MR. STRATTON'S SPEECH.

Hon. Mr. Stratton, on rising to address the gathering, was received by a very hearty demonstration of applause. He said it must be very gratifying to Mr. Anderson and, incidentally, a tribute to the popularity of Mr. Blezard, to have such a large and enthusiastic audience present at the opening meeting of his campaign. The speaker had once before, six or seven years ago, spoken in Westwood. It was at that time in a Dominion election contest, but the gathering to-night was very much larger, especially so for such extremely bad weather, and as many were from a distance, it showed that the Liberals of East Peterborough were in earnest in promoting Mr. Anderson's candidature. If the comparative handful at the meeting in 1896, was followed by a Liberal victory, this much larger gathering was a certain and gratifying augury of success in the case of Mr. Anderson, the candidate of the Liberal party. (Applause.) This augury of success was greatly strengthened by the presence of the ladies, whom the speaker was glad to see well represented there that night. No matter how few ladies were present, they were sure to be well represented, and this was doubly so when they were out in force. Whatever side the ladies took up was sure to win. Those who were married knew that was the case in domestic matters, and it was generally true in politics. That was the first opportunity he (Mr. Stratton) had had of addressing a public meeting in the East Riding since he became a member of the Ontario Government, and it was especially gratifying to him on the occasion of such a splendid beginning of a campaign, which he firmly believed would result in the triumphant return of the Government candidate and of the Government. (Applause.) And there was no doubt that East Peterborough would contribute to this success by the election of Mr. Anderson. He was much Pleased With Mr. Anderson's Address.

Though he did not claim to be an orator, he showed that he could speak to the point, and, what was better, he was a man of action, a man of experience in municipal life, a man of unstained reputation, founded upon honourable principles carried into his every day life. He was a solid man, highly esteemed in the community, and in all respects just such a man as a rural constituency like East Peterborough needed to look after its interests. He could endorse every word in praise of Mr. Anderson which Mr. Blezard had uttered. His long experience in municipal life fitted him for being a useful member of the Legislature; and he was sure that having spent so many years in excellent and satisfactory municipal life, he could give excellent service as the representative of East Peterborough. His large and varied experience in municipal matters could have no other effect than making him a most useful member of the House. If the electors took advantage of the opportunity of electing Mr. Anderson, which he felt sure they would do, (hear, hear,) they would ensure a continuation of the excellent representation they had had at the hands of Mr. Blezard for nearly a quarter of a century. (Applause.) Mr. Blezard's experience had been a good deal like what Mr. Anderson's would be. Like Mr. Anderson, he entered public life with a valuable municipal experience. He had been a plain farmer, yet the event had proved that he had made one of the most useful members that had ever sat in the House. (Applause.) He had given

Long and Faithful Service, and had earned the rest which for many years he had been anxious to take. In this connection, Mr. Stratton stated that the statements made by the Conservative papers could not be believed. The Mail, Toronto Telegram, and the Review, said that Mr. Blezard was "turned down." Which should know best—Mr. Blezard, himself, or these Conservative newspapers, which feeling the weakness of the Conservative cause, in East Peterborough especially, must resort to means like this to try to create dissension in the Liberal party. It was an unfortunate condition that newspapers should, to accomplish so trifling a party advantage, resort to wilful and malicious misrepresentation of public men. But this charge, which had been repeated and made use of at Havelock by Mr. Whitney and Mr. Ford, contained as much truth, and no more, than the charges made against the Ontario Government on that occasion by those gentlemen.

These, however, were not the matters that they were there that evening to discuss. They were of minor importance to the questions which are and will be really at issue in the coming contest — questions that deserved the careful and dispassionate consideration of the electors for upon the

the future Government, the future progress and interests of this great province would depend. This was not entirely, or in any important sense, a personal contest between Mr Anderson and Dr. Ford, who were both estimable citizens. But it was the decision of a far more important question—and that was whether Premier Ross and his Government were to be given an opportunity to continue and carry out the policy of development which they had set themselves to work out in the interests of the country—to give an administration and apply a policy that would still further advance this province, and emphasize more strongly the position she now occupies as the most vanced, best governed and best administered province or state in the world. (Applause.) And he believed the Government was stronger to-day in progressive policy and in the estimation of the people. Mr. Whitney at Havelock, said the Government should be turned out, and would be — "they could not stem the tide." The Government did not need to stem the tide, they only needed to sail with the tide of public opinion, which was so strongly in their favour. Since Hon. Mr. Ross took office there had been some half-dozen bye-elections, and the Government candidates were either elected by acclamation or by large or increased majorities, something that did not look as if they were struggling against an adverse tide. One of the most important matters to consider was what is the state of the finances of the province, whether the Liberals after thirty years of government, had left us a satisfactory financial standing. Mr. Whitney stated at Havelock, that "once the finances were placed in proper condition, they (the Conservative party) would be able to deal with the development of the material resources and the educational policy as they should be dealt with. Hence the question of the finances was of the most importance." "Now," said Mr. Stratton, "what is of the province?" Mr. Whitney said at Havelock that the Government had "departed from the wholesome rule of the late Sandfield Macdonald to keep the expenditures within the revenue." The surplus that Sandfield Macdonald left on retiring from power had been so often dealt with that it seemed a waste of time to further refer to it. But, Mr. Stratton said, he was never unwilling to discuss this matter, because the more it was done the more it redounded to the credit of the financial management of the Liberal Government. True, it had been spent, but how? As a matter of fact, Sandfield Macdonald left no surplus, that is, if one deducted from it the obligations which were left his successors to meet. They had practically pledged the whole of the surplus, $3,800,000, and more, to the work of public improvement in the people's interest. That had been expended, and many millions more, in services of public utility, and neither Mr. Whitney nor any of his followers could point to a single expenditure in connection with this surplus, or other provincial funds, that had not been well-made. One of the first acts of Sir Oliver Mowat when he came into power was to devote three and a half millions to the settlement of the Municipal Loan Fund, and of

A HISTORIC BORDER

WHY MASON AND DIXON'S LINE IS BEING RESURVEYED.

Metal Posts Replace the Stones That Marked the Boundary Between Maryland, Delaware and Pennsylvania—Romance of Famous Line.

The rapid progress that has been made in the resurvey of the famous Mason and Dixon's line brings into prominence once more that historic boundary which at the time of the civil war was supposed to separate slavery and freedom. The average American knows this line in a vague and general way as a result of its historical significance, but there are few who can tell how, when or why it came into being.

The answers to these questions have nothing whatever to do with the romance of civil war days. In fact Mason and Dixon's line dates from the eighteenth century and even, though indirectly, from the seventeenth.

In 1681 William Penn obtained from Charles II. a charter giving him a tract of land in America. When he and his fellow colonists came over to take possession, they found that the grant established them among impenetrable forests and gave them no coast line whatever.

Penn at once besieged royalty for a fresh grant, and not without success, for he was given more land at the expense of Cecil Calvert, Lord Baltimore. Naturally Calvert was highly incensed at this and immediately started to dispute Penn's rights. Negotiations for the determination of the boundary between the lands of Penn and Lord Baltimore were protracted and bitter, the partisans of each at times coming almost to open war.

The struggle lasted until 1732, when the heirs of the original disputants entered into an agreement for the final adjudication of the boundary. Work was commenced at once, but complications arose, and it was not until 1760 that things were given definite shape by the appointment of a commission to survey the boundary. This commission did its work in a very dilatory way, and the heads of the two colonies became impatient at the slow progress made. Both Penn and Calvert were in London at the time, and they engaged Charles Mason and James Dixon, the two men whose names have become so famous in connection with this line, to complete the work of the commission.

While Mason and Dixon are described as mathematicians and surveyors, or merely as surveyors, they were men of learning and much scientific attainment. Both were elected members of the American Philosophical society.

The two surveyors did their work on the line with the utmost care. They cut a "vista" eight feet wide through the forests and set up a stone at the end of each mile. Every fifth stone was larger than the others and had on the south side the arms of Frederick, Lord Baltimore, and on the north the arms of Thomas and Richard Penn. The intermediate stones had the letter M on the south and the letter P on the north face.

OLD STONE POST ON MASON AND DIXON'S LINE.

[Showing the wire netting put around it to protect it from vandalism.]

The stones, oolitic limestone, came from England, and their capacity to resist the action of the weather is remarkable. One of the fifth milestones is now on a farm in Pennsylvania, and the coats of arms of the original proprietors are still traceable, though they have been exposed to the elements for over a century. Stones were set up by the two surveyors as far west as Sideling hill, about 132 miles from the northeast corner of Maryland. It was virtually impossible to transport them farther, and the continuation of the line was marked by piles of stone extending as far as the summit of the Alleghanies, beyond which the line was marked by posts surrounded by stones.

As time went on, thanks to carelessness and vandalism, many of the stones were removed from their original position, until at length doubt prevailed as to the exact location of the line in many places. In 1849 a desire was expressed for a resurvey, and commissioners were appointed by each of the states interested. The surveyors found the work of Mason and Dixon very reliable in the main, although the resurvey resulted in Maryland making a slight gain in territory.

The line was remarked by stones, but relic hunters made short work of these after the civil war had made Mason and Dixon's line famous. New stones were set in place surrounded by heavy wire nettings, but even these did not prove invulnerable to curio hunters. It was to give the line permanent markings and to settle an interstate controversy that the present survey was undertaken. Lovers of relics will now have to wield their chisels on metal posts instead of stone ones, for the old order of things has passed away.

The point in controversy between Maryland, Delaware and Pennsylvania concerns the true beginning of the east end of the famous boundary—i. e., the length of the "tangent line" which furnished the point of departure for Mason and Dixon. So much interest was awakened in the matter that in 1899 the Pennsylvania legislature appropriated $7,000 to re-establish the boundary, and a year later the Maryland legislature followed suit with $5,000. The work of remarking the line is now almost completed under the joint supervision of the two states.

The phrase "Mason and Dixon's line" first became popular in 1820, when John Randolph referred to it as the line which separated freedom from slavery. The proclamation of the politicians and the statesmen had carried it to the mouth of the Ohio river and beyond the southern boundary of Missouri.

POULTRY POINTERS.

Don't keep hens until they die of old age.

Straw is better than hay for nest material.

Hard feed should not be given until the chicks are old enough to eat gravel.

Wood ashes are objectionable for the dust bath because they are too caustic and irritate the skin.

Do not let the drinking fountain stay in one place. More or less water is spilled in drinking, and this soon becomes foul.

Large roosters bred with small hens are apt to produce long legged stock, while small roosters and large hens will give short legs and fine bodies.

When it is desired to have the greatest weight of meat produced with the smallest amount of feed, select the large breeds, Dorking, Cochins or Brahmas.

A young duck will sometimes choke if it has no water to drink when eating. The water must be deep enough to allow the duck to get its head and bill into it.

A low roost has more advantages than a high one. The hens can get off and on easily, bumble foot is avoided, they can be made easily movable, and it will be easier cleaning.

Chicks intended for breeding stock should not be pushed too fast nor overfed. A steady, even development is better, and it is well to remember that the chick is made of what it eats.

Poultry of all kinds will fatten sufficiently with three weeks of good feeding. The whitest flesh and fat are made by feeding milk warmed and mixed to a thick paste, with oatmeal, boiled potatoes and cornmeal.

An Odd Way to Fish.

The natives of Tutuila, one of the islands of Oceania, have a peculiar method of catching fish. At a given signal all the inhabitants of the village assemble on the seashore to the number of about 200 persons, each one carrying a branch of the cocoa palm. With these in their hands they plunge into the water and swim a certain distance from the shore, when they turn, forming a compact semicircle, each one holding his palm perpendicular in the water, thus making a sort of sieve. The leader of the party then gives a signal, and the fishers all approach the seashore gradually in perfect order, driving before them a multitude of fishes that are cast on the sands and killed with sticks.

On Magnetic Healing.

Much is spoken and written during these times about this mysterious method of treating disease. The most remarkable cases of magnetic healing which have come under the notice of the writer have been those in which Dr. Chase's Ointment was used. This preparation seems to have magical powers in stopping the dreadful itching, burning sensations of Salt Rheum and Eczema, and when used regularly makes the cure permanent and thorough.

VERDI AND MORELLI.

Stories of the Great Musician and the Famous Painter.

Verdi, Italy's great composer, and Morelli, her famous painter, were bound by the most tender friendship from their youth and had a reciprocal admiration for each other's talent, Verdi saying, "I would give all my operas to have produced one of the Christs of Morelli," while the latter, with equal sincerity, said, "I would give all my pictures to have composed 'Il Trovatore.'"

Two good stories are told of Morelli which will bear repetition. An authoress of note was in Naples and very much desired to know him, but could find no one to act as intermediary. So at last she took courage in her hands and resolved to introduce herself, but not without qualms. As she approached she found the studio door open, one more cause of embarrassment, and, pushing a curtain to one side, stood before the artist at work, who, looking at her absentmindedly, said: "These lines seem to be all right. What do you say?" And to her murmured response he went on: "But the eyes of the nuns do not suit me. Pray sit down for a moment; yours are just the thing." With inward delight the woman sat down and acted as model for an hour and a half, during which writer and artist talked as though they had been friends all their lives. At a certain point Morelli stopped abruptly, took off his glasses, peered at his handsome model and said, "But, excuse me, who are you?"

As all the world knows, Maestro Verdi hated public notice in his private hours, so that one day when returning from Posillipo in the company of his wife and Morelli he was seriously annoyed when the people, recognizing him, began to cheer. "I want to drive myself home," he said hastily. "Morelli, just place yourself beside my wife," and, jumping out of his own carriage, he went on to the box of one near, thus, of course, escaping notice. Meanwhile Signora Verdi and Morelli pursued their way, and, as the latter wore a big hat just like that of the maestro, they were acclaimed everywhere, "Viva Verdi!" "Viva il maestro!"

The artist, embarrassed, returned the salutes, but every moment became more overcome, while his companion enjoyed the joke to the full. On arriving at the hotel they were met by Verdi, to whom his wife said: "You would have choked to see Morelli bowing and smiling to the crowd as you could never have done. He has made your reputation for amiability," at which the maestro shouted: "I really had you there! I knew what would happen!"

The Separate Bedstead.

Now that we know that consumption is a disease communicable from one to another by contact and breathing the air already breathed by the consumptive the hygiene of separate beds ought to receive public recognition. In all bedrooms the heads of the beds should be an inside wall. If this cannot be arranged, then the wall and the ceiling for a space corresponding to the bedstead should be covered with a thick serge, loosely attached to the wall, to prevent the formation of cataracts of air chilled by the cold wall which will otherwise fall on the sleeper.

The worst of colds are caught in this simple way in the small hours of the morning, and many a fatal senile or infantile bronchitis might be prevented by this timely expedient. Remember that for very old or very young people nocturnal variations of temperature are extremely dangerous. For the same reason the bed must not be placed between a badly fitting window and the flue or the doorway.

Ruby Lips and a Clear Skin.

Are guaranteed to any woman who takes Merrill's System Tonic. This marvellous medicine is specially adapted for women, because it supplies iron for the blood, cures constipation, strengthens the nerves, and by its blood purifying and muscle toning properties quickly cures all female ills. 50 pleasant-to-take doses 50c. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

A New Atomic Theory.

Professor J. J. Thomson of Cambridge University, England, announces that, though by chemical means it is impossible to split up an atom, those heretofore supposed to be ultimate units of matter are by no means so resisting to electrical forces; that the cathode rays, with the peculiar emanations from uranium, polonium and radium consist of matter having but one-thousandth the mass of an atom of hydrogen, and that as a consequence an atom may be regarded as a constellation of these small particles.

They Had the Habit.

When the Duke of Wellington first went to the court of Louis XVIII., the French marshals whom he had defeated turned their backs upon him. The King apologized for their rudeness. "Never mind, your Majesty," replied Wellington. "They have got into the habit, and they can't get out of it."

Keep the Colts Growing.

If the pasture is not what it should be the colts should have a feed of oats daily. A few bushels of oats fed to a well-bred yearling when the pasture gets old and the flies bad will be well invested. A great many horses are stunted their first winter, and a great many do not get a chance to make it up their second summer—their first summer away from their dams. Keep them growing—the buyer wants good-sized ones.—National Stockman.

THE PERIL OF MADAME.

A Story of Love and Intrigue.....

"I insist, madame," said Amantor Pasha, his eyes burning with anger and the passion which possessed him. "And why refuse me? I love you beyond reason. I have never loved as I love you. Everything you can desire shall be yours, Sophronia."

"Call me madame," replied a beautiful woman, with face of classic profile, surveying the almost frenzied pasha with a cold contempt which aggravated both his fury and his desire. "I have already told you, pasha, that I decline to share your affections with the 50 or more estimable ladies of your harem."

"Then you have been playing with me, madame," growled the pasha. "You have led me to think you were not indifferent to me. And here, in Illutza, I am master, and you shall not leave Illutza except to become my wife." Here he took a stride toward her as if he would seize her there and then and carry her off.

"Take care!" She spoke in a low, clear, unmoved tone. "A step nearer, and you are a dead man. I carry a revolver. I can hit the ace of hearts at 20 yards. My nerve is good; my hand is steady. Any violence, and the next second Amantor Pasha is a corpse."

He stood stock still. Her coolness calmed him, conquered his rage, but inflamed his admiration.

"As the English say, you are a cool hand," he remarked. To himself he thought: "I will have her now at all costs. What a bride for a pasha! What nerve! What a resource! With her, who knows, I might be grand vizier—sultan even!"

And he was perhaps not far wrong. Madame was of many shifts. It was she who in the great South African war had been a spy of fame. Courted by the highly placed and susceptible in the British camp in various parts of South Africa, she had kept Paul Kruger and Cronje and Christian De Wet and Erasmus informed of all that was doing in the English army. Her nationality was a matter of guesswork. Some said she was French, others Russian, but she was known as "Madame" par excellence.

"I will take my leave now, madame," said the pasha, drawing his handsome form up to its full height, "but you shall marry me."

"A very good morning to your excellency," said Sophronia Valoffsky, with a mocking nod, "but I shall not marry you."

The pasha withdrew, with never a word more, and two minutes later there was a clatter of horses on the roadway as he and his staff galloped off up the little street.

"Bah!" murmured Sophronia as she peeped out at him through the jalousies. "Not a bad looking man either and sits his horse well." Turning from the window, Sophronia Valoffsky contemplated her face and figure in a huge mirror which stretched from floor to ceiling on one side of the apartment, and then, snatching up a leather headed baton, she struck smartly a large gong. It was almost immediately answered.

"Bring me my hooded fur cloak at once, Lona," said madame, "and cloak yourself as well, for I shall want you."

Madame went to a sideboard and poured herself out a liqueur, while she lit the daintiest of dainty cigarettes. She had not blown half a dozen whiffs of smoke when Lona returned and quickly enveloped her mistress in the warm cloak.

"Sklavats is to be found today, Lona?"

"Yes, gracious mistress; at the yellow khan in the lower town."

"Then conduct me there. No time is to be lost. My liberty is threatened, Lona, and may be gone from me at any moment." As she spoke Mme. Valoffsky stepped toward the jalousie. "Hist, Lona! There is a body of Turkish soldiers coming down the hill escorting a closed carriage. Bolt and barricade the front door while I run by the back."

Lona, having done her work, rushed after her mistress. She knew the Macedonian town thoroughly and led madame by devious and intricate turnings to baffle pursuit. Besides, the twilight had begun to deepen, and rain was falling and threatening to fall heavily. At last they reached the lower town, and, again pursuing windings seemingly interminable, they at last passed up a narrow passage to where, underneath an ancient Roman wall, a bright light issued forth from a large interior.

"The khan—the yellow khan," whispered Lona beneath her breath. Mme. Valoffsky sighed a sigh of relief, and her gait assumed its wonted undulating grace as she stepped forward toward the open front of the khan or rude inn.

A number of men in the garb of the Macedonian mountaineer were sitting within, carousing out of drinking horns, jesting and laughing loudly. A dead silence fell on them all as Sophronia Valoffsky stepped forward and stood calmly facing them, a dream of beauty—so she seemed to those stalwart fellows—while Lona quietly, as became the waiting woman, took her place a little to the left of madame.

"Where is Sklavats?" said madame, with clear, bell-like, penetrating voice.

"Sklavats, your excellency! He is within," said one of the men. "Sklavats! Sklavats!"

Instantly a tall, handsome, splendidly made Macedonian stepped from the interior of the khan and raised his hat high in a not ungraceful salute.

"At your service, gracious lady," said he. "Pray, what are your commands?"

Sophronia then drew from the folds of her dress a small leather letter holder, from which she took a document, which she handed to Sklavats. He perused it, his interest rising as he read. Then he folded it and handed it back, with an air of great devotion and increased deference.

"Can I speak with you alone?" she asked.

"Come with me, madame." And he led her into an interior apartment. Quickly she told him of the peril which threatened her from Amantor Pasha.

"If your excellency lets him know by how great a personage you are honored."

"But he must not know. It is imperative he should not." And then in a low tone she unfolded to him her plans. She must be saved after having secured her quarry.

"It shall be done, your excellency," said Sklavats at last, "if it costs me my life and that of all my kinsmen."

When madame and Lona returned to their residence, the Turks had gone, and Sophronia at once sat down and wrote a most caressing note to Amantor Pasha, and this she sent to the palace at once, smiling slyly as she thought how the great eyes of Amantor Pasha would glow as he read the perfumed page, how lovingly he would finger his long mustachios.

* * * * * * * *

Two days later Sophronia sat in a closed carriage with dispatch boxes near her containing documents by which both the Ottoman and German governments laid the utmost store. They were going to Amantor Pasha's shooting box, which lay near a lakelet in a lovely mountain glen. A few Bashi-Bazouks were the sole escort. Some cantered in front; a denser body brought up the rear. Amantor on a handsome charger caracoled gayly in sight of the open window of the carriage. They were in the center of the defile of Jalouf when suddenly a rifle shot rang out amid the stillness of the mountain solitude, and a horseless steed came clattering past the carriage. Amantor Pasha galloped forward to see what had happened. Before he had ridden 50 yards the mountains were echoing with the sharp, swift volleys poured in on all sides. The Bashi-Bazouks in front were shot down to a man. Those in the rear, having lost heavily, turned to fly, but their retreat was cut off at the mouth of the Jalouf defile, and not one escaped.

* * * * * * * *

Again Sklavats stood bareheaded in front of Sophronia Valoffsky, who smiled on him her sunniest smile as she sat back in the carriage.

"And the pasha?" she asked.

"He is dead, madame."

"It is well," said she; "he became insolent."

Consumption

Is a disease of civilization. When the Indian was a stranger to the white man he had no name in his vocabulary for this dreaded malady.

Without arguing as to the curability of consumption, it may be stated positively that Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures weak lungs, hemorrhages, bronchitis, deep-seated and stubborn cough, and other diseases which if neglected or unskillfully treated find a fatal termination in consumption. There is no alcohol in the "Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

Persons suffering from chronic disease are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is conducted under the seal of sacred secrecy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

In a little over thirty years, Dr. Pierce, assisted by his medical staff of nearly a score of physicians, has treated and cured thousands of men and women who had been given up as incurable by local physicians.

"Your medicine is the best I have ever taken," writes Mrs. Jennie Dingman, of Rapid City, Manistee Co., Mich. "Last spring I had a bad cough; got so bad I had to be in bed all the time. My husband thought I had consumption. He wanted me to get a doctor, but thought we would try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and before I had taken one bottle the cough stopped and I have since had no sign of its returning."

ANDERSON OPENS IN ASPHODEL.

this distribution the County of Peterborough got nearly $50,000 — $47,832.12. And we had in this county school houses and township halls that had been erected by the help of these moneys. Mr. Whitney charged the Governmen twith breaking Sandfield Macdonald's rule to keep the expenditure within the revenue. This was a charge that by any honest argument. When our public buildings were being erected it is true that there were odd years when our revenue did not quite meet the expenditure. That was to be expected. But with few exceptions, the annual receipts have been larger than the expenditure. So much has this been the case, that on the 27th of last August there was to the credit of the province in the banks, in cash, $1,268,471.00. If the expenditure had exceeded the receipts, this cash would not have been in the bank. Mr. Whitney's broad and general charge is not quite fair, but as fair as the arguments he is accustomed to present. Now a fair way for the Opposition to criticise the financial management of the province would be to point out where out of the 107 millions of dollars spent since Confederation, there had been waste, or extravagance, or inadequate value received. General rash assertions did not count — it was not argument. We say it is true that the expenditure of the province has increased since 1872, but we show the people, whose servants we are, how this money has been expended. If we took the past ten years — from 1890 to and including 1899 — we shall find the following expenditure:

1890...	$3,396,234 28
1892...	4,068,961 62
1893...	3,907,145 22
1894...	3,843,806 28
1895...	3,758,595 44
1896...	3,703,378 73
1897...	3,767,675 70
1898...	3,883,031 28
1899...	3,710,430 81

And in 1900 the expenditure was $3,748,159.41. From 1890, it would be observed, till 1900, there had been until last year, when the Government undertook to develop New Ontario. Now, how had this money been annually expended? Take last year; of the three and three-quarters millions expended, there was spent for:

Public Institutions:—

Maintenance...	$838,791 24
Education...	766,466 26
Agriculture...	280,168 06
Hospitals and Charities...	134,890 53
Public Buildings...	163,631 10
Colonization Roads...	139,936 10
Immigration...	6,257 46
Administration of Justice...	677 254 72
Legislation...	142,772 45
Civil Government...	265,347 53
Miscellaneous...	234,066 70
Public Works...	25,944 91
Repairs and Maintenance, Public Buildings...	89,040 24

These were the principal items of expenditure, and Mr. Whitney and Mr. St. John did not point out wherein they would reduce the expenditure under any of these headings. The fact is that they could not do so without crippling the public service. While the expenditure had been increased, it had been increased in lessening the burdens the people would otherwise have had to bear. Was it, Mr. Stratton said, extravagance, because we expended from 1872 to 1900 seventeen million dollars to assist in the education of the children of the province? Every year the province gave to every county a grant for Public, Separate, High School and Collegiate Institute purposes, and every dollar paid by the Government represented a dollar

Less of Local Taxation.

(Applause.) Would Mr. Whitney change that policy?

The grant for Education in 1872 was only $421.703; last year it was $758,456.26, or an amount of $337,000 per year, or over $1000 more for every working day, than in 1872. This was an increase of expenditure; but the people got the benefit of it directly. Over eighteen million dollars had been expended for public institution maintenance. But that was no fault of the Government. There was more work to be done—an increasingly large number of unfortunates to be cared for. We had only two asylums in 1871; now we had eight. There were only about 1000 patients in 1871; now there were nearly 6000. In 1871 the expenditure was $276,662; in 1901 the estimated expenditure was $840,000—nearly half a million dollars more than in 1872. Was it a sign of extravagance or bad management that, while the number of patients had increased over five fold the expenses were less than three times as great? There was more effective service and better work done. Patients were better cared for, and the ratio of patients discharged as cured was over forty per cent. of the admissions. While at the same time the cost per head of maintenance of patients, which was $134.53 in 1872, was now $122.19. Then we had expended nearly five millions for agriculture — an increase from $67,000 in 1873, to $202,842 in 1901. And these are two of the most important matters we had to deal with, Education and Agriculture. It was needless to say that both are in a Healthy and Thrifty Condition.

The people of Ontario were the best educated people on the continent, and the most progressive, skilful and successful farmers in the world. (Applause.) Any person who travelled in other provinces or states could easily see for himself evidences of the agricultural superiority of this province. And in competitive exhibits of Canadaian stock at great expositions, Canada took a leading position, and as this province was the largest and most advanced province, of the several provinces of Confederation, her share in Canadian agricultural triumphs was the lion's share. We all remember the splendid record Canada achieved at the World's Fair, Chicago, but to come down to date the triumphs were greater still. At the Pan-American Exposition, at Buffalo, just closed, the stock raisers of the Dominion captured more prizes than all the other exhibitors from two continents put together. (Applause. They would be interested in a comparative summary of the cash prize winnings of the United States, with the prize winnings of Canada, at the Pan-American Exposition:

	U.S.	Canada.
Cattle	$3,813 49	$3,111 00
Sheep	1,890 62	2,162 50
Swine	165 00	377 50
Poultry	1,360 00	1,100 00
Total of United States	$6,429 02
Total of Canada		6,741 00

Thus they saw that Canada, with a population of less than six millions, at this great exposition took nearly $200 more of cash prizes in the lines mentioned, than the whole of the United States, with a population of seventy-five millions. (Hear, hear.) But the records of Ontario alone, in Butter and Cheese the past year was something to be proud of. This province last year sold thirteen million dollars worth of cheese — nearly a million dollars increase from last year, and almost $2.50 for every man, woman and child in the province. (Applause.) Ontario also sold last year butter to the value of $1,819,000, also a handsome increase over the preceding year. Thus we had.

of Ontario, the large sum of $14,480,000 for butter and cheese, showing that the province occupied a position of, agricultural advancement of which we might justly be proud, and showing also that the efforts of the Government to promote a profit-bringing knowledge of agriculture in all its branches, had been attended with marked success. (Applause.)

We gave annually about $200,000 to Hospitals and Charities. All told, nearly three and a half million had been devoted to these purposes since 1872. The sick must be cared for. Did Mr. Whitney wish to reduce the amount voted for Hospitals and Charities? If he did so, he would have to reduce or cut off the local grants. Would he reduce or cut off the amount of $1,410.10, the sum paid last year to the Nicholls Hospital, or reduce or cut off the sum of $1,171.83 given to St. Joseph's Hospital, or similarly treat the grant of $426.03 to the Peterborough Protestant Home, or the grant of $449.39 to the House of Providence, Peterborough. Did not these institutions come to the councils and solicit grants, and if these grants were given, they would have to be larger if these Government grants were withdrawn. Mr. Whitney complained of extravagant expenditure. If there were any extravagance it was in reducing the burdens of the people, (applause,) and the people would not complain of this, for the provincial funds were not derived from direct taxation. The municipalities were aided to that extent. We had given over three and a half millions for Colonization Roads, have built nearly 6000 miles, repaired 13,000 miles, and built 700,000 lineal feet of bridges, with the result that in the outlying districts to-day instead of 15,000 of population, as in 1871, there were now nearly 150,000 people. There had been expended in East Peterborough alone, $74,071.66. Are not the people of Burleigh Anstruther, Chandos, Belmont and Methuen, Dummer, Douro, Asphodel and Otonabee the better for this expenditure? The Government dealt with public funds on the principle that it was not their money, but

and it should be expended in the people's interests. (Hear, hear.) And last year a grant of $3,500 was given to the County to assist in the construction of the Chemong Lake Bridge, which sum would otherwise have had to be levied on the ratepayers. Was not the grant to the Chemong Bridge in the direct interest of the ratepayers, saving them so much direct taxation? Did not the same apply to the grant to the Bensfort Bridge two or three years ago, and to the grant this year to the Kinmount Bridge? If the increased expenditure the Opposiiton complained of was due to providing or helping to provide public conveniences, and thus relieve the treasury of the county or township, and thus directly relieve the ratepayer, was not that perfectly justifiable? It was the people's money that was being spent, and no matter how much was spent, as long as it benefits the people, the people had no reason to complain, for not a cent of Provincial funds was raised by direct taxation. The people rather enjoyed getting the benefit of money spent which did not come from their own pockets. (Applause.)

Paine's Celery Compound

DOES A WONDERFUL WORK.

It Saved Mr. Arthur's Life After the Failures of Doctors and Their Medicines.

The Only Remedy That Can Cure Serious Blood Troubles, Scrofula, Salt Rheum and Eczema.

The blood plays an important part in our physical economy. In twenty-seven heart-beats all the blood in the system has been pumped once through the heart and starts again on its round, bearing nourishment and life to all parts of the body. If our blood be impure, disease instead of true life creeps to all parts, leaving the excretory organs so weak that they cannot remove the waste matters and noxious particles in the system that are such fruitful sources of disease.

Paine's Celery Compound is the only reliable and safe medicine for the curing of the most virulent blood diseases; it is the only purifier of the vital life stream. It saved Mr. Arthur, of Chelmsford, Ont., when his life was in peril. He writes as follows;

"With great pleasure I write about your wondrous medicine, Paine's Celery Compound. I was laid up with scars all over my face and neck, the result of blood poisoning. While in that condition, I could not sleep at night, had no appetite, and could not attend to my work. The doctors in my district and their medicines did not benefit me. My aunt advised me to use Paine's Celery Compound. In two weeks I was so much better that I could go out, and in three weeks I was able to work again. I bless the day I commenced with Paine's Celery Compound."

Ten Years in Kingston.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—David Hawes, the colored porter of the Government private car, who was found guilty in the Criminal Assizes on Saturday of a serious charge preferred by Louisa Lebar, was sent to Kingston Penitentiary for 10 years by Judge Ferguson yesterday. Hawes asked the court to be lenient, saying that he had a wife and two children depending on him for support. The judge remarked that it was the meanest kind of conduct he had ever heard of and one of the worst cases he had ever known in his long experience.

Kitchener Locates Dewet in Northern Orange River Colony

63 OF ENEMY KILLED IN A WEEK

British Force Moving to Disperse the Boers Collected by the Guerilla Leader —Report From Berlin That British Remounts of Cavalry Were Captured—Dr. Leyds Will Fail in New Negotiations.

London, Nov. 13.—Lord Kitchener, in a despatch from Pretoria, dated Monday, Nov. 11th, presents his weekly report, and, incidentally, locates Gen. Dewet in the northwestern part of the Orange River Colony. He says the Boers have recently been collecting under his leadership, and that the British are now moving to disperse them.

Lord Kitchener gives the Boer casualties since Nov. 4th as 63 killed, 105 wounded, 104 captured and 45 surrendered.

Boers Claim a Success.

London, Nov. 13.—Dr. Leyds' friends, says the Berlin correspondent of The Times, assert that a British laager containing remounts for the cavalry now on the way from England, was captured by the Boers "near Cape Town." The circumstance that this success of the burghers is not known in London, according to these informants, is due to the fact that it is not the custom of the British to mention the loss of war material unattended by loss of life.

Boer Offers.

Amsterdam, Nov. 13.—After various conferences at Hilversum, where former President Kruger is stopping, the peace terms which the Boers are willing to accept have been outlined as follows:

First: Amnesty for all rebels.

Second: The restoration of prisoners and the withdrawal of troops.

Third: Compensation for burned farms.

Fourth: A convention providing autonomy for the Boer republics, which shall be guaranteed by France and Russia.

Fifth: The cession to England of the Witwatersrand gold fields in lieu of Boer indemnity.

It is stated that Dr. Leyds, the Boer European agent, will embody the terms in a formal document for circulation among the powers.

Leyds Will Fail.

London, Nov. 13.—The Berlin National Zeitung, quoted in a despatch to The Times, says Dr. Leyds (who is now in Berlin) and the Pan-German politicians will have no more success now than when they attempted Krugerite demonstrations in Berlin.

Boers in Khaki to Be Shot.

London, Nov. 13.—Mr. Chamberlain's severer measures are being adopted in South Africa. The Daily Mail correspondent at Cradock, Cape Colony, reports that Lord Kitchener has issued orders that captured Boers clad in British uniforms are to be shot. This explains Colonel Gorringe's summary action, which was reported some days ago and sharply criticized in some quarters.

To Advertise Canada.

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—Hon. Sydney Fisher says that he has given authority to have part of the Canadian exhibit at the Glasgow Exhibition sent to London, England, to be on view at the Royal Exchange in London. The exhibition at the Royal Exchange is a movement connected with the colonies, and the Minister of Agriculture has given consent to requests from London to make an exhibit. The exhibition will last about three weeks.

Salisbury Rumor Revived.

London, Nov. 13.—Referring to Lord Salisbury's speech last Saturday night at the Guildhall, Truth says: "The careless composition of the speech of the Premier, which contained some singularly obscure sentences, has revived the talk of his impending retirement, and has given cause for believing at least that he no longer takes an earnest interest in political life."

TROUBLE ON AFGHAN FRONTIER.

Post of 200 Attacked by Rebels Under Jehandad Khan.

London, Nov. 13.—"It is reported here," says the St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, "that Jehandad Khan, who fled from Afghanistan on the death of the Ameer, has been making trouble on the Indian frontier. He gathered several hundred followers and attacked an Afghan post of 200 troops commanded by Ali Akbar, near the frontier. Ali Akbar drove the rebels over the frontier, losing one officer and nine soldiers killed.

"The British authorities, according to a report, then arrested Ali Akbar, while Jehandad Khan fled to Kurram Valley. Habib Ullah has ordered the troops to pursue Jehandad Khan."

Mathias Pare, a Logger, Killed by a Woodsman.

Showhegan, Me., Nov. 13.—A jury yesterday afternoon found Alexander Theriault, a woodman, guilty of murder in the first degree, in causing the death of Mathias Pare, a young Canadian logger. The penalty is life imprisonment. Pare's body was found beside a trail in the woods after the snow, under which it had been buried, melted. Theriault was convicted on circumstantial evidence. He had always been a steady, hard working woodsman. He lived in the woods with his family.

Fatal Explosion at Norwood.

Norwood, Ont., Nov. 13.—A severe explosion occurred here yesterday morning in the cheese and butter factory, when the boilers was blown up. T. Moffatt, who was working near it at the time, was fatally injured. Mr. Oakley, the owner, was struck on the head by a falling brick, but not seriously hurt. The building is a mass of ruins, and pieces of the engine were blown several hundred feet, smashing many windows in the surrounding houses. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

New Indian Provinces.

London, Nov. 13.—A despatch to The Times from Allahabad says that at the inauguration of the Northwest Province on King Edward's birthday, Chief Commissioner Deane assured the native chiefs that the same canons of justice that prevailed elsewhere in the British Empire would be applied to their province. The new administration, he added, would bring them nearer to the central Government. The Commissioner's speech, says the despatch, will have a good effect in reassuring the native chiefs of the borderland, who feared sweeping changes.

Three Killed in a Wreck.

Prescott, Ark., Nov. 13.—A wreck occurred yesterday one mile south of here, that was one of the worst in the history of the Iron Mountain Railroad in Arkansas. Three men were killed and eighteen wounded, all negroes. An engine was carrying about forty workmen to where the road is being levelled. While going backwards at a high rate of speed the engine struck a piece of new and crooked track, left the rails and threw the men in every direction. The dead and wounded were brought to Prescott.

A MYSTERY SOLVED.

Body of Missing Alfred Mackenzie Found in Toronto Bay.

Toronto, Nov. 13.—The body of the late Alfred Mackenzie, the missing bookkeeper for Henry A. Taylor, who disappeared Oct. 21, was found yesterday morning in the lake at the foot of Dufferin street. An inquest was considered unnecessary.

In the pockets of the clothes worn by the deceased were found a gold watch, with fob and guard, several car tickets, a card case and some pieces of silver. Several other articles were found in his pockets.

Deceased was 45 years of age, and lived with his mother and sister, at 104 St. Vincent street. For about 18 years he had been in the employ of Mr. Taylor, and was implicitly trusted. His accounts were found to be short, and Mr. Taylor on Oct. 21, decided to have them examined. Deceased, it is thought, learned of Mr. Taylor's intentions, and left the store. He was never seen alive afterwards by any of his relatives or friends.

Didn't Know His Wife.

When T. Coleman, a Brantford traveller, left on a three weeks' trip his wife was a yellow-faced, fagged-out woman. When he returned he didn't know her. Her eyes were bright and her skin clear, and she walked differently. Merrill's System Tonic did it. 50c for 50 doses. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

The Employes All Escaped.

Montreal, Nov. 13.—Flames broke out shortly after two o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Dominion Tobacco Co's factory, owned by A. and H. Goldestein, on Papineau St. The fire, which started in the bottom of the house, spread with fierce rapidity. For the space of five minutes after the fire broke out the seventy odd employes working in the upper flats of the building were thrown into a panic. Yet they all escaped. The damage to stock is $15,000, and to the building $3,200.

A Treasonable League.

Berlin, Nov. 13.—The Berlin correspondent of The Times says that the trial of Polish students has just ended at Posen. The court found that a league of Polish students was in existence, with the ultimate object of re-establishing the Kingdom of Poland. Its operations were, therefore, treasonable. The court based its conclusion on the fact that the so-called "Polish National Treasure" existed in Switzerland, and that contributions for this fund were collected from the students.

GALES FOR 36 HOURS

British Isles and Her Coast Swept by Fierce Storm.

LIGHTSHIP SUNK IN CHANNEL.

Many Shipping Disasters Attended by Great Loss of Life—Exciting Scenes at All Ports—A Collision Sinks the Loch Vennachar at the Mouth of the Thames—Parts of Country Flooded.

London, Nov. 13.—Violent wind, rain and snowstorms are reported from all the coasts of the United Kingdom. A fierce gale is blowing in the Channel, and mountainous seas are running. No fewer than half a dozen small vessels within sight of Dover are flying signals of distress, and the lifeboats are vainly attempting to reach them. A rocket apparatus has been sent to the South Foreland, where an Admiralty vessel is on the rocks, with the crew clinging to the rigging. Several vessels have been dismasted and tugs are rescuing craft which were driving ashore. At other Channel ports there have been similar exciting scenes. Ships everywhere are running for shelter.

The steamer Cato collided with the British ship, Loch Vennachar, Captain Bennett, at the mouth of the Thames. The latter foundered, but the crew were saved.

Wild weather prevails over the lake district. The first snow is falling on the Westmoreland hills.

The seas are so high off the Tyne that shipping has been stopped. Even river traffic is partially suspended, and hundreds of men are idle. There have been a number of wrecks on the Sunderland Coast.

There have been serious floods in Yorkshire. In Ireland great damage has been done by floods. Several fatal accidents have occurred. In some parts of the country the rain has continued for 36 hours.

The gale was still raging unabated last night along the coast. Reports continually arrive of shipping casualties. Altogether nine persons were drowned in these disasters. Five vessels have been wrecked in Kingstown harbor, which is strewn with wreckage.

The mail boat Nord, which started from Dover for Calais at half past 11 Monday night, ran down the lightship of the works of the Dover pier. The crew of the lightship were drowned. It is reported in Dover that 16 persons went down with the lightship. The Nord has gone ashore at the Foreland, but her passengers are said to be safe.

Heavy Weather in Indies.

Kingston, Ja., Nov. 13.—The northern and the eastern portions of the island are cut off from Kingston by heavy weather. Rivers have overflowed their banks, and are doing considerable damage to the railroad line to Port Antonio and the north side towns.

Captain Blaisdell and crew of four men were rescued, after having suffered terribly from exposure.

Chinese Make Arms.

London, Nov. 13.—Telegraphing from Hankow, Nov. 5, the Pekin correspondent of The Times, Dr. Morrison, says: "The Yangtse Valley is now peaceful, and no doubt is entertained that the court will return to Pekin. Trade is very active here. The manufacture of arms and ammunition are proceeding on a great scale at all the principal Chinese arsenals. There are 2,000 workmen in the Hankow arsenal."

NO GENEROUS TREATMENT.

New York Journal Warns Canadians to Be Undeceived.

New York, Nov. 13.—The Journal, commenting editorially on Hon. David Mills' article in The Empire Review protesting against the American demand for control over the Nicaragua Canal, suggests that if Canada wants perfect equality respecting the canal, she must have $100,000,000 handy to pay one-half of its cost. Concluding, The Journal says:

"If anybody in England or Canada is counting on "generous" treatment in the Alaskan boundary affair in exchange for concessions in Nicaragua it is better for him to be undeceived now than later. But as to the "other matters," if that means better tariff arrangements, there ought to be generosity, not only for Canada's sake, but for our own."

Chafing and Itching Skin

Annoying Rashes, Inflammations and Irritations Are Soothed, Healed and Cured by the Great Skin Food.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

There is always mystery and doubt about the action of internal remedies. Time is required for the medicine to take effect. It is different with Dr. Chase's Ointment, for it is applied externally and you are sure to be surprised at the remarkable change it brings about in a few hours. Its cleansing, soothing, healing action allays inflammation and irritation, removes redness and roughness of the skin, and leaves the skin delightfully smooth, soft and velvety.

Notwithstanding its powerful action in the severest cases of skin disease, Dr. Chase's Ointment can be used with perfect safety on the most tender skin, and is especially suited for the chafings, itchings and irritations which are so troublesome during the hot summer weather. Ladies keep it constantly in their toilet, and mothers who have used it in place of powders for their babies, would not think of changing. It does not clog the pores of the skin, as do powders, does not stain the linen, and is pleasant to use.

Mr. Hiram Frey, Norwood, Ont., states: "I was troubled for ten years with eczema on one leg. The itching was terrible, and when it was scratched the blood would come. The doctors could not cure me. Fortunately I heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and its persistent use has completely cured me. There is now no trace of the disease left. My little girl two years old has also been cured of eczema by Dr. Chase's Ointment. Her face was a mass of sores and we had to bandage her hands to keep her from scratching it. To-day her face is clear of even the scars which the ugly sores made, and she is thoroughly cured. I am glad of an opportunity to let people know what a blessing Dr. Chase's Ointment has proved itself to us."

Dr. Chase's Ointment is the standard ointment the world over. It promptly and thoroughly relieves and cures eczema, salt rheum, and the most turturing forms of itching skin disease. Sixty cents a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 9

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

The receipts of live stock at the Cattle Market were large, 90 carloads all told, composed of 1700 cattle, 500 hogs, 787 sheep and 20 calves. Out of this number may be deducted 400 export cattle, which were purchased in the country by Mr. Joseph Gould, and not for sale on this market, merely being delivered by the different dealers from whom they had been purchased in the country. These cattle came from Alta Craig, Komoka, Bothwell and Strathroy.

The demand for choice, well-bred, heavy feeding steers was good, and there was not enough to supply the different dealers and farmers who were looking for them. Prices for these were practically unchanged from the quotations given below.

Montreal Shipping Men Interview the Government.

THE HEAVY INSURANCE RATES.

Urgency of Taking Certain Measures Which Will Tend to Reduce Them Laid Before Ministers—Services of British Engineer Desired—Hon. Mr. Tarte Replies on Behalf of the Government.

Ottawa, Nov. 13.—A deputation of shipping men from Montreal had an interview with the Government yesterday morning in regard to the urgency of taking certain measures which will tend to reduce the present heavy insurance rates on shipping using the St. Lawrence route. The Ministers present were Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. J. Israel Tarte, Hon. W. S. Fielding, Hon. James Sutherland and Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick. The delegation consisted of Messrs. Robert Reford, Henry Darling, John Torrance, A. A. Allan and C. J. Smith. A written statement setting forth the wishes of the deputation was read by Mr. Reford.

Mr. Tarte's Reply.

Hon. Mr. Tarte said he agreed with the delegation on many points. He supported the suggestion that an English officer report on our aids to navigation, because it would give confidence to the shipping and marine insurance men on the other side. Reports had been made to the Government regarding additional facilities, and would doubtless be acted upon. Since he came into office he had not been idle. Five powerful dredges had been constructed, including the J. Israel Tarte, which would be tested at Toronto on the 19th inst. A sixth dredge would be provided by next season. With the exception of about 50 miles, the channel between Montreal and Quebec had been deepened to 30 feet and widened to 450 feet. Within two seasons, or perhaps a little more, the entire channel would be completed to those dimensions. He approved of placing lighted buoys in the channel for night navigation, and it seemed to him that they should have electricity for the purpose. What mattered an expenditure of $250,000, or even $500,000, when there was so much at stake?

Hon. James Sutherland assured the deputation that a report would be laid before Council on the important points alluded to, so that the Government might be in a position to take action.

After the interview the members of the delegation were entertained at luncheon by the Minister of Public Works.

Minister Shot At.

Bogota, Columbia, Nov. 13. — A sentinel at Tequendama Falls, on Oct. 35, declined to honor the passport of United States Minister Charles Burdett Hart, and fired one shot at the diplomat. The Minister was not hit by the bullet. The Government has severely punished the sentinel, and is seeing that the Minister is fully protected,

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS . . .

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $180 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355.92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

Drew a Big Crowd.

The "Parson's Nephew" drew an overflowing house last evening, and the audience was well pleased with the manner in which the performance was put on. The fire scene was by far the most realistic ever seen in Peterborough. The statement can readily be believed that not long since, in a nearby town, a fireman, seeing the reflection of the flames through the window, called out the brigade. LOCAL LEGAL.

Dunlop v. Perth Mutual Fire Ins. Co.—Judgment (G. A. B.) in action tried at Peterborough brought to recover amount of loss by fire to certain goods insured under a policy issued by defendants. The Chief Justice finds that the plaintiff in his application misrepresented the cash value of the goods, which was a misrepresentation of a fact material to be made known to defendants, preferring to accept the evidence of the local agent; and further finds that the circumstances of the case were sufficiently suspicious to justify defendants in setting up any and every technical defence. The certificate of the notary public acting for plaintiff is not a compliance with demand of defendants, and they may amend their defence, if necessary. Action dismissed with costs. D. W. Dumble, (Peterborough) and I. P. de Laplante (Peterborough) for plaintiff. J. P. Mabee, K. C., and G. G. McPherson, K. C., for defendants.

What the Papers Say Regarding the London Team.

They Will Likely be Thrown Out of the Union This Evening—Other Sporting Notes.

There was an important meeting of the local Executive and the members of the first team in the Y. M. C. A. last night, the President, Mr. R. F. McWilliams was in the chair and matters of interest to the club were discussed and the club was found to be sadly in debt as a result of the trip to London. Nothing definite was arrived at as the club will have to await the outcome of the meeting of the O. R. F. U. Executive in Toronto to-night, when the London matter re Peel will be fully looked into.

The Peterborough first team will have a practice this evening. The newspapers in Toronto and throughout the province are even more than jumping into London, for playing Peel on Saturday against Peterborough, well knowing him to be a professional.

The Toronto Telegram says,—"London, Ont., Canada West—the home of crooked sport."

The Toronto News in referring to the matter says—"The O.R.F.U. Executive will be perfectly justified in professionalizing the entire London team for playing Peel on Saturday against Peterborough. The Forest City club knew all the circumstances of the case, and were perfectly aware that in playing Peel they were playing a man who had been declared a professional and one who had never been reinstated."

"If London is professionalized there surely can be no a-Peel."

Toronto Globe: "The status of Harry Peel is that he played in an Ontario Rugby Union match when he was not qualified, and the status of the London Club's management is that it showed as much sense as a headless chicken. To put on a player who was known to be ineligable was to throw away any chance of securing a championship which the club had every probability of winning. "The offence alleged to have been committed" by the London Hockey Club was proved to the hilt to be one of the most rascally performances in the annals of sport in Canada.

HEARD OF LONDON BEFORE.

The London News says:—"That the Peterborough men came to London primed for anything that might occur is proven by the fact that Referee Griffith was notified previous to coming to London by Secretary McMurrich, of the O.R.F. U., "to keep an eye on the London men." In his letter to the referee, Secretary McMurrich said it was not necessary to comment on London's reputation in regard to playing football, and the referee notified the President of the London club that there was to be no dirty work. The Londoners justly regard this as an insult, and they consider the action of the O.R.F.U. Secretary uncalled for. Mr. McMurrich will not enhance his reputation in sporting circles by resorting to such scurvy tricks. London will play no rougher than Peterborough or any other team. But they can have it as rough as they want it."

NOTES OF THE GAME.

The London News makes the following notes on the game;—

Dillon the big inside wing for Peterborough, was the largest man on the field, but Clarkson had him beaten from the first set to the last.

The game was not rough. It was a hard game but it certainly was not dirty.

Two of the Peterborough men are ex-Varsity players. McPherson the brilliant half, was at one time captain of the Varsity association football team. R. McWilliams is a Varsity man of '98. McPherson teaches in the Peterborough Collegiate. McWilliams is a lawyer.

London's weakness was in following up and in tackling. London's strength was in keeping possession of the ball.

"There are three men on that team of yours that are certainly wonders," said the manager of the Peterborough football team. "They are your quarter—F. Taylor, that big scrimmager—Lucas, and your inside wing, Bice."

Peterborough was not well captained. In the first half possession of the ball meant everything, yet all the Peterborough halves played far back in the field instead of getting into the game and strengthening the line.

Bell, the Peterborough quarter, was never in sight.

Carrothers had little difficulty in beating his check McWilliams.

Here is a tragedy in brief. Meagher, of Peterborough, was laid out just as half time was called. Shortly after the game began in the second half he was well enough to go on the touch line, and watch the game. Patterson was hurt about ten minutes after half time had been called. A quarter of an hour later a bedraggled Peterborough man, with a face disfigured, a lip the size of an ordinary hand came out to the touch line and said, "Meagher, perhaps you don't know me. I am Patterson. Can you tell me what happened out there? I was playing football a short time ago, but I just came to, back there in that shed. What happened?

Burnham is the captain of the Peterboroughs. He usually plays half but in the shift around went into the scrimmage. Scott was acting captain.

The smallest man on the field was Bell, and next was F. Taylor.

Mr. McWilliams informed a News representative on Saturday evening that Peterborough would not protest the game on account of Peel's playing.

"We will simply report the fact that Peel played to the O. R. F. U. That body can take what action it thinks proper.

AN AMERICAN VISITOR.

He Made Things Lively Yesterday Afternoon—Fined $10 This Morning.

George Weachter is a young man of apparently 27 years of age. He says he is an American and comes from Ohio, and in the general exodus of labour which is now turning from that country to Canada, George came over in search of employment, and found it on the canal across in Ashburnham. Here he worked for some time, and boarded at Mrs. Wm. Russell's, a resident of Ashburnham. The family lately moved to town, taking a house on Hunter street, not far from the bridge. George did not come with them, but he called up there yesterday and truly misbehaved himself. He was the worse of liquor and at once began to make himself most obnoxious. When ordered out by Mrs. Russell, he assaulted not only that lady but Mrs. Russell's sister as well. The police were sent for and P. C. McGinty conveyed the American gentleman to the police station. At the police court this morning he was fined $10 or two months. He paid the fine.

A Consultation Held.

Drs. McCabe, Rush and Sims, three of the most eminent American doctors, in a series of articles outlined a tonic treatment calculated to cure a vast number of diseases. Their suggestions were embodied in a formula, which is dispensed by a Brantford druggist, and called Merrill's System Tonic. It is a reliable and pleasant remedy for stomach, bowel and kidney diseases. Sold at 50c per bottle at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

IT WAS "SILENT JOHN."

The Man Who Was Found Down the Well on the Crowley Farm.

There remains little doubt that the man found in the well on the Crowley farm in Otonabee was that of "Silent" John Hooper. While many of the residents in that vicinity have doubts as to this, not being able to fully recognize the dead man, owing to his horribly decomposed state, still the greater majority of those who have viewed the remains say that they are those of "Silent" John. Among the latter number are Chief Rossel and P. C. Adams. They are both firmly of the opinion that it is "Silent" John, who met so mysterious an end.

The Chief and P. C. Adams, as well as other members of that force, have reason to know Hooper, for although they may not have seen him of late, still he is not a stranger to the local Police Court. He has been up on more than one occasion for vagrancy, and the last time, which was in 1895, he was given a six months term in the Central Prison. He was a weak-minded, harmless creature, who was always in destitute circumstances. No one, of course, claimed the remains, and as they were in too advanced a state of decomposition to be forwarded to the medical schools, as is done generally with unclaimed bodies, it will be buried here.

Continuation of Report of a Successful Meeting.

MR. STRATTON DEALS WITH TIMBER QUESTION

History of Liberal Dealing With Our Crown Timber—Public Interest the First Consideration—Steps Leading to Home Manufacture—Absurdity of the Opposition Claim.

Below is the continuation from yesterday of the report of Mr. Anderson's meeting at Westwood. Continuing his remarks, Mr. Stratton said that:

In the past thirty years there had been expended over ten millions of dollars for Public Works and Public Buildings, and it was to be noted that all our Public Buildings had been erected without borrowing one cent of money, something that no other province or country had done. Over five millions of this had been spent for asylum and reformatory purposes alone, and about nine millions of dollars for railway aid. We had helped to build 2126 miles of railway out of 5256 miles built—more more than would reach across the ocean. That would mean seven parallel lines from Toronto to Montreal and four lines from Windsor to Montreal. What railway had we aided that shouldn't have been aided? In these items alone there is a grand total of over seventy-five millions, which is practically an uncontrollable expenditure.

All Lessening Taxation and Helping the People.

Mr. Stratton asked where was the railway or the road that should not have been built? Where was the railway that the people would be willing to do away with? Where was the Public Work that was not required? Where was the Public Building not utilized? From what hospital or charitable institution would you cut off the small grant it gets? Where are patients in public institutions more economically or better maintained than in our institutions? Perhaps Mr. Whitney wants, as he puts it, to get the finances in a proper condition by compelling municipalities to maintain their insane, which are now cared for by the Province, or does he wish to unload the care of the insane now assumed by the Province upon the home, or, as is done in some of the other provinces, on the nearest relative? Does he desire the grants to be withdrawn from all the Agricultural Associations? Does he wish the expense of the Administration of Justice to be borne by the counties; instead of being shared by the Government? Does he want the High School, Public School and Separate School grants withdrawn? By what mysterious way does he propose to reduce the expenditure? The County of Peterborough had received from the Ontario Government from 1871 to 1900, inclusive, not taking the present year into account, the large sum of $844,976.66 for the following services, showing derived by County of Peterborough from 1871 to 1900, inclusive:

The Amount of Benefit

Maintenance of Peterborough patients in Insane Asylum ...	$168,178 39
Maintenance of prisoners in Central Prison	14,205 30
Maintenance and Education of boys sent to Reformatory...	12,383 53
Education and care of blind children...	13,414 95
Education and care of deaf and dumb children...	15,409 10
Direct Grants to Public, Separate and High Schools	206,091 00
Aid to Public Libraries	13,304 52
Grants to Agricultural Societies...	44,171 00
To assist Administration of Justice...	52,495 91
Aid to Hospitals and Charities:
Nicholls Hospital, started in 1890...	19,234 74
St. Joseph's Hospital started in 1896...	9,595 35
Protestant Home, started in 1886...	6,113 78
House of Providence, started in 1890... &...	5,308 76
Aid to Railways:—
Cobourg, Peterborough and Marmora Railway...	18,740 00
Grand Junction Railway.....	58,568 00
Paid under Surplus Distribution...	47,832 12
Grants to Colonization Roads East and West Peterborough	141,978 21
	$844,976 66

Here we had nearly a million of dollars paid to the County of Peterborough directly from the Provincial treasury. (Applause.) What had been done for Peterborough had been done in proportion for every county in the province. If only half the amount had been expended in this way, leaving the counties to pay the balance, we might have had the counties burdened with debt, or the tax payer poorer, and might have had a big surplus in the treasury. The Opposition say that we have squandered the money. Where was this money squandered? Did Mr. Whitney, or can Mr. Whitney, show what has been squandered in East Peterborough, or what has been spent that was not directly in the people's interests? Reckless assertion didn't convince a jury; there must be evidence, and the people in this case are the jury, and Mr. Whitney must bring something more than strong language before he can hope to get a verdict in his favour. (Applause.) Let us take, said Mr. Stratton, the expenditure per head, of the various provinces, and see how we stand. For every man, woman and child there is spent in the following provinces the following sums:

Prince Edward Island.....	$3 33
British Columbia.....	3 33
Manitoba.....	4 58
New Brunswick.....	2 47
Nova Scotia.....	2 04
Quebec.....	2 74
Ontario.....	1 74

So that here was further proof that Ontario had

First-Class Financial Management.

A further contrast was submitted: Quebec paid every year a million and a half dollars as interest on the money she owed. Ontario received every year $314,000 of interest on moneys invested. Quebec had a gross debt of thirty-five millions. Ontario, after liquidating every dollar of railway certificates and annuities, meeting every outstanding obligation, would have, if the affairs of the province were handed over tomorrow, two and a half million dollars of a surplus. (Applause.) British Columbia had a debt of seven and a half millions; Nova Scotia, nearly four millions; New Brunswick over three millions; Manitoba nearly six millions. Every city and town in the Dominion had a debt, except Ontario and no public servants in any country or any age had expended the money of the people to better advantage than the Government of Ontario. (Applause.) Ontario was in a class by herself in the matter of freedom from debt. If you want, Mr. Stratton said, to get her into the congenial company of the other provinces in this respect, turn our affairs over to Mr. Whitney, and rest assured that in less than five years Ontario won't be lonesome any longer, and will be able to boast of her debt as she now can boast of her surplus. (Applause.) We had a sample of what the Opposition would do. They wanted to give away our license revenue, from which we received last year $354,000; they opposed succession duties, from which last year we obtained $226,676 They have always been from which we have derived a million and a half dollars of revenue. They opposed the Revenue Bill, from which the province got last year $229,774. We received from these three sources alone nearly three and a quarter of a million last year, nearly enough to pay the annual provincial appropriation for Education. Would Mr. Whitney abolish these, as he had opposed them? Is that the way he would "get our finances right?" How is he going to cut off the revenue and reduce the expenditure at the same time? If he reduced the expediture he would have to touch the people hard, for about nine-tenths of the provincial expenditure represented money returned to the people to save or lessen their local taxation. But those who knew Mr. Whitney knew that he talked very largely for effect.

THE TIMBER QUESTION AND POLICY

The Opposition insistently and, as the facts existed, unreasonably, complained, of the management of the Crown domain by the Liberal Government. The province, Mr. Stratton said, had received from Woods and Forests twenty-six or twenty-seven millions of dollars, and the province had expended upon public buildings and the maintenance of unfortunates in our asylums a sum equal to, or rather a little larger, than the revenue from forests. It was a continual cry that the timber resources of the country were not judiciously handled. Before considering that question, it might be pertinent to inquire if the Conservative party would do any better. Indeed, judging by the past, they would do much worse. When the Conservatives were trying, but prevented by Sir Oliver Mowat, to give away to Quebec and Manitoba 100,000 square miles of territory belonging to Ontario, to get a little "rake of" before the spoil was divided, the Conservative Government of the Dominion gave away—it couldn't be called sold — to the faithful of the party, members of Parliament and party workers, 50,000 square miles of timber land at less than one cent an acre, and amongst those getting a slice was Mr. William Broder, a bosom friend and political chum of Mr. Whitney. Could that be called judiciously handling our timber resources? To describe these two transactions required rather strong language, and Mr. Whitney could not complain if his own words were borrowed to characterize these two "deals" — as the 'most phenomenal steal, the most heinous crime, and the greatest attempt at public robbery, ever attempted in this or any other country."

Our Crown Lands.

There was no feature of the Liberal Government which had been more persistently and unreasonably assailed than its relation to the Crown Lands — more especially its timber policy. They had been accused of wastefulness, of extravagance, of squandering the Provincial resources, of spending their capital. There was no single Department which had been more judiciously and cautiously administered with an eye both to the present and future requirements of the people. The management of the timber resources of the Province of Ontario would challenge comparison with that of any state or province on the continent, as to the completeness with which the public interests were safeguarded, and the extent of the revenue secured in proportion to the privileges granted to the public.

The policy of the Government as regarded the forests had been as in other departments, a progressive policy. It had been developed step by step as conditions changed and new exigencies arose. They owed no thanks to the Opposition, who had not contributed anything in the way of constructive suggestions. Intricate problems had frequently arisen owing to the advance of settlement, to international relations and to the growth of the market, and the possible danger of the exhaustion of the supply, but the Government had boldly faced and settled them all.

The accusation of the reckless destruction of the forests was an old one. It was a favourite Opposition cry a generation ago. Every timber sale was greeted with the outcry, "Oh, you are devastating the forests; you are living on your capital." The latter expression had become one of the stock Opposition cries. It was heard regularly every session. Now what was the "capital" of a community but its productive capacity? The land of by far the greater proportion of settled Ontario and of a considerable area of New Ontario, as everyone knew,

Could be Turned to Better Account

in raising wheat and cattle, cheese and butter, than by letting it remain timbered. So long as the soil was fit for agriculture and the settler was waiting to follow up the lumberman, making the country many times more productive than before, they were surely husbanding and increasing the real "capital" of the country by its clearance.

But there was another point overlooked by the critics of the Government, viz., that, with the extension of settlement and the construction of pioneer railways, the danger of extensive losses of standing timber, by fire was greatly increased. Large regions had in times past been devastated by these visitations. Fire was a far greater cause of destruction than the lumberman's axe. Repeated conflagrations moreover often destroyed the power of the forest to reproduce itself. Wherever settlement was advancing and the land was fit for agriculture, it was the prudent and proper course to realize the value of the timber as quickly as possible. Moreover, the standing timber was subject to natural decay. To attempt to conserve the forest by excluding the lumbermen was simply to allow the maturing crop to go to waste—to permit your "capital" to stand idle, and deteriorate.

As the wave of civilization rolled northward, a region was reached which was not well adapted for agricultural purposes. Large areas were sterile, rough and broken. The land produced timber, and that being destroyed, it was not fitted to produce anything else of value. Plainly an entirely different policy was demanded from that pursued in dealing with agricultural lands. Scientific research had demonstrated the necessity of keeping a certain proportion of the land permanently in timber in order to promote equable rainfall and to thus preserve climatic conditions favourable to agriculture. Great advances had been made of late years in the science of forestry as applicable to the economic conditions prevailing on this continent. But it took some time to popularize the idea. Those who had been accustomed to regard the forest as an enemy to be overcome and the timber supply as practically without an end, were slow to realize the need of forest preservation. The fact that the region immediately to the north of the settled area was not only comparatively infertile, but was also the source of many streams and rivers pointed to the desirability of maintaining large portions of it as Permanent Forest Reserves.

The lands being withheld from settlement and protected against fire, would furnish a source from which a supply of timber can be steadily drawn under conditions which will allow of the crop being reproduced. On this question the Government has not been merely abreast of public opinion—they had been a long distance in advance of it. They might fairly be said to have created it. For eighteen years they had been educating the public on the subject. The appropriations necessary to maintain the Bureau of Forestry had been opposed by the very men, including Mr. Whitney, the leader of Opposition, who had protested against timber sales as wasteful and destructive. Their idea of "preserving the capital" of the Province was simply to shut out the lumbermen and leave the trees to mature and decay—or more probably, go up in smoke, and sink down in ashes.

As a result of investigations of the Forestry Bureau, acting in co-operation with practical lumbermen, forest reserves had been established. It was altogether a new departure. The Government had not proceeded rashly or hastily. They had advanced step by step, with due regard to all interests concerned, whether of the public, the settler, or the lumberman. They had begun in 1893 by setting aside Algonquin Park, comprising 1,109,000 acres. Another reserve of 80,000 acres subsequently set aside in the Counties of Addington and Frontenac; then an area of 40,000 acres near Port Arthur, and last year the pine bearing region around Lake Temagami, covering 1,460,000 acres had been constituted a reserve, making in all upwards of two million and a half acres. Other areas, which might on survey be found suited for the purpose, might be added to the list under the authority given to the Government by the Forest Reserves Act of 1898.

In the United States this question had been forced upon the national and state governments by popular agitation. Influential societies and prominent newspapers took the matter up and urged it on the attention of legislators. In Ontario the Liberal Government led the movement. They grappled with the problem of their own accord, and created the public sentiment necessary to enable them to carry out their views. Only a short time ago widespread misconceptions on the subject prevailed. It was the general popular belief that the pine forest would not reproduce itself—that when the original growth was once removed, nothing but inferior kinds of timber would succeed it. This impression was shared even by experienced lumbermen. The latter, consequently, sought to clear off their limits as quickly as possible without looking forward to a fresh growth as a future asset. It had now been clearly established and was generally understood, that the first growth of pine when cleared away, would be succeeded by another, if due care was taken to keep out fire. In short, it had been shown that it was possible and profitable to treat the forest like a farm, reaping periodical crops of the mature timber, and preserving the conditions favourable to the growth of another timber harvest.

The whole lumbering industry was being put upon a more stable and permanent basis. The establishment of the system of fire-ranging in 1885 and its subsequent extension had greatly lessened the danger of loss from fire. The confidence and co-operation of the lumbermen had been secured. They were induced to see that, with proper precautions against forest fires, their interests were best served, not by wholesale and indiscriminate cutting, but by taking out the larger timber and letting the younger trees attain maturity.

The Opposition had had no share in shaping the policy of the Government on this question. They had done nothing but shriek hysterically, "Woodman, spare that tree," whenever the Government held a timber sale. There would be about as much sense in crying "Farmer, spare that wheat," when harvest time came.

The Principle of Economic Forestry

was that every tree should be cut as soon as it had attained maturity, and that another should replace it. The Opposition had shown no intelligent grasp of the situation. On April 4, 1894 they introduced a resolution to strike out the appropriation for salary and disbursements of the Clerk of Forestry, on the ground that the office should be discontinued. On April 10th, 1895, they again opposed the vote, but on a totally different ground. Mr. Howland moved that it should be struck out,—"the same

ARBITRATION APPEAL

Administrative Council to Meet at The Hague on Nov. 20

A PEACE POLICY AND A DENIAL

A Demand by the London Times for the Information Lord Salisbury Said Ministry Could Not Divulge—Comments on the Premier's Speech by Continental Papers—Brilliant Work in the Field.

The Hague, Nov. 12.—The Administrative Council of the arbitration tribunal will meet Nov. 20 to decide on the appeal of the Boers against the ruling that the war in South Africa is not subject to the court's consideration.

Alleged Peace Scheme.

London, Nov. 12.—The Daily Mail gives to-day another alleged peace scheme, which Mr. Kruger is said to be willing to conclude. This would be on the basis of granting autonomy to the two republics, under a convention guaranteed by France and Russia, in exchange for a cession to Great Britain of the Rand district, and the gold fields, which should be regarded as the total Boer indemnity.

Denied by Boers.

London, Nov. 12.—The story circulated in the United States by a news agency yesterday, under an American date, purporting to give the peace terms which the Boers are willing to accept and alleging that they are to be embodied in a formal document for circulation among the powers, was seemingly started in an English provincial paper and is denied by the Boer delegates at The Hague.

DEMAND FOR INFORMATION.

London Times and Continental Papers Comment on Salisbury's Speech.

London, Nov. 12.—In an editorial article on the speech delivered by Lord Salisbury at the Guildhall banquet on Saturday, The Times says the Premier must know that Great Britain went to war in South Africa very imperfectly equipped with knowledge. The urgent representations of many who knew the country and the Boer people were put aside as not worth listening to by the official advisers, who subsequently found everything to learn. When the country is spending a million and a half pounds weekly, it must readily be pardoned if it sometimes asks whether there has been slackness in the discharge of duty when there might have been energy and alertness of provision. The Times concludes by suggesting that the nation should be told exactly what the rate of progress in South Africa is.

The Paris Journal des Debats, quoted in a despatch to The Times from the French capital, in referring to Lord Salisbury's speech, insists that the British Ministry made the war in South Africa inevitable, and that it has mismanaged it.

The Brussels correspondent of The Times says the Belgium press declares Lord Salisbury's speech unduly optimistic, and intentionally calculated to throw dust in the eyes of his audience. Sir W. Vernon Harcourt's opinions, expressed in his letter to The Times, naturally furnish matter for comparisons unfavorable to British policy, but there is less virulence than usual in the tone of those journals especially devoted to the cause of the Boers.

A Brilliant Exploit.

Pretoria, Nov. 11.—The capture of Commandant Muller's laager near Balmoral by Colonel Williams on Oct. 27th was a most clever piece of work.

The Boer outposts were rushed at night and captured after an exchange of shots, which alarmed a portion of the sleeping enemy, who, without waiting to wake up the others, retreated with a pom-pom in the direction of Rhenosterdorp. The remainder were completely surprised, dazed, and powerless.

Leaving a few men to guard the prisoners, Colonel Ross, with the Canadian Scouts, followed the tracks of the enemy, and was joined later by columns with the captured. The troops bivouacked for a midday rest when the Boers opened fire with a pom-pom at long range, bursting shells in the centre of the horse lines and camp. A section of the battery dashed out and silenced the gun with two shells.

On the return journey, near Ecrstefabrieken, the Boers again opened fire, having taken up a position commanding the road, but were dislodged with a loss of six killed, our casualties altogether being one killed and three wounded. The rest of the journey was uneventful.

Scouts Surprised.

Cape Town, Nov. 12.—On October 20th a patrol of ten Georgetown scouts was surprised at Steyn's Farm, on the Doorn River, by forty Boers. Seven of the scouts managed to ride off and escape, but the three others had to make a fight of it from the house, their horses having bolted.

When it became evident that further resistance was hopeless one of them named Blanco Pulvermacher came out of the house unarmed with his hands up as a token of surrender, but was shot down at short range, and died soon afterwards.

More Casualties.

London, Nov. 12.—Lord Kitchener reports that, in the recent fight at Brakenlaagte, an addition to the 289 casualties already reported must be made. The British lost 12 killed and 32 wounded.

South African Claims.

London, Nov. 13.—The South African Compensation Committee yesterday heard counsel in behalf of a French claimant, Martin, now of New York, who demanded £20,000. The chairman remarked that it was clearly established that Martin had not been deported by the British military authorities, and that, therefore, his claim was not within the scope of the commission.

Major-General Sir John Ardagh, the representative of the Government, announced that the Government had settled with the Netherlands claimants for an aggregate sum of £37,500.

Dewet's Vacation.

London, Nov. 12.—A Belgian, who has just returned from the Transvaal, had seen one of General Dewet's men previous to his departure, who told him that Dewet had given three months' leave to all his men.

Westerners Would Go.

Winnipeg, Nov. 12.—Col. Evans, C. B., returned yesterday afternoon from his annual trip of inspection to the posts in his district to the west. Col. Evans says that he has been much impressed by the evident spirit of military enthusiasm in the Canadian West, and thinks that, should another call be made for troops to go to South Africa, Western Canadians would respond with even greater enthusiasm than was shown two years ago.

Bound for South Africa.

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 12.—Bombardiers Fee and Pearcy, Gunners Hunt and Naylor of A Battery are missing. They left on Saturday night. It is thought the soldiers, inspired by the situation in South Africa, desired to go to that land and see active service. They were heard frequently discussing the matter, and expressing a desire to have a little share in the fighting. They may sail from a United States port.

What is it?

Vapo-Cresolene is the vapor of Cresolene. You put the Cresolene in the vaporizer, then light the lamp just beneath. When the vapor rises, you inhale it. What is Vapo-Cresolene? It's something like carbolic acid, only much more powerful. It kills all germs of disease and heals inflamed membranes. It's the perfect cure for whooping cough. Nothing equals it for asthma, catarrh, hay fever, colds.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. The Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a lifetime, and a bottle of Cresolene complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. VAPO-CRESOLENE Co., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

Enthusiastic Converts.

There are Thousands of Them Who Believes as This Woman Does.

Miss Ira Knowlton, of Butte, Montana, is a most enthusiastic convert to the virtues of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets as a cure for obstinate stomach troubles. She says: "I had poor digestion nearly all my life. It now seems to me that for years I never knew what it was to be hungry, to have a good natural appetite.

"I was troubled with gas in the stomach, causing pressure on the heart with palpitation and short breath. Nearly everything I ate soured on my stomach; sometimes I had cramps in the stomach which almost resembled spasms.

"Doctors told me I had catarrh of the stomach, but their medicines would not reach it, and I would still be a sufferer had I not in sheer desperation decided to try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"I knew they were an advertised remedy, and I didn't believe anything I read about them, as I had no confidence in advertised remedies, but my sister living in Pittsburg wrote me last spring telling me how Stuart's Tablets had cured her little daughters of indigestion and loss of flesh and appetite and I hesitated no longer.

"I bought a fifty cent box at my drug store, and took two of the large Tablets after each meal, and found them delightful to take, being as pleasant to the taste as caramel candy. Whenever during the day or night I felt any pain or uneasiness in the stomach or about the heart I took one of the small tablets and in three weeks it seemed to me as if I had never known what stomach trouble was.

"I keep Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in the house and every member of our family uses them occasionally after a hearty meal or when any of us have a pain or ache in the digestive organs."

Mr. E. H. Davis, of Hampton, Va., says; "I doctored five years for dyspepsia, but in two months I got more benefit from Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, than in five years of the doctor's treatment."

"Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of the stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, bloating after meals, sympathetic heart trouble.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is not a cheap cathartic but an active digestive remedy containing the pepsin and diastase which every weak stomach lacks, and they cure stomach troubles because they digest the food eaten, and give the weak, abused, over-worked stomach a chance to rest and recuperate.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold in every drug store in the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

Miss Stone Still Writes.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 12.— From another letter that has been received from Miss Ellen M. Stone, the abducted American missionary, it appears that she is enduring the trials of her hard experience with fortitude, forgetting herself in her anxiety for her companion, Mme. Tsilka. Miss Stone does not dare to complain of the treatment to which they are subjected, but she finds the confinement irksome and the weather extremely trying. The tone of the latest letter received from her is hopeful.

German Cabinet Meets.

Berlin, Nov. 12.—Count Von Buelow, the Imperial Chancellor, after going yesterday morning to Potsdam with Emperor William, called a Cabinet meeting yesterday afternoon. The North German Gazette asserts that the object of the meeting was to act upon changes made by the Bundesrath in the tariff bill. It is ascertained from sources inside the Bundesrath that some important changes have been made.

No One to Blame.

Hamilton, Nov. 12.—Last night Coroner Wolverton continued the inquest on the death of John Campbell, brakeman, of Allandale, who was killed the other day in the yard of the G.T.R. Many train hands testified. A verdict of accidental death, no blame attachable to any person, was rendered.

Don't Help Being Cranks.

It's the effect of dyspepsia on the nerves that makes the afflicted one morose and cranky. They can't help that though until they take Merrill's System Tonic, the only positive cure, not relief, for dyspepsia known. It cures by acting on the liver, nerves and bowels. Pleasant to take and three weeks' treatment for 50c. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's Pharmacy.

Islands Not Sold Yet.

Copenhagen, Nov. 12.—The Premier, Dr. Deuntzer, in an interview yesterday on the subject of the negotiations for the sale of the Danish West Indies, is quoted as saying that the Washington and the London despatches, declaring that the islands have been sold to the United States for $4,000,000, with the understanding that the inhabitants are to be granted citizenship and free trade, are all incorrect. The negotiations are progressing, but the result cannot be definitely predicted.

Wants Treaty Abrogated.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Representative Boutelle of Illinois yesterday arranged for future conference with the President on the subject of the abrogation of the treaty of 1817 with Great Britain, by which the building of war vessels on the Great Lakes is inhibited. Mr. Boutelle says there are a dozen or more shipyards on the Great Lakes, and that the antiquated treaty of 1817 prevents them from sharing the work of building smaller vessels of the navy with the seaboard shipyards.

On Magnetic Healing.

Much is spoken and written during these times about this mysterious method of treating disease. The most remarkable cases of magnetic healing which have come under the notice of the writer have been those in which Dr. Chase's Ointment was used. This preparation seems to have magical powers in stopping the dreadful itching, burning sensations of Salt Rheum and Eczema, and when used regularly makes the cure permanent and thorough.

Fire at Dawson.

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 12.— McDonald Hotel, Dawson, was partly destroyed by fire Oct. 31. Loss estimated at $20,000. Hotel was owned by Mrs. Alexander McDonald, wife of the Klondike King, and carried no insurance. At the time of the fire the thermometer stood 10 below zero. The firemen's efforts were to confine the fire to the third storey, but the whole building, furniture, etc., was damaged by water and smoke. Three whiskey distilleries and plant and a large quantity of liquor has been seized by the Dawson officers.

HENRY DEVNAY CURED OF LUMBAGO AND KIDNEY TROUBLE by Powley's Liquified Ozone

When kidney trouble is at an advanced stage it will evidence itself by back pains, headaches and neuralgic pains in the eyes. These are the most common signs; the urine will show conclusively what causes the trouble. Powley's Liquified Ozone, the new oxygen preparation, will cure kidney disorder in a wonderfully short time. It will relieve the pains almost immediately. We want you to notice our testimonials every one we publish is from Canada. We give you to-day the statement of Mr. Henry Devnay, who was cured of kidney trouble. Every word is true; you can investigate for your own satisfaction every word we publish.

About a year and a half ago I was taken down with what the doctors called lumbago and kidney trouble of a very bad form. I doctored with physicians for a year and found no relief from their medicines. Sometime in July, 1901, the minister of the B. M. E. church told me about the Ozone preparation and said it had done him a lot of good and asked me to try it. I went out and purchased a small bottle of Ozone and after taking it I noticed a slight improvement. I continued taking it for three months and the pain has left my kidneys and I am generally built up. In every way I feel better than I ever did before. I have now taken some ten bottles and I can honestly recommend this preparation to any person suffering with kidney disease. I give this testimony so that other sufferers may know of its value and wishing you every success, I am, Yours truly, (Signed) HENRY DEVNAY, 134 Elizabeth St., Toronto.

Ozone dissolves the impurities in the kidneys, causes them to do their work thoroughly, soothes the inflammations of the delicate tracts and strengthens all the organs of the body. It is curing chronic Bright's Disease in a manner fairly miraculous. It's Nature's process of cure; a thousand times more effective than any drug way. It is the greatest discovery in the curing of disease yet made. We want you to know about it.

MOVING MOUNTAINS.

These Great Bodies Are Constantly Slipping and Sliding.

"The mountains are constantly moving," was the remark of an officer of the Denver and Rio Grande road recently in speaking of the great landslides in the canyon above Glenwood Springs, Colo. "We find from actual experience in maintaining tunnels, bridges and tracks in the mountains that the mountains are moving. It costs a railway passing through the mountains a great deal of money in the course of ten years to keep the tracks in line, and maintenance of tunnels is even more expensive. Drive a stake on the side of a mountain, take the location with the greatest care and return after a few months. The stake is not in the same location. The whole side of the mountain has moved. This experiment has often been tried, and in all cases the result proves that the mountains are moving. The mountains are gradually seeking the level of the sea."

While we do not quite agree with the last assertion that "the mountains are seeking sea level" there appears no question that local movements are in progress in the Rockies, and the observations of the railroad surveyor are confirmed by those experienced in some of the mines. In quite a number of mines located on fissure veins or between highly tilted strata or in the vicinity of great falls movements have been for a long time observed and sometimes of so pronounced a nature that timbers after a few years are found so out of place as to require a complete new timbering of portions of a mine, and these movements do not seem to be the result, as in coal mines, of a creeping from excavation of material, but actual slipping or faulting movements of the mountain itself along certain lines, especially old fault planes and veins, the latter generally occupying fissures along fault lines.

A notable instance is in the mines of Smuggler mountain at Aspen, Colo., where in some of the deep workings timbers two feet thick and eight to ten feet long placed across the stopes are mapped in two like reeds and their ends broomed up by the overwhelming pressure and slipping movement of the walls. The ore bodies lie between strata almost vertically uptilted against a granite mountain or wall and abound in faults and slipping planes. These movements are not the result of excavation of the ore, but appear to come from a general movement of the hills slipping or faulting off from the granite wall

SIMPLE SALVE.

For neuralgia apply hot, dry flannels, as hot as can be borne.

Hemorrhages of lungs or stomach may be checked by small doses of salt and perfect quiet.

Nervous spasms are usually controlled by a little salt taken into the mouth and allowed to dissolve.

It is said that small pieces of ice applied suddenly, so as to surprise the patient, will stop persistent hiccoughing.

For stomach worms in a child mix one teaspoonful of powdered sage in two tablespoonfuls of molasses and give a teaspoonful every morning.

A sprain should be treated at once to an application of water as hot as can be borne. This may be showered upon it or cloths wrung out of hot water applied frequently.

For poison by poison oak or ivy take a handful of quicklime, dissolve in water, then paint the poisoned part with it. Two or three applications ordinarily will cure the most stubborn cases.

The Cleansing Ball.

The following is an excellent cleansing ball to prepare for use on clothes and woolen fabrics generally, says What to Eat:

Dissolve a bit of white soap the size of an egg in enough alcohol to cover it. Mix in the yolks of three eggs and a tablespoonful of oil of turpentine. Work in fuller's earth until it becomes stiff enough to form into balls and let them dry. When you wish to remove a stain, moisten the fabric with a little water, rub the ball well in, let it dry and brush off the powder.

There are three classes of stains these balls cannot remove—ink, iron rust and fruit stains. For ink, pour over milk, and as it becomes discolored absorb it with blotting paper. Then wash out well with tepid water and castile soap. If on white goods, lemon juice and common salt, often renewed and placed in the sun, are most efficient.

Felicia Dorothea Hemans.

When Felicia Dorothea Hemans was a little girl only thirteen years old, she had a volume of poems ready for publication. And very, very excellent poems they were, too, noble of thought and sweetly reverent. When she was nineteen years old, she married a military commander whose health had been shattered by the vicissitudes of camp life. He was irritable and trying, but this little girl, with her soul full of poetry and all the pure, lovely thought that can come to a good woman, went her unhappy way with courage and fortitude, writing verses that will live as a distinct part of English literature. What could be sweeter than her way of describing mother love?

There is none
In all this cold and hollow world, no fount
Of deep, strong, deathless love, save that within
A mother's heart.

A Needle Threader.

A machine which threads 1,000 needles a minute is at work in St. Gall, Switzerland. The purpose of the machine is to thread needles that are placed afterward in an embroidery loom for making Swiss or Hamburg lace. The device is almost automatic. It takes the needle from a hopper, carries it along and threads, ties the knot, cuts the thread off a uniform length, then carries the needle across an open space and sticks it in a rack. The work of threading these needles was formerly done by hand.

What Causes a Heavy Brain.

It is stated by an authority that the weight of a man's brain has nothing to do with his mental power. It is a question of climate, not of intellect. The colder the climate, the greater the size of the brain. The largest heads of all are those of the Chugatshes, who live very far north, and next come the heads of the Lapps.

A Question of Knowing.

"Ah, professor," exclaimed the conceited young man condescendingly, "I wish I knew as much as you do."

"You would know more than I," replied the shrewd professor, who understood this young man, "if you only knew as much as you think you know."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Sewing as a business is an exacting and exhausting occupation. Long hours, fine work, poor light, unhealthy atmosphere—these are only some of the things which fret the nerves and hurt the general health. Often there is a diseased condition of the womanly organism which causes backache or headache and the working of the sewing machine under such conditions is akin to torture.

Thousands of women who work have written grateful letters to Dr. R. V. Pierce, whose "Favorite Prescription" has cured their womanly ills and established their general health. "Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries unhealthy and offensive drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

SORTING APPLES PAYS.

A Fact Which Intelligent Fruit Growers Should Bear in Mind.

Market peculiarities have to be met and their demands satisfied. The man that sells apples should always sort them, for he will find a readier market for the different sizes if sorted than if sold together. No one appears to fancy a lot of little and big apples in the same lot. Buyers are governed by different motives in their purchases. Some well-to-do buyers want a uniform lot of large apples of good color, and will pay an advanced price for them. But many people prefer apples of medium size or below providing they are well colored. This is especially true of the heads of families of children, where apples are purchased in quantities of a peck at a time. A peck of big apples is soon used up, while a peck of medium-sized or small apples will last longer and give the children more satisfaction. The purchasers of these apples prefer them even at the same price they might have to pay for the large ones. Another very large class of people purchase small apples. They are the keepers of boarding-houses and hotels, and the purchases by these people are very large in quantity. The boarding-house keeper knows that, as a general thing, each guest will eat only one apple, whether large or small, and as a matter of economy the small fruit is purchased. These things show the necessity of sorting all fruit like apples.

To Preserve Color of Flowers

Several methods of preserving the natural color of pressed flowers have been suggested, but the best, it is said, is that used in the New York Botanical Garden. After the specimens have been under pressure for a day or two they are laid in papers heated in the sun, and this is repeated until the drying is complete. This preserves the colors perfectly.

THE COLD SPARE BED.

When you have a friend to visit you, if she be a welcome guest,
You will try to make her happy, and you'll give her of your best;
You'll tell her all the story of your varied household cares,
And everlastingly you'll prate about your own affairs;
But whatever else you do, don't, for heaven's sake, be led
To put that helpless woman in the cold spare bed!

You may tell her of your troubles with your numerous hired girls
And what "she said" and what "I said" till her understanding whirls;
You may talk of the servant question till the setting moon's last gleam
And begin again next morning on the same old tiresome theme;
But whatever else you do, don't, for heaven's sake, be led
To put that helpless woman in the cold spare bed!

You may tell her of your pains and aches and what the doctor said
That time you came near dying with neuralgia in your head;
Of how you poured down bitters and drops and patent pills
When you caught the dread malaria and had such awful chills;
You may bore her, you may weary her, till she wishes she were dead,
But, for heaven's sake, don't put her in the cold spare bed!

An Afghan Trick.

During a shooting match in the presence of the governor of Kandahar the sirdar noticed to his astonishment that the heads of sparrows were the favorite butt of the marksmen, who but seldom missed their aim, whereupon he declared that it was far more difficult to hit an egg. Sir Peter laughed at the supposition, but the sirdar stood his ground, and the matter was put to the test. An egg was suspended on a wall, and the soldiers fired at it; but, strange to say, not one of them hit the egg.

The governor and his suit kept their countenances and excused the nonsuccess of the firing party on the ground of the difficulty of the thing. At last a ball happened to hit the thread to which the egg was fastened, and it fell to the ground without breaking. Now the mystery was solved. The cunning Afghan had used a blown egg, and the featherweight shell had been moved aside each time by the current of air in front of the ball and thus escaped being hit.

Limited Numeral System.

The natives of Murray island, Torres strait, have a numerical system which is based on two numbers, netat, one, and neis, two. Above two they compute by composition—neis-netat means three, neis i neis (two and two), four. When they get above this figure, they have recourse to different parts of the body, beginning with the little and other fingers of the left hand and going from there to the wrist, elbow, armpit, shoulder, etc., on the left side, and thence down the right side to twenty-one, the toes giving ten numbers more, to thirty-one. Beyond this they are satisfied with "many."

ANDERSON OPENS IN ASPHODEL.

inadequate for any useful purpose in that behalf." Messrs. Whitney and Miscampbell, who the year before had voted for the abolition of the office as being unnecessary, stultified themselves by also supporting the latter motion, which admitted the utility of the office and declared the expenditure insufficient. It was just the same vague, shuffling, contradictory attitude which they exhibited throughout. The Opposition had no policy in regard to our timber; they appeared to be moved by the caprice of the moment, which seemed to promise embarrassment to the Government which was seeking to carry out a definite policy in the interests of our timber industry and resources, and consequently in the interests of the Province.

The Forestry problem was a problem no longer. It had been satisfactorily solved. A policy had been inaugerated which insured to the Province a permanent revenue, and to the industry and commerce of the future a perpetual source of timber supply.

An Impudent Claim.

The claim, which in the light of the facts, he would present, was nothing less than impudent, had been frequently made by the Opposition leaders that the policy of requiring all lumber to be manufactured in Canada, originated with them, and that the Government in inserting a clause to this effect in timber licenses in accordance with the act of 1898, had stolen their policy. They had charged furthermore that the course of the Government had been inconsistent and fluctuating. The Government policy had been regulated by the requirements of the situation, which had varied from time to time, according to our relations with the United States — the country which furnished the chief foreign market for our lumber. It was not a question of abstract principle but purely one of commercial expediency. The aim of the Government had been to do what was best for the interests of Ontario under existing conditions regulating access to the United States markets.

Under the Reciprocity Treaty Canadian lumber was freely admitted to the American market, and everything was satisfactory. In 1866 that treaty was abrogated, and a duty of 10 per cent. ad valorem imposed on lumber, Canada, in turn, placing an export duty of $1 per 1000 feet B.M. on saw logs. A severer blow was inflicted on the lumber trade in 1872 when the American Government imposed a specific duty of $2 per 1000 feet on manufactured lumber, without regard to its quality. The result was to shut out the lower grades which could no longer be profitably exported. The home market for these being limited much rough cull lumber was wasted. The cost of lumbering was increased, wasteful and destructive methods were encouraged and profits seriously reduced.

During a period of many years following, the question was left in the hands of the Dominion Government as pertaining to trade and commerce. The lumber trade was only one of many interests affected by hostile American legislation. Efforts were made from time to time to obtain either a renewal of the Reciprocity Treaty or freer trade relations. There was no question then of requiring saw logs to be sawn in Canada, as to the United States. This practice did not develop until 1868, when the export of logs from the north shore of Lake Huron was brought to the notice of the Government. Although the shipments were but small, the Government took action. By an act passed in that year the export duty was increased to $2 per thousand, and the Governor-in-Council authorized to increase it to $3 if it was deemed expedient. This was done by Order-in-Council in 1888. In view, however, of a probable arrangement with the United States for a reduction of the duties on sawn lumber, the export duty on logs was again reduced to $2 on July 5th, 1889, followed by its final abolition during the following year. In the five years from 1886 to 1890, the Dominion Government dealt with the question five different times. Down to this period the Dominion Government had been universally recognized as the proper authority to deal with the questions at issue, owing to the general desire to obtain better trade relations with the United States, and the importance of the lumber regulations as an element in the negotiations.

There was no Exportation of Logs

The Manufacturing Condition Imposed.

At this stage, before any conclusion had been reached, the Ontario Government held a timber sale in 1890. As the territory offered for sale included a large area from which shipments could easily be made to the United States, the Ontario Government deeming such action in harmony with the policy of the Dominion, and altogether expedient under the then existing conditions, inserted a condition in the terms of sale requiring the logs to be sawn in Canada.

Shortly afterwards the long desired understanding with the United States was reached. In reply to a question in the House of Commons, Sir John Macdonald stated that in the event of the United States Congress reducing the import duty on sawn lumber to $1 per 1000 feet, the Canadian Government would remove the export duty on saw logs. This information was conveyed to the American Government. The United States import duty was reduced to $1 and the Dominion Government reciprocated by removing the export duty.

An Impracticable Suggestion.

So far there had been no agitation for any Provincial action. Mr. Meredith had suggested that in future sales a condition of manufacture in the country should be inserted — but the agreement reached with the United States essentially changed the situation. It had secured the prosperity of the lumbering interest. It had enlarged the market for lumber and augmented the profits of the trade. To make it a condition of future sales, would have re-opened the whole question, and incurred the danger of losing the advantages already secured. The United States would have regarded such action as contrary to the spirit of the understanding arrived at, and a breach of good faith. There would have been an immediate danger of the re-imposition of the old duty, or a higher one, which would have paralysed the lumber trade, or brought on a financial crisis.

These considerations, coupled with the fact that only a small portion of the timber region affected presented opportunities for the shipment of logs to the United States, amply justified the Government in omitting the manufacturing clause in connection with the timber sale held in 1892.

Result Proved the Wisdom.

of this determination. Out of the 633 miles sold, only 78 miles were purchased by Americans, from which no logs were exported. The entire quantity of logs shipped across the line from the Territory did not exceed 5,000,000 feet, yet, if the Opposition leader's suggestion had then been followed, the Government, to save this trifling loss, would have plunged the whole lumber trade into confusion, endangered the satisfactory understanding arrived at with the Washington Government, and effectually blocked the way to any further concessions.

During the session of 1893, a motion was introduced by Mr. Miscampbell, M.P.P., for East Simcoe, as follows:

"That all the words after 'that' be struck out, and the following substituted: 'This House disapproves of the policy of disposing of the timber reserves of the Province without its approval being first obtained, and is of the opinion that the right to cut timber upon the present reserves should be sold under such conditions as will ensure the manufacture of lumber cut therefrom within the Province, and more effectually guard against the unnecessary cutting and destruction of small timber growing in such reserves."

The Fallacy of the Resolution.

This resolution, being moved on going into Committee of Supply, could not be amended. It embodied two distinct propositions which had nothing to do with each other. The Government could not in any case accept the first of these, requiring a previous vote of the Legislature before timber could be sold. Forest fires often rendered it necessary to dispose promptly of damaged timber to prevent great loss, which might result while waiting months or a year for a sitting of the House. The wording of the clause relating to the manufacture of lumber was objectionable even if the Government had been disposed at that time to accept the general principle. By confining the manufacture of lumber to the "Province"—"within the Province," it would have prevented Quebec mill owners buying and operating limits in Ontario. The motion in such a form did not commend itself to the House, and was defeated by a mahority of 21.

During the campaign of 1894 the policy of the Government was clearly defined in a pamphlet reviewing the situation as follows;

"The policy of the Government as to the question of imposing manufacturing conditions has been and is, that while the question of admitting Canadian lumber to the American market free of duty, is before the Congress of the United States, it would be advisable, and possibly disastrous, to impose manufacturing conditions upon them..... It will be time enough to consider what the policy should be in the future, after we have seen what action the American Congress takes on this very vital and important matter. The Government are open to deal with the question in the manner best suited to the public wants."

The People Approved.

The question was thoroughly discussed before the electors, and the popular verdict sustained the administration. Shortly afterwards the passage of the Wilson Bill through the United States Congress removed the remaining import duty on lumber, and the Canadian Manufacturer secured free access to the American market. Free lumber removed the incentive to the exportation of saw logs. The lumber trade of Ontario received a great stimulus. Both the coarse and fine grades of lumber, were exported, production was cheapened, waste lessened and the industry enjoyed a high degree of prosperity.

But with the advent of the Republican party to power, in 1897, came a complete change. The Dingley Bill, embodying a highly protectionist tariff, was enacted. The import duty on sawn lumber was placed at $2.00 per 1000 feet, and a clause was added providing that in case an export duty on logs was imposed by Canada, or any other country, an equal amount would be added to the United States import duty on lumber. This drastic act tended directly to encourage the transfer of lumbering manufacturing from Ontario to the United States, and the consequent shipment of saw-logs across the border. Moreover, the operation of the automatic clause, raising the import duty to the extent of the export duty which might be imposed by the Dominion on logs made it impossible for the Dominion to deal effectively with the situation. A resort to an export duty would simply have closed the American market against us entirely, and have paralyzed the Canadian export lumber trade with the United States.

Action Became Imperative.

It became clearly the duty of the Ontario Government to grapple with the problem. Accordingly, after a full consideration of the arguments on both sides of the case, the Liberal Government laid down the principle that all future sales of limits should contain a condition requiring all the lumber cut to be sawn "in Canada," not "within the Province," as the Opposition resolutions demanded, and that with the issuing of the yearly licenses after April 30th, 1898, the timber on all limits, no matter when sold, would also be required to be sawn in this country. This policy met with the approval of the Legislature, and was embodied in the Act of 1898.

The policy of the Government has been judicious, clear and consistent throughout. While there was a reasonable expectation of securing, by agreement, such favourable legislation by the United States, as would admit Canadian lumber either free or under a moderate duty to their markets, the Ontario Government, realizing that the broader question of the reciprocal concessions affecting the general trade relations of the two countries, naturally fell within the scope and functions of the Dominion, refrained from action calculated to hamper their negotiations. When an important advantage had been gained by the understanding arrived at in 1890 they refused to disturb and unsettle a favourable situation to secure a petty advantage. But as soon as the hostile character of American Legislation had made it evident that all hope of favourable conditions in the nature of reciprocity were at an end, and the terms of the U.S. tariff law placed it beyong the power of the Dominion to give relief by an export duty, and conditions were created injurious to the interests of the Province, the Liberal Government took effective action to secure the manufacture of lumber in Canada, as promptly as it could be done with a due regard to vested interests and existing obligations.

Political and Business Policies Contrasted.

The Opposition policy—if it can be dignified by the name, has been vague, erratic and ill-considered, embodied in disconnected claptrap utterances, without regard to the changing conditions, special exigencies and broader issues involved. The Opposition sought party advantage, the Government acted throughout with the object of protecting and promoting the interests of the Province, as represented by its timber resources and lumbering industry.

The Sum of the Matter.

In reviewing the course of the Government as to our timber interests, Mr. Stratton pointed out that the Government had exercised the utmost care in regard to their promotion. Forest Reserves had been created to preserve standing timber, and permit of the growth of a new crop. A system had been adopted to prevent or to reduce to a minimum the loss or danger of loss by forest fires. When the time was ripe the Government took action in compelling the home manufacture of lumber from Crown Lands, and the time for action was so chosen as not to inflict more injury on the lumbering industry than the injury resulting from the export of logs.

Good Value for Our Timber.

Not only these, but the Government had so managed the sales of our timber, that they had secured the best possible value, and therefore, Mr. Stratton said, he wished to give an illustration which might serve as an object lesson respecting the more profitable management of Ontario's timber interests. The total bonuses received by the Government of the Province of Quebec from the year 1843 down to and including 1900—a period of nearly sixty years—for the whole of the Upper Ottawa district (the very best white pine region in Canada) amounting to 21,520 square miles, was $418,904.98.

In contrast compare one sale in the Province of Ontario. In the Ontario Timber Berth sales of 1892, when only 618 square miles were sold, they brought $2,308,475, or an average of $3,700 per square mile, while the average price per mile obtained by Quebec from the sale of what might be called gilt-edged white pine timber berths was only $19.10.

To widen the contrast, another example might be given. One berth of eleven and three-quarter square miles was sold by the Ontario Government for $205,625, or $17,500 per square mile, a sum nearly than Quebec got per square mile, or, in other words, at this sale the Ontario Government got a sum for 11 3-4 miles nearly half as large as the Quebec Government got for an area nearly 2000 times greater, or 21,520 square miles of the finest white pine timber in the world.

Another contrast. The Ontario Government sold one berth in the Township of Morgan, of 35 1-4 square miles for $376,650, or nearly as much as Quebec got for 21,520 square miles of the best pine in the world.

In the sale of 1892 the Ontario Government sold only the pine, reserving the spruce, cedar, tamarac and all other woods, while the Quebec Government sold every tree of all kinds.

The Crown dues on the timber at the Ontario Government sale of 1892 were $1.25 per 1,000 feet, board measure, and the Quebec Crown dues are $1.30 per 1,000 feet, or 5c more.

The Province of Ontario has no favorites to bestow timber limits on, at less than a cent per square mile, for at the timber sale in the Township of Morgan in 1892, the 35 1-4 acres which were sold for $376,650 were held by the purchasers for seven years and then sold for $250,000, thus showing that the Government of Ontario gets the highest available price.

Our Pulpwood Interests.

As an integral part of their Timber policy the Government dealt with our splendid pulpwood resources, and the same carefulness was exercised, the same policy pursued, of preserving them, realising their value and making them an element in contributing to the Provincial revenue, promoting industrial enterprise, furnishing employment and promoting settlement. Mr. Stratton pointed out that our pulpwood resources were of such great extent and magnitude that at the price now charged by the Government, 40 cents per cord, there was sufficient Pulpwood, 288 million cords, to yield a provincial revenue of millions of dollars to help carry on the administration of provincial affairs, and to postpone the visit of the Opposition bogey of direct taxation for a century. The Government had granted six pulp concessions. These concessions, which had been so blindly opposed and denounced by Mr. Whitney and the Opposition, gave only the right to cut pulpwood, they gave no right to the land, they did not interefere with the rights of the settler, or prevent the Government from locating settlers on the area granted for cutting, and securing to them all the rights that settlers had in other parts of the province. The working out of these pulp concessions required, as a condition of the grant, the expenditure of millions of dollars in erecting factories, and required the employment of hundreds of workmen. The supply of the machinery, water wheels, etc., for these concerns would give employment to the workmen in our factories; settlers, who entered the country in the vicinity of the pulp manufactories, would have a market for the pulpwood on their lands, and a source of income till their farms were sufficiently cleared to be productive. If these considerations did not justify the Government in granting these concessions, the danger of the destruction by fire of the wood on our pulpwood lands, in part, at least, supplied one. Then pulpwood reproduced itself in from fifteen to twenty years, so that in a district which had been cut over, with proper care, the process could be repeated, and we thus would have a perpetual source of pulpwood supply and revenue. The policy of the Government was to go forward and to

to the utmost, before they might be swept out of existence by fire, or become lessened in value, by a cessation of the demand for them in the markets of the world.

Incidental to this, and for promoting expansion and settlement, the Railway Policy of the Government was adopted, and was being applied. Reference was made to the land grants to the Algoma Central and Manitoulin & North Shore Railways. It was pointed out how effective these would be in opening up and developing New Ontario, and helping old Ontario, by placing it in direct railway communication with the great resources of Northern Ontario. In respect of these development railways, a want of policy, lack of enterprise and failure to grasp a great problem, was shown by the Opposition. Mr. Whitney, the leader of the Opposition had denounced the land grants to the Algoma Central Railways in language of vitriolic violence. He called it a "phenomenal steal," and voted against it. Yet a few months later, when a land grant more liberal, and amounting to a greater "steal" in Mr. Whitney's view, than the first land grant, was proposed by the Government, that gentleman choked down his wrath and approved of the second land grant. If he had acted in the first place on principle, he would have opposed the second grant, for the principle did not change. But he seemed to act only upon expediency. He had no policy, except that of opposing and embarrassing the Government, and his change of attitude was due, not so much perhaps to conviction, as to his having made a mistake. His first opposition was doubtless influenced by the hope that he could embarrass the Government by making the first land grant unpopular, but he found public opinion against him, and even some of his own supporters, and he changed front.

A New Departure.

The Government had made a new departure, and had already made considerable progress in locating surveys of a railway to be built as a Government work, from North Bay or Mattawa northward to tap the fertile Temiscaming region, where the splendid soil was already attracting settlement, which would be much facilitated by the opening and operation of this railway. The Government was bound to go ahead; we had a magnificent country, worth developing, and we must move forward in the great work. We must build up in the magnificent north of this province a greater Ontario. We had the material there, and we must make use of it, and the policy of the Government was steadily directed to the development of this great heritage, for in building up, developing, settling and improving New Ontario, great resources would contribute to revenue, and in the process, the older portions of the province would also be advanced and benefitted.

The election of Mr. Anderson would be one element in retaining in power a Government which had faith in Ontario, and had the will, the courage and the ability to inaugurate and apply a policy of development which would make its future incomparably greater than its splendid present.

In Conclusion.

Mr. Stratton then dealt briefly with several points. Mr. Whitney made a great deal of electoral irregularities, but only those in which he considered his opponents were concerned. But he had never for one moment condemned the political corruption practiced by his own party, and by which he had profitted as a leader. No condemnation was made by him of the flagrant bribery, practised in the Conservative interest in South Ontario, nor of the systematic destruction of ballots in the election of '98, and figures were presented to show that in four ridings alone in that contest, where the Conservatives had the appointment of election officials, there were nearly a thousand spoiled ballots—917 — while in the same ridings in the elections of 1902, when the Liberals had the appointment of election officials, there were only 132 spoiled ballots. Was it to be inferred that under Liberal rule the people had become so much more intelligent as only to mis-mark and spoil a few ballots, or was it to be inferred that in the election of 1898 there was a scheme to deface and prevent the counting of ballots cast by Liberals? This Mr. Whitney did not condemn, but on the other hand it appeared that he raised a cry of election irregularities against Liberals to cover up the iniquities of his own party. After referring to Mr. Whitney's non-committal attitude on education, and to his unfounded onslaught on Ontario school books, which were cheaper and better than those of any other country, Mr Stratton appealed to the electors present to study the unsurpassed record of the Government, their present progressive policy, and to weigh their fitness for satisfactorily administering the affairs of this province, and if they did so, dispassionately and without prejudice, he had not the slightest fear that their ballots would be cast for Mr. Anderson, the capable candidate of the Liberal party, supporting the Liberal Government of Ontario. (Loud applause.)

The highly successful meeting closed with the usual cheers.

Gale That Is Sweeping British Isles Unabated in Fury.

A REVENUE CUTTER WRECKED

Three of Her Crew of 86 Saved—Many Other Vessels Have Foundered—Channel Craft Swept Ashore—Nineteen of the Crew a French Bark Drowned Off Hendon—Trio Driven Ashore.

London, Nov. 14.—The gale which has been sweeping over Great Britain and Ireland for the past few days, continued unabated at many coast points. Over the Welsh lowlands the torrential rains are increasing, causing disastrous floods. Reports of wrecks and casualties continue to float in. The death list, made up of threes and fours, has an aggregate approaching 100.

The mail boat Nord has succeeded in returning to Dover. The crew of the lightship was also landed yesterday morning after passing a terrible night at sea in a small boat.

The British steamer Stelvio has been beached at Dover. She is high and dry across the Parade.

Early yesterday a French barque struck off Hendon. Nineteen of the crew were drowned.

Numerous other wrecks have been reported, but the weather in most cases prevents the identification of the craft.

Two vessels in distress were sighted Tuesday evening off Dungeness, but the weather was so severe that the life-boat was unable to put out to their assistance. This morning one of them sank. The other, a steamer, reached West Bay, where a tug is now standing by her.

The revenue cutter Active has been wrecked in the Firth of Forth. twenty-three of her crew were drowned and three were saved.

The Norwegian barque Inga, Captain Olsen (which sailed from Falmouth Oct. 28th, for the Tyne), has been totally wrecked at Tynemouth, and 16 members of her crew have been lost.

The Swedish barque Trio was driven ashore late yesterday afternoon at West Hartlepool, Durham, and was broken up. Three of her crew were washed ashore, while the remaining seven were drowned in sight of thousands of spectators unable to help them, all attempts at rescue with rockets carrying life-saving lines having failed.

Many Lives Lost.

Copenhagen, Nov. 14.—A terrible gale and snowstorm, lasting for the past 12 hours, has done great damage throughout Denmark. There are five feet of snow here. Eight vessels are reported driven ashore, two have been wrecked, and many lives lost.

AT COST OF FOUR MILLIONS.

Channel From Georgian Bay to Lake Nipissing Could Be Built.

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—Engineering experts have reported to Mr. Tarte that the cost of constructing a channel of a uniform depth of 20 feet between the Georgian Bay and Lake Nipissing will be $4,000,000. The distance is 61 miles, and the chief engineering obstacle to be overcome in making this route navigable exists at Five-Miles Rapids.

Discussing the question of a shorter outlet for the grain of the West, yesterday morning Mr. Tarte pointed out that the Georgian Bay and Lake Nipissing route would place grain vessels in touch with the Grand Trunk at Callender and the C.P.R. at North Bay. "Before many years the export of grain from Manitoba and the Territories," said the Minister, "will amount to one hundred million bushels. We must take care that this is not diverted into American channels."

But All is Well.

Berlin, Nov. 14.—The Koelnische Zeitung yesterday says that the Queen of Holland is suffering from premature confinement, adding that there is no cause for alarm.

Dr. Orton Dying.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 14.—Dr. Orton, ex-M.P.P. for Centre Wellington, was not expected to live through yesterday.

Premier Sagasta Ill.

Madrid, Nov. 14.—The illness and extreme debility of Premier Sagasta are causing anxiety.

STRATHCONA THE CHIEF FIGURE.

Conference Held in New York to Settle Northwest Railway Situation.

New York, Nov. 14.—According to The Times a series of conferences has been going on during the past 24 hours among the various representatives of the different interests, which are trying to effect a settlement of the Northern Railroad situation. The chief figure at these meetings was Lord Strathcona, who is closely identified with Canadian railways and with the Great Northern Railroad.

Lord Strathcona could not be seen, but it is understood that every detail of the plan of settlement was submitted to him, and that when he sailed for England yesterday he carried with him a complete copy of the agreement, which is to be used for the information of the European stockholders.

Rise in Canadian Pacifics.

Montreal, Nov. 14.—A special from New York says: "It was noted in Wall street yesterday that the remarkable advance in Canadian Pacific stock was coincident with the arrival in the city of Lord Strathcona and Sir William Van Horne, who met leading railroad officials and bankers. At the last moment it was discovered that the Canadian Pacific is to benefit materially by the settlement of the Northern Pacific difficulty. Canadian Pacific may even be an active party to the agreements. There was heavy buying of Canadian Pacific, and several large orders at the limits could not be filled. One order for 10,000 shares was sent in, on which not a single share could be obtained."

Hayes For the Grand Trunk.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—The Chronicle says: "It is reported that C. M. Hayes, who recently resigned the presidency of the Southern Pacific, is to be elected president and general manager of the Grand Trunk system. Mr Hayes was general manager of the latter railroad when he was elected president of the Southern Pacific about a year ago. Mr. Hayes is now in England, conferring, it is said, with the owners of the road."

COMMERCIAL RECIPROCITY.

Presentation of the Case From the United States Side.

Washington, Nov. 14.—A distinguished body, representing the commercial organizations of New York, Boston, Buffalo, Pittsburg, Cleveland, Indianapolis and Cincinnati, called upon the President yesterday to urge the importance of reciprocity with Canada. The delegation included Gustav H. Schwab, chairman, and Isador Strauss and S. P. Webb of the Committee on Commerce and Revenue Laws of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, and C. H. Keep of Buffalo, representing the Lake Carriers' Association. Mr. J. R. Leeson of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, spokesman of the party, told the President that, next to Great Britain and Germany, the trade of Canada with the United States represented more in money to the manufacturers and producers of the United States than that of any other country and that, unless something further was done to further that trade in the way of reciprocal concessions, all of it might be endangered.

The President received the delegation cordially. He said that he did not need to be reminded of the importance of a question to which he had given much thought and attention. He said, however, that he did not think it proper for him to express a preference for reciprocity with one particular country; that the whole subject was being canvassed, and he hoped that something would be done at the approaching session of Congress. He added that the organizations represented could do much by bringing influence to bear upon their representatives in Congress.

PICKED UP THE CREWS.

They Were Shipwrecked Off the Straits of Terra Del Fuego.

Buenos Ayres, Nov. 14.—The transport Chaco, which has arrived at this port, reports having picked up at Staten Island, Terra Del Fuego, the captain, the first and second officers and 21 of the crew of the French ship Astree, Captain Juanjeau. The Astree had been abandoned Oct. 8th off Cape St. John. Six other members of the crew who had left the ship in small boats are missing.

The Chaco also picked up the first officer and two of the crew of the British barque Glencaird, Captain English. The Glencaird was lost off Port Margaret, Staten Island. The captain, the second officer and the rest of the crew were drowned.

Broke His Neck.

St. Thomas, Nov. 13.—Thomas E. Dailey, carriage-builder, tripped while coming down stairs Monday night in the Lindorp Block, and, falling, broke his neck. Deceased was 66 years of age, and an old resident.

More Smallpox in Ontario.

Toronto, Nov. 13.—Smallpox has again been discovered. This time there are four cases in Plantagenet and Russell Townships, in Russell County. They are said to have originated from the outbreak at Ottawa.

THE NORWOOD BUDGET.

Several Accidents in the Eastern Village—Tuesday's Fatal Accident.

Mr. John Sherry, who is attending Toronto University, spent the King's birthday at his home in Norwood.

Mrs. Percival of Merriokville, was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. J. B. Waddell, for a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Roxburgh, of this place, spent Saturday and Sunday last in Toronto visiting friends.

Mr. Ben Fife, who is attending the Toronto Dental College, was in town calling on friends on Saturday.

Mr. W. R. Cameron spent the King's birthday visiting his brother, Mr. G. B. Cameron, in Peterborough.

Miss M. Morrison, saleslady in the Arcade drygoods store, here, was in Peterborough on Sunday visiting friends.

The return match between the Warkworth and Norwood High and Model School Football Teams, was played in the park here on Saturday afternoon. As the first game was a tie both teams worked hard to score, but were unsuccessful, and the game resulted in a draw.

Probably the most serious accident that has ever happened in Norwood occurred on Tuesday morning about half past nine, when Mr. Thomas Moffatt was fatally injured by the explosion of the boiler of the cheese factory. Just how the accident occurred is not known, but one end of the factory is a complete wreck. The explosion was terrific, and large quantities of brick and wood were thrown long distances. A portion of the boiler weighing between 500 and 600 pounds, was thrown about 400 yards. The chimney on Mr. Stewart's house was knocked off, and a number of windows in the Presbyterian church broken. Mr. Moffatt was working in a room adjoining the engine room and it was thought that he must have been hit by a flying brick. He was taken out of the wreck unconsciouness, and suffering from a severe wound in the head. The poor fellow did not regain consciousness but passed away at half-past one. The funeral will take place from his father's residence on Thursday at 2.30, and the remains will be interred in the Norwood cemetery.

On Monday afternoon quite a serious runaway occurred when Mr. J. Elliott's horse, which was tied in front of Mr. J. L. Squire's new chopping mill, took fright and ran away. Miss Gertie Squires, who was sitting in the rig, was thrown out and received several bad cuts and bruises.

The meeting of the Board of Education, which was called for Monday evening did not take place, as only four of the members turned out.

LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Lakefield Preparatory School Football Team went to Port Hope on Friday to play against Trinity College School of that place. The match was a very close and exciting one, Lakefield boys being ahead till the last three seconds, but lost the game at the last moment by two points.

Mrs. LeFevre, who has been ill for some time past, is slightly improved in health.

Mr. Stewart Fraser, who has been attending the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, is home for a few days, being somewhat indisposed. We trust that he may soon be able to resume his studies.

Mr. William Stabler, while driving a couple of miles north of Buckhorn had the experience of meeting a bear, accompanied by two cubs on the road.

We are informed that one of our merchants, while driving with a lady also met a bear in that district. The horse became frantic and backed the buggy over the end of a culvert. Fortunately no one was hurt.

Mr. John Baledon had the good fortune to shoot and kill two deer with one shot. We have yet to hear of anyone who was more successful in the woods than Mr. Baledon was this year.

Mr. M. Giroux, hypnotist, gave an exhibition in the town hall on Friday night.

Mr. Christie of Hastings, spent Saturday and Sunday in the village visiting with Mr. Daimard.

Mrs. David Smith and her daughter, Miss Helen, have returned from their visit to Mrs. Smith's daughter, Mrs. Thornton, of Calgary. They were delighted with their trip to the west.

The pulpit of the Presbyterian church was occupied on Sunday Sunday morning by Rev. W. Bennett of Peterborough, and in the evening by Rev. J. McEwen, Toronto. Rev. Mr. McEwen has been in town on a visit to his daughter, who, we are sorry to say, has not been quite as well the last couple of days.

Mr. Charles Mellor, late of Vancouver, B.C., who has been visiting in the village for some time, has left for Little Rock, Ark., for the benefit of his health.

The sawmill closed down for the winter on Friday night. It has had a most successful season, the output of lumber being very large.

Mr. McCullough left for his home on Friday after a four months sojourn in the village.

Mr. Smyth left on Saturday for Kingston, where he intends resuming his studies at Queen's University. He will be missed in social circles in the village.

A meeting of the Chosen Friends was held on Friday evening and the following officers elected.

Past Councillor — Mr. Benson.
Chief Coun.—Rev. J. Bridgeman.
Vice-Counc.—Mrs. W. M. Graham.
Recorder—Miss Ray.
Ass. Recorder—Miss S. Gordon.
Treas.—Mr. Evans.

Marshall—Mr. W. M. Graham.
Organist—Mrs. Campbell.
Warden—Mrs. Kelly.

Mr. R. Graham was in Peterborough this week, attending a meeting of the License Commissioners.

The Crawford-Hendren hunting party are reported to have captured five deer on Saturday last.

The Young-Baisdon party reported seven deer on Saturday.

The Levi Payne party are reported to have three deer.

Mr. John Holmes returned home on Tuesday; he shot one deer.

Council Meeting.

The village council held its regular meeting in the town hall on Monday evening. Reeve Fitzgerald occupied the chair, and there were present Councillors Kelly, Graham and Fitzgerald.

The minutes of the last meeting were read.

Moved by Councillors Kelly and Fitzgerald that the motion made by Councillors Fitzgerald and Kelly at the last meeting of the council re the closing of the street between lots 2 and 3 west of Concession street, be expunged from the minutes. — Carried.

The minutes were then confirmed.

A communication was read from the Dickson Co., asking permission to close that part of Dublin street in the village between the G. T. R. and the Otonabee River, and that the council pass a bylaw granting its assent thereto.

Mr. C. Quinn addressed the council with reference to the main road leading into the village from the township of Smith, stating that the wind blows the snow off the main road, and asking the council to make a grant to grade a road along the fence in front of Mr. S. Wallace's farm, to be used as a winter road.

On motion of Councillors Graham and Fitzgerald a grant of $5 was made to Mr. Quinn to put the road in proper shape, with an approach to Mr. George Johnston's gate.

A communication was read from Mr. F. M. Dela Fosse, calling the attention of the council to an entertainment which was held in the town hall lately, and which was not as clean and pure as it might be.

On motion of Councillors Graham and Fitzgerald the communications of the Dickson Co., and Mr. Dela Fosse were received.

Moved by Councillors Fitzgerald and Kelly that the street inspector be instructed to repair the street adjoining Mr. J. P. Strickland's property and the crossing in front of Mr. A. Robson's house.—Carried.

The council then adjourned.

HALL'S GLEN.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Mr. A. P. Carbeth left this neighborhood last week for the lumbering camps, where he expects to remain for the winter.

Mr. J. J. Crowe, while returning from his deer hunting expedition, had the misfortune of being thrown from his vehicle, but fortunately escaped any serious injury.

The Zion Good Templars expect to hold their debate and mock tin social on Friday evening, the 22nd, in the Orange Hall, and are anticipating a very jolly time. Mr. D. Little is expected to be present and takes a prominent part in the evening's entertainment.

We are pleased to learn of the safe return of the Hamblin party from the game vicinity last week, and also of their success.

While Mr. W. Batten was driving through the neighborhood last week attending his various duties, his horse took fright at some unknown obstacle, and the driver, endeavouring to curb his frightened steed, broke one of the reins, and losing all hope of controlling the animal, was obliged to vacate his quarters as quickly as possible, leaving the horse to its fate; but luckily for the owner it was stopped before any serious damage was done.

Mr. D. Madill's sale, which took place on Tuesday afternoon, 5th, inst, caused no little stir and excitement in this town. Neighbors, friends, strangers and cattle buyers from far and near were present. Mr. Madill, who has been farming for some time past, desiring a quieter life, has decided to retire, and is now a citizen of this town.

The entertainment which was held here in Zion church on Wednesday, the 16th inst.., under the auspices of the Sabbath School, was quite a success, and was fairly well attended. The programme was varied and interesting, and Rev. Mr. McQuade's address to the children was well received. The scholars of the various classes were also awarded the prizes they had won. The receipts of the evening were $3.50.

Miss Edwards, of Warsaw, is visiting in this neighborhood.

The return of Mr. Wm. Carveth from Manitoba on Saturday evening last was a pleasing event, he receiving a welcome and most hearty reception from both family and friends.

The Right Thing.

A New Catarrh Cure, Which is Rapidly Coming to the Front.

For several years, Eucalyptol Guaiacol and Hydrastin have been recognized as standard remedies for catarrhal troubles, but they have always been given separately, and only very recently an ingenious chemist succeeded in combining them, together with other antiseptics, into a pleasant, effective tablet.

Druggists sell the remedy under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and it has met with remarkable success in the cure of nasal catarrh, bronchial and throat catarrh, and in catarrh of the stomach.

Mr. F. N. Benton, whose address is care of Clark House, Troy, N. Y., says, "When I run up against anything that is good I like to tell the people of it. I have been troubled with catarrh more or less for some time. Last winter more than ever. Tried several so-called cures, but did not get any benefit from them. About six weeks ago I bought a 50c box of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and am glad to say that they have done wonders for me, and I do not hesitate to let all my friends know that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are the right thing."

Mr. Geo. J. Casanova, of Hotel Griffon, West 9th street, New York City, writes: "I have commenced using Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and already they have given me better results than any catarrh cure I have ever tried."

A leading physician of Pittsburgh advises the use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets in preference to any other treatment for catarrh of the head, throat or stomach.

He claims they are far superior to inhalers, salves, lotions or powder, and are much more convenient and pleasant to take and are so harmless that little children take them with benefit, as they contain no opiate, cocaine or any poisonous drugs.

All druggists sell Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at 50c for full size package, and they are probably the safest and most reliable cure for any form of catarrh.

Our merchants observed the King's Birthday.

Messrs. Dunhirst and Benswick have gone to Chandos, hunting deer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Eaton and Mr. J. Anderson, of Norwood, spent Saturday and Sunday in the village.

We notice a query in the Examiner respecting the shooting of ducks. As far as the law reads, no one is allowed to shoot from hides built in rice beds, for it is there the ducks feed. It is extremely selfish to shoot ducks in such a way, because it spoils all point shooting. Our game warden, Mr. David Moore, intends to prosecute any one found breaking the law, and we hope he will act immediately.

Mr. and Mrs. John McMillen, of Norwood, was in the village last Thursday.

The Tully family has moved into the house north of the drug store.

Miss Daisy Secombe, of Whitby Ladies' College, spent the King's Birthday under the parental roof.

Miss Lillian Bell spent last week in Hastings.

The Y. P. S. C. E. will hold a social on Friday evening.

Fred Eason, Fred Walsh, and H. Burnham have returned from the western harvest.

The Hockey Club will meet on Monday evening for organization.

If You Are Sick

Let Me Know it.

I will send simply your name and address —no money. Tell me which of these six books you want.

I will send with it an order on your druggist to let you have 6 bottles Dr. Shoop's Restorative. He will let you take it for a month; then if it succeeds he will charge you $5.50 for it. If it fails, he will send the bill to me. He will trust to your honesty, leaving the decision to you.

Such an offer as this could not be made on any other remedy. It would bankrupt the physician who tried it. But in five years I have supplied my Restorative on these terms to 540,000 people. My records show that 39 out of each forty paid for it, because they were cured.

This remedy alone strengthens those inside nerves that operate all vital organs. It brings back the only power that can make each organ do its duty. No matter how difficult the case, it will permanently cure, unless some organic trouble like cancer makes a cure impossible.

I have spent a lifetime in preparing this remedy. I offer now to pay for all you take if it fails. I cannot better show my faith in it. Won't you merely write a postal to learn if I can help you?

Simply state which book you want and name of your dealer, and address Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

FIRE CLAIMED THEM.

Canadian Cremated at the "Soo—Two Consumed at Carleton Place—Other Violent Deaths.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 14.—Thomas J. Kelliher, a well known man about town, and proprietor of the Occidental Saloon, was burned to death Tuesday night in a room which he occupied above his saloon, which was partially destroyed by fire. The deceased was 27 years of age, and came to the "Soo" four years ago from Campbellford, Ont., where his father and several brothers and sisters survive him.

Two Burned to Death.

Carleton Place, Nov. 14.— About midnight Tuesday night the dwelling house and barns of Alex. McLean, farmer, about one mile and a half from the town, with contents of every kind, were consumed by fire. Two persons perished in the flames, Mrs. James McLean, aged 82 years, mother of the owner, and a hired man named McGregor, aged 18 years. Eight of the inmates, in night apparel, escaped mostly through the windows.

70 and Died Alone.

Waterford, Nov. 14.—Mrs. Rosanna Markle was found dead at her residence on Tuesday afternoon. She was an old lady of about 70. She had been ill and was living alone, but her neighbors did not think it was a very serious illness. Neighbors found her lying on the floor near her bed, as though she had arisen for something.

Life Crushed Out.

Buffalo, N.Y., Nov. 14.—A man said to be Dr. James Irvington Marclay had his life crushed out in a folding bed last night. Persons living on the floor beneath heard a crash in the doctor's room, and upon investigation found the folding bed lying upon the floor. It was opened and Dr. Marclay's lifeless body was found inside. The dead man has relations in Plainfield, N. J.

STILL 10,000 BOERS

Mr. Brodrick Says There Is Yet That Number in the Field.

BOERS ARE MURDERING NATIVES

Secretary for War Says "a Certain Colony" Offered Help—42,000 Boers in Custody of the British, and 11,000 More Either Killed, Wounded or Left the Country on Parole.

London, Nov. 14.—Mr. Brodrick, the British War Secretary, speaking last night at a banquet given in London in his honor by the City Carlton Club, declared that the Boers were hiding their attacks by murdering natives behind them.

"Lord Kitchener wired to-day," he continued, "that the cold-blooded murder of natives had become frequent of late, and that two dead natives, their hands tied behind their backs, were found Nov. 10th at the bottom of a mine shaft."

Later in his speech, Mr. Brodrick said Great Britain had 42,000 Boers in custody in the concentration camps and on various islands, and that 11,000 more had been killed or wounded or had left the country on parole. He added that he believed the number of Boers now in the field was about 10,000.

"The country has set its teeth and intends to go through the process of wearing down," he exclaimed. "We intend to provide Lord Kitchener with fresh troops to replace the tired ones. Only to-day a certain colony made an offer of help."

Mr. Brodrick said he was sorry anything had happened to affect the career of Sir Redvers Buller, and he assured the company that the deafness of Sir Evelyn Wood was not a bar to the work that officer had to do as commander of an army corps.

Mr. Brodrick explained that four battalions and two cavalry regiments would be drawn from India for service in South Africa.

Rifles For All Ranks.

London, Nov. 14.—The Daily News makes the following announcement:

"Owing to Lord Roberts' conviction that the sabre and lance have seen their best days, the Small Arms Committee was instructed some months ago to find a modified form of the Lee-Enfield, suitable for all arms. As a result the committee has decided in favor of shortening the barrel five inches and increasing the twist of the rifling to compensate for the loss of range and accuracy, adding a ten-cartridge clip action. An experimental issue of 1,000 will be made soon."

Peace Impossible.

Berlin, Nov. 14.—The Frankfurter Zeitung yesterday published an interview with A. W. D. Wolmerans, the Boer envoy, now at Amsterdam, in which the latter is quoted as declaring that the alleged impending negotiations between the Boers and British are unfounded. "So long," says Wolmerans, "as the British Ministry maintains the attitude outlined by Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Salisbury's last speeches, the question of peace cannot be entertained. The idea of the cession of the gold fields is absurd."

Canadians Wounded.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 14.—Lord Milner cables to Lord Minto as follows:

Johannesburg, Nov. 14.—Regret to inform you that A 1798 Trooper William Vollans severely wounded Nov. 4 at Truckconiv. E 2209 Trooper John D. Ludgate accidentally seriously wounded in leg at Vet River, Nov. 7. Both South African Constabulary. Next of kin, respectively, Mrs. G. T. Vollans, Portland, Oregon, U.S.A., mother; Mrs. Ludgate, White Lake, Ont.

TRAINED WATER CORPS.

Dr. Canney's Plan to Prevent Disease in Time of War.

London, Nov. 14.—Exclusive drinking of boiled water in time of war, and the sanitary education of soldiers in time of peace will, according to Dr. Leigh Canney, abolish typhoid, dysentery and cholera in future campaigns. The King's physician, Sir William Henry Broadbent, presided at a meeting of the Royal United Service Institution yesterday afternoon, when Dr. Canney unfolded his preventive plans.

Dr. Canney has invented a cylindrical copper boiler, holding fifty pints, heated by petroleum, for boiling and cooling water in 17 minutes, consuming three-quarters of a pint of petroleum. The weight of the apparatus is 88 pounds. The doctor proposes the formation of a trained water corps, for the exclusive service of furnishing the troops with approved water. He urges as a second essential the instruction of soldiers in time of peace as to the dangers of a polluted water, for the purpose of establishing the tradition that it is dishonorable and criminal to drink unapproved water.

Looking to Rosebery.

London, Nov. 14.—The Liberal activity, outlined a fortnight ago, is increasing. The National Liberal Federation, which is the premier organization of the party, will meet at Derby on Dec. 5. A resolution will be submitted by delegates from constituencies throughout the Kingdom, demanding that the Cabinet define in detail its policy in South Africa, and also terms of settlement. Another resolution which will be submitted, condemns the concentration camps in South Africa, and demands a remedy. Everyone is looking to Lord Rosebery, hoping that he will make some declaration for a common line of action.

Poisoned by Sardines

Port Colborne, Nov. 14.—Rev. A. J. Irwin of the Methodist church here, Mrs. Irwin and their son Arthur, were in a serious condition yesterday, caused by eating sardines. The can had been in the house for some time, and, when opened, it was noticed that very little oil was on the sardines. It is thought there may have been an opening in the can, which would account for the poisoning.

Had a Painful Operation.

An Extreme Case of Nervousness and Female Weakness—Was Pale and Weak and Fainted Often—Doctors Failed to Help Her.

There is scarcely a limit to the sufferings which women endure when their nervous systems become run down and give way beneath the burdens which they are forced to bear. There are ills peculiar to women, which in nine cases out of ten are the result of a low state of vitality and a depletion of nerve force. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures women of their ills, irregularities and weaknesses by thoroughly restoring the vigor of the nerves.

Every woman will read with interest the following letter from a lady who has been cured of a serious illness by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. She says the testimonials she reads are not half strong enough.

Mrs. BENJ. HATFIELD.

Mrs. Benjamin Hatfield, Hillyard Street, St. John, N.B., writes:—"For three years I was a sufferer from extreme nervousness and female weakness. I was pale and weak, had no appetite, and would sometimes faint two or three times a day. I had three miscarriages, and underwent a very painful operation. For seven weeks I was under the doctor's care, but he seemed unable to help me. Despairing of recovery, I took the advice of a friend, who told me that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food would build me up and make me strong and well again. After four months' use of this preparation I found myself greatly improved, but continued the treatment for one year, using in all sixteen boxes. I have been blessed with a young daughter now, and believe that I am as strong and well as ever in my life. As a result, I cannot say too much in favor of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It has performed a complete and thorough cure in my case, and I am healthier and fleshier than I have been for years. The testimonials I see are not half strong enough. I tell my friends and neighbors about it, and many of them join me in pronouncing Dr. Chase's Nerve Food the most effective restorative obtainable. Desiring that other sufferers may benefit by my happy experience with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I willingly give you permission to use this testimonial."

is an up-to-date, scientific preparation of most extraordinary merit. It has proven itself the most effective nerve restorative of the age. It is certain to benefit everyone who uses it, because it forms new red corpuscles in the blood and creates new nerve force. It is especially efficacious in the cures of female ills and weaknesses.

Resisted the Charge of a Rat.

There was considerable excitement caused on Pig Alley on Monday, when ye editor of our evening contemporary, with the assistance of his dog and the Lieutenant of the left section of the Durham Field Battery with a boy, he essayed to give battle to a rat. After the rodent had put the editor's dog to flight, the editor himself wrestled with it for awhile, but the finishing stroke was given by the Lieutenant, when the rat attempted to storm his position. The Durham Field Battery representative is said to have struck a most heroic pose, when he placed himself in position to resist the charge. His valour was observed from scores of crowded windows in the vicinity, when with a magnificent slashing, two-handed downward cut, he dashed out the rat's brains.

THE MYSTERY DEEPER

Hooper Appeared Unexpectedly in Ashburnham.

WAS NOT "SILENT JOHN."

The Man Who was Drowned in the Well Must Have Been a Tramp and a Stranger.

"Silent John" Hooper is not dead, for "Silent John" appeared to-day in Ashburnham, in the same silent way, as has characterized his actions in the past, and disappeared again as silently as he came, to the astonishment of many.

It was about ten o'clock this morning when the man strolled into the Maple Leaf Hotel, Ashburnham. He did not even bid the time of day to those whom he passed, as he walked through the sitting room. He spoke to no one, except when bombarded with questions, and then his speech was short, and unwilling.

Mr. George Lipsett, sr., at once recognized the individual as "Silent John" Hooper, who was supposed to have met his death in a well on the Crowley Farm, in Otonabee. Mr. Lipsett, having known "Silent John" before, as did also several other gentlemen who were in the hotel, felt sure that they were not far out in their belief. They pressed the old gentleman for an answer, and he admitted that his name was Hooper, but nothing further could be learned of him. He was fully six feet in height, and had a beard somewhat lighter than the one which the drowned man had, and this bears out the opinion of a number of others, that the beard of the man who lay in Mr. Belleghem's undertaking establishment was darker than "Silent John's."

"Silent John" stayed in Mr. Lipsett's hotel for over two hours, and then left for the country. He did not speak a half-a-dozen words during the whole time he was in the hotel. The matter makes the finding of the body in the well a still greater mystery, and there is no doubt now that this man was the same person who was seen by Mr. Timothy Coughlin a few weeks ago on the Crowley farm. He was a stranger to those parts and was no doubt an ordinary tramp.

WAS WELCOMED.

Mr. Davies Kindly Remembered by the People of St. Andrew's Church.

A very enjoyable social evening was held at St. Andrew's church last evening, it being the occasion of a formal reception to Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Davies to St. Andrew's, Mr. Davies having assumed the position of organist and choir master of the church. The affair was held in the Sunday school room, and there was a large and representative gathering. Mr. Potter made a very appropriate speech, in which he spoke of the great assistance Mr. Davies would be to the choir and the church at large. Refreshments were served, and altogether an enjoyable time was the result.

PERMANENT MUSICAL SOCIETY

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—A word or two in reply to Mr. Mulligan.

(a) The members of the chorus will be quite willing to pay for the music used by each.

(b) In three towns where I have known such a society to flourish a suitable room was provided by a central church, the cost of lighting, heating and caretaking only being charged for. It was rightly thought that such a musical organization was most helpful to the several choirs of the town.

(c) A concert in the spring would not sufficient cash to meet all necessary expenses, and if not, I know of several gentlemen who would cheerfully put up $5 apiece.

(d) The Peterborough Royal Chorus Society, if I be permitted to suggest a name, would, without doubt, draw the best singers of the community.

(e) Let me esuggest that a meeting be called at anearly date to discuss and arrange details. Doubtless a room in the Y.M.C.A. could be obtained for such a purpose.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I remain,
Yours truly,
J. W. GARVIN.

Accordingly, last night Miss Brown was rather agreeably surprised—she was presented with an address and a beautiful opal ring. The address was read by Miss Begley, and the presentation was made by Mrs. James Dawson. Miss Brown replied in suitable terms, expressing her appreciation of the gift.

IN LATEST SPORTING CIRCLES

Peterborough Awarded the O.R.F.U. Championship.

The London Team Thrown Out—Possibility of Several More Games Here This Season—Notes of Interest.

The Peterborough Rugby Club are champions of the Intermediate series of the Ontario Rugby Union for 1901. They won the game last night, not on the field, true it is, but in the committee room. A championship obtained under such circumstances is at all times not the most satisfactory, but whose fault is it? It can not be said to be Peterborough's. It i sthe fault of an aggregation of individuals that during the past year or two has been engineering sport in London in a manner that has at last reached its limit, and which has brought the blush of shame to every true sportsman in the Forest City. In the sporting fraternity of Ontario, of Canada, in fact, London stands disgraced. What other town in the Dominion has such a disgraceful record? What do we find? Within twelve months their Hockey Club has been fired from all connecting with the Ontario Hockey Associations, and branded as professionals, and now their Rugby Club finds itself in pretty much the same predicament. They have not been professionalized, but they should have been—it was weakness on the part of the O. R. F. U., that they were not. However, they were suspended, lock, stock and barrel, and their is reason to believe that this suspension will hold good for some time. The championship, as before stated, has been given to Peterborough.

It is no exaggeration in saying that London's record in amateur sport is a record-breaker, on the wrong side. There was a time when London stood high up in the estimation of the amateur athletic world but those days are gone. A different class of men are at the helm now, and they care no more for the name they give their city than the name they give themselves.

The London matter is too familiar to all to be repeated here, further than to say that their act on Saturday in playing Peel was most rascally, and when playing him they well knew that they had no right to do so. They merely wanted to win the game, no matter what means had to be employed. This they did, but whether or not there is any honour in winning a match under such circumstances, the public may well judge.

The fact of the matter is that London has proved itself unworthy of recognition by all lovers of true sport. One has only to refer to the newspapers of the province to arrive at this conclusion. Every Toronto paper is up in arms, and outspoken in the extreme over the degredation the London athletic people have sunk into. They are now down and out. The best policy for them to puraue for the present is to remain inactive in sporting circles until new blood with more manliness, has sprung up, and until the present reprehensible gang have learned the error of their ways. Then, and only then, may London expect to be recogaized by an honest sporting fraternity, but ostracism is the only penalty in the meantime.

The fact that the London club has been expelled from the O. R. F. U. and the Peterboroughs awarded the championship, of course cancelled the game which should have taken place here on Saturday next against that club. However, the Peterborough public may reckon on seeing another match or two yet. The Peterborough club are champions of the O.R.F.U., the premier organization of the province. There is another union, the Intercollegiate Union, of which Varsity are the Intermediate champions. They have expressed a desire to play the winner of the O.R.F.U. Series, and an effort will be made to have them come to Peterborough this Saturday. Again, the Canadian championship has to be decided, and this will likely be played here against the Quebec team, the champions of the province of Quebec.

PETERBOROUGH'S SUGAR BEETS.

They Won the Record in the Experiment.

OVER 17 PER CENT SUGAR.

The Results of the Experiments in 12 Different Localities—Individual Results Around Town.

The report of Prof. Shuttleworth, of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, regarding the experiments of the farmers throughout Ontario in growing sugar beets, is now out, and it must be gratifying to the people of Peterborough County to know that their experiment has been the most successful of any. This fact should also be a great inducement to capitalists. It was early last summer that the samples of sugar beet were distributed to a number of the farmers around Peterborough and to the farmers around thirteen other towns in various parts of the Province. These thirteen towns were Alviston, Belleville, Clinton, Cayuga, Dunnville, Lindsay, London, Mt. Forest, Port Perry, Peterborough, Walkerton, Whitby and Berlin. In order to make it a safe investment for any company to manufacture from the sugar beet, there should be a sufficient quantity of beets grown in that particular neighborhood to supply a factory, and further, they should have at least 12 per cent. of sugar and 80 per cent. of purity. The Peterborough experiment was found to average 17.3 per cent. of sugar and 90.6 per cent. of purity. This is an exceptionally splendid result, and is 1.3 per cent. ahead of Port Perry, which is next on the list.

THE AVERAGES.

The averages for the towns throughout the Province are as follows;—

	Sugar.	Purity.	Yield
Alvinston	15.19	86.1	21 876
Belleville	16.7	83.8	16 1725
Cayuga	15.2	83.2	14 1645
Clinton	14.8	86.7	16 662
Dunnville	15.13	18.15	15 533
Lindsay	16.4	87.3	15 181
London	15.6	88.1	17 59
Mt. Forest	15.6	86.7	19 500
Port Perry	16.6	89.3	15 154
Peterborough	17.3	90.6	14 190
Walkerton	15.4	88.0	18 1701
Whitby	15.8	89.1	22 83
Berlin	14.6	85.8	18 1308

The result of the individual experiment from Peterborough will prove of interest. They are as appended. The first row of figures indicate the average weight in pounds, ounces and fractions of ounces of the beet grown, the second row of figures indicate the per centage of sugar, the next the percentage of purity, and the last row of figures gives the yield per ton and cwt. per acre.

The above report of Prof. Shuttleworth came to Mayor Denne this morning, accompanied by the following brief letter;—

Berlin, Nov. 13th, 1901.

Dear Mayor Denne,—I enclose you herewith summary statement of the sugar beet experiment.

Kindly bring the report before the people of your town.

Details will appear in the printed report.

Very Truly Yours,
A. E. SHUTTLEWORTH.

The farmers of Peterborough have every reason to feel proud of their experiment, and it only remains for the townspeople and farmers to cooperate in securing for Peterborough a sugar beet factory. The Town Council has its hands full, but their are other bodies that should take the matter up. Here is a chance for the Board of Trade to push forward and in doing so they will have the hearty support of the public at large. The County Council, too, should interest themselves in the matter, for it is the country around about that will receive the direct benefit from the establishment of a sugar beet factory. Those who have tried the experiment have done their part at any rate, and are indeed to be heartily congratulated upon the result.

AN OTONABEE WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Sarah Welch and Mr. Richard Gillespie Yesterday.

The wedding took place last evening at the residence of the bride's father, of Miss Sarah Welch, daughter of Mr. Thomas Welch, of Otonabee, and Mr. Richard Gillespie of Hamilton, son of Mr. Peter Gillespie of Otonabee.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. L. Armitage in the presence of between fifty and sixty relatives and intimate friends.

The bride was attired in a pretty white muslin gown, and was assisted by the bride's sister, Miss Jennie Gillespie, who was similarly frocked.

The bride's brother, Mr. Joseph Welch officiated as groomsman, and the wedding march was played by Miss Ethel Dawson.

Amongst the many exceptionally handsome presents received was a china tea set from the pupils of the Coldsprings Sunday school, and a silver fruit basket from the class of boys taught by the bride.

HUNTING NOTES.

Rev. W. L. Armitage, Mr. E. B. Stone and Mr. Will Dayman have returned from the Coe Hill District, where they were hunting. Unfortunately the settlers in the district take a hand in the hunting to such an extent as to make it difficult for the hunters, unless the deer get as far as the water. During the ten days the party was in camp only one deer took to the lake. Mr. E. B. Stone bagged that one after a long stern paddle. It was a fine young three year old buck. The paddle was attended with such exertion that Mr. Stone has not yet recovered.

Messrs. G. W. Rogar, A. H. Stratton and J. B. Pentland, of the Gold Lake Hunt Club, returned home last night. They had to tramp nine miles over the ridges to get out, as the Gull Lake waters were too rough to be navigated. The party have eight deer to date.

Are Getting Still More Popular.

If the crowds that wish to attend the Marks Bros. entertainment during the next ten days are to be accommodated, an addition will have to be made to the Opera House, as the Company is getting to be so popular that standing room only is available for those who are a trifle late.

FUR JACKET ORDERS.

It is conceded that for quality, style and fit, we are easily leaders in filling orders for Stylish Jackets. The reasons are easy to give. WEAKNESS
OF MEN AND WOMEN
Could we read the hearts of every man we meet, what a load of sorrow and despair would be disclosed. Nervousness and Blood Diseases have caused more physical and mental wrecks than all other causes combined. They strike at the foundation of manhood; they sap the vital forces; they undermine the system, and not only do they often disrupt the family circle, but they may even extend their poisonous fangs into the next generation. If you have been a victim of early sinful habits, remember the seed is sown, and sooner or later you will reap a harvest. If your blood has been diseased from any cause do not risk a return later on. Our New Method Treatment will positively cure you and you need never fear any return of the disease. We will give you a guarantee bond to that effect. We would warn you sincerely against the promiscuous use of mercury, which does not cure blood poison but simply suppresses the symptoms.
WE CURE OR NO PAY.
Don't Let your Life be Drained Away, which weakens the intellect as well as the body. There is no room in this world for mental, physical or sexual dwarfs. Our New Method Treatment will Stop all Unnatural Losses, Purify the Blood, Strengthen the Nerves, Restore Vitality, and make a man of you. If you are in trouble, call and consult us. THE RUG DESIGNERS

PATTERNS DESCEND FROM PARENT TO CHILD IN THE ORIENT.

Reasons Why Animal Figures Are Rarely Seen on Persian Rugs. Prayer Rugs of the Mohammedans and Their Use—The Rugs of Sivas.

The designs of eastern rugs are often the spontaneous outcome of the fancy of the weaver. Sometimes they are handed down from one generation to another. In some cases young girls are taught the design by an adult, who marks it in the sand. At other times a drawing of the rug is made on paper, the instructor showing her pupils the arrangement of every thread and the color to be used. When all this has been done, the pupils must make the rug without looking at the drawing.

Persian rugs excel those of other countries in artistic design as well as in harmonious coloring. The Persians seem to have a natural intuition in the use and blending of different shades, and in the designs that contain these certain colors they achieve the happiest results. It is really wonderful what exquisite fabrics these people, born and reared in ignorance and poverty, produce.

The designs in Persian rugs are generally floral, and in some districts, especially Fars, the women weavers invent the designs, varying them every two or three years. The Mohammedan religion does not allow any direct representation of animal forms, consequently rugs woven under its influence take floral, geometric and vegetable forms. The Shiah sect of Moslems, however, numbering about 15,000,000, of whom 8,000,000 are Persians, do not regard representations of animals as unlawful. By the industry of this sect and that of infidels and of all who disregard the law of the Koran animal forms are seen on some Persian rugs.

The prayer rug was evidently invented for the purpose of providing the worshipers with one absolutely clean place on which to offer prayers. It is not lawful for a Moslem to pray on any place not perfectly clean, and unless each one has his own special rug he is not certain that the spot has not been polluted. With regard to the purity of the place of prayer Mohammedans are specially careful when making their pilgrimages, the rugs which they take with them having been preserved from pollution by being rolled up until the journey is begun or until the hour for prayer arrives. It does not matter to these followers of Mohammed how unclean a rug that is on the floor may be, because over it they place the prayer rug when their devotions begin.

The Turkish rugs made at Sivas are always woven of wool, and almost every hamlet carries on the industry of weaving in the homes. There are no factories, the young girls and women doing the work here as in other parts of Turkey. Sivas rugs are in most cases small, measuring about eight by four feet, but in these years larger and more attractive rugs are being made. Even the poorest families have fine rugs, for they regard them as valuable property, to be sold only under the pressure of great extremity. The weavers are so frugal in their manner of living that their daily earning of 15 to 19 cents is sufficient to supply their wants. Their food consists usually of rice and crushed wheat, with occasionally a small piece of mutton.

Smyrna is only a mart for the sale of comparatively inferior rugs that are made in the interior from the coarse hair of the Angora goat. These are woven in irregular designs and, although not artistic, are largely sought as coverings for the bare floors and to add warmth. The weaving of these rugs is crudely done by girls and women. Sometimes the loom is primitively constructed from the trunks of trees. The designs are very simple and have either been handed down from earlier generations or are supplied from the city.

Yuruk rugs are so called from a band of nomads who dwell among the mountains of Anatolia. They have large flocks of fine sheep and weave rugs of firm, even texture. The colors are very good, the field often of dark brown, ornamented with large designs.

About 200 years ago small embroidered rugs were largely made in Persia, chiefly at Ispahan. These were prayer rugs, and on each of them, near one end, was a small embroidered mark to show where the bit of sacred earth from Mecca was to be placed. In obedience to a law of the Koran that the head must be bowed to the ground in prayer this was touched by the forehead when the presentation was made, and so the letter of the law was carried out. The custom prevails. The Persian women who weave the finest prayer rugs seldom weave any other kind of rug.

A BATTLE royal.

A Port Hope Spider Fights With a Port Hope Wasp.

A correspondent at Port Hope sends us the following: "This morning I was eye-witness of what was to me a novel sight — a battle between a full-grown wasp and a common spider. The latter had spun a web that hung like a fringe three or four inches deep from the lower front edge of a piece of scantling that formed the upper stringer of a board fence. Against the fence, and underneath the stringer was an old work bench, on which had been placed some juicy sweet apples that had dropped from the tree. A few yards off was a wasp's nest, which I had left unmolested because its yellow-jacketed occupants had not in any way molested me.

"It is well known that wasps have 'a sweet tooth,' and cannot resist the attraction of a bruised ripe apple or pear. Having to work at the bench I had pushed the apples towards the further side, almost underneath the spider's web, where they regaled my nose with their pleasant apple fragrance. Presently one of the half-dozen wasps that had appropriated the apples, in joyful exultation it may be over the lucky find, flew up and buzzed around in that fussy way that wasps have. Presently, in evident ignorance of the flimsiness of such a resting-place and of a spider's artful designs, this wasp alighted on the face of the cobweb as it hung down from the scantling, and thereby got its feet badly entangled in the spider's silken cords. But at first its wings were free and it made good use of them — dashing wildly and violently in every direction and breaking the cobweb in many places in its frantic efforts to regain its freedom.

"Meanwhile, the spider, who had come out of his lurking place the moment the wasp touched the web, stood at a respectful distance, aghast, apparently, at the size and strength of his prey. For not more than a twinkling did he so stand, for, perceiving the struggles of the wasp and the ruptures wrought in the web, he at once went to work to strengthen the cords around the victim, who was threatening to smash the whole concern. Having quickly supplied half a dozen guy ropes to the parts surrounding the wasp, skilfully keeping himself, meanwhile, out of harm's way, the spider confidently stood and watched, with composure, the struggles of his victim, seeming to know that soon it would become exhausted. In this the spider was not mistaken, for, presently the struggles became spasmodic, with intervals of rest between. In one of these the spider made a dash at the wasp and gave him a bite or two about the head and shoulders, carefully avoiding the business end of the wasp, where the sting was protruding fast and furiously. After being thus bitten the throes of the wasp became more and more feeble and soon ceased altogether, to the evident satisfaction of the spider, who sat watching results an inch or two away. I then had to leave the bench for a few minutes, and on returning to the scene of the conflict I could see nothing of wasp or spider, conquered or conqueror, and thought at first that several wasps that were around had, perhaps, carried the dead body of their fallen comrade off the field. But no; looking more carefully, I found that the spider had drawn its victim to the dark entrance of the hiding place, and was quietly regaling itself on the splendid catch of the morning. Doubtless, too, it was reflecting in its spider mind on the easy victory that coolness and resourcefulness had won over blind strength and bluster."

On Magnetic Healing.

Much is spoken and written during these times about this mysterious method of treating disease. The most remarkable cases of magnetic healing which have come under the notice of the writer have been those in which Dr. Chase's Ointment was used. This preparation seems to have magical powers in stopping the dreadful itching, burning sensations of Salt Rheum and Eczema, and when used regularly makes the cure permanent and thorough.

Killed While Coupling Cars.

Brockville, Nov. 13.— James Smith, brakeman and spare conductor on the Brockville and Westport Railway, was instantly killed yesterday morning at Delta. He was engaged in coupling cars on the siding, and, the ground being very wet, he slipped between the cars and was run over. He was a resident of Brockville, about 50 years old, and leaves two daughters. The remains were brought to Brockville.

A Shooting Accident.

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 13.—Simon Ball, Veanachar, is in the General Hospital, his neck, breast and shoulders filled with bird shot. He was firing the target, when the gun in the hands of the other fellow went off in the usual manner. The shot will be picked out, a painful, though not serious, operation.

Diphtheria and scarlet fever cannot spread when Vapo-Cresolene is used. All Druggists.

WORK OF THE LUNGS.

THE NECESSITY FOR PURE AIR AND PROPER BREATHING.

Respiratory Gymnastics Tend to Strengthen the Resisting Force of Nature to Disease—The Lesson of the Black Hole of Calcutta.

To my mind the part of the physical man upon which depends all the possibilities of mental resource is that part which has relation to respiration and which for its perfect work depends upon the quality of the air we breathe, the quantity respired and the method thereof. The apparatus for respiration consists of the lungs, which are double, the one on the right side having three lobes, the other on the left only two. We must always bear in mind that nature is generous in her provisions, and she has given us so much of lung tissue that a large part can be quickly exhausted and become inactive, yet life endure for its legitimate threescore years and ten and its duties and activities continue unhindered by any conscious lack. Under the microscope the lung tissue shows an infinite number of tiny cells or ultimate lobules. Some have estimated these at five or six hundred million, and, wonderful to relate, only with the first breath that the infant draws are both lungs ever filled with absolutely new air. All through life there is necessarily what we call a residual air, which may be of a greater or less amount, according to the breathing habit of the individual. It is said that the extent of surface through which the air breathed passes is approximately about 1,300 square feet, and the excretion from the lungs daily is over two pounds of poisonous matter. In fact, it is certain that at least one-third of the waste and poisonous matter caused by the activities of the organism, its growth, repair, decay, is excreted through the lungs.

Unfortunately, a great majority of mankind breathe very superficially, using only part of this large area of lung tissue. Even if persons are out of doors, unless by wise activity, the deep cells of the lungs are not aerated for the simple reason that very few men or women know how to free the lungs properly. Dettweiler states that "deep breathing not only ventilates the lungs and aids the circulation, but in many cases is able to strengthen the muscles of the thorax, especially those about the upper part of the chest." And I believe that we have a right to expect from respiratory gymnastics a real strengthening of the resisting force of nature to disease. Even if the lungs have begun to break down, honest effort in this direction will supplement medication.

One of the methods of correct breathing is to put the hands lightly on the hips, fingers backward; throw the shoulders well back, hold the chest up, chin in, and then inhale slowly through the nose as long as possible. When the lungs are filled, retain the air until some discomfort is experienced, then, forming the lips in the shape of a letter O, exhale as slowly and evenly as is consistent with comfort, making a slight blowing sound. Such an exercise for five minutes, clad only in one garment or, better, with no garment at all, night and morning, in a well ventilated room, will do very much in man, woman or child to develop the lung capacity, improve the carriage of the body and enrich the quality of the blood, which depends upon the activity of the lungs for its purification.

It is no wonder that so much care has been given by nature to the apparatus for the respiratory function, for we know perfectly well that man has lived as much as sixty days without food, he has been forced to exist for some time without water; but, alas, without air death must come in a brief space of time!

For instance, in 1756, 146 persons were confined over night in a small space not larger than 5,000 cubic feet, with only two little windows on one side. Within an hour all broke out in a profuse sweat. They were tortured with thirst and difficult breathing, and in three and a half hours the majority were delirious. Then when the morning came forty-three only lived to tell the tale. Another extreme case was at the battle of Austerlitz. Three hundred captured soldiers were confined in a small cellar, and within a few hours all but forty were dead. The reason is self evident. The air was insufficient for the demands of each individual, the poisonous exhalations from the body were thrown off through the lungs, and a most agonizing death ensued. It behooves us, then, most carefully to consider in arranging for the ventilation of homes, hotels, hospitals and jails not only that a proper quantity of pure air shall be allowed free circulation, but also to be watchful lest this pure air shall be vitiated by retained impurities.

A great many investigations have been made to ascertain the relation of air to disease, and perhaps the simple statement of the fact that among all industrial classes those are healthier and have the lowest death rate who are gardeners, farmers, agricultural laborers and fishermen—in other words, those whose occupations are carried on in the open air—will be a truth all can understand.

What a lesson, then, to all who may have families of children to rear! How important that every effort should be made to secure the largest amount of air space about the dwelling, plenty of room for the children to play out of doors, and by all means avoid having little ones sleep in an apartment which the winds of heaven do not visit.—Julia Holmes Smith, D. D., in Pilgrim.

The Excuse

Made by many a man for taking a drink at the bar is that he needs a bracer. He feels weak, his stomach is "out of sorts" and liquor makes him "feel good." The tired man who sits on a pin leaps up with new energy, but no one would say that this energy was evidence of the strength giving power of a pin. So with the energy induced by liquors. They only spur the body on, but do not strengthen it.

Strength is made from food properly digested and assimilated. When the stomach is diseased there is a failure to extract the nutrition from food and the body grows weak. The weak body needs strengthening, not stimulating. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, so that the nutrition of food is perfectly extracted and assimilated and the body nourished into health and strength.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is no other medicine "just as good" for diseases of the stomach and allied organs.

"Your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy have been of great benefit to me," writes (Prof.) Pleasant A. Oliver, of Vinia, Pulton Co., Ark. "Before I used the above mentioned remedies my sleep was not sound; digestion bad; a continual feeling of misery. I now feel like a new man."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the bowels and liver.

GOLF MILLINERY.

Picture Hats of Lace and Flat Hats Equally Fashionable.

A smart golf hat is a simple panama with a black band of ribbon or velvet around it. The French sailor shape in the same light fabric is also charming and looks very nice when draped with a lace veil or a scarf of spotted foulard.

The flat hats are very smart on those to whom they are becoming, but they are not suitable for the pompadour coiffure. It is the girl with the madonna style of hairdressing who looks the best in this hat, which is quite charming in burnt straw or in the dead white rice straw with a bow of velvet on the crown and a wreath of roses below.

ONE OF THE LATEST STYLES.

Leghorn and panama hats are frequently dyed in pastel shades to match the different gowns with which they are worn.

A stunning hat for a young girl is made of many frills of cream lace sewed closely on a frame so that they form the entire hat. The trimming consists of a piece of black velvet ribbon brought around carelessly and tied in the back in a bow.

A smart hat is made of sunburnt straw with a high crown and a brim curving both back and front. Around the crown there is a band of black velvet ribbon, while at the left side lying carelessly the entire length of the brim a soft bow of pastel blue panne is fastened. This is passed through a rich gold buckle, and through this also is passed the end of a long black ostrich feather which curls around the left side of the hat.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Won.

He had gone to ask her father for her hand in marriage. "Well, sir, what is it?" snapped out the old man. "Remember, I am a man of few words." "I don't care if you're a man of only one word if it's the right one," replied the suitor. He got the girl.

The most effusive argument a charming woman can use to a man is an appealing "Don't you think so?"

Patience is the key of content.—Mohammed.

HOW WE MARKET FRUIT.

Why Not Accommodate the Consumer?—A Hint From Foreigners.

A few weeks ago there came to my place two bright young men from Belgium, graduates from a university, who had been traveling over our states for six months visiting our transportation industries. They had money and leisure and intended to locate here, and they had decided that the fruit industry offered the greatest inducement of anything they had discovered in America. They criticised some of our methods. They said to me:

"One trouble is you place your stuff in the market at any place at all, whether it is overloaded or not, and then, too, you put it in a barrel. If I want to buy an apple, I buy two for 5 or three for 10 cents. I pay $10 a barrel at that rate, but I can buy the whole barrel at $1.75 to $2. But if you are staying at a hotel you don't have any room for that much. You force a family to buy a barrel, and the way they have of living in flats and all that sort of thing you have no place to put them unless they are put under the bed, and that is not a good place to put apples. And then if you buy a small quantity you pay an extravagant price."

It seems to me the one great business point in our fruit market today is the lack of putting the fruit up properly, that our peach package of five-eighth or one-half bushel is pretty large for family consumption, therefore they are dumped on the stands. A member of the family goes and buys a quart or two and thinks he has done his duty.

We curtail the consumption of our fruits when we put them in a basket so large that it has to be broken. We may also curtail it by using too small a basket. The question to be thought out and planned out is the largest possible limit we can sell our productions. I have spoken to you about the necessity of growing fine fruit. There is not going to be any room in a little while for the man who grows inferior fruit nor for the man who packs fruit dishonestly or carelessly, says J. H. Hale of Connecticut.

All His Fortune.

One day before his marriage the Rev. Sydney Smith ran into the room where his fiancee was, flung into her lap six small teaspoons which "from much wear had become the ghosts of their former selves" and said, "There, Kate, you lucky girl, I give you all my fortune." He gave her, however, what he did not mention, his fine character and great talent and in every way proved himself an excellent husband.

THE LAST OF THE SEASON.

To-day's Session of the Peterborough Cheese Board.

The Highest Price Was 8 13-16c—Vote of Thanks to the Town Council—The Bidding—The Discussion.

The final meeting of the season of the Peterborough Cheese Board was held in the Town Council Chamber on Wednesday morning, the following buyers being present: Messrs. Kerr, Fitzgerald, Rollins, Whitton, Cook, Wrighton, and Cochrane, representing Mr. Sauve. The highest price received was 8 13-16c, and most of the factories received this amount.

Before the bidding was commenced Mr. Cook brought to the attention of the board the fact that a number of factories had sold off the Board since the last sale. For this breach of the rules there is a fine of $25. He wanted to know what was going to be done about the matter. However no action was taken.

THE FACTORIES.

The factories boarded as follows:

Keene	156
Warminister	215
Shearer	75
Central Smith	300
North Smith	168
Villiers	90
Warsaw	140
Westwood	150
Oakdale	120
Missing Link	105
Daisy D.	99
Melrose Abbey	111
Lakefield	270
Pine Grove	135
Peterborough	167
Otonabee River	57
Maple Leaf	228
Myrtle	221
Norwood	280
Young's Point	115
Lang	215
Fraserville	155
Indian River	90
North Dummer	140
Ballyduff	70
East Emily	215
Treewern	225
Benefort	115
Cedardale	122
Stony Lake	82
Cavanville	240
Mount Pleasant	172
Perrytown	80
Norwood	150
Fleetwood	300
Oak Leaf	72
Buckhorn	200
South Burleigh	37
Brickley	50
Shamrock	80

The bidding opened at 8 1-4c by Mr. Whitton, and was followed by 8 3-8c by Mr. Rollins, 8 1-2 by Mr. Cook, 8 3-4 by Mr. Whitton, and closed at 8 13-16 by Mr. Fitzgerald. He called the following factories, Central Smith, Myrtle, Fraserville, Trawern, East Emily, Cavanville, Fleetwood, Mount Pleasant, and Missing Link. They all accepted. He offered 9 3-4 for further selections, but Mr. Whitton went 8 13-16, taking Westwood, Villiers, Shearer, Keene and Benefort. Ormonde refused.

Mr. Whitton then went 8 3-4 and named Melrose Abbey, Shamrock, Ormonde and Brickley.

Mr. Cook went 8 13-16, calling Lakefield and Lang, which accepted, and then offered 8 3-4 for further selections. Indian River, Peterborough, Pine Grove, and Maple Leaf refused, and Norwood, Otonabee Union, and Warsaw accepted.

Mr. Kerr at 8 13-16 picked up North Smith, Pine Grove, Peterborough and Young's Point. He offered 8-4 for further. Mr. Rollins went 8 13-16, taking Oakdale, Daisy D., and North Dummer. At 8 3-4 the same gentleman called Cedardale, Stony Lake, South Burleigh, Oakleaf, Buckhorn and Indian River.

Mr. Fitzgerald bought up Ballyduff at 8 3-4. Montreal inspection.

Mr. John Riddell, in a very few appropriate remarks, moved a vote of thanks to the Mayor and Town Council of the Town of Peterborough for the use of their council chamber during the session. He also thought it was about time that the rules of the Board should be revised, and he moved to this effect. Mr. E. M. Elliott seconded the motion as to the Mayor and Town Council, but nothing was done regarding the other matter.

Mr. Cook did not see any need for a revision of the rules of the Peterborough Board, which were known all over the entire Province as the banner board of them all. He, time and again had been asked by outside boards to be supplied with the rules of the Peterborough Board.

Mr. Anderson denied that he sold off the Board. He had nothing to do with the last sale.

Mr. Galvin thought that the sooner the factories and the buyers lived up to the rules of the Board the better. He had not anything to say against buyers purchasing off the Board. It was their business to buy when and however they could. The salesmen were at fault in selling.

Mr. Riddell then moved that the buyers put up the oysters for the salesmen and other gentlemen present. It was customary to wind up the season in a social manner of some kind, and as the season was now over and further, as it was, he hoped, a most successful one, he thought that a little social time in the manner he had just mentioned would have a good effect.

This proposition was heartily approved of by the salesmen, but the buyers could not see it in a favourable light.

It was announced that the Inspector was well pleased with the factories on the Peterborough Board, there being only one fine this season of $10.

The Board then adjourned.

MISSIONARY NIGHT.

Some Prominent Gentlemen to Address the Congregations of St. Andrew's and St. Paul's.

A missionary meeting under the joint auspices of the congregations of St. Andrew's and St. Paul's churches, will be held in St. Paul's church on the evening of Wednesday, November 20th, commencing at 8 p.m. Addresses will be delivered by Rev. Mr. Roberts, superintendent of Missions in the Northwest, Rev. J. A. Macdonald, editor of the Westminster and John Penman, Esq., of Paris.

This will be a grand opportunity for the people of Peterborough to hear the claims of Missions put forward by some of the ablest men in the Presbyterian church.

Special music will be provided by the choir of St. Paul's church, and a hearty invitation is extended to the members of other churches in the town to be present.

SPENCE MEMORIAL.

An Effort Being Made to Have a Representative Meeting.

A meeting of the Dan Spence Memorial Fund subscribers will be held in the Town Council chamber on the evening of Thursday, November 21st, for the purpose of deciding on some final action regarding the disposal of the money now on hand.

The secretary of the fund, Mr. S. R. Armstrong, is sending to every subscriber a circular letter, asking them to be present, if at all possible. It reads as follows:

To the Subscribers to the Daniel M. Spence Memorial Fund,—

The money subscribed for said fund amounts to but $450, and is insufficient to purchase an ambulance, as at first suggested. Moreover, the enterprise of a worthy citizen has supplied the want and there is now a very useful ambulance in the town.

It is suggested that the tribute to the patriotism and self-sacrificing spirit of the brave man of our town who gave his life in South Africa to maintain the honour and integrity of the Empire, should be coupled with the names of the citizen of our County who died in Africa as a soldier of the Queen, and that the County Council should be asked to supplement your gift to enable the erection in the Court House grounds of a suitable memorial in honour of both of the brave men who gave their lives for their country.

The committee ask that you will personally attend a meeting of the subscribers to be held at the council chamber, on Thursday, 21st of November, at 8 p.m., to consider the above proposition, and the committee will assume that all who do not so attend assent to the suggested proposal.

By order of the Committee,
S. R. ARMSTRONG,
Secretary.

EVERY MOVE CAUSED PAIN.

The Intense Suffering of a Perth Man Relieved and Cured by Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets.

The terrible pain that catches you in the back makes stooping over or rising up, or even moving about, unbearable.

In nine cases out of ten, it is traceable to disordered kidneys.

The pain in the back is the kidney's signal of distress.

Go to their assistance with Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets.

They will promptly relieve the pain, cure the kidney trouble, and restore your health and strength.

Here is a case worth reading;

Mr. Alexander Montgomery, Peter street, Perth, Ont., when interviewed, made this statement;—"I was suffering acutely in my back when I began using Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, procured from F. I. Hall, the druggist. I could lift nothing, and every move caused pain. There was neither strength nor energy left in me. The constant aching over my kidneys was most depressing. I started using the Tablets, and the Lumbago quickly began to let up. I am quite over it now. I have found them most satisfactory, and can confidently recommend them for bad backs." Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50c a box, at all druggists. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

A PURE INVENTION.

Hon. J. R. Stratton Flatly Denies the Story of Mr. A. W. Wright.

Hon. J. R. Stratton was interviewed at the Buildings yesterday morning by the Toronto Star regarding the statement made by the Conservative Organizer, Alex. W. Wright, in the World, that Mr. Mabee had told him in the presence of another that "Mr. Smith and Hon. Mr. Stratton took the manuscript of his book up to Mr. Stratton's summer residence at Stony Lake, and edited, revised and changed it, to suit themselves, so that the two gentlemen named are entitled to share with the distinguished author the glory of authorship."

"There is not a word of truth in the statement made by Mr. Wright," said the Minister. "The fact is, I never edited one line of the Mabee pamphlet; I never suggested a line of it, nor did I know that a pamphlet was gotten up by Mr. Mabee against Mr. Whitney until it was issued. The statement is a pure invention, without the slightest foundation, of which Mr. A. W. Wright is fully capable."

Mr. Wright's general statements are distinctly denied by his friend, Mr. Mabee, who positively states in his affidavit that he never received one dollar from Alexander Smith for the pamphlet or for anything else, and in addition to this, Hunter, Rose & Co. state they are handling the pamphlet entirely on their own responsibility, financial and otherwise."

LEGISLATURE ON JAN. 8TH.

Some of the Business to Come up for Consideration.

It is understood that the Ontario Legislature will meet for the transaction of business on Wednesday, January 8th. It is expected that the early calling of the session will permit business to be concluded within the natural term of the Legislature. The various departments are now at work on the estimates, that they may be presented at the early possible moment. It is not expected that there will be more than a moderate amount of Government legislation, owing to the disposal of so many important matters at the last session. Probably the bill providing for the construction of a Governmental railway from North Bay to the Temiskaming region will be the most important measure to be introduced. It is also expected that the assessment law will receive some attention. It is anticipated, too, that the full report of the assessment commission will be submitted.

Most excellent buying of Union Pacific Hold Atchison. Remember Secretary Gage will relieve the monetary situation if necessity arises. L. N. will sell above 113 on this move.

(Winnipeg) It is stated that Canadian Pacific will build from Winnipeg to Duluth, and come into competition with Great Northern.

Notwithstanding the large export movement of gold by to-day's steamer, the market should do better, as a result of a final settlement of the Northern Pacific-Burlington matter, through the form of new securities holding company with an enormous capital. There is no occasion to worry about the money market. The railroad earnings continue heavy, and there is nothing in the outlook to cause apprehensions. Stocks are strongly held, and we believe will sell very much higher.

Buy Union, Southern Pacific, L. N., Reading and steels. Strong bull news is out on Metropolitan, and this stock will have a good advance. B. R. T. will work higher, but it is always advisable to take profits.

The West is buying People's gas and this stock should move up.

HOW THE TAX RATE WAS LOWERED.

In a school section, not far from Eagle (Elgin County,) the teacher left a few days ago.

Being the fourth teacher in one year to take charge of the ungraded school it was necessary during the first part of his three year's service to teach weeks of extra time. He passed with credit, each year, every pupil who wrote on Part 1, P. E. Leaving or Entrance examinations. When he left his pupils presented him with a very handsome chair. He had cut the thistles and rebuilt or repaired the platform and pump etc. The trustees were not to be outdone in generosity, they charged him two dollars and forty cents and one hundred and sixteen two hundred and eightieths of a cent for the one legal teaching day he lost this year because his salary ($425 a year) was so large.

Coughs, colds, hoarseness, and other throat ailments are quickly relieved by Vapo-Cresolene tablets, ten cents per box. All druggists.

MINERS ENTOMBED.

Fire Broke Out, Followed by Two Heavy Explosions.

Pocahontas, Va., Nov. 15.— Fire broke out in the Baby mines, near here, early yesterday, caused by defective electric wires. A great portion of the mine fell in, and a heavy explosion followed. It is not known how many men were in the mines, but upon a fire alarm being given, firemen and others rashed in to rescue those who might be caught. Then another explosion followed. As a result, 25 men are badly injured, many fearfully burned, but no dead so far have been found. The mines are still on fire, and other explosions are likely. The fan has been stopped, and every effort is being made to put out the fire and rescue the entombed.

Caught in a Blazing Mine.

Bluefields, W. Va., Nov. 15.— Five dead bodies have been taken from the Baby mine at Pocahontas, Va. Several other persons are unaccounted for, and 25 persons have been rescued more or less severely burned. The mine is still burning, and clouds of smoke are constantly issuing from its mouth.

Banks Adjudged Not Guilty.

Ballston, N.Y., Nov. 15.— The closing arguments in the trial of Joseph C. Banks for the murder of Herbert Tackaberry of Ottawa, Ont., were made yesterday morning, and the jury returned a verdict at 7.15 last evening of not guilty, after an absence of four and a half hours. The defence was justifiable homicide in shooting in self-defence. Banks is from Seneca Falls, N.Y., and was manager of a circus. At Saratoga, Aug. 16th, he shot and killed Herbert Tackaberry of Ottawa, Ont., who had been discharged from the circus company.

Dr. Clapp Was Chosen.

Walkerton, Nov. 15.—A convention of the South Bruce Conservatives was held here yesterday for the purpose of nominating a candidate to contest the riding at the next election. Dr. Clapp of Mildmay was the unanimous choice of the meeting.

Pan-Am. Finances.

Buffalo, N.Y., Nov. 15.—The total liabilities of the Pan-American Co. is $3,326,115, and assets $146,454. The exposition cost $8,860,757. Receipts from admissions were $2,467,066; from concessions, $1,011,523.

COWARDLY ATTEMPT TO MURDER

Andrew Marshall, Farmer, Near Ottawa, Called to His Door at 3 O'clock Thursday Morning and Shot.

Ottawa, Nov. 15.—Battling for life, and with a gaping bullet wound in his neck, Andrew Marshall, a middle-aged farmer, lies at the Protestant General Hospital. About 3 o'clock yesterday morning Marshall was summoned to the door of his humble dwelling, near Ramsay's Corners, Russell County, and about ten miles from the capital.

"Your money or your life," exclaimed the early visitor, at the same time discharging a rifle.

The ball passed through Marshall's neck, between the jugular and wind-pipe, splintered a rafter and dropped to the floor. The injured man was assisted to his bed by his aged wife, the only other occupant of the house. She alarmed the neighbors, and medical assistance was summoned.

"Arthur Buckley has shot me," exclaimed Mr. Marshall when he fell. Buckley is a young man hitherto on friendly terms with the Marshalls. He has not been located. He bears a good reputation, and many believe Marshall was mistaken in his man.

Considerable petty thieving has been done at the Marshall house and in the neighborhood lately, and the impression is strong that the shooting was done by a tramp. Robbery is the motive given for the dastardly deed. Marshall sold considerable live stock six weeks ago, and it was a general opinion that he had the proceeds in the house. The shot fired was evidently a premature one and caused the would-be robber to take to his heels.

Detective Robillard of the city force and county constables are investigating the affair. Marshall's chances of recovery were better last night.

Boy Crushed by Train.

Glencoe, Nov. 15.—A terrible accurred in the Grand Trunk yards about 8 o'clock yesterday, when Charles, the ten-year-old son of John Clarke, lost his right arm. The boy left home at three o'clock to go to his father's mill, but, instead, spent his time in jumping on and off of a shunting train. It seems that at the time the accident occurred Charlie had caught a slowly-moving car, which started with a jerk, throwing him under the wheels and badly crushing his arm above the elbow. He was carried home, and there the arm was amputated near the shoulder. The boy's father when young lost his arm by being thrown under a moving train.

American "Soo" Gets It.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 15.—The immense tube works originally projected for the Canadian Soo, will instead be located on this side of the river. The corporation back of the project, which will be known as the International Tube Co., is composed of F. H. Clergue, his associates and other capitalists. The proposed plant will cost in the neighborhood of a million dollars. Employment will be afforded to about 600 men.

C.P.R. Not in the Deal.

Montreal, Nov. 15.—The statement that the Canadian Pacific is in any way interested directly or indirectly with the Northern Pacific settlement, as stated by American papers, was scouted by Sir William Van Horne yesterday. "We don't care a fig for the Northern Pacific," he said, "and if you ask me where it is I can't tell you."

50 VESSELS WRECKED

Further Casualties in the Worst Storm in Years.

MORE THAN 180 WERE DROWNED

Lifeboat Capsized and Eleven of Her Crew Were Drowned Near Yarmouth —Norwegian Bark Wrecked With Eight Lives Lost—The Full Damage on the British Coasts Will Never Likely Be Known.

London, Nov. 15.—It is still impossible to estimate the total loss of life and property resulting from the protracted gale, and probably the full extent of the damage will never be known. Tons of wreckage of unidentified vessels are still being thrown up. Altogether it is known that some fifty vessels have been wrecked along the British coasts. Thirty-four of these have been absolute wrecks, involving, it is believed, a loss of more than 180 drowned. The Yarmouth lifeboat disaster alone leaves 44 fatherless children.

Lifeboat and 11 Lives Lost.

London, Nov. 15.—The loss of a lifeboat and 11 lives near Yarmouth heads the list of yesterday's wrecks by the continued gale. The lifeboat was on its way to the rescue of a distressed vessel, when it was struck by a great wave and capsized. The crew were imprisoned, and only three of them succeeded in making their escape.

Innumerable minor casualties continue to be reported on all the coasts of the United Kingdom, marking the storm as the most disastrous that has occurred in many years. Snow is falling in many parts of the country.

The Norwegian barque Erratic, of Christiania, has been wrecked in the vicinity of Saltburn, and eight members of her crew have been drowned.

An incomplete list of the persons who have lost their lives by drowning during the storm already aggregates over 160.

Crew of Nine Drowned

Belfast, Nov. 15.—From wreckage seen in Belfast Lough yesterday, it is supposed that the collier White Abbey has been lost and her crew of nine drowned.

Storm on Upper Lakes.

Midland, Ont., Nov. 14.—A heavy gale blowing from the north has been raging here since Wednesday night, accompanied by heavy snow flurries. The steamer Vulcan arrived Thursday with the after cabin and bulwarks broken, and other vessels were forced to seek shelter.

Barge Went Ashore.

Little Current, Ont., Nov. 15.—The steam barge, R. C. Briton, loaded with lumber supplies, went ashore on the Duck Islands on Monday and is in bad shape, will likely be a total loss. The cargo is being taken off in small boats as much as possible.

Steamer Waterlogged.

Port Hope, Mich., Nov. 15.— The steamer Emerald, from Alpena to Detroit, loaded with lumber and cedar, sprung aleak and became waterlogged in the heavy gale last night off Point Aux Barques. The life-saving crew rescued the crew of nine yesterday morning in a freezing condition. The men could not have held out much longer.

Dr. Orton, Ex-M.P., Dead.

Winnipeg, Nov. 15.—George Turner Orton, ex-M.P. for Centre Wellington, who died here yesterday, was a son of the late Mr. Henry Orton of Leicestershire, England, who came to Canada in 1835, and settled in Guelph. The deceased gentleman was born in Guelph in 1837, and received his early education at the Guelph Grammar School. He studied for the medical profession at the College of Surgeons, Dublin, Ireland, and also at the University of St. Andrew's, Scotland, from which last he graduated in 1860. He was a member of the Royal College of Surgeons, and was at one time surgeon of the 30th Battalion, Wellington Rifles. For many years he carried on an extensive medical practice at Fergus, Ont., and was considered a surgeon of great skill and ability, being called in consultation to all parts of the Province. Dr. Orton married Anne, daughter of the late William Farmer of Sutton-Maddock, Shropshire, England, who, some years ago, had extensive lumber camps on the Gatineau River.

President of $400,000,000 Corporation.

New York, Nov. 15.—The Times says James J. Hill, President of the Great Northern Railway, was yesterday elected President of the Northern Securities Company, the new $400,000,000 corporation, through the medium of which the Northwestern railroad tangle will be disposed of.

Right Rev. William Chalmers, Bishop of Goulburn, New South Wales since 1892, is dead. Bishop Chalmers obtained his degree of B.D. after examination from Trinity University, Toronto, in 1889, and was granted the degree of D.D., jure dignitatis, on his being raised to the episcopate.

A deputation of East York farmers interviewed Premier Ross and Attorney-General Gibson on Friday, asking that the Government take action to prevent the running of Sunday cars on the Toronto and Scarboro line. Action will be stayed until a decision is had in the Court of Appeal on the question of the liability of railway corporations for the acts of employes.

2184 Lace and Embroidery Collars

In the neatest, daintiest designs produced this season, were cleared by our buyer a few days ago, and you can depend upon it that we would not have bought Two Thousand One Hundred and Eighty-Four Collars if they were not good style—perfect goods—and that we could sell them at about half price.

REASON WHY WE CAN SELL THEM AT LESS THAN HALF PRICE:

The buyer of the jobbing house from whom these were bought gave his order for boxes instead of for dozens, assuming that they came one dozen to a box; but the manufacturers put five dozen in a box. You can readily see that the jobber had five dozen for every dozen he wanted. To relieve him he appealed to us, and the concession made tempted us to take the lot. His loss is your gain, and we can afford to sell you Collars at these prices :—

Embroidery Neck Collars, worth 12½c each, for..... 7c, 4 for 25c

Embroidery and Lace Collars, worth 18c and 25c each, for 10c, 3 for 25c

Embroidery and Lace Collars, worth 25c and 35c each, for 15c, 2 for 25c

They're natty enough and good enough for Xmas gifts, and while the quantity is great, you will readily see how quickly they will melt away when each customer takes four to six—for the value and sight of them will do that.

GAUNTLETS FOR LADIES AND CHILDREN.

CHILDREN'S Black Astrachan and Sealette Mitts, worth 45c for, per pair 25c.

CHILDREN'S Gray Astrachan Gauntlets, wind proof. Special, per pair 50c.

A FATUOUS POLICY.

The Review seems to be easily cornered these days — it opens its guard very rashly. Like Mr. Whitney's, its bold misstatements and rash assertions are so far wide of the mark, that their lack of truthfulness and fallacy are almost self-evident. The Review says that Mr. Stratton was interested in No. 5 dam. The directors and shareholders of the Otonabee Powpr Company, say he was not. Who should know best? The Review asserts that Mr. Stratton used his influence to "turn down" Mr. Blezard. That gentleman says he did not, and that he was not "turned down." Who should know best? The Review, or Mr. Blezard. The Review has asserted that the Ontario Government was in collusion with Michigan lumbermen to extend them favours in opposition to the interests of the province. This statement was put in the shape of a formal charge in the election petition against the return of Hon. Mr. Harty, Kingston, to the effect that the Michigan lumbermen had supplied money to promote Mr. Harty's election. The late Mr. Justice Rose, who tried the petition, declared that the charge was scandalous and unfounded, and denounced the men who made the charge, but who when called upon, had no proof to offer. Who should know best, a judge who had the charge before him, or the Conservative organs and others, who had simply drawn on their imaginations? Unfounded and unworthy insinuations, and guess-work statements have a short life in the field of argument, and the newspapers and party that resort to them only betray the weakness of their cause and their poverty of argument.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Our evening contemporary appears to be in a very bad condition of mind just now. Everything in connection with the Liberal party in Ontario is wrong. The only honesty is centred in the councils of the Conservative party, and in the sanctum of the Review. That journal seems to have lost all sense of truthfulness or fair play in dealing with political questions. Our contemporary will find that misrepresentations and statements short of the truth, will not be beneficial to any party. Our contemporary's style of writing and argument indicates a loss of grip, and loss of hope for the success of its party in provincial politics.

THE CLERGUE ENTERPRISES.

Work Done Last Year and the Prospects for Next Year as Stated by Directors.

The annual report of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company, which controls the extensive mining, steel-making, railway, paper-manufacturing, and other enterprises in the Canadian Sault Ste. Marie district, being carried through by what is known as the Clergue syndicate, which has just reached Montreal, refers to the last year as an eventful one. The absorption of the Ontario Lake Superior Company gave the consolidated company control of the Algoma Central Railway and Steamship Companies; the Manitoulin and North Shore Railway; the Algoma Commercial Company; the British American Express Company, and the Algoma Central Telegraph lines.

The operating companies owned by the company are: The Lake Superior Power Company, Tagona Water and Light Company, the Michigan Lake Superior Power Company, and the Algoma Steel Company, Limited, just organized.

On October 31, there was outstanding of the preferred stock, $14,475,900. During the year ending June 30, 1902, there will be outstanding an average not exceeding $14,000,000, upon which the dividends for the year amount to $1,200,000.

The directors say: "The amount of net earnings which will be realized from June 30, 1901, to, June 30, 1902, upon the sale and transportation of iron ore from the Helen Iron Mine, will alone be sufficient to pay the entire preferred stock dividend of the company during the period named. This statement is based upon earnings now being realized, without considering the increased value which will result from mixing the Helen ore with the high-grade Bessemer ore from the Josephine Mine. The large earnings, therefore, which will certainly be derived during the same period of time from the steel works, Government bonus, ground wood, and sulphite-pulp mills, ferro-nickel works, sulphuric acid works, water power rentals, railway and steamship operations, timber sales, and the sales of ore from other than the Helen Mine, will all be tributary either to surplus account or for dividends upon the common stock of your company."

LAST MEETING OF THE YEAR

2,400 Boxes of Cheese Were Boarded.

All Factories Sold at 8 3-4c Except Omemee and Janetville.

From the Lindsay Post.

The last meeting of the Victoria Cheese Board for this season was held on Monday morning at ten o'clock in the market room, the Council chamber being occupied by a Police Court case. There was a large attendance of salesmen, patrons and others interested in cheesemaking. The buyers present were Messrs. Flavelle, Whitton and Fitzgerald.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

President Robertson spoke briefly, saying that this was the last sale of the Cheese Board this season and hoped that the buyers would be good enough to offer a fair price. He said that all the sales during the season had been pleasant, that the buyers had been fair to the salesmen, and that Messrs. Flavelle and Fitzgerald had remained with us all through the year. He was pleased to say that no complaints had been made by the cheesemakers, although they have many things to contend with. He pointed out that Mr. Flavelle had been the largest purchaser of cheese this season, having bought 7,423 boxes. Mr. Lytle only attended one sale and secured 1,530. Mr. Whitton bought 1,427, Mr. Fitzgerald 835 and Mr. Bailey 789. Mr. Whitton was the champion buyer last year. The President stated that there was a slight falling off of cheese boarded this year, there being two factories, Oakwood and Cambray, less. He censured Oakwood for taking advantage of the Victoria Cheese Board prices in order to sell on the Toronto markets. He knew they did not secure any higher prices and thought it nothing but fair that they should patronize the local board. Cambray consigned their cheese and he was doubtful if they did any better. There were 14,220 boxes boarded this season as against 16,422 last year and 16,859 the year before. Several cheesemakers have informed me that they never cut so much cheese in their factories before as this year, there being a good demand among the patrons. The average price obtained last year was 10 1-8c. per lb., and this year it went at 9 1-4c.

A KICK OVER WEIGHT OF CHEESE.

Some discussion took place over the allowance in weight of each box to be made. Mr. Whitton said on the Belleville board the weight allowance was made.

Mr. Flavelle pointed out that an allowance of one pound per box should be made in the weight. The President said the salesmen were present to represent the patrons and protect their interests. He was in favour of allowing 1-2 lb. off. It was then moved by Mr. Taylor Parkin, seconded by Mr. Hill, that one pound be allowed off the weight of each box.—Carried.

The following factories boarded the number of cheese set opposite.

Star...	160
Cameron...	158
Dunsford...	214
Marlposa...	168
Janetville...	111
Omemee...	176
Fenelon Falls...	145
North Verulam...	160
North Ops...	128
Pine Grove...	78
Reaboro...	300
Bobcaygeon...	256
Maple Leaf...	150
Palestine...	92
Red Rock...	304
	2,400

Mr. Fitzgerald called 8 3-4c. and secured Bobcaygeon, Mariposa, Palestine and Dunsford. Mr. Whitton bought Star, Maple Leaf, Reaboro and North Ops. Mr. Flavelle took Cameron, Red Rock, Pine Grove, and North Verulam at 8 3-4c. Omemee refused to sell, and on motion was permitted to sell by consignment. No offers were made for Janetville.

Enthusiastic Converts.

There are Thousands of Them Who Believes as This Woman Does.

Miss Ira Knowlton, of Butte, Montana, is a most enthusiastic convert to the virtues of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets as a cure for obstinate stomach troubles. She says: "I had poor digestion nearly all my life. It now seems to me that for years I never knew what it was to be hungry, to have a good natural appetite.

"I was troubled with gas in the stomach, causing pressure on the heart with palpitation and short breath. Nearly everything I ate soured on my stomach; sometimes I had cramps in the stomach which almost resembled spasms.

"Doctors told me I had catarrh of the stomach, but their medicines would not reach it, and I would still be a sufferer had I not in sheer desperation decided to try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"I knew they were an advertised remedy, and I didn't believe anything I read about them, as I had no confidence in advertised remedies, but my sister living in Pittsburg wrote me last spring telling me how Stuart's Tablets had cured her little daughters of indigestion and loss of flesh and appetite and I hesitated no longer.

"I bought a fifty cent box at my drug store, and took two of the large Tablets after each meal, and found them delightful to take, being as pleasant to the taste as caramel candy. Whenever during the day or night I felt any pain or uneasiness in the stomach or about the heart I took one of the small tablets and in three weeks it seemed to me as if I had never known what stomach trouble was.

"I keep Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in the house and every member of our family uses them occasionally after a hearty meal or when any of us have a pain or ache in the digestive organs."

Mr. E. H. Davis, of Hampton, Va., says; "I doctored five years for dyspepsia, but in two months I got more benefit from Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, than in five years of the doctor's treatment."

"Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of the stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, bloating after meals, sympathetic heart trouble.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is not a cheap cathartic but an active digestive remedy containing the pepsin and diastase which every weak stomach lacks, and they cure stomach troubles because they digest the food eaten, and give the weak, abused, over-worked stomach a chance to rest and recuperate.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold in every drug store in the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

OMEMEE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The fall rains have at last arrived, but not until the farmers are about done with their fall ploughing and root and other crops all safely gathered.

Large numbers of our farmers continue to drive to Peterborough every Wednesday and Saturday.

The Peterborough Cordage Co.'s stock is now more easily sold since farmers see the factory is now in course of erection. Mr. J. D. Thornton, their general agent, has hopes of the patronage of many of the best people in the matter.

There is quite a demand for houses in our village, and some three or four are now in course of erection.

The large pork market still continues every Tuesday. Farmers are in easy circumstances this fall.

Jas. Graham, proprietor of the Commercial House, is doing a fine business.

There is a young Emily farm laborer, who has been unable to perform his duties with comfort owing to a stomach trouble. He felt a sensation at times as if there was something alive inside. On describing his case to a physician a stomach pump was brought into use with the result of bringing up a black reptile some three or four inches long. The young man having been previously employed on a lake steamer on our back lakes, was in the habit of drinking the lake water, and is supposed to have swallowed the egg of some reptile.

There are many of our young people anxious to seek employment in some of Peterborough's new industries next season.

The Anglican Church, renovated and overhauled by Contractor Rutherford, Peterborough, reflects great credit on him, and shows up excellently on the new site.

DOURO.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The many friends of Mr. Maurice O'Brien will be sorry to hear of his recent illness.

Mr. Geo. R. Brooks, Douro's cheesemaker met with great success at the Buffalo Exposition. Mr. Brooks has always held the confidence of his many patrons, but not until now has the true test of his ability been made apparent. With his inadequate cold storage and without warning his patrons as to the care of the milk, Mr. Brooks made a cheese which scored the remarkable high score of 96.75.

The cattle fair held at our burgh on Tuesday last was a decided success. St. Joseph's congregation, the buyers and the donors were all satisfied. Over twelve hundred dollars had been realized, an amount quite as large as was expected. Cattle and stockers sold high and the numerous buyers all seemed anxious to buy. At the sale the buyers paid prices higher than they would to individuals, from which fact many of the farmers are contemplating an annual fair where they can dispose of their surplus stock.

Didn't Know His Wife.

When T. Coleman, a Brantford traveller, left on a three weeks' trip his wife was a yellow-faced, fagged-out woman. When he returned he didn't know her. Her eyes were bright and her skin clear, and she walked differently. Merrill's System Tonic did it. 50c for 50 doses. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

Probably an Oil Carrier.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 15.—Capt. Ferlan of the Australian steamship Etelka has brought to this port news of a probable marine disaster. Early on the morning of Nov. 8th, when the Etelka was in latitude 41 north, longitude 59, west, Capt. Ferlan states that his attention was drawn to what he believes to have been a burning steamship. The craft was invisible, but the glare of the flames could be plainly seen. The course of the Etelka was changed, but before she could reach the burning vessel an explosion apparently occurred, and the steamship was apparently torn to pieces.

ROSEBERY'S ADVICE.

In Settlement of Great Questions, Abolish Party Lines.

A BUSINESSMEN'S GOVERNMENT

Party Jealousy Impedes Reforms, and He Suggests the Above Method as a Means to the Carrying of Measures Known to Be Good by Both Great Parties—House of Lords.

London, Nov. 15. Lord Rosebery, speaking last night in Edinburgh, said he did not intend again to try to secure a reform of the House of Lords, as this was not a task for an individual, but one needing a national impulse.

"I would like to see," he continued, "an experiment for a year of a Government formed entirely of business men, such, for example, as Mr. Carnegie and Sir Thomas Lipton, instead of politicians.

"I would ask you: Are you getting your money's worth for the money spent? We are beginning to learn the lesson that great measures must, in future, be carried more by the harmony of contending parties or by the agreement of belligerent politicians than by the overpowering ascendency of one faction in the country."

Continuing, the speaker said he blamed no party and blamed no Government, but saw around him questions demanding solution and a general apathy and impotence to deal with them.

Political parties, he said, must, on occasions, be willing to sink their differences and forget who was in power, and who would get credit for the carrying out of measures, if they wish these measures to be carried out.

Dawson's Population.

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 15.— There are 20,000 people in the Yukon territory and the population of Dawson City is approximately 8,000. Major H. J. Woodside, of Dawson, the Dominion Government Census Commissioner, who arrived from the north yesterday, is authority for these figures. The major left later in the day for Ottawa, taking with him the official returns of the census and he expects to come back to the coast after visiting friends and relatives in the east.

The Story Denied.

Montreal, Nov. 15.—The statement emanating from Chicago, to the effect that Mr. C. M. Hays is to return to the Grand Trunk as president and general manager is authoritatively denied at the London office, says a cable.

Why Rheumatism is Like Catarrh.

Both are inflammations; the former of the muscle tissues, the latter of the muscous membrane. The only way to cure either is by a course of blood purifying and blood enriching treatment. Merrill's System Tonic is the most thorough blood purifier and at the same time the most rapid blood making remedy known. 50 pleasant-to-take doses for 50 cents. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

KING EDWARD'S OAK.

A Sturdy Tree Growing in Front of Washington's Tomb.

Washington, Nov. 15.—When King Edward VII. traveled through America as the Prince of Wales he planted a chestnut tree at Mount Vernon. This died and he lately requested that an English live oak be planted in place of the dead chestnut tree. This request has been carried out, and a sturdy little oak tree is growing now directly in front of the tomb of Washington, fenced in by an iron railing. It is growing finely and there is every reason for hoping that historic Mount Vernon will at least have a souvenir of the then Prince of Wales' visit to this country.

Anxious to Fight.

Tangier, Nov. 15.—Fierce fighting has occurred between the Benmisara and Mesmuda tribes, resulting in the killing of many on both sides. The Benmisaras razed a number of villages in the plains, and carried off 18 Mesmuda girls. They had been threatened by the Sultan with punishment for abducting a Spanish boy and girl, and took this method of demonstrating that they were prepared to fight any force that might be sent against them.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS . . .

. WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $130 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

SNARES FOR THE SIMPLE

WHAT the brand,—"Joseph Rodgers, Sheffield,"—signifies on a knife blade, the slate frame brand of—"The Slater Shoe"—signifies on a shoe sole.

But don't confuse mere personal names with registered brands!

The advantage of a brand, depends entirely upon its record for merit, established by the years certain goods have been publicly tested under that brand.

And, when such a brand has become a passport to people's confidence, there creeps in a species of piracy, which trades upon that confidence, by the selling of unknown goods, at a long profit, under some name which sounds like that of the brand.

This is how heedless Consumers are snared, and sold, and laughed at.

No purchaser should accept a blind excuse from a Retailer for the absence of the advertised trade mark, and the presence of something which resembles it superficially, but is not it legally.

There are thousands of men named "Rodgers," but there is only one standard brand of "Rodger's Cutlery," as there is only one standard brand of "The Slater Shoe."

If these words—"The Slater Shoe," are not stamped on the sole in a slate frame, it is not a genuine "Slater Shoe," and you buy it at your own risk.

The Slater Shoe Co. do not stand behind any but their own make—the shoe with a five year record of fixed value and uniform quality.

When you get the slate frame brand of "The Slater Shoe," stamped on the soles with the Makers price, you get the responsible, Goodyear Welted article.

The death occurred early on Wednesday morning of the wife of Rev. W. J. Pady, pastor of the Annette street Baptist church. Services were heard at the Annette street Baptist church at 11.30 a.m., and the remains were conveyed by train at 1 p.m. to Hespeler. Rev. Mr. Pady is confined to his bed as a result of coming in contact with poison ivy. He was formerly pastor of the Park street Baptist church, Peterborough.

CHOIR CHANGES.

Mr. Walden has Resigned as Organist in George Street—His Successors.

At the Trustee Board of the George street Methodist church on Wednesday night the resignation of Mr. F. E. Walden, as organist and choir master of the church, was accepted, and the vacancy was filled by the appointment of Mr. G. W. Mulligan to the position of choirmaster, and the appointment of Mrs. Mowat to the position of organist.

Mr. Walden, it is understood, is going to Picton to accept a similar position in the Methodist church of that town, of which Rev. S. J. Shorey is the pastor. During Mr. Walden's several years' residence in Peterborough he has made many friends, and has shown much ability in his profession. However, the George street Methodist church have been very fortunate in making such an excellent arrangement regarding the future conduct of the church music. Mr. Mulligan's ability as a choir leader is well known, and he will certainly keep the choir of George street church to the front in the matter of the standard of their music. As to the appointment of organist, a wiser selection could not, perhaps, have been made. Mrs. Mowat's qualifications are too well known to require any comment. Her playing in public is always looked upon as a musical treat, whilst as an accompanist, a soloist has always more than ordinary confidence in her work. Mrs. Mowat stands in the front rank of the musicians of the town.

TWO YOUNG WOLVES

At the C. P. R. Station This Morning—From Winnipeg.

Express Agent Sailsbury, of the C. P. R. Express Company, had a rather odd express shipment to handle this morning. Two small prairie wolves came, consigned to Mr. C. J. Cassidy, Peterborough. They were sent from Winnipeg, and made the trip without anything startling to record. However, when they arrived here, one of them chewed its way out of the box. It was captured, and placed in a coop of Dr. King's, which he uses for shipping his dogs to various shows, and which happened to be at the station. The largest of the prairie wolves is about the size of a good sized fox. They are quite harmless, of course, but can create a lot of mischief when grown.

LOOK AT THE STARS.

There Will be Something Worth Seeing Sunday Night.

On Sunday night next, 17th inst., an interesting sight will be afforded in the heavens, when the three brightest planets, Jupiter, Saturn and Venus, will be close together in the evening sky, and will remain in sight two hours and a half after sunset. Astronomers inform us that a similar event may not happen again in one hundred years, and Saturn and Jupiter cannot be so close together again in less than twenty years. No harm will result to our earth from these planetary conjunctions, as they are called, as Saturn will be nearly one billion miles from us, and Jupiter about half that distance.

The candy booth will be particularly good. The entertainment in the evening will be most enjoyable. THE TOWN COUNCIL MEETING.

A Short Session was Held Last Evening.

Members Will Assemble Again This Evening to Arrange for a Siding Into the Cordage Co. Works.

A meeting of the Town Council was held last evening for the purpose of arranging to give the Cordage Co. a right-of-way to construct a railway siding into their premises. This was the fourth meeting called for the purpose, and the matter is not settled yet, as the council adjourned to meet again this evening. The difficulty appears to exist in the question of the ownership of the lower end of Bethune street. It is held by some of the councillors that the Grand Trunk Railway have rights on it, while others think that the right to grant the required permission lies with the Town Commissioners. Another view is that the Council itself is the governing body. At to-night's meeting the Town Solicitor will submit a written opinion on the matter.

Before adjournment the following report of the Board of Works was submitted;—

That the penalty of $100 as shown in the Town Engineer's report for a penalty on Wm. Langford for not completing the Smith street bridge over the creek until 38 days after the time specified in the contract, be not exacted, as the superstructure could not be obtained owing to the steel strike, and that the balance due the contractor be paid.

That R. Sheehy be paid the balance coming to him on account of the contract for the sidewalk on Belmont Avenue.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

HENRY BEST,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

The Board of Works was instructed to at once advertise for tenders for snow-ploughing.

The members present at the meeting were Mayor Denne, and Aldermen Best, Corkery, Batten, Clinkscale, Shortley Rush, Roger and Edgecumbe.

Michael Fitzsimmons, an employee of the Canadian General Electric works, had the thumb of his left hand badly mangled this morning, through having that member caught in a machine which he was operating.

DEMISE OF MRS. STEWART.

It Occurred at Her Home in Otonabee Yesterday.

In the demise of Mrs. William Stewart of Otonabee, the township loses one of its oldest and most highly esteemed residents. The deceased has been ailing for some months with heart disease, but it has been only during the past week that she was confined to her room. She passed away on Thursday at the family residence, lot 16, con. 17, where she has for many years resided.

The late Mrs. Stewart's maiden name was Elizabeth Savigny, and she was born in Berwickshire, Scotland, in the year 1823, coming to Canada with her parents five years later, and settling in Otonabee. She has resided there ever since, during which time she has lived a useful, Christian life, and drawn to her side a large circle of friends. She was a Presbyterian in religion, and a member of St. Paul's church, town. Her husband's demise occurred about six years ago. She leaves to mourn her loss a family of five. They are Misses Ada and Eva, and Messrs. Denniston and Fred, at home, and Mrs. J. A. E. Stewart, of Vancouver, B.C.

Messrs. John, James and Alexander Savigny, of Otonabee, are brothers, and Miss Jane E. and Mrs. Wm. Lane, of town, sisters of the deceased.

The funeral will take place on Saturday, to the Little Lake cemetery.

Ontario Fruit.

The fruit table at the coming meeting of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association in Cobourg ought to be of considerable interest. In addition to fruit contributed by fruit growers about Cobourg and other parts of Ontario, Mr. W. H. Bunting, the superintendent of the Ontario fruit exhibit at the Pan-American, writes that he will bring a fine collection from the tables, including a bushel of cold storage apples now over a year harvested.

THE CORNER STONE

Of the New Church at the Cordova Mines—An Interesting Ceremony.

A most interesting ceremony took place on the King's Birthday, Nov. 9th, at Cordova Mines, Belmont Township, when the corner stone of the new Cordova Institute was laid. The building is of two parts. The basement, which is of stone, 34x60 feet, and 11 feet in height, and the church proper, which will be the same length and with ceiling 17 feet high. On the south west corner of the basement the magnificent stone was laid. It was the gift of Mr. R. Harrison, of Peterborough, and is a very valuable one, 2 feet 6 inches in length and 16 inches high by 12 inches thick. On the front is inscribed "Scientia, intelligentiaque ac Sapientia"—Light and understanding and excellent wisdom.—Dan. 7, 14. On the end is "Cordova, Nov. 9th, 1901." In the cavity under the stone were placed a large number of papers and magazines published in Canada.

The basement will be fitted up in a most complete fashion for a reading room and recreation room for the miners, and will be under the direction of a board or committee representating various Christian churches to which the miners owe allegiance. The place of worship will be under Presbyterian auspices, but the whole work will partake largely of the Institutional character, in order that the greatest amount of good may be done to the entire community.

The Rev. D. A. Hamilton, of Havelock, presided at the ceremonies, and after reading scripture, the Rev. G. Yule, of Peterborough, led the congregation in earnest prayer.

Rev. J. G. Potter, Convenor of the Home Mission Committee, narrated the steps that had been taken from the inception of the work, and referred to the pleasure it gave him to see the work take a more substantial form. After the singing of a hymn, Mr. N. Homson presented a silver trowel to Mr. D. G. Kerr, manager of the mines, with which he got right to work adjusting the stone, and in a few minutes declared it "well and truly laid." Mr. Homson then gave a short address to the assembled people, and after three cheers had been lustily given to Mr. Kerr, all joined in singing the National Anthem, and Rev. D. A. Hamilton pronounced the benediction.

The ladies of Cordova provided dinner for all who attended, and in the evening held an informal social.

Messrs. Knox & Scott, who have the contract for the new building, are pushing it forward with all possible speed, and will likely have it ready for opening by Christmas.

OTONABEE FARMER'S SUCCESS.

His Prize Winnings With Leicesters and Holsteins.

Otonabee claims to be the finest agricultural township in the county, if not in the province, and Mr. Andrew Cameron's success with stock at the fall exhibitions seems to bear out the claim.

Mr. Cameron breeds Leicester sheep and Holstein cattle. At the fall exhibitions of Peterborough, Lindsay and Markham he won $157 in cash prizes. At Markham he had to compete with the well known Gooderham and other herds, and he did so successfully.

Mr. Cameron's Holsteins justify the prominence the Holstein is gaining as a dairy animal and tends to disprove the slander that that breed gives watery milk. Mr. Cameron is a patron of Westwood cheese factory, and this fall in settling up for the season, it turned out that out of 78 patrons, Mr. Cameron scored with his Holstein milk the highest percentage of butter fat. People who keep other breeds may say that this high percentage is due to Mr. Cameron's good feeding, for he is a first class farmer, and does his work well. Anyway, he "get there."

CHEAP MEAT QUESTION.

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Dear Sir,—I have been asked several times during the past few weeks, how it was that we could afford to give such bargains in meats each Saturday, and with your permission will give an explanation through your valuable columns. Choice butcher's cattle as well as exporters have been in good demand all season at firm prices, but the market for light cattle has been exceptionally low, in fact it is safe to say that not over ten per cent of the number that have been shipped out of this district each year for the last few years have been shipped this fall, and consequently the farmers have an oversupply on hand. Coarse grains of all kinds are high, which means expensive winter feeding, therefore the farmer would rather accept the low market price ruling for these light cattle than winter them over.

While it is safe in saying that there would be a fair profit realized by feeding these young stock, yet the majority of farmers will not do so. We therefore, for a couple of months, are taking advantage of the situation to offer the public a line of this light beef at exceptionally low prices and each Saturday, we will have a full supply on hand, besides our regular line of goods.

The workingmen receive their pay on Saturday and instead of buying a full quarter on the market, (which comes to almost his full week's wages) we will sell by the lb. at prices advertised in another column until further notice.

The same can be said regarding the lamb trade. The outside markets have been low all fall, we have been buying our lambs wholesale at lowest prices, and when we can buy cheap we intend to work on close margins, and give the public the benefit.

It is safe in counting on special bargains in beef and lamb each Saturday, for several weeks yet. Thanking you Mr. Editor,

I remain
Yours Respectfully
H. P. KENNEDY.

IN LATEST SPORTING CIRCLES

There Will be no Rugby Match Here To-morrow.

What the Press Think of the London Players—Dominion Championship.

RUGBY.

There will be no game to-morrow. It was thought that perhaps Varsity Intermediates would come down to play with the locals, but the Varsity aggregation could not see their way clear to do so just yet awhile. An effort will be made to have a game of some kind on for next Saturday.

The papers throughout the Province are still banging away at London. Poor London! They need to be pitied more than censured, for they do not seem to have the slightest conception of what is true sport. Here is what the Telegram says;—

"Just a word in reference to this Peel business. A London paper states that the London football club had a perfect right to play Peel in their game against Peterborough on Saturday last. The paper says that Secretary McMurrich told Peel to "furnish one more affidavit, and all would be well." One more was accordingly sent, and the London people, believing that ended the matter, played the aforesaid man in the match. This is, of coarse, their version of the thing. Now, outside of Mr. McMurrich altogether, the facts are these;—Mr. Gibbons, representing the London club at the O. R. F. U. meeting, was distinctly told that Peel's application for reinstatement would not be listened to. Moreover, he was told to apply to the O. H. A., the association that first threw him out, and that if they would reinstate Peel—of which there would have been strong likelihood—then the O. R. F. U. would give him back his amateur status. And yet, knowing all this, the London club deliberately goes and plays Peel. It is absurd for the Londoners to say they knew nothing of this, for they were most assuredly informed by Mr. Gibbons upon his return home.

The London Daily News says that Mr. McMurrich told Refered Griffith to watch the Londoners, as there was no trick too vile for the London club to resort to. The London scribe has really been misinformed, for Mr. McMurrich never made such a statement in his life, and no one would make such a contemptible statement but a lot of mud-slingers. Though Mr. McMurrich did not make the statement, yet he, no doubt, would have been perfectly justified in doing so, for London has the shiftest, crookedest gang of sports in the Dominion, who would stop at nothing save cattle lifting."

A despatch from London to the Toronto papers says;—"There is much dissatisfaction expressed among the sporting element of London at the decision of the Executive of the O. R. F. U. in Toronto last night, whereby the London Rugby Football Team were suspended, and the championship given to Peterborough. There is talk of forming an independent league, with London as the big end."

Mail & Empire—"Peterborough will play the winners of the Quebec Union in Toronto on November 23rd, for the intermediate championship of Canadian Union."

The London Advertiser, in referring to the action of the O. R. F. U. in giving Saturday's game to Peterborough, says,—"It is the only way that Peterborough could get the championship. They went into the game, knowing that Peel was playing, and showed that they could put up a game that is about one-fifth as good as that of London. The champion Peterboroughs, whom London made look like a bunch of would-bes, must be delighted with the honours come of victory in committee; they would never win honours that come of victory on the field."

The London News, in averaging the weights of the two teams, puts down Harold Armstrong 160, Scott 154, Picard 171, Dillon 219, and Graham 157. The other weights are fairly correct, but none of the men mentioned weigh within twenty pounds of what they are quoted, and Dillon, who is stated by the News to be the largest man on the field, wouldn't go over 170. Fully half the London team weighed more.

London must be proud of its record in athletic circles, when the O. R. F. U. considers it necessary before sending a referee to that city, to post him up to look out for dirty play. No wonder Gordie Crawford wouldn't play with them.

It is easy to understand now why the respectable newspapers in London did not support the Rugby Footballers in that town. The News was the only sheet that was at their back.

BASKET-BALL.

Things are doing in Basket-Ball this year at the Y. M. C. A., and interest among the members is high. Teams representing Ackerman's Cow-Hides and Hamilton's Iron-Clads will battle for supremacy next Saturday evening at 8.30, at the Gymnasium. There will be a preliminary match before the game among those on the floor. The Umpires for the great game have been chosen, being Frank Trollope and W. Richardson. The referee is Mr. H. E. Ayers.

HOCKEY.

The Lindsay club wants three or four fast hockey men to assist the local players this winter, and has opened subscription lists for the purpose of raising money to secure them. Surely Lindsay knows that the Club would be on the carpet before the O.H.A. Executive in no time if such a course is followed.

A BIG EXPORT TRADE

Agricultural Products and Fish Show Large Gains.

HON. JAMES STRATTON'S DENIAL

Emphatically Declares That He Did Not Edit the Mabee Pamphlet—The Statement of A. W. Wright, the Conservative Organizer, That He Did a Pure Invention—Legislature Jan. 8.

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—Canada's domestic exports for October show a remarkable increase over the same month a year ago. Last month they amounted to $28,287,194, as against $17,089,026 for the same period of 1900, or a betterment of no less than $6,148,168. The farmer seems to have mainly profited by this expansion. The increase in the exports of animals and their product for last month was $2,231,553, and in agricultural products $1,702,622. Of cattle there was $600,000 more exported than in October, 1900, while butter and cheese each show an increase of $660,000. Eggs exhibit a gain of $100,000, wheat $2,000,000 and hay $274,000. Fisheries give evidence of a decided boom, and the improvement in the export of British Columbia salmon alone amounted to the handsome sum of $1,500,000. The exports of manufacturers maintain the steady growth which has characterized the last few years, the improvement for the month being nearly $600,000. Taking the four months ended Oct. 31st last, the total gain over the same period of last year amounts to $3,258,488. The imports for the month amounted to $17,412,455, or $1,887,635 in excess of October last year, while for the four months they were $64,437,168, being an increase of over $3,000,000.

MR. STRATTON'S DENIAL.

Emphatically Declares That He Did Not Edit Mabee Pamphlet.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—Hon. J. R. Stratton was interviewed at the Parliament buildings yesterday morning regarding the statement made by the Conservative organizer, Alex. W. Wright, in The World, that Mr. Mabee had told him, in the presence of another, "that Mr. Smith and Hon. Mr. Stratton took the manuscript of his book up to Mr. Stratton's summer residence at Stony Lake, and edited, revised and changed it to suit themselves, so that the two gentlemen named are entitled to share with the distinguished author the glory of authorship."

Mr. Stratton said: "There is not a word of truth in the statement made by Mr. Wright that I edited Mr. Mabee's pamphlet. I never suggested a line of it, nor did I know that a pamphlet was gotten up by Mr. Mabee against Mr. Whitney until it was issued. The statement is a pure invention without the slightest foundation.

"The statement made by A. W. Wright that Mabee received pay from the Liberals for his pamphlet has already been positively denied, for, as has been stated, Mabee handles the volume 'entirely of his own accord,' and with reference to charges regarding payment of money he states positively in his affidavit that he has not received one dollar from Alexander Smith or any other Liberal, and all that he expects is by way of profits from the sale of the book through the publishers, Hunter, Rose & Co., who are, as a business proposition, handling the pamphlet without any financial aid from anyone acting in the interests of or on behalf of the Liberals."

Some of the Business That Is to Be Considered.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—It is understood that the Ontario Legislature will meet for the transaction of business on Wednesday, January 8. It is expected that the early calling of the session will permit business to be concluded within the natural term of the Legislature. The various departments are now at work on the estimates, that they may be presented at the earliest possible moment. It is not expected that there will be more than a moderate amount of Government legislation, owing to the disposal of so many important matters at last session. Probably the bill providing for the construction of a Government railway from North Bay to the Temiscaming region will be the most important measure to be introduced. It is also expected that the assessment law will receive some attention. It is anticipated, too, that the full report of the assessment commission will be submitted.

Don't Help Being Cranks.

It's the effect of dyspepsia on the nerves that makes the afflicted one morose and cranky. Pleasant to take and three weeks' treatment for 50c. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's Pharmacy.

Danger Next Door.

Perhaps it's diphtheria, or scarlet fever. Keep your own home free from the germs of these diseases. Prevent your children from having them. You can do it with our Vapo-Cresolene. Put some Cresolene in our vaporizer, light the lamp beneath, and let the vapor fill the sleeping room. Have the children sleep in the room every night, for it's perfectly safe, yet not a single disease germ can live in this vapor. Ask your doctor about it.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a life-time, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. VAPO-CRESOLENE Co., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

Recommended and sold in Peterborough by H. H. Hamilson, druggist.

CHURCHILL TALKS.

The Young Man Makes a Speech to Please Many.

London, Nov. 14.—There was a decided air of anxiety about those statesmen who attended the meeting of the Constitutional Club last night, at which Winston Churchill initiated a discussion as to the future policy of the Unionist party. That young Churchill would speak in favor of a strong foreign and Imperial policy and advocate social reform and economy in the treasury, was a foregone conclusion, but it was not expected that the young man would discuss these subjects with the wisdom which he really displayed in his remarks. The speech has put young Churchill higher by several rungs on the ladder of politics.

New Vital Force for Cells and Tissues.

Chronic Disease Overthrown and the Whole System Revitalized and Reconstructed by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Disease is a tearing down, wasting away, and destroying of the tissues of the body, and a shrivelling up of the nerve cells and blood corpuscles. This wasting process may attack the lungs, the heart, the liver, the kidneys, the bowels, or, as is most frequently the case, result in collapse of the nervous system, prostration, paralysis, or insanity.

You may rest assured that disease will search out your weak spot and gradually gain the upper hand. Nature alone cannot end this wasting process. External assistance is absolutely necessary, as you know too well, if you have been observant of what is going on around you. As a result of centuries of investigation and research, science now offers certain restoratives and revitalizers which have a wonderfully beneficial effect on a weakened and run-down system. These are combined in the most successful proportions in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which is by far the most thoroughly effective tissue builder and nerve restorative that is known to the medical profession today.

Mr. Joseph Gereux, 22 Metcalf street, Ottawa, Ont., writes:—

"I was nervous, had headache and brain fag. I was restless at night and could not sleep. My appetite was poor, and I suffered from nervous dyspepsia. Little business cares worried and irritated me. After having used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for about two months, I can frankly say that I feel like a new man. My appetite is good, I rest and sleep well, and this treatment has strengthened me wonderfully. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is certainly the best medicine I ever used, and I say so because I want to give full credit where it is due."

At least nine-tenths of the ailments from which people are suffering and dying to-day are the result of thin, watery blood, exhausted nerve force, and general debility of the body. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food stops this wasting process, puts new life and energy into the wasted nerve cells, fills the shrivelled arteries with rich life-sustaining blood, and overcomes disease. It will be interesting to note the gradual increase in weight while using the famous food cure.

On Magnetic Healing.

Much is spoken and written during these times about this mysterious method of treating disease. The most remarkable cases of magnetic healing which have come under the notice of the writer have been those in which Dr. Chase's Ointment was used. This preparation seems to have magical powers in stopping the dreadful itching, burning sensations of Salt Rheum and Eczema, and when used regularly makes the cure permanent and thorough.

He tried Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure, and three bottles, with the Climax Iron Tonic Pills, completely cured him. This great blood purifier is put up in bottles containing ten days treatment. The money, however, will not be turned over to the order by Thompson's friends until his attorney has assurance that there will be no prosecution.

The defence rested yesterday afternoon in the trial of Banks, and the attorneys will make their arguments this morning.

Dr. Agnew's Ointment might have a thousand testifying to its merits as an absolute cure for Piles only, but it cures permanently all manner of skin diseases too.

A LIVING BAROMETER.

The Crablike Spider That Foses as Yucatan's Weather Sharp.

In Yucatan, a land of many curiosities, there is a living barometer in the form of a small spider, called "am" on account of the effect produced by its poison. As far as its own conduct goes, the insect is inoffensive and can be handled with impunity, but if anybody has the misfortune to get one mysteriously mixed with his food he is certain to die after a few hours and meanwhile for some unexplained reason will frequently ejaculate "Am, am, am!" hence the name of the spider. Throughout the peninsula this is affirmed to be a fact, and if an am falls into fodder of horses or mules the animal that swallows it surely dies.

This spider is shaped like a crab, minus the claws, and is of a bright yellow color, with brown spots; the biggest could be accommodated upon a silver dime. Its favorite abode is among the leaves of the banana shrub, commonly, but erroneously, called tree. There it spins with extreme rapidity, its web, which is prodigiously large, considering the size of its architect, and proceeds to devour the flies that are unlucky enough to get entangled in the meshes of this astonishing little glutton, that is not satisfied with less than a dozen a day—that is to say, it consumes a good deal more than its own bulk. Its progeny is numerous

BEAUTY SPOTS.

Try lemon juice for whitening the neck. Apply it with a linen cloth.

After the head has been shampooed, whenever possible, give the head a sun bath.

A writer states that oily hands may be made comfortable and touchable by wetting them once or twice a day while clean with cologne, alcohol or toilet vinegar.

A good circulation is essential to the growth of the hair as well as to its color and fineness. A frequent, vigorous brushing with a stiff brush is the best method of obtaining this.

A writer upon the complexion says the best way to treat freckles, a sure cure in all but very obstinate cases, is to touch them night and morning with a camel's hair brush after dipping it in lemon juice.

For a greasy skin nothing is better than the combination of an ounce of dried rose leaves, half a pint of white wine vinegar and half a pint of rosewater. Let the vinegar stand on the rose leaves for a week, then add the rosewater. Use a tablespoonful in a cup of distilled water.

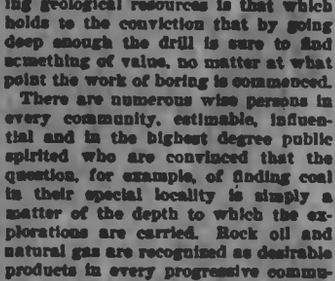
A Geological Fallacy.

Probably the most wild and unjustifiable of all the crude beliefs respecting geological resources is that which holds to the conviction that by going deep enough the drill is sure to find something of value, no matter at what point the work of boring is commenced.

There are numerous wise persons in every community, estimable, influential and in the highest degree public spirited who are convinced that the question, for example, of finding coal in their special locality is simply a matter of the depth to which the explorations are carried. Rock oil and natural gas are recognized as desirable products in every progressive community, and every such community contains persons in other respects intelligent who are ready to stake their own fortune and that of their nearest friends on the belief that oil and gas are everywhere underneath the surface and that their sources can be tapped with the drill provided only there is sufficient capital to keep up the process of drilling long enough.

Professional Shoppers.

Professional shoppers are employed by a certain large firm of London drapers to test the abilities of shop assistants. This firm owns over thirty large shops and employs nearly 1,000 assistants. To find out whether every customer is politely served a number of lady customers are employed to call at the various shops. They are told to give as much trouble as possible and sometimes to leave without making a purchase after looking at nearly everything in the shop. Should the unfortunate assistant's temper not be equal to the strain, or should a single word be said that might offend, a report will infallibly reach headquarters and lead to the dismissal of the sorely tried handler of silks and ribbons.



A great many women are subject to spells of dizziness, spots before the eyes, and a ringing noise in the head. These symptoms are commonly associated with liver "trouble" as the result of a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and the allied organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures through the stomach diseases seemingly remote from that organ, but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and digestive and nutritive system. Hence, cures of heart, lungs, liver, kidneys, and other organs are constantly effected by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

There is no alcohol in the "Discovery" and it is free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

Some dealers may offer a substitute as "just as good" as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. There's more profit in substitutes for the dealer. There's more health in the "Discovery" for you. Don't be imposed on.

"It is with the greatest pleasure I write you the benefit my mother has received from your 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" says Miss Carrie Johnson, of Lowesville, Amherst Co., Virginia. She suffered untold misery with uterine disease and nervousness and had a constant roaring and ringing noise in her head. After taking six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery she was entirely cured."

When a laxative is required use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

NEW WAISTS.

Black and White Blouses Are Made From Dress Materials.

Separate waists are being made of dress materials. This is a welcome change from the omnipresent taffeta blouse. The new waists are without exception made of soft materials, and the necessary body is obtained by tuckings and shirrings. Crepe de chine leads in the popular favor, but grenadine all over lace and polka dotted silk muslin are also favorites.

No woman of fashion can afford to be without a black and white waist.

BLACK GRENADINE WAIST.

Great ingenuity is required in designing these so they will bring out the best lines in the figure. In all striking effects where black lace is used on white material or white on black the aim should be not to allow the eye to be attracted solely by the trimming, but to preserve a harmonious whole.

For a young woman a charming waist can be made of black china silk laid in lingerie tucks and bloused slightly both back and front, the collar and narrow cuffs being of ivory white venetian lace.

The charming black and white waist here pictured is made of silk grenadine over black taffeta and trimmed with yellow honiton lace. The deep yoke is laid in fine tucks, and the lower fullness is ornamented with two sloping bands of the honiton. Over the tucked yoke is placed a pointed lace collar. There is no standing collar, and the neck is simply cut in the ordinary round shape. The sleeves are tucked to within ten inches of the wrist, where the fullness is appliqued with the lace. JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Novel Lightship.

A new departure in lightships, it appears, is about to be inaugurated at Otter Rock, Italy. The ship is to have no crew and is to be worked by the compound gas system. Two large gas holders built upon it will contain as much gas as will light the lantern for several months. As the gas escapes from the holders to the lantern it operates a mechanism by which a bell placed in a belfry on the deck is rung. These rocks mark a particularly dangerous part of the coast, and the experiment will be watched with much interest.

How to Re-establish a Pasture.

Possibly the best plan is to imitate nature. Give up trying to crop the land and sow a half dozen or more varieties of grass seed in extra liberal amounts. Choose the kinds which have proved themselves best adapted to your soil and climate, which will probably include red top, Kentucky blue grass and alsike clover.

AN EFFECTIVE REMEDY.

A Series of Orders That Rejuvenated the Ailing Slaves.

A correspondent sends the following story of an old Virginia gentleman:

Some years before the war a gentleman of large landed interests counted among his possessions a plantation on the James river, an estate of considerable dimensions. Other interests kept him away from the old place for some years, during which time there was a marked decrease in the revenue. Upon his return to the plantation he discovered that many of the slaves were laid up with rheumatism and other miseries, the farming implements were in bad order and the old homestead was fast going to rack and ruin. Calling his overseer he said:

"Anderson, I notice a great many old wagons, plows and harrows about the place. Have them brought and piled in front of the house, and on Monday next order all the niggers on the place to be present."

At the appointed time they came. The pile was set on fire and the implements destroyed. The following week he called the overseer's attention to the sick and infirm horses, hogs and cattle and gave the same order. When the negroes had assembled all the animals were knocked in the head. The Friday following the landlord again called his overseer.

"Anderson, I see a great many sick niggers around here—many who seem to be laid up with rheumatism and are good for nothing. Give orders that on Monday morning at 10 o'clock they all appear in the front yard."

The effect on the slaves was magical. On Saturday men who had been unable to walk were skipping around like children; the sick grew well suddenly, and from that time on the plantation was most prosperous.

Knew Her Well.

"I did not know that you knew my wife."

"Oh, yes; very well."

"Where did you meet?"

"Never before; but one of my servants lived at your home two months."

Hopefully Waiting.

"Some folks," said Uncle Eben, "prides deirse'fs on bein' hopeful, when as a matter o' fack dey ain' doin' nuffin' but loafin' an' waitin' foh luck."

The bite of a mosquito is annoying, and the bite of a snake is dreadful, but it makes one feel sore all over to be bitten in the back by a friend.—Dallas News.

A Food for Brain and Muscle.

Whether it is brain fag, loss of memory, inability to concentrate the mind or bodily weakness and general debility, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will restore your old time energy, strength and health. Through the blood and nervous system it reaches every part of the body, and overcomes weakness, irregularities and disease.

Insect Pests In Brazil.

I should take a small gang of practical coffee planters from Ceylon with good digestions to be not afraid of chiggars, ticks and Berne flies, to say nothing of the dear little mosquito. The writer had extracted during four years in Brazil no less than 200 chiggars from underneath every toe nail of both feet. The Portuguese, Brasilians, Italians and Spaniards called it a recreation on Sunday to dig them out of each other's feet.

Of all the vile insects on earth, the Berne fly is the worst. She lays her eggs inside your flesh and hatches three very ugly insects an inch long with three rings of bristles round the body and sharp nippers. They take about six weeks to develop under your skin, then commence to turn somersaults just when you want to go to sleep after a hard day's work in the sun. The natives of Brazil adopt a novel way of extracting the brute when full grown. They tie on a piece of raw pork, and the Berne comes out of your skin and takes a header into the piece of pigskin.

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty. Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355,92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

RICHES IN THE PEAT BOGS.

A German Invention Which Interests Canadians Concerned.

Manufacture of Artificial Gutta-Percha Will Serve in the Insulation of Ocean Cables—Decisive Tests Under Way.

Berlin, Nov. 12. — A German scientist has recently devised a method of manufacturing artificial gutta percha, from peat, and if it turns out to be what is claimed it will simplify one of the greatest problems in electricity, the insulation of ocean cables. Thus far gutta percha is the only substance which has been found to furnish perfect protection for a wire against the chemical influence of salt water, and the product is not only limited, but it is controlled by an English firm of cable manufacturers, who own the forests in the East Indies from which gutta percha is obtained. Experiments to find a substitute have been going on for years throughout the world, but thus far nothing has been entirely successful. The price of gutta percha has been advanced considerably by the demands of the manufacturers of golf balls, which, it is said, has almost doubled the cost of cable manufacture and if this German inventor is able to make an especially good insulator out of peat he will make a very important contribution to the world's economy, for peat can be found in almost every country on the globe in quantities almost unlimited. There are 3,000,000 acres in Ireland, 2,500,000 in Scotland, and even more in Germany, Russia, Norway, Sweden, Finland and other countries of Europe.

Peat promises to be a humble but important factor in the world's economy, and in countries where there is no coal it is rapidly assuming a large value. Experiments with liquid fuel in Germany, Russia, Switzerland, Italy, Sweden and elsewhere, have not been entirely satisfactory from an economical point of view. While the use of petroleum for steaming purposes has its advantages, being smokeless, always ready and a quick heater, the price is yet too high to permit it to come into common use for manufacturing purposes. Coal is cheaper. Even the railway between the producers in Southern Russia and the Standard Oil Company has not brought the price of petroleum within the limits of practical economy. The consumers of Europe have been rejoicing over the discovery of unlimited quantities of petroleum in the Balkan states, but very little has been done towards their development, and there is no immediate prospect of competition from that quarter. A German syndicate, which has its headquarters in Berlin, obtained, or supposed it had obtained, an option upon the Roumanian and Bulgarian oil fields, but when the politicians and officials of those countries discovered or suspected that it was acting in the interests of the Standard Oil Company, they cancelled the option and raised the price so high, that negotiations have been promptly abandoned.

All this gives additional importance to the development of the peat industry, and to the invention of machinery which promises to convert the bogs of Ireland into property more valuable than the Bulgarian oil fields, and create a revolution in the fuel markets of Europe. Mechanical ingenuity has devised a process to $2.00 to $2.75 per thousand, which consists by which the moisture of raw peat can be expelled in a moment, and the grass fibres of which it is composed pressed into bricks, which contain more caloric properties than coal, wood or petroleum. They burn with a brilliant flame, yield an intense heat, are free from soot, sulphur and gases and are entirely clean.

A plant for working the peat beds of Germany has already shown its ability to turn out 300 tons of fuel a day at a cost of about $1 a ton, and it is said that this compressed peat will yield the highest quality of charcoal, at a cost of less than $5 per ton. For steaming and naval purposes the peat is subjected to a secret treatment which prevents it from absorbing moisture, and when so treated it can be transported long distances at sea, or remain exposed to the weather in sacks, without impairing its caloric properties. At present in Ireland, Germany, Russia and the Scandinavian countries peat is dried in the sun, which is a long and tedious process, often requiring several months in damp climates, but after treatment by the machinery recently invented, it can be burned the same day that it is cut out of the ground.

The briquettes, or bricks of peat and lignite, sell in Berlin for from is equivalent to a ton of the best coal, and in some respects they are much superior, being cleaner to handle, kindling readily, making little smoke and quick, hot fires. The difficulty has been to expel the moisture of the peat, but by a process recently invented by Engineer Staubar, of this city, the turf is pulverized, the water expelled by pressure, the dust is passed through cleansers and then pressed into bricks by automatic machinery. The briquettes are not only cheaper than coal, but very much cheaper to handle. It is believed that their use will soon become general, not only for domestic purposes, but for small manufactories also, and large quantities may be shipped to Switzerland, Italy and other countries where the fuel problem is also serious. In 1900 the people of Berlin used 1,958,940 tons of coal, an increase of 153,174 tons, and 1,020,706 tons of briquettes, an increase of 173,817 tons.

English coal costs $7 a ton for the best quality; the native coal from $5.00 to $6.50, according to quality, and the briquettes from $2 to $2.75 a ton.—W. E. Curtis in Chicago Record Herald.

BEAUTIFY THE TOWN.

What one Man can do by Setting a Good Example.

There never was a big thing done in the world but which, if traced back, would be found to have had its origin with some one man. This is an obvious truth, but it is not mentioned often enough for the encouragement of men who desire to accomplish things, but cannot see how they could succeed, even if they tried.

The man who does not try to carry out a good purpose never learns how ready others were to help that purpose along, if somebody had but set it going.

We are told that about three years ago a school teacher went to the town of Cayuga and set to work planting trees and improving the school grounds, working such results that others took up the idea. The town council has spent money on its property, the county council made a grant towards beautifying the court house grounds, and Cayuga has in three years been transformed from a rather untidy place to one of the neatest and most pleasing towns in Ontario. That school teacher would probably be the first to deny that the credit is his, and, of course, it is his only in the sense that he began it, and others, whose taste ran in the same direction, took it up and carried it along to a successful length, creditable to Cayuga. We are told that people who have visited the town this year have been much impressed with the appearance of the place, and with the improved tone and spirit of its business men.

What has been done in Cayuga could be done with advantage in scores of towns and villages in Ontario. It is not necessary for a new school teacher to come to town to set such a movement going. In a city like Toronto, where it is easy for a man to attach a length of hose to a tap and water a lawn, there are many streets bordered with green grass, close-cropped and pleasing to look upon. There are others that receive less attention—grass dead, or worn away, and caked earth where a green lawn used to be. Let a new man take up a house in one of the latter streets, let him come out with a hammer and repair the sidewalk, paint his steps, have his lawn sodded, anew, and sit out in the evenings spraying water from a hose on that grass plot. In a short time the man next door will begin to tidy up his premises, and the next year will see that whole street cured of its slatternly habits. Appearances count for a great deal. Recently we mentioned the case of a Toronto man who had been trying for three years to sell a house for $1,200, but could not find a purchaser. So he spent a few dollars in painting it, and within a week sold it for $1,500.

People know that appearances count for a great deal but they do not always take advantage of the knowledge. The value of a house or a farm or a store, or a printing office depends on "condition" just as much as does that of a horse or cow. And a town or a village should be kept in "condition," too, for it, also, is judged by appearances, and it is impossible to tell the ways in which a town may be beneficially or injuriously affected by its appearance. If it is a careless, down at the heel, town, with broken sidewalks, burdock lined streets, and houses that lack paint, the visitor receives an unfavourable impression of the place. And the opinion of visitors is of more importance than is sometimes supposed. A visitor may be the man who has power to decide what rate of fire insurance shall be paid. He may be the inspector for a financial institution. He may be asked about the town as the location for some new business. A preacher may be advised not to go there, a teacher may be urged to accept another opening in preference to one there. People judge by appearances, and years and years after a man passed through a town he will speak of it as a good town or a dead place, just as it impressed him.

A town has just as much use for a good reputation as any man can have.

Not long ago Mr. C. C. James gave an address in which he said that if the towns throughout Ontario would devote the energy which they expend in trying to build themselves up as manufacturing centres to the development of the resources of the agricultural districts in which they are situated it would result in far greater prosperity than they now enjoy. He suggested that the business men of the towns should assist in bringing agriculture into a prosperous state by means of cheese factories, creameries, and other institutions that would create a local cash market for farm products, and push the agricultural produce of the district out into the world for use in the best condition, into the best market at the best price.

This seems to be a faultless opinion and worth adopting. This, along with such an awakening as three or four men can bring about in improving the appearance of a town, ought to result in greatly adding to the prosperity and content of the country.—The Star.

HISTORIC HASTINGS.

Happenings in the Village on the Trent —Personal Mention.

Mr. Frank Conklin, without doubt the greatest entertainer and dramatic reader who has ever appeared in Canada, will, under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary of St. George's church, appear in the Town Hall on Thursday, Nov. 14th. Mr. Conklin, who presented himself here some time ago, showed his hearers that he was an artist of superior talent, his impersonations of the characters in "David Garrick" being simply immense. Those who wish to spend an enjoyable evening can do so by being present at the Town Hall on the above named date.

Mr. Wallace Young, of Beaverton, has been engaged by Mr. T. H. McClelland, as jeweller.

A sad accident occurred at Norwood on Tuesday, caused by the explosion of a boiler in the cheese factory there. Mr. T. Moffat, who was formally in the employ of Mr. T. Murray, was killed. The cause of the accident is as yet unknown. The sorrowing friends have the sympathy of the entire community.

Mrs. Leake and daughter, of Port Hope, were guests of Mrs. C. P. Fisher last week.

Mr. John Murray and party returned home Monday, after a two weeks' outing hunting deer. Mr. Murray informs us that all managed to obtain the alloted number.

Miss Parker, of Stirling, Miss Margaret Harstone, and Miss Carlaw, of Warkworth, spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. H. M. Fowlds.

Mr. J. Christie visited friends at Lakefield on Saturday.

Messrs. O'Leary and Dunn, who have been carrying on a general business here for the past two months, have made an assignment, the assignee being Mr. L. F. Clarry, barrister, here.

Mr. W. T. Stewart, of Buck & Stewart's, was in Peterborough last Friday on business.

Football is booming here at present, the boys being out to practice every evening. They intend going to Warkworth on Saturday to give the so-called champion team there a game.

Mr. J. Whitton, the popular cheese buyer for Mr. Thos. Watkins, of Belleville, was in town on Tuesday, and made a large shipment of cheese.

Miss Bell, of Keene, was the guest of Miss L. Elmhirst on Sunday.

The Variety Concert given by the 40th Regiment Band in the Town Hall on the evening of the King's Birthday, was a decided success. The programme was varied and interesting.

Mr. Thos. Blezard, M. P. P., was in town on Tuesday.

A grand ball and supper will be held on Friday evening, Nov. 15th, in the Royal Hotel.

The football match between Warkworth and Norwood on Saturday resulted in a tie. This speaks well for the little borough between the mountains, for Norwood is said to have one of the best teams in the district.

A Consultation Held.

Drs. McCabe, Rush and Sims, three of the most eminent American doctors, in a series of articles outlined a tonic treatment calculated to cure a vast number of diseases. Their suggestions were embodied in a formula, which is dispensed by a Brantford druggist, and called Merrill's System Tonic. It is a reliable and pleasant remedy for stomach, bowel and kidney diseases. Sold at 50c per bottle at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

STOCK EXCHANGE.

Daily Letter From Haight & Preese's New York Office.

New York, Nov. 14th, 1901

Certain conditions always bring certain results. The conditions outlined above, are the ones causing the present showing of immense earnings of the various lines. They are now permanent conditions, consequently it is safe to assume that from now on, the American roads will earn enormously.

Prices are bound to adjust themselves to these new conditions, and are doing so rapidly. The thing to do is to avail yourself of the current opportunity thus offered by buying stocks.

The inevitable selling movement that seems invariably to follow the announcement of good news was in evidence to-day. The decline was accelerated by the reports of the deaths of prominent Wall street financiers.

Union Pacific common declined over 4 per cent., the preferred 2 per cent.; while Atch. issues, Brooklyn, St. Paul, and N.Y.C., fell from 2 to 2 1-2 per cent each. Balance of list sympathised.

In the Industrials, concessions amounted from 2-4 to 2 1-2 points. The lower prices stimulated the placing of buying orders. Many investment purchases were made, while the class of buying exceeded the character of the selling.

Current recessions offer extraordinary inducements to buyers.

"And the Band Played on."

The latest toilet preparations for face and scalp, electric hair brushes, hot towels for everyone. Kruger as a British M.P.

London, Nov. 16.—The Evening News yesterday said the Irish Nationalists have elected Mr. Kruger a safe Parliamentary seat in Ireland. They hold that in consequence of Lord Kitchener's proclamation Mr. Kruger is de facto a British subject.

A Capture of Pigtails.

London, Nov. 16.—A despatch from Lord Kitchener, dated from Pretoria yesterday, says that strong patrol of Yeomanry, while reconnoitering on Nov. 15th at Brakspruit, near Zeerust in the Transvaal Colony, about 140 miles west of Pretoria, was surrounded by 300 Boers and lost 6 men killed and 16 wounded. Some of the troopers were captured, but were subsequently released.

The rear guard of Col. Byng's column was attacked near Heilbron, Orange River Colony, Nov. 14th, by 400 Boers, said to be under command of Gen. Dewet. After two hours' fighting the Boers retired, leaving 8 dead on the field. Of Col. Byng's column Lieut. Hughes and one man were killed, while three officers and nine men were wounded.

Surrender to Smuts.

Middleburg, Cape Colony, Nov. 15.—One hundred and eighty District Mounted troops, composed largely of Duchmen, with their arms and horses, surrendered to Smuts' command, Oct. 13th. The District troops fired most of their ammunition at long range, and then refused to fight further. Capt. Thornton, their commander, believes their surrender to have been pre-arranged.

Kitchener Is Hopeful.

London, Nov. 16.—Two of Lord Kitchener's monthly reviews, dated Aug. 8th and Sept. 8th, were published in The Gazette last evening. They are chiefly summaries of wide, sweeping movements through all parts of the disputed territories, with the results, casualties and prisoners captured, as previously reported.

An astonishing number of horses were captured, those in August alone numbering 16,570. About 20 per cent. of these are fit for remounts, and others are brood mares and foals.

Though admitting the disappointing results of some of the operations, Lord Kitchener comments on them as follows:

The reports further say that the system of chains of blockhouses at intervals of a mile and sometimes less along the railroads was being extended.

Lord Kitchener says: "The influence of the Boer leaders and their organized system of intimidation still keeps in the field a large number of burghers, who, if left to themselves, would be ready to surrender."

The writer favorably mentions several hundred officers, non-commissioned officers and men.

Soldier's Horrible Fate.

Liverpool, Nov. 16.—A somewhat remarkable addition has apparently to be made to the casualty lists from South Africa. The other day a Carnarvon man, who is engaged on the Liverpool steamship Canada, writing home to his relatives, referred to the capture of a big shark at East London. When ripped open, the monster, which measured 18 feet in length, was found to have quite recently swallowed a soldier body. The man's body and uniform were intact, save for a small portion of one shoulder, which had been cut off.

A Cape Policeman Shot.

New York, Nov. 15.—A correspondent of The London Times and The New York Times, wiring from Middleburg, Cape Colony, says that within the last two days the Boers have approached still nearer to Cape Town, either to obtain fresh horses or to revenge themselves on the Dutch farmers who have not supported them as they were expected to do.

In the northeast district, Commandant Fouche and 60 men, leaving the main body, made a raid last Saturday to Millburg Siding. The raiders blew up a few yards of track and shot to cold blood a Cape policeman, who had surrendered. Fouche has since returned to the neighborhood of Jamestown.

A patrol of district mounted troops was worsted on Monday by an insignificant force of the enemy.

She Wants Her Boy.

St. Louis, Nov. 16.—Edward A. Rosier, U. S. District Attorney, is investigating a complaint filed by Mrs. Katherine Gockel of this city, that her 16-year-old son was enlisted for service in the British army in the Transvaal by a St. Louis employment agency. She says the boy has been heard from in New Orleans, where he said he was going to fight Boers. The woman hopes to prevent him from going into the British army.

Buller Will Speak.

London, Nov. 16.—Gen. Sir Redvers Buller and Lady Audrey Buller remain at their Devonshire seat for the present, but the general has definitely arranged to attend the dinner of the Devonians in London on Nov. 30. He will speak.

Died of His Wounds.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 16.—The Militia Department has been notified of death from wounds, of Alexander Skinner of Scott's Railway Guards, at Pudimore, near Vrelberg, South Africa, Nov. 12. Skinner's wife resides at Lindsay, Ont.

War Horse Kicked to Death.

Lockport, N.Y., Nov. 16.—To pass through campaigns in India, to form one of the first British "thin red line" in the Crimea, to come unscathed through the historic charge of the Six Hundred at Balaclava, and then to retire to private life, to the peace and quiet of the grocery business and be kicked to death by the delivery horse, was the fate of Ambrose Short, hero of many wars and formerly a sergeant in the service of the Queen.

Ambrose Short, a well-known merchant of this city, died about midnight last night from the effects of injuries received last Sunday from being kicked by a horse.

Death was a relief to the veteran, for he suffered untold agony. He remarked that a horse's kick could deliver an uglier wound than the spears of Indian-men or the sabres of Cossacks.

Fatalities Among Fishers.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 16.—A terrible gale has raged along the coast since Thursday night, and it is feared that many fatalities have occurred among the fishing craft. The hulls of all the steamers which were wrecked on the Cape Race Peninsula during the past season have been broken to pieces, and the cargoes, which were still on board, were washed away. One man, who was working on the wreck of the Swedish steamer Vera, was killed by a stone blown from a cliff. Another man perished from exposure while crossing from the wrecks through a forest to his home.

An Anniversary.

Winnipeg, Nov. 16.—This is the sixteenth anniversary of the execution of Louis "David" Riel, leader of the insurrectionists in the rebellions of 1870 and 1885. Riel was executed in the rear of the guardroom in the barracks of the Northwest Mounted Police at Regina, N. W. T. He was hanged by Jack Henderson, one of the loyalists of Fort Garry, who was imprisoned in the fort in 1870 by Riel. Jack Henderson was an old-time freighter for the Hudson's Bay Co.

Killed by a Train.

Collingwood, Nov. 15.—Dan Morrison, a farm laborer, was instantly killed on the Northern Division of the Grand Trunk Thursday night. While walking on the track he was struck by the mail train from the south, due here at 9.40 p.m. He had a broken leg and other injuries. The deceased had worked on the mountain as a farm laborer during the summer, and arrived in town only on the day of his death. One child, his mother and sister survive, and live here.

Commercial Traveler Dropped Dead.

Montreal, Nov. 16.—Mr. J. D. Smith of 482 Brockville avenue, Toronto, a member of the Dominion Commercial Travelers' Association, Ontario Branch, dropped dead at St. Vincent de Paul at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, shortly after the arrival of the train from Joliette, while he was walking to the Hotel Charbonneau. He was in the employ of G. T. Fulford & Co. of Brockville.

Snow Follows Gale in Britain.

London, Nov. 16.—The gale has been succeeded by frost and snow of unprecedented severity so early in the season. Ten and fifteen degrees of frost are common, while the snow on the northern hills is seriously impeding railroad traffic and is causing the rivers to overflow. Hundreds of sheep have been drowned in the neighboring meadows. The lakes in the London parks are covered with ice.

Heads on the Green.

Dublin, Nov. 16.—The parliamentary contest in Galway, resulting from the vacancy in the House of Commons caused by the elevation of Martin H. F. Morris to the Peerage, is being marked by a succession of fights which takes all the constabulary in the neighborhood to keep the contestants within bounds. There is a lengthy list of injured persons.

Australian Immigration Bill.

London, Nov. 16.—A despatch to The Times from Melbourne, says the Commonwealth Senate is debating the Immigration Restriction Bill, which excludes all persons which cannot speak a European language. The Labor party proposes an amendment, introducing the color test, in order to exclude Africans and Asiatics. A close division is expected.

France Accused by the Pope.

Rome, Nov. 16.—Pope Leo, in a circular just issued to the French bishops, recommends them to take the greatest precautions to see that their despatches to the Vatican are properly sealed, indignantly remarking that some communications lately arrived had been tampered with before transmission.

Rain in Court's Trail.

Pekin, Nov. 15.—The Chinese Court has arrived at Kai Fong Fu, capital of Nonan, having left the people along its route of march half ruined by the contributions levied for entertainment, repairing of roads and decorations.

Severe Earthquake Shocks.

Tiflis, Russia, Nov. 16.—Twenty-two persons were killed and many buildings destroyed by an earthquake which visited Erzeroum. The panic-stricken populace is camping out in the fields.

Sixth Death From Smallpox.

St. John, N.B., Nov. 16.—The sixth death from smallpox occurred yesterday, when Miss O'Dell of Fairville passed away. There were four new cases yesterday.

WORKMEN FILLED WITH ALARM.

Want Built Called on Granting Privileges to Individuals.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 16.—At the General Assembly of the Knights of Labor yesterday the report of the Committee on Constitution was submitted. It says the evolution now taking place in the industrial field through the rapid concentration of capital has filled the working classes with alarm for the future welfare of the country, and declares it is time to call a halt on municipal, state and national legislation in granting further privileges which go to fatten already large private fortunes. Resolutions submitted with the report demand from Congress such legislation as "will provide for the utmost publicity of the affairs of all corporations doing an interstate business." Such laws are demanded as "will prevent the capitalization of any corporations above the amount of money actually invested, whether said investment be in cash or plant."

Lord Strathcona's Investments.

New York, Nov. 16.—A despatch from Montreal to The Times says: Lord Strathcona's participation in the settlement of the Northern Pacific troubles is easily understood, when one learns what his holdings in this and other allied American roads are. He holds stock to the extent of $16,000,000 in the Great Northern and $3,230,000 in Northern Pacific. Besides he has $1,875,000 in the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic. His stock in the Canadian Pacific, strange to say, amounts to the small sum of $750,000. It is patent from these figures why he should be intrested with every detail of the settlement, and with the task of bringing the English shareholders into line. There are indications that Lord Strathcona's relations with the Canadian Pacific are not altogether friendly. He has attended none of their meetings since he has been in Canada. His large holdings in the Northern Pacific and Great Northern would lead to his looking with disfavor on any Canadian Pacific policy hostile to these roads. It is stated that Lord Strathcona never sells his stock in any company, but constantly increases it.

Canadian Bishop of the Philippines.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 16.—Rev. Charles H. Brent of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church has accepted the Episcopal bishopric of the Philippine Islands, where a diocese was created by the triennial convention at San Francisco. Father Brent yesterday notified Rev. Thomas Clarke of the Island, senior bishop of the church, that he had accepted the appointment. It is thought that Father Brent will be consecrated in this city early in the new year. He was born in Newcastle, Ont., in 1862, and he is the son of Rev. Canon Brent of St. James' Cathedral, Toronto. He graduated at the Trinity College in 1884. In 1890 he was ordained deacon and was raised to the priesthood in 1897 at Toronto.

Tie Vote in Dufferin.

Shelburne, Ont., Nov. 16.—The Conservatives of the County of Dufferin met here yesterday for the purpose of selecting a candidate to contest the county in the Provincial elections. The different polling subdivisions were well represented, and good feeling prevailed. There was a number nominated, but all retired except James Snell, farmer, of Mono; Dr. Hopkins of Grand Valley, and Dufferin's present member, Dr. Barr of Shelburne. Dr. Barr was elected on the first ballot, and, on motion of James Snell and J. V. Preston of Grand Valley, the nomination of Dr. Barr was made unanimous.

Girouard Was Not Murdered.

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—The following telegram has been received at the Department of the Interior from Commissioner Ross of the Yukon:

"Dawson, Nov. 14.—No truth in the report that Girouard was murdered. He is in very good health. Man named Gossup missing for some days. No report of murder or attempt at murder in Yukon during year."

Report Is Absolutely False.

Kingston, Nov. 16.—Principal Grant of Queen's University was asked yesterday for a statement regarding the report that Andrew Carnegie had offered a contribution to Queen's if Dr. Grant would advocate annexation of Canada to the United States. In reply Principal Grant said: "The report is false and absurd. It is absolutely false."

Lace and Embroidery Collars

In the neatest, daintiest designs produced this season, were cleared by our buyer a few days ago, and you can depend upon it that we would not have bought Two Thousand One Hundred and Eighty-Four Collars if they were not good style—perfect goods—and that we could sell them at about half price.

REASON WHY WE CAN SELL THEM AT LESS THAN HALF PRICE:

The buyer of the jobbing house from whom these were bought gave his order for boxes instead of for dozens, assuming that they came one dozen to a box; but the manufacturers put five dozen in a box. You can readily see that the jobber had five dozen for every dozen he wanted. To relieve him he appealed to us, and the concession made tempted us to take the lot. His loss is your gain, and we can afford to sell you Collars at these prices:—

Embroidery Neck Collars, worth 12½c each, for ..... 7c, 4 for 25c
Embroidery and Lace Collars, worth 18c and 25c each, for 10c, 3 for 25c
Embroidery and Lace Collars, worth 25c and 35c each, for 15c, 2 for 25c

They're natty enough and good enough for Xmas gifts, and while the quantity is great, you will readily see how quickly they will melt away when each customer takes four to six—for the value and sight of them will do that.

MISS VIRGINIA GRANES

Graduate Nurse, and President of Nurses' Association of Watertown, N.Y.,

Tells How Much Doctors Use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Has Yet To Hear of Its Failure To Cure.

It is not infrequent that information comes to our attention proving that the medical profession in general prescribe large quantities of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in their private practice.

It is a fact beyond dispute that nowhere is to be found a remedy so universally successful in curing female ills, and the broad-minded physician of to-day is quick to recognize his duty to his patient, and does not hesitate to prescribe the best medicine he can find,—the medicine that is surest and quickest to bring relief to his patient; for this very reason thousands of the very best physicians are prescribing in their treatment of female ills Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, while not in the original bottles perhaps, but in plain prescription bottles with their own or druggists' name.

It is our pleasure and our privilege to publish a letter from a graduate nurse whose reputation and prominence in her profession lends much weight to her opinions, and whose testimony goes to prove our statements in regard to the high esteem in which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is held by our leading physicians and trained nurses.

MISS VIRGINIA GRANES.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Twelve years continuous service at the sick beds in some of our prominent hospitals, as well as at private homes, has given me varied experiences with the diseases of women. I have nursed some most distressing cases of inflammation and ulceration of the ovaries and womb. I have known that doctors used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when everything else failed with their patients. I have advised my patients and friends to use it, and have yet to hear of its first failure to cure.

"Four years ago I had falling of the womb from straining in lifting a heavy patient, and knowing of the value of your Compound I began to use it at once, and in six weeks I was well once more, and have had no trouble since. I am most pleased to have had an opportunity to say a few words in praise of your Vegetable Compound, and shall take every occasion to recommend it."—MISS VIRGINIA GRANES, 444 So. Spring St., Los Angeles, Cal. [Present address.]

Be it, therefore, believed by all women who are ill that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine they should take. It has stood the test of time, and it has hundreds of thousands of cures to its credit. It should, therefore, be considered unwise to experiment further.

Mrs. Pinkham, whose address is Lynn, Mass., will answer cheerfully and without cost all letters addressed to her by sick women.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, Mass., which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letter is not genuine, or was published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

AUTHORIZED TEXT-BOOKS.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt Answers Criticisms of Mr. Osler.

NO HALF TRUTHS.

Minister of Education Deprecates Unfair Argument — New School Geographies Necessary—Cost of Text-Books.

Speaking at Dundas on Monday evening, November 11th, Hon. R. Harcourt, Minister of Education, dealt in a very interesting manner with subjects of provincial interest. He devoted a considerable portion of his address to questions affecting the educational policy of the Government, replying to criticisms of the text books. He was carefully listened to throughout, and the frequent applause that punctuated his remarks, showed that his auditors were convinced of the truth of his statements and the soundness of his arguments.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt, after complimenting the candidate on his address expressed pleasure at the opportunity of speaking to the electors of North Wentworth. He recalled the names of many men from the riding who had attained distinction in public life, and, proceeding, said he intended to deal only with policies, and not to attack individuals. The Liberal party had nothing to conceal. Their policy was plainly written on the statute books of the province and the journals of the House; they fearlessly avowed it, and asked their opponents to criticise it as they would. The Conservative party seemed reluctant to take the public into their confidence on this point. There were some things, he continued, on which they all agreed, and the question of education was one of these. It was vital for the well being or happiness of any nation that education should be widely diffused among all classes of people. Along this line he quoted from great German educationalists opinions as to what that country owed to general education. He referred to Ontario's system of education, touching upon the methods and institutions for training teachers, continuation classes, and other matters. He quoted statistics and opinions showing that Ontario's teachers were better trained than those of England and Wales, where many teachers were not certificated or qualified for their positions. The importance of well-trained teachers could not be over-estimated, and Ontario was second to none in this respect. Mr. Harcourt contradicted the charge that the High Schools were merely "teacher factories." Last year 24 per cent. of High School pupils entered mercantile life; 15 per cent. went to the farms; 7 per cent. joined the learned professions; and 21 per cent. joined the teaching profession. After some further details as to the province's educational system, and the reading of additional opinions showing in what high estimation it is held by the educationists of England and other countries, Mr. Harcourt referred at some length to the question of text books.

THE TEXT BOOKS.

He spoke of the demand in recent years for education in subjects beyond the three R's. Additional subjects meant, of course, an increase in the number of text books. Every text-book, he continued, in use in Ontario public schools to-day was the work of an author whose school days had been passed in the schools of the province; every one was turned out by Canadian workmen, on Canadian paper, and in every case the copyright Canadian, a very different state of affairs to that existing 25 or 30 years ago. Unfortunately was a scarcity of text-books, and it was a matter of pride to him that this had been realized to a greater extent in Ontario than in any other province, or any state on this continent, or in England, France or Germany. "But," he continued, "some friend in the audience might say to me, 'Have you read what has been said in the Toronto papers during the last three or four days?' Do you know, Mr. Minister, that you have got a geography seventeen years old, not up to date, incorrect, misleading in its statements?" Let me explain the situation. Less than two years ago a new geography was authorized in this province, and every school board in Ontario has the right to insist that it shall be the only one in use. The Education Department believes in local self-government; the Liberal party always believes that the people should govern themselves, and the school boards you elect can say that this new and up-to-date geography shall be in the hands of every school child in this province. How misleading, therefore, the statement of my friend, Mr. Osler, made a few evenings ago. Having learned of the mistake they made on this point, they now put forward another question, "What about the High School Geography?" Now I ask my friends in the audience and my fellow electors who are fair-minded, and desire to inquire independently as to what the truth is, to get a copy of the new public school geography, and to read on its title page these words in large type, and to which there can be no misunderstanding, "Authorized for use in the public schools, high schools and collegiate institutes of Ontario by the Department of Education." (Applause.) My friend, Mr. Osler, and our other critics, if they were honest, would have told the people that the new geography was intended for and is available for every child in the province, whether at the public or high school. The whole statement of our opponents is demolished by the reading of that notice." This new policy of the Opposition, he said, had as little merit as any other policy advanced by them. "Now, they are asking, 'Why have we not got a new high school geography?' The high school geography as it now stands, was prepared in 1887, by Mr. Chase, a high school master with a great reputation in that line. Three years after came the decennial census. Now what is Mr. Osler's argument? It is that the last census, the one just taken, gives us information of a statistical character which does not appear in the high school geography. If we had changed it when it was only three years in use — and, remember, it is a most expensive book to prepare — if we had brought out a new high school geography in 1891 what a cry there would have been. 'The old cry, 'Too frequent changing of text books; unmerciful taxing of parents.' What was done? We prepared a public school geography, which our opponents admit is up to date, applicable and available for all public and high school pupils, and we hope to make the high school geography, now in course of preparation, as thoroughly up to date. The man who is preparing it was stricken down with illness some months ago, but when it comes out it will be well worthy to rank with the best." Mr. Harcourt alluded to the fact that Mr. Chase's previous high school geography was so excellent a work that an American edition had been published.

A POLICY PROMOTER.

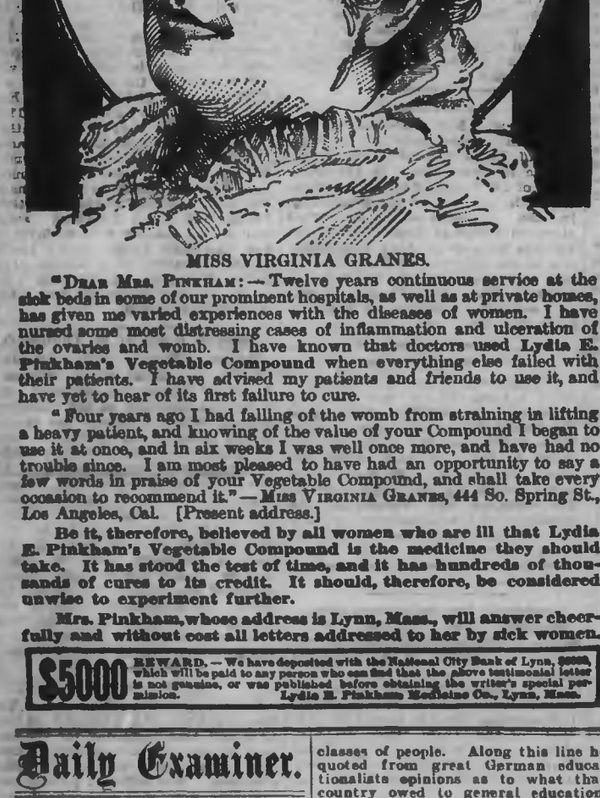
"Some might ask," he continued, "How it is that Mr. Osler comes out as the promoter of this new policy?" Mr. Osler does not belong to the Ontario House; he is a member of the House of Commons. Mr. Whitney could not do it, because every time he has discussed educational matters he has said that the Government was to blame for changing its books too often." (Laughter and applause.) The people, he said, had shown by their votes in election after election that they believed the Government only changed the text-books when necessary. He himself took some credit for Mr. Osler's line of attack, because in addressing meetings throughout the Province for two years past he had pointed out that changes must be expected every few years in history and geography books, owing to the advances in the exploration of little known regions, changes such as that now nearing completion in South Africa, and for other like causes. The Tory party for the first time in their history, were taking his (Mr. Harcourt's) line of argument on the text-book question, and admitting that changes must be made from time to time (Applause.) He mentioned some of the changes made in the past, instancing that in regard to the text-book on bookeeping. Formerly one had been used in high schools and public schools at a cost of 65c. Now the public schools were well served with one costing only 25c, and the policy of the department was always to give

THE BEST AT THE LOWEST PRICES.

"In the matter of high school history," Mr. Harcourt continued, "Mr. Osler said we had a history dating away back, twenty years, I think he said. Now a half truth is a dangerous thing, a plain falsehood being not as harmful. I give you the whole truth. We have a high school history seventeen years old, the work of Mr. Robertson of St. Catherines. But Mr. Osler knew, or ought to have known—and he should not assume the role of critic until he does know—(laughter)—that there is another authorized history, that of Mr. Clements. (Applause.) Why, it has been out only three years, and it carries the history of England and Canada up to 1896. (Renewed Applause.) Are we to have another now in order to give the cause of the downfall of the Tory party in 1896? (Laughter.) What about the poor parents being mulcted in heavy costs for school books if you are to have a history every year there is an election? (Renewed laughter and applause.) Mr. Clements' book is authorized; your High School Board can make every child get it to-morrow if they so decide. Mr. Osler's arguments regarding geography and history fall completely to the ground. Half truths may mislead for a day, but when the explanation and full truth are given, the incorrect arguments rebound on the man who uses them. (Applause.) The resolution regarding text-books is that the old ones may remain in use as long as the School Board decides. The public school geography may be used in forms one and two of the high schools where they take up that study, and I have shown that Mr. Clements' modern history is authorized, so that nothing remains in Mr. Osler's arguments."

THE COST OF TEXT-BOOKS.

"Every year," he said, "Mr. Whitney moved a resolution in the House, part of which protested that the text-books were exorbitant in price. Mr. Harcourt quoted figures, showing that for children who went through all the forms in the public schools the total costs of authorized text-books was $5.25, an average of 50c or 52c a year. He quoted figures showing that this was considerably below the average cost in the States of the Union. The concluding potion of his address was devoted to brief review of Provincial finances, during the course of which he stated that at the present time the cash in the banks of Toronto to the credit of the Province amounted to $1,235,681.



Cured of Itching Piles.

Edward Dusellen, Wilkesbarre, Pa.: "For seven years I was scarcely ever free from the terrible torture of itching piles. I tried all sorts of remedies. Was told a surgical operation might save. A MODERN SCOURGE.

MORE TO BE DREADED THAN AN OUTBREAK OF SMALLPOX.

No Epidemic in the Last Quarter of a Century Has Carried off as Many People as Annually Fall Victims to Consumption.

L'Avenir du Nord, St. Jerome, Que.

Throughout Canada much alarm has been felt during the past few months at the outbreak of smallpox that has occurred in various localities, and thousands of dollars have been expended—and rightly so — in suppressing it. And yet year in and year out this country suffers from a plague that claims more victims annually than have been carried off by any epidemic during the past quarter of a century. Consumption — the great white plague of the north—is more to be dreaded than any epidemic. Its victims throughout Canada are numbered by the thousands annually and through its ravages bright young lives in every quarter are brought to an untimely end. Why? There are two reasons, the insidious character of the disease, and the all too prevalent belief that those who inherit weak lungs are foredoomed to an early death and that the most that can be done is to give the loved ones temporary relief in the journey towards the grave. This is a great mistake. Medical science now knows that consumption, when it has not reached an acute stage, is curable. But better still, it is preventable. Sufferers from weak lungs who clothe themselves properly, who will keep the blood rich and red, not only need not dread consumption, but will ultimately become healthy, robust people. Among those upon whom consumption had fastened its fangs, and who have proved the disease is curable, is Mr. Ildege St. George, of St. Jerome, Que. His story as related to a reporter of L'Avenir du Nord, will be of interest to similiar sufferers. Mr. St. George says; "Up to the age of fifteen years I had always enjoyed the best of health, but at that age I became greatly run down. I lost color, suffered constantly from headaches and pains in the sides; my appetite left me and I became very weak. For upwards of three years—though I was having medical treatment—the trouble went on. Then I was attacked by a cough, and was told that I was in consumption. Then the doctor who was attending me ordered me to the Laurentian Mountains in the hope that the change of air would benefit me. I remained there for some time, but did not improve, and returned home feeling that I had not much longer to live. It was then that my parents decided that I should use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I began taking them. After using several boxes my appetite began to return, and this seemed to mark the change which brought about my recovery, for with the improved appetite came gradual but surely increasing strength. I continued the use of the pills, and daily felt the weakness that had threatened to end my life disappear, until finally I was again enjoying good health, and now, as those who know me can see, I show no trace of the illness I passed through. I believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life, and I hope my statement will induce similar sufferers to try them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new, rich, red blood. With every dose the blood is strengthened, the quantity increased, and thus the patient is enabled not only to resist the further inroad of disease, but is soon restored to active health and strength. If you are ill, or weak, or suffering from any disease due to poor blood or weak nerves, take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at once and they will soon make you well. These pills are sold by all dealers in medicines, or will be sent post paid at 50 cents a box of six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BABY'S HEALTH.

The Most Precious Thing in the World to a Mother—How to Care for Little Ones.

No price would be too great to pay for the preservation of the perfect, rosy, sturdy health of a baby. No price would be too great, but as a matter of fact, the price is very small—simple precaution and the exercise of good judgment.

It is not good judgment to give the tender, little infant remedies containing opiates, and the so-called "soothing" remedies, always containing opiates, they do not cure, they only drug and stupify the little ones. Baby's Own Tablets are guaranteed to contain no opiates and no harmful drugs. It is the best medicine for little ones, because it is promptly effective and absolutely harmless. For nervousness, sleeplessness, constipation, colic, stomach troubles, the irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth and other infantile troubles Baby's Own Tablets is beyond question the best medicine in the world. The Tablets are sweet and pleasant to take, and dissolved in water can be given with absolute safety to the youngest infant. Mothers who have used this medicine for their little ones speak of it in the most enthusiastic terms—that is the best proof of its efficacy. Mrs. Alonzo Feltmate, Whitehead, N. S., says, "In my opinion Baby's Own Tablets are unequalled for children. They take it readily, and it regulates the bowels, cures them of peevishness, and is a great helper in teething. I would not think of being without the Tablets." Sold by druggists or sent by mail postpaid on receipt of price, 25c a box, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Depends upon the name. Scott's Emulsion is a name that has value. Maybe it doesn't mean much to you—but to the consumptive who has been strengthened and fattened, to the sickly children who have received good health, to the weak mothers and babies who have grown strong—to these Scott's Emulsion means something.

To all of them it has meant an easy and natural return to health.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

OUR INLAND REVENUE.

The Annual Bill for Liquor and Tobacco—An Increase in Consumption—Growth of the Cigar Factories.

Ottawa, Nov. 15.—The annual report of the Inland Revenue Department for the fiscal year ending June 30 last was issued yesterday. The revenue for the year was $10,608,708, as compared with $10,039,076 for the previous year, an increase of $569,632. The increase in excise for the past year over 1900 was $491,815. During the year the quantity of spirits produced was 2,652,708 proof gallons, as compared with 2,658,557 proof gallons produced in the previous fiscal year. There were 33,265,288 pounds of Indian corn, 3,584,301 pounds of malt, 7,572,749 pounds of rye, 12,775 pounds of wheat, 399,130 pounds of oats, and 37,880 pounds of barley used in producing this quantity of spirits. There were 148,154 gallons of spirits exported, as against 138,637 in the previous year.

The tobacco manufactured during the year was 11,948,805 pounds, compared with 11,146,218 pounds for 1900, an increase of over 800,000 pounds. There was exported 892,614 pounds, more than twice as much as the year previous. The raw leaf taken for consumption amounted to 9,848,804 pounds, or over 500,000 pounds greater than in the previous year, while the total tobacco taken for consumption reached 21,543,301, or a million pounds more than for 1900.

There were over two million more cigars manufactured during the year than in the previous year. The number consumed during the year was 141,096,869, over three millions of an increase, while the number manufactured was 141,430,454.

There were more spirits, beer and wine drunk during the year than in the previous year, and more tobacco was used. In 1900 there was consumed per head .701 spirits, 4.364 beer, .095 wine gallons, and 2.300 pounds of tobacco. In 1901 this was increased to .765 spirits, 4.737 beer, .100 wine, and 2.404 tobacco. The calculations for the past year, however, were made from the census returns, while the figures for the previous year were based on approximate figures.

The Right Thing.

A New Catarrh Cure, Which is Rapidly Coming to the Front.

For several years, Eucalyptol Guaiacol and Hydrastin have been recognized as standard remedies for catarrhal troubles, but they have always been given separately, and only very recently an ingenious chemist succeeded in combining them, together with other antiseptics, into a pleasant, effective tablet.

Druggists sell the remedy under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and it has met with remarkable success in the cure of nasal catarrh, bronchial and throat catarrh, and in catarrh of the stomach.

Mr. F. N. Benton, whose address in care of Clark House, Troy, N. Y., says, "When I run up against anything that is good I like to tell the people of it. I have been troubled with catarrh more or less for some time. Last winter more than ever. Tried several so-called cures, but did not get any benefit from them. About six weeks ago I bought a 50c box of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and am glad to say that they have done wonders for me, and I do not hesitate to let all my friends know that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are the right thing."

Mr. Geo. J. Casanova, of Hotel Griffon, West 9th street, New York City, writes; "I have commenced using Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and already they have given me better results than any catarrh cure I have ever tried."

A leading physician of Pittsburgh advises the use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets in preference to any other treatment for catarrh of the head, throat or stomach.

He claims they are far superior to inhalers, salves, lotions or powder, and are much more convenient and pleasant to take and are so harmless that little children take them with benefit, as they contain no opiate, cocaine or any poisonous drugs.

All druggists sell Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at 50c for full size package, and they are probably the safest and most reliable cure for any form of catarrh.

IN THE SECOND ROUND

Ruhlin Got Blow That Made Him Quit in The Fifth.

QUITTER AND FAKIR, SAY CROWD

The Akron Giant Made a Poor Showing in the Prize Fight With Jeffries, the World Champion—Ceased Fighting in the Fifth Round—A Most Unsatisfactory Ending Says the Crowd.

San Francisco, Nov. 16.—Before an assemblage of 10,000 people, at the Mechanics' Pavilion, James J. Jeffries of Los Angeles, Cal., met Gus Ruhlin, the "Akron Giant," last night and fought for the title he has held since his memorable battle with Fitzsimmons. Never in the history of San Francisco has there been such a crush of humanity at a pugilistic event.

Two minutes after the men entered the ring they were announced by Billy Jordan, who then presented Referee Harry Corbett. Deafening cheers greeted the big fighters. On behalf of Tom Sharkey, Tim McGrath challenged the winner of this contest.

Time was called at 9.37.

The Battle by Rounds.

Round 2—Clinch. Ruhlin was hooked round the neck with left. He accused Jeffries of foul fighting. The Akron man then shot in his right and found Jeffries' ribs, following this up with ineffectual left swing for head. Jeffries was aggressive. Ruhlin planted right and left to face, then rushed, landing on body. The champion led with left and was countered. Ruhlin found Jeffries' head, and in a short exchange neither had the advantage. The men fought at close range, Gus lauding on Jeffries' face and stopping the latter's attempt at retaliation with strong rights. Ruhlin feinted with right and shot straight left on Jeffries' nose, but the blow was partially blocked. The men were wrestling when round closed. This was decidedly Ruhlin's round.

Round 4—After a short exchange at close range Ruhlin landed on face. He was forced back, and Jeffries smiled as Ruhlin again rebuked him. Jeffries landed left, blacking Gus' left eye, then pursued him, fighting at short range, and plainly wearing his man down. Ruhlin lacked aggressiveness, and retreated as Jeffries swung left and right and missed. Gus led for the face, and Jeffries pushed him across the ring. Then the champion walked Gus across the ring again, and landed a fierce left on the jaw. Ruhlin shot out ineffectual lefts. Jeffries waded in, whaling Ruhlin left and right. Gus went down and took the count. He came up apparently weak, and the gong saved him. Ruhlin was plainly in the greatest distress. This round was much in Jim's favor.

Round 5—Ruhlin wore a distressed expression when he came up. Jeffries went in with straight-arm blows, but was blocked. Jeffries landed light hook on the jaw and short left to ribs, and then again to neck with right. A volley followed this, in which the champion worked his lefts to face. Ruhlin ducked and retreated steadily. Jeffries followed the advantage and bored in, touching Ruhlin beneath the chin with right and forcing Ruhlin to the ropes, after which Gus went to the floor, and at the count of five staggered to his feet. He ceased fighting, and Jeffries went in for a knockout. Ruhlin was utterly dazed, and missed wild swings, while Jeffries threw him against the ropes.

Almost from the beginning of the fight Ruhlin appeared frightened. The fight was practically finished in the second round, when Jeffries landed left hook on jaw that took all the fight out of Ruhlin. Ruhlin claimed that a chance blow in the pit of the stomach rendered him unfit for fighting. His seconds complained bitterly, but Ruhlin insisted that he was the victim of an accident. Jeffries walked to Ruhlin's corner, asked what was the matter, then turned in disgust and proceeded to his dressing room, while the spectators rose as one man and cheered the champion, while they denounced Ruhlin as a quitter and fakir. The police tumbled into the ring, stopped two fights, in which Cornett the referee and officers of the club were involved. The utmost excitement prevailed, during which Ruhlin made his way out of the ring.

Unsatisfactory Contest.

The crowd declared it was the most unsatisfactory prize fight ever witnessed in this country.

In the fifth round of what was to have been a 20-round struggle Ruhlin quitted and then surrendered to his superior to the utter amusement and disgust of the assembled thousands. No one was more surprised at the outcome than Jeffries himself, who asserted that, while he had delivered one telling blow in the second round, he did not expect to win the victory so easily. Ruhlin's sole explanation of the outcome of the fight is that he received a chance blow, which utterly disabled him and that Jeffries persisted in fighting him low. While Ruhlin will make no absolute charge of Jeffries having committed a foul, he intimates that he was unfairly handled and injured as a result. Ruhlin received the support of his seconds, who say that his was a hopeless case after the second round.

Ruhlin Was Very Easy.

When seen in his dressing room after the fight, Champion Jeffries said: "I was certainly surprised at my easy victory, and Ruhlin's amazing defeat. Mr. Ruhlin can doubtless best explain his own position, and, as for myself, I am willing to meet Mr. Sharkey next month and thereafter to defend as best I can the title I hold."

Cured of Consumption

Mrs. Julia Sheffield Was so Reduced With Hemorrhage and Disease That She Only Had 50 Lbs. of Flesh on Her Bones.

Powley's Liquified Ozone Makes Her Well.

Mrs. Julia Sheffield, of Zephyr P. O., Scott Township, Ontario Co., Ont., wife of Joseph Sheffield, was cured of consumption, pulmonary tuberculosis by Powley's Liquified Ozone, after she had been given up to die. Her case had been regarded as completely hopeless. She had had a photograph taken of herself, husband and children so that her family should have something with which to remember her when she was gone. The pall bearers had even been selected. We present herewith her solemn declaration as to her cure:

Mrs. Sheffield's Solemn Declaration.

Dominion of Canada Province of Ontario, County of Ontario, To Wit:

In the matter of Julia Sheffield, of the Township of Scott, in the County of Ontario, and in the matter of her restoration to health.

I, Julia Sheffield, of the Township of Scott, in the County of Ontario, married woman, do solemnly declare that

On the 18th day of February, 1900, I was taken down with pneumonia and inflammation of the lungs and was in bed seven weeks, during the course of my illness I had profuse bleedings of the lungs and was unable to work and was in bad health all the following summer, and had an extreme cough and would cough for two and three hours at a time. On the 24th of June 1900, I moved into my father's house, Wm.

MRS. JULIA SHEFFIELD.

Woodruff, at Mt. Albert. About the 15th of August, 1900, I was forced to take my bed again and was in bed most of the time until the end of the year. About that time the attending physician told my father that there was not half a pound of flesh on my body and that it was impossible for me to recover and that it was only a matter of a short time until death would come. I was sinking rapidly every day. At this time I was taking creosote at the extent of sixty drops a day. I had four physicians attending me from the time I took sick until I commenced taking Ozone, and they each and all pronounced that I had consumption and could not recover.

I finally rallied and was able to get up and go around the house with assistance, but I was gradually sinking and my vitality was very low.

My husband had been advised to try Ozone, and one Sunday at the beginning of 1901, he purchased a 50c. bottle at Mount Albert, and I commenced taking it at once. After taking the second bottle I began to improve and I have now taken 16 bottles and have gained in flesh at least 35 pounds. My health is almost completely restored and I look and feel as well as ever I did, and I fully believe that I am completely cured.

I am now back to my husband's home and doing my work as usual. My friends and neighbors are simply astonished to see me out and well again. I am glad to be able to recommend to suffering humanity the great Ozone that has cured me.

I have also recommended the Ozone to several of my friends, and I know of another young lady at Mount Albert who is taking it for consumption and she is getting better.

I fully believe that had it not been for Ozone I would have been in my grave to-day, and to Ozone and Ozone alone I attribute my cure and the enjoyment of health and comfort to-day, and I consider it a "God send" to suffering humanity.

And I make this solemn declaration conscientiously believing it to be true and knowing it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath, and by virtue of the Canada Evidence Act, 1893.

(Sgd.) MRS. JULIA SHEFFIELD.

Declared before me at the Township of Scott, in the County of Ontario, this 4th day of May, A. D., 1901.

J. McCULLOUGH, Notary Public for Ontario.

Other Solemn Declarations.

Attesting declarations were received from her husband, Joseph Sheffield, her mother, Elizabeth Woodruff; her father, W. H. Woodruff; her sister, Ethel May Woodruff and her husband's employer, John R. Dunn. They all declare that Mrs. Sheffield was so ill with consumption that they regarded it only the matter of a very short time when she would die. They were all greatly surprised at her complete recovery—they would have been delighted with a temporary benefit and they believe Powley's Liquified Ozone to be a most extraordinary preparation. You can write any one of these good people—you will simply confirm what we tell you because these statements are all positive facts.

What Powley's Liquified Ozone Is.

Let us tell you what Powley's Liquified Ozone is and what its uses are. You can see by the foregoing case what it does. Ozone is a preparation of oxygen in fixed liquid form manufactured only by us, by a special process requiring twelve days. It supplies oxygen to the body—to blood food—creating a healthy condition of all the tissues. Ozone is a powerful germicide as well as an effective and harmless internally as applied externally. It destroys the germs of disease—in that way it is especially beneficial in consumption as it stops the germ attack and gives nature a chance to rebuild the broken lung tissues. Ozone forms healthy flesh—it is a great scientific discovery.

How You Can Use It.

We want you to know how valuable a preparation Ozone is for your own use. If you have consumption of an advanced type we need not give you any detailed advice—use it as did Mrs. Sheffield. If you have, however, any tendency to lung trouble, such as shortness of breath, continued cold on chest, bronchial affection, a bad cough you should be extremely careful and take Ozone regularly. It prevents the possibility of any serious trouble by stopping the ailment and restoring all the tissues to a state of good health. If you have any tendency to system weakness, such as languid feeling, no appetite, always tired, hoarseness in the morning have a care and take the Ozone as a preventive. You have no idea what great trouble you may be saving yourself—what benefit you are conferring on your body.

BABY'S HEALTH.

The Most Precious Thing in the World to a Mother—How to Care for Little Ones.

No price would be too great to pay for the preservation of the perfect, rosy, sturdy health of a baby. No price would be too great, but as a matter of fact, the price is very small—simple precaution and the exercise of good judgment.

It is not good judgment to give the tender, little infant remedies containing opiates, and the so-called "soothing" remedies, always containing opiates, they do not cure, they only drug and stupify the little ones. Baby's Own Tablets are guaranteed to contain no opiates and no harmful drugs. It is the best medicine for little ones, because it is promptly effective and absolutely harmless. For nervousness, sleeplessness, constipation, colic, stomach troubles, the irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth and other infantile troubles Baby's Own Tablets is beyond question the best medicine in the world. The Tablets are sweet and pleasant to take, and dissolved in water can be given with absolute safety to the youngest infant. Mothers who have used this medicine for their little ones speak of it in the most enthusiastic terms—that is the best proof of its efficacy. Mrs. Alonzo Feltmate, Whitehead, N. S., says, "In my opinion Baby's Own Tablets are unequalled for children. They take it readily, and it regulates the bowels, cures them of peevishness, and is a great helper in teething. I would not think of being without the Tablets." Sold by druggists or sent by mail postpaid on receipt of price, 25c a box, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Depends upon the name. Scott's Emulsion is a name that has value. Maybe it doesn't mean much to you—but to the consumptive who has been strengthened and fattened, to the sickly children who have received good health, to the weak mothers and babies who have grown strong—to these Scott's Emulsion means something.

To all of them it has meant an easy and natural return to health.

The revenue for the year was $10,608,708, as compared with $10,039,076 for the previous year, an increase of $569,632. The increase in excise for the past year over 1900 was $491,815. During the year the quantity of spirits produced was 2,652,708 proof gallons, as compared with 2,658,557 proof gallons produced in the previous fiscal year. There were 33,265,288 pounds of Indian corn, 3,584,301 pounds of malt, 7,572,749 pounds of rye, 12,775 pounds of wheat, 399,130 pounds of oats, and 37,380 pounds of barley used in producing this quantity of spirits. There were 148,154 gallons of spirits exported, as against 138,637 in the previous year.

The tobacco manufactured during the year was 11,948,805 pounds, compared with 11,146,218 pounds for 1900, an increase of over 800,000 pounds. There was exported 392,614 pounds, more than twice as much as the year previous. The raw leaf taken for consumption amounted to 9,848,804 pounds, or over 500,000 pounds greater than in the previous year, while the total tobacco taken for consumption reached 21,543,301, or a million pounds more than for 1900.

There were over two million more cigars manufactured during the year than in the previous year. The number consumed during the year was 141,096,889, over three millions of an increase, while the number manufactured was 141,430,454.

There were more spirits, beer and wine drunk during the year than in the previous year, and more tobacco was used. In 1900 there was consumed per head .761 spirits, 4.864 beer, .085 wine gallons, and 2.300 pounds of tobacco. In 1901 this was increased to .765 spirits, 4.737 beer, .100 wine, and 2.404 tobacco. The calculations for the past year, however, were made from the census returns, while the figures for the previous year were based on approximate figures.

The Right Thing.

A New Catarrh Cure, Which is Rapidly Coming to the Front.

For several years, Eucalyptol Guaiacol and Hydrastin have been recognised as standard remedies for catarrhal troubles, but they have always been given separately, and only very recently an ingenious chemist succeeded in combining them, together with other antiseptics, into a pleasant, effective tablet.

Druggists sell the remedy under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and it has met with remarkable success in the cure of nasal catarrh, bronchial and throat catarrh, and in catarrh of the stomach.

Mr. F. N. Benton, whose address is care of Clark House, Troy, N. Y., says, "When I run up against anything that is good I like to tell the people of it. I have been troubled with catarrh more or less for some time. Last winter more than ever. Tried several so-called cures, but did not get any benefit from them. About six weeks ago I bought a 50c box of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and am glad to say that they have done wonders for me, and I do not hesitate to let all my friends know that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are the right thing."

Mr. Geo. J. Casanova, of Hotel Grifton, West 9th street, New York City, writes: "I have commenced using Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and already they have given me better results than any catarrh cure I have ever tried."

A leading physician of Pittsburgh advises the use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets in preference to any other treatment for catarrh of the head, throat or stomach.

He claims they are far superior to inhalers, salves, lotions or powder, and are much more convenient and pleasant to take and are so harmless that little children take them with benefit, as they contain no opiate, cocaine or any poisonous drugs.

All druggists sell Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at 50c for full size package, and they are probably the safest and most reliable cure for any form of catarrh.

IN THE SECOND ROUND

Ruhlin Got Blow That Made Him Quit in The Fifth.

QUITTER AND FAKIR, SAY CROWD

The Akron Giant Made a Poor Showing in the Prize Fight With Jeffries, the World Champion—Ceased Fighting in the Fifth Round—A Most Unsatisfactory Ending Says the Crowd.

San Francisco, Nov. 16.—Before an assemblage of 10,000 people, at the Mechanics' Pavilion, James J. Jeffries of Los Angeles, Cal., met Gus Ruhlin, the "Akron Giant," last night and fought for the title he has held since his memorable battle with Fitzsimmons. Never in the history of San Francisco has there been such a crush of humanity at a pugilistic event.

Two minutes after the men entered the ring they were announced by Billy Jordan, who then presented Referee Harry Corbett. Deafening cheers greeted the big fighters. On behalf of Tom Sharkey, Tim McGrath challenged the winner of this contest.

Time was called at 9.37.

The Battle by Rounds.

Round 2—Clinch. Ruhlin was hooked round the neck with left. He accused Jeffries of foul fighting. The Akron man then shot in his right and found Jeffries' ribs, following this up with ineffectual left swing for head. Jeffries was aggressive. Ruhlin planted right and left to face, then rushed, landing on body. The champion led with left and was countered. Ruhlin found Jeffries' head, and in a short exchange neither had the advantage. The men fought at close range, Gus landing on Jeffries' face and stopping the latter's attempt at retaliation with strong rights. Ruhlin feinted with right and shot straight left on Jeffries' nose, but the blow was partially blocked. The men were wrestling when round closed. This was decidedly Ruhlin's round.

Round 4—After a short exchange at close range Ruhlin landed on face. He was forced back, and Jeffries smiled as Ruhlin again rebuked him. Jeffries landed left, blacking Gus' left eye, then pursued him, fighting at short range, and plainly wearing his man down. Ruhlin lacked aggressiveness, and retreated as Jeffries swung left and right and missed. Gus led for the face, and Jeffries pushed him across the ring. Then the champion walked Gus across the ring again, and landed a fierce left on the jaw. Ruhlin shot out ineffectual lefts. Jeffries waded in, whaling Ruhlin left and right. Gus went down and took the count. He came up apparently weak, and the gong saved him. Ruhlin was plainly in the greatest distress. This round was much in Jim's favor.

Round 5—Ruhlin wore a distressed expression when he came up. Jeffries went in with straight-arm blows, but was blocked. Jeffries landed light hook on the jaw and short left to ribs, and then again to neck with right. A volley followed this, in which the champion worked his lefts to face. Ruhlin ducked and retreated steadily. Jeffries followed the advantage and bored in, touching Ruhlin beneath the chin with right and forcing Ruhlin to the ropes, after which Gus went to the floor, and at the count of five staggered to his feet. He ceased fighting, and Jeffries went in for a knockout. Ruhlin was utterly dazed, and missed wild swings, while Jeffries threw him against the ropes. Almost from the beginning of the fight Ruhlin appeared frightened. The fight was practically finished in the second round, when Jeffries landed left hook on jaw that took all the fight out of Ruhlin. Ruhlin claimed that a chance blow in the pit of the stomach rendered him unfit for fighting. His seconds complained bitterly, but Ruhlin insisted that he was the victim of an accident. Jeffries walked to Ruhlin's corner, asked what was the matter, then turned in disgust and proceeded to his dressing room, while the spectators rose as one man and cheered the champion, while they denounced Ruhlin as a quitter and fakir. The police tumbled into the ring, stopped two fights, in which Corbett the referee and officers of the club were involved. The utmost excitement prevailed, during which Ruhlin made his way out of the ring.

Unsatisfactory Contest.

The crowd declared it was the most unsatisfactory prize fight ever witnessed in this country.

In the fifth round of what was to have been a 20-round struggle Ruhlin waited and then surrendered to his superior to the utter amazement and disgust of the assembled thousands. No one was more surprised at the outcome than Jeffries himself, who asserted that, while he had delivered one telling blow in the second round, he did not expect to win the victory so easily. Ruhlin's sole explanation of the outcome of the fight is that he received a chance blow, which utterly disabled him and that Jeffries persisted in fighting him low. While Ruhlin will make no absolute charge of Jeffries having committed a foul, he intimates that he was unfairly handled and injured as a result. Ruhlin received the support of his seconds, who say that his was a hopeless case after the second round.

Ruhlin Was Very Easy.

When seen in his dressing room after the fight, Champion Jeffries said: "I was certainly surprised at my easy victory, and Ruhlin's amazing defeat. Mr. Ruhlin can doubtless best explain his own position, and, as for myself, I am willing to meet Mr. Sharkey next month and thereafter to defend as best I can the title I hold."

We present herewith her solemn declaration as to her cure:

Mrs. Sheffield's Solemn Declaration.

Dominion of Canada Province of Ontario, County of Ontario, To Wit:

In the matter of Julia Sheffield, of the Township of Scott, in the County of Ontario, and in the matter of her restoration to health.

I, Julia Sheffield, of the Township of Scott, in the County of Ontario, married woman, do solemnly declare that

On the 15th day of February, 1899, I was taken down with pneumonia and inflammation of the lungs and was in bed seven weeks, during the course of my illness I had profuse bleedings of the lungs and was unable to work and was in bed health all the following summer, and had an extreme cough and would cough for two and three hours at a time. On the 26th of June 1900, I moved into my father's house, Wm.

MRS. JULIA SHEFFIELD.

Woodruff, at Mt. Albert. About the 15th of August, 1900, I was forced to take my bed again and was in bed most of the time until the end of the year. About that time the attending physician told my father that there was not half a pound of flesh on my body and that it was impossible for me to recover and that it was only a matter of a short time until death would come. I was sinking rapidly every day. At this time I was taking creosote at the extent of sixty drops a day. I had four physicians attending me from the time I took sick until I commenced taking Ozone, and they each and all pronounced that I had consumption and could not recover.

I finally rallied and was able to get up and go around the house with assistance, but I was gradually sinking and my vitality was very low.

My husband had been advised to try Ozone, and one Sunday at the beginning of 1901, he purchased a 25c. bottle at Mount Albert and I commenced taking it at once. After taking the second bottle I began to improve and I have now taken 12 bottles and have gained in flesh at least 25 pounds. My health is almost completely restored and I look and feel as well as ever I did, and I fully believe that I am completely cured.

I am now back to my husband's father and doing my work as usual. My friends and neighbors are simply astonished at the change and well again. I am glad to be able to recommend to suffering humanity the great Ozone that has cured me.

I have also recommended the Ozone to several of my friends, and I know of another young lady at Mount Albert who is taking it for consumption and she is getting better.

I fully believe that had it not been for Ozone I would have been in my grave to-day, and to Ozone and Ozone alone I attribute my cure and the enjoyment of health and comfort to-day, and I consider it a "God send" to suffering humanity.

And I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing it to be true and knowing it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath, and by virtue of the Canada Evidence Act, 1893.

(Sgd.) MRS. JULIA SHEFFIELD.

Declared before me at the Township of Scott, in the County of Ontario, this 6th day of May, A. D., 1901.

J. McCULLOUGH, Notary Public for Ontario.

Other Solemn Declarations.

Attesting declarations were received from her husband, Joseph Sheffield; her mother, Elizabeth Woodruff; her father, W. H. Woodruff; her sister, Ethel May Woodruff and her husband's employer, John R. Dunn. They all declare that Mrs. Sheffield was so ill with consumption that they regarded it only the matter of a very short time before she would die. They were all greatly astonished at her complete recovery—they would have been delighted with a temporary benefit and they believe Powley's Liquified Ozone to be a most extraordinary preparation. You can write any one of these good people—you will simply confirm what we tell you because these statements are all positive facts.

What Powley's Liquified Ozone Is.

Let us tell you what Powley's Liquified Ozone is and what its uses are. You can see by the foregoing case what it does. Ozone is a preparation of oxygen in fixed liquid form manufactured only by us, by a special process requiring twelve days. It supplies oxygen to the body—is blood food—creating a healthy condition of all the tissues. Ozone is a powerful antiseptic as effective and harmless internally as applied externally. It destroys the germs of disease—is that way it is especially valuable in consumption as it stops the germs attacks and gives nature a chance to rebuild the broken lung tissues. Ozone forms healthy flesh—it is a great scientific discovery.

How You Can Use It.

We want you to know how valuable a preparation Ozone is for your own use. If you have consumption of an advanced type we need not give you any detailed advice—use it as did Mrs. Sheffield. If you have, however, any tendency to lung trouble, such as shortness of breath, continued cold on chest, bronchial affection, a bad cough you should be extremely careful and take Ozone regularly. It prevents the possibility of any serious trouble by stopping the ailment and restoring all the tissues to a state of good health. If you have any tendency to system weakness, such as languid feeling, no appetite, always tired, hoarseness in the morning have a case and take the Ozone as a preventive. You have no idea what great trouble you may be saving yourself—what benefit you are conferring on your body.

It is now well known throughout this continent that there is no preparation quite so prompt and thorough in the cure of coughs, colds, bronchitis, whooping cough, asthma, and similar ailments as Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

There are other preparations of linseed and turpentine put up in imitation of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and consequently it is necessary for you to be carful in buying. HUNTING NOTES.

The Hunting Parties are Returning From the North Country—The Display of Deer in Town.

There was a display of venison in front of Mr. H. P. Kennedy's Meat Market this morning that attracted a great deal of notice, and in fact blocked the street for a short time. There was also in the display a young bear, which made quite a contrast to the appearance of the slick and gentle-looking "pride of the forest." However, they all came from the one country, and met their death by the same deadly Winchesters.

The display constituted the greater part of the luck of the Eagle Lake Hunt Club, which is commonly known as the Gunsolus - Westlake - Fitzgerald party, which for the past couple of weeks has been doing business in the vicinity of Eagle Lake. The party was composed as follows:—Captain, John Cottingham; Committee, C. James, C. Gunsolus, and C. Westlake, who is Secretary-Treasurer of the party as well; and Messrs. George Fitzgerald, ex-Captain., R. Tivey, Mark Dobson, T. Baker, Sam Currier, M. Tooley, George Mitchell, (St. Thomas,) Frank Pearson, W. H. White, with J. Irwin as cook.

The headquarters of the camp was at the same old spot on the portage between Gold Lake and Eagle Lake. The Gunsolus - Westlake - Fitzgerald party has always been noted for its successful camps, and the outing this year was not in the least behind those of former seasons. They brought home with them 15 deer and one black bear, besides other smaller game. The largest buck weighs 200 pounds, whilst all will average about 160 pounds. In fact, there is over a ton of venison. The deer were procured by reason of the fact that the party was equipped with the most modern guns. They have had, they claim, the best twelve days in the country, and they are all crack marksmen.

The bear, which is about a year old, was shot by Capt. Cottingham, on the shore of Sucker Lake, and he reports having had quite a time in capturing his game. The bear was wounded by the first shot, and a chase of three-quarters of a mile followed, in which Sam Currier acted as support. Five or six bullets were put into Mr. Bear.

The party had a most enjoyable time on the evening of the King's Birthday, and the event was right royally celebrated. A royal salute of twenty-one guns was fired, and speeches of a patriotic nature were made by the various members of the camp.

The party are well satisfied with their outing; there was no sickness, no accidents, they all pulled harmoniously together, and they pride themselves on being a happy, agreeable family.

While hunting in the Coe Hill district, Rev. W. L. Armitage, conducted service last Sunday in the little church out there, which had been closed down for the winter. All the hunters in the vicinity were in attendance, and the settlers flocked to the church from far and near.

THE GULL LAKE PARTY.

The Gull Lake party while back north was known amongst the settlers and the hunters as "The Klondyke Twins' Camp." The origin of this lies in the fact that Messrs. Geo. Dawson and Milne Hamilton, who travel under the title of the "Klondyke Twins," formed a prominent section of the party. The service roll was as follows: Bat Laroque, L. Houdray, Jack Fitzgerald, George Dawson, Milne Hamilton, Smith Milburn, Jack Milne, Bill Morris, Jack Howden, "Liz" Letellier, Willie Steelbrooks, Gus White, and Jack Johnston. They brought home 8 deer and one large black bear, which was shot by Jack Fitzgerald.

The party put up at Mr. Nelson Windover's, and report having had a fine time. They left their camp at 10 o'clock yesterday and arrived home this morning.

The Winch-Morrow party arrived home from Lake Katchecoma last night, and the Gold Lake party is expected this evening.

THE TROUBLE IN MUNICIPAL CIRCLES

Opinions do not Agree as to the Ownership of Lower Bethune Street

COUNCIL VS. TOWN TRUST.

Both Bodies are Anxious to Give the Cordage Co. a Siding but Differ in Their Methods.

There is a black-looking thunder-cloud looming up on the horizon of municipal circles, which threatens to assume immense proportions, and if it breaks, the air will be filled with injunctions, mandamuses, writs and lawsuits.

The trouble was caused quite innocently by the Cordage Company, which applied to the Town Council for permission to lay a switch from the Grand Trunk Railway on Bethune street into its premises.

Matters hung fire to a certain degree, as the council was uncertain as to whether the ownership of the lower end of Bethune street was vested in the Town Trust Commissioners or in the Council.

Mr. E. B. Edwards, the Town Solicitor, was asked for a written opinion on the question, and the Council was called together last evening to deal with the matter.

The letter was worded as appended:

I have examined the plan filed in the Registry Office by the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust, for the sub-division of the southern reserve south of Townsend street. I find that the existing town streets running north and south from George street to Stewart street inclusive, were extended southward into the reserve, and the lots made out upon them in accordance with the uniform plan of survey of town lots, according to the original survey, the lots being numbered westward from George street in the same way. Amongst these streets Bethune street is continued southward, showing the line of the Grand Trunk Railway upon it. Although the name, Bethune street, is not written upon the plan indicating this street, I think that it is quite clear that it was laid out as a street from Townsend southward to Lake street, and that the land upon which the proposed siding is to be erected is a part of Bethune street.

This is confirmed by Bylaw No. 161, passed by the Town Council on the 23rd June, 1853, under which permission is given to the Port Hope, Beaverton and Lindsay Company to construct their railway along and across the town streets named, "including the whole of Bethune street, and its continuation south of Townsend street, and across and along and over the unoccupied lands of the town, upon the south side of the town."

The land south of Townsend street, was originally purchased by the town from the Government, and it was not until the passing of the Act of 1861 that it was first vested in the Commissioners of the Town Trust. Prior to that time it appears to have been held by the Town Corporation directly, although the patent therefor does not appear to have been issued until 1863. But it is evident that at the time of the passing of the bylaw of 1853, and while this property south of Townsend street was still under the direct control of the council, the continuation of Bethune street south of Townsend street had been determined upon by the council, if not actually carried out.

On the whole, therefore, I am of the opinion, (although there may be some ground for the opposite contention), that the ground upon which it is proposed to construct the siding for the Cordage Company is in fact a part of Bethune street.

While the members of the Council were informally discussing the letter before taking it up in committee, Mr. Adam Hall and Mr. R. R. Hall, of the Cordage Company, came in and stated that the Town Trust Commissioners, believing that the ownership of the lower part of Bethune street was vested in them, had sold to the company the amount of land which they required. A deed of the property had been secured, and the purchase money, $150, paid over.

Then there were some very heated remarks made, as the Aldermen thought that the action of the Commissioners was one which savoured of a slight on the Council, inasmuch as the Town Solicitor had spent the morning discussing the question of the ownership of the street with Mr. W. H. Moore, the chairman of the Commissioners, and no agreement had been reached.

As the deed had been signed, sealed and delivered, there was nothing for the Council to do but to adjourn until further advice could be had from the Town Solicitor.

Trouble is also brewing in another quarter, as Mr. P. McNamara, who owns considerable property in the neighbourhood, claims that he will suffer considerable damage in the event of a decision to the effect that the continuation of Bethune street is not a street, as access to some of his lots will be cut off.

WONDERFUL INSTINCT.

A Couple of Anecdotes About Some Peterborough Dogs.

Alderman Batten dropped into the Town Clerk Armstrong's office the other evening, accompanied by a big St. Bernard dog, belonging to his son, "Billy." After the magnificent beast had been duly admired, Mr. Batten told an anecdote about the dog which raised it greatly in the opinion of those that heard the story. It seems that the dog has constituted itself the guardian of the small children of the family, and this fall when one of them was starting for school on the first day of the re-opening, the dog trotted along till the Donegal street bridge was reached. When the little girl went to cross, however, he barred the way, evidently thinking it was dangerous for the wee tot. No persuasion would induce the dog to let her go any farther, and she had to return home. For the next few weeks the animal had to be locked up until the school hour was past.

These big dogs seem gifted with more sense in the matter of the care of children than the smaller breeds.

Mr. Batten's anecdote recalls the act of a dog belonging to Mr. James Main, which discovering one of the children playing on the railway track pushed it out of danger with its nose just in time to escape being crushed to death by an approaching train. Unfortunately the dog itself was killed, thus sacrificing its life for that of its young master.

THE LATE JAMES McCLELLAN.

His Demise Occurred This Afternoon—Was Well Known in Town.

The news of the unexpected demise of Mr. James McClellan, No. 196 Barnardo Ave., which occurred at about 2.30 o'clock this afternoon, will come as a great shock to his many friends. Mr. McClellan has been ailing for some time with peritonitis of the bowels, but he has been confined to his house only during the past week. His physicians to-day gave up all hope of his recovery, and the end came this afternoon.

Mr. McClellan was well known amongst the business men of the town, being a prominent builder and contractor. He has been in the employ of the Toronto Loan & Savings Company for the past twenty years, but for the greater part of that time, has acted in the capacity of superintendent of the re-building and repairing of the Company's property as required from time to time. The conscientousness with which he discharged his responsible duties made him an invaluable employee. He leaves quite a large family to mourn his demise.

BUSY TIME AT THE LOCKS.

Work Progressing on the New Concrete Dam.

New Residence for Lock-Master Collins—A New Stone Storehouse as Well—The Contractor.

The building operations that have been going on in town for some time present a very lively appearance, but perhaps not many are aware of the activity in building circles down around the locks. For some weeks the preliminary work at this point has been in progress, and from this forward the construction of the new concrete dam will be pushed forward with great activity. The new dam, however, is not the only piece of Government work that is under way, as the lock-master's new residence and the new store house for Government stores are about completed.

The pretty and comfortable little house that has just been built for the Lock-master, Mr. Wm. Collins, is situated just a little south of the present lock-master's office. Mr. Collins does not, however, intend to move into it until next spring. When once there he will no doubt appreciate the convenience very much, and the new house will fill a long felt want in this regard.

The new store house is a fine new building, 40x42, two storeys in height. It is built on a substantial foundation of concrete. The work was done by the Government, with Mr. C. Gordon as foreman. When completed it will be used for storing Government supplies used on the Otonabee and Rice Lake section of the Canal, for the storing of tools and appliances in general.

Mr. Hugh Burnett, the contractor who is building the new dam at the locks, is bustling matters along in fine style, and will have the coffer dam erected in the course of a week or two, when the concrete work will be commenced. The new dam will be built about 150 feet below the present dam, which has served its purpose for so many years. There is a large gang of men at work drawing gravel, sand and stone, and it is expected that the concrete mixer will be placed in position in a day or two. About three car loads of cement have arrived at the locks already, and the work of laying the concrete will be continued throughout the winter months.

Mr. James Paterson is the Government time-keeper at the work.

FROM THE CANADIAN SCOUTS

They are Having Heavy Fighting With the Boers.

Sergt. Wm. Armour, a Peterborough Boy Writes Home From South Africa.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Armour, town have received a letter from their son, Sgt. Wm. Armour, now with the Canadian Scouts, in South Africa. Sgt. Armour has had quite an experience in the war, has been through a lot of fighting, and is carred with several honourable scars. In one way he is entitled to unusual credit, for he formed a Canadian Contingent of one, mobilized himself, and transported himself to South Africa, and all in response to no call from the Government of any country, but animated by loyalty to the Empire, mingled, possibly, with a little love for a scrap. When the war broke out he was in New York and he made that city a base of belligerent operations, "on his own hook," and at his own expense. He reached Cape Town, and the day after his arrival enlisted in Orpen's Horse, an independent cavalry corps, organized and commanded by a gentleman of that name. Mr. Armour, then a full private, served his term with this corps, which did good service in the earlier stages of the war, and was not unheard of in the despatches. After his honourable discharge from this corps, he enlisted in the Canadian Scouts, and the satisfactory way he discharged his duty, is shown by the fact that he was promoted to the rank of Sergeant, which he now holds. He has seen plenty of hot work, and seems to have enjoyed it.

A day or two ago the following letter was received by his parents. The boys who went to South Africa with the organised corps and under Government orders, all discharged their duty in a way to win the applause of the people and reflect on the town. Here we have another lad, who, starting alone, has given excellent service to the Empire, and whether he gets home next Christmas or next spring, he deserves as hearty a welcome as has been accorded to other returning Canadians. The letter is as below;—

Pretoria, Oct. 8th, 1901.

Dear Mother,—I received your more than welcome letter yesterday and I was very glad to hear that you are all well. This letter leaves me pretty fair at present. I am in the hospital, but I go out to-morrow, for I won't let the doctors operate on me. My left knee is the trouble. I got it hurt on the 28th of July last, but I did not mind it much, and I showed it to a doctor at Dashport the other day and he sent me in here, but I will not let them butcher me.

Well, mother dear, I can't say for sure, but I think I will be home for Christmas, that is if I can get my discharge. My time is up the last of this month, but if they want to keep me for six months more they can in spite of me, for I signed for six months or twelve if required. If they don't let me go at the end of my six months, I will be home in th espring, if God spares me, and I hope He will spare us all to meet again.

I will let you know my opinion on the war; it will last another twelve months and it is in a worse state for us now than ever for we are having more or less sniping every day, and a corps like ours gets near all the fighting now; for when the Boers see our support coming up they trek and we follow at a gallop for five or six miles and at it again until the column comes up and they are off again. We are a picked coeps and therefore get in the mix-up more than any other in South Africa and, according to Col. Remington, General Barton, General Alderson and Lord Kitchener and others we are the best men in the field, and I am proud of it, for it came out so in the General Orders. We have as good officers as ever led men into action, and I have had two or three narrow squeaks, but I rather liked them. I have three marks or scars on me to show how the Boers can shoot. On the 1st of July last I celebrated Dominion Day in fine style by getting two horses shot under me and getting a bullet through the calf of my right leg. On that day we started to fight at 7.30 a.m. and finished at dark, covering nearly 25 miles, for it was a running fight with Delarey's commando. We got the best of it. They killed one of our men and we laid out 14 of the Boers, wounded 27 of them; so you see we had the highest score.

Well now, dear mother, I have written to father twice and once to Bob Hart, in Boston, last May, and once to George in Peterborough, last May, and once to George in August last, but I have never received a letter or a paper from any one since a year ago last September. When I was in Orpen's Horse at Uppington, Cape Colony, and I wrote four or five letters from Prieska, but I got no answers, and I got discouraged and would not write; but when I got your message it was like an echo from heaven, for I had been longing for some news from home for over a year and had almost given it up, but thank God I idid come at last.

Well, dear mother, I wrote to George to watch the Post Office for any mail for me, for I expect to have some sent to Peterborough, for I had some back pay and my medal and gratuity sent there, for I gave the O. C. at Cape Town my address at Peterborough and he said he would send it home for me; so if it comes you can get it and keep it for yourself.

Well now, dearest mother and father, I will come to a close for this time, so now good bye and God bless and keep you all.

From your runaway son,
WM. ARMOUR.

RUGBY.

While the press of Ontario and the public generally have been crying down in very harsh terms the manner in which the management of the London Rugby Club has seen fit to engineer matters, still they do not know the worst,—they do not know it all. The London club played Peel well knowing that he had not any right to play, and for this they were punished by being suspended in a body from the union, but what recourse is there for the Peterborough's who have been cheated of their guarantee? The Executive of the O.R.F.U. met in Toronto some weeks ago, and in the presence of Mr. Gibbons, London's representative at the meeting, and Mr. R. F. McWilliams, it was agreed that Peterborough and London should play home and home games, the first of which was to be played in London on the 19th, and the return game in Peterborough on the 26th. In view of the fact that Peterborough had travelled so far this season—several hundred miles further than London, it was agreed that London should give the Peterborough Club a bonus of $50 for going to London. Did they do this? No, not a cent did Peterborough get for going to London. They were done completely out of their money, and so far they have not received it. The gate at London was a very large one, and they could well afford to pay the money; which, had they a spark of honour about them, they would pay. Peterborough was at a great deal of expense in going to the western town. They have played three games in the western town in the last two years, and the London team has never been to Peterborough once. The latest heard from London regarding the money is that they knew of no such arrangement, which is a deliberate falsehood. Still, the London News the other day said in cold type that the Peterborough team was used like gentlemen. Will the London News let the public know if this act alone was gentlemanly, saying nothing at all about the game on the field. Pay up, London, and redeem yourself in this regard at least.

As the days grow shorter and colder London's neck grown longer, and their nerves stronger. A man named F. Reid, who holds the position of Captain in the ostracised aggregation of Rugbyists writes to the local club asking that the Peterborough club go to Toronto to play his band of disgraced athletic outlaws for the gate receipts. Really it is scarcely worth while commenting on such a matter, but London's nerve is most appalling. When London pays to Peterborough the $50 they owe them, then they might take the matter into their serious consideration. Oh London! What cheek you have! After doing Peterborough out of the $50 you promised them to go to that city, you ask us to go to Toronto and play for the gate receipts. That would be little indead for whichever team which one, as no respectable people would attend a match in which London is figuring. No, London, you have proved yourself unworthy of recognition by any honest athletic public.

HOCKEY.

Under the provisions of the constitution of the Peterborough Hockey Club which was adopted last winter, the organization meeting of the club must be held within the last fifteen days of November. Accordingly, it will be seen that this important event of the season is not far off. The exact date is now under consideration, and will very likely be announced in a day or two. The recent cold snap rather wakened the boys up, and hockey became a leading topic of conversation. There have been a great many of the clubs throughout the Province organizing aleady, but then they have not had a complicated state of Rugby matters to deal with, as the men of Peterborough, who for the most part are both hockey and Rugby enthusiasts. The announcement of the date of the organization meeting will be made known very shortly.

THE CHICAGO HEIRESS.

The Peterborough Young Man Throws up the Sponge—Too Costly.

The Examiner of the past two weeks has contained a copy of some correspondence that has passed between a Peterborough man and the manager for an alleged Chicago young heiress, who it was said, was desirous of marrying some young man who would make her a loving husband, etc. The origin of the correspondence was in the following advertisement, which appeared in the local press:

HEIRESS, ONLY 22, WITH $100,000 worth of coal mines, timber lands, plantations, and money, wants a husband's protection and care. Address Susie B., Drawer H., Chicago, Ill.

In answer to the first letter from the Peterborough young man, he received a reply from a Mrs. Julia Carr, who asked that 20 cents be forwarded in order that the young man at this end might be placed in more direct correspondence with the young lady. This was sent, and the same Mrs. Carr sent back a few more particulars and asked that $5 be sent for additional information, etc. It was here that the young man made a halt. The matrimonial deal became a rather expensive one, and he dropped out, leaving the young heiress to try her luck somewhere else.

AN UNIQUE ENTERTAINMENT.

A Measuring Social Held in Ashburnham

At Which Hon. J. R. Stratton Occupied the Chair—Splendid Programme.

"A Measuring Social," was the rather unique name given to the entertainment which was held in the Ashburnham town hall last night, under the auspices of the Mark street Methodist Sunday school and Epworth League. The name at the outset seems rather ambiguous, and there is some question as to whether the system under which it is run is in accordance with the principle of equal rights to all. Everyone present, of course, was given the same privileges of entertainment, but some had to pay more than others for it. They paid according to their size. As the chairman remarked in his address, if some men had to pay according to their size, in their own estimation, they would have to pay a good deal, whilst again, had each one to pay according to the extent he is sized up by other people, he would not draw very heavily upon his pocket.

As each person passed into the Ashburnham town hall last night he was asked his size. If he could not tell how tall he was, he was then and there measured, and there were the necessary appliances on hand to accomplish this; or, again, if a man gave a certain measurement, and it was doubtful in the minds of the young ladies at the door, he was subjected to a rigid measuring ceremony. Three cents a foot and one cent an inch for the odd inches was the price. This of course accounted for the large amount of dark metal on the table, for the account against many came to the odd cent.

The admission fee scheme proved to be quite a novelty. The attendance was quite large, and the affair passed off most successfully.

THE CHAIRMAN.

The chair was occupied by Hon. J. R. Stratton, who in opening the proceedings expressed the great pleasure it afforded him in being present. The duties of a chairman at any entertainment in Ashburnham were always very light, inasmuch as they were always noted for being an orderly people, and they always had an excellent a programme. He felt it a pleasure at all times to meet the people of Ashburnham, for he never forgot the fact that he had lived for nearly a quarter of a century among them. He accounted for the good behaviour of the people by the fact that they had one doctor to keep their bodies sound, two ministers to improve their morals, and only one lawyer, and no politicians, to corrupt them. Referring to the union of Peterborough and Ashburnham, the chairman said that Peterborough had been flirting with Ashburnham for a long time, with a view of having a municipal wedding, but Ashburnham was very coy, very independent. He thought Ashburnham had better take warning by some young ladies. When they are in their teens they are very independent when young men came a-wooing. They keep it up too long sometimes, and they died old maids. He thought if Ashburnham did not look sharp, and consent to a wedding with Peterborough, the village would always remain in single blessedness. The entertainment was gotten up by the ladies to get means to make others good and happy. The good were always happy. He did not know a happier class than the politicians, for, though many did not believe it, there were good politicians. However, there were some who said that there were more good politicians in the cemetery than in Parliament. The novelty of the entertainment was that it was a measure social; everyone paying according to his size. The features of the entertainment pointed out the greater our talents, the greater our privileges—the greater were our responsibilities.

The chairman congratulated the ladies upon the work they were doing in church work. By giving such entertainments as these they were raising funds for church work, and, in fact, if it were not for the ladies we would not have the number of churches we have, doing the amount of good in their respective communities.

THE PROGRAMME.

The chairman then introduced the first number on the programme, which was a recitation by Miss Ruth. Continuing, the programme was as follows:

Vocal selection ...Peterborough Octette
Recitation ... ...Fred Hooper
Solo... ... ...Mr. Petrie
Solo... ... ...Miss Thompson
Recitation... ... ...Miss Deyell
Reading ... ...Mr. M. W. Matchett
Recitation... ... ...Miss Martha Murray
Vocal solo... ... ...Miss Hooper
Vocal solo... ... ...Mr. Petrie

The programme, it is needless to say, was a delightful one, and the different numbers were warmly applauded. At the conclusion of the same refreshments were served, and a very enjoyable social half hour or more was spent by those present.

The receipts netted the committee about $35, and in this respect their anticipations were fully realized.

A hearty vote of thanks was on motion of Mr. Matchett, seconded by Mr. Taylor, tendered to Hon. Mr. Stratton for his kindness in acting as chairman for the evening.

THE RUGBY DANCE.

It Promises to be as Successful as Ever—On the 29th.

One of the most anxiously awaited social events of the season in Peterborough is the annual dance of the Rugby Club. It has now become an established social event, and the successful manner in which it has, each year, passed off, has been encouragement to the management to come forward the following season with greater determination than ever towards having what is now practically admitted the dance of the whole year.

Owing to the uncertainty of dates of Rugby matches, and the rather complicated state the matters of the intermediate series have been in this fall, the club has, up until the present, been unable to announce to the public the exact date on which the annual Rugby dance would take place. Now, however, matters have assumed a more settled condition, and the Rugby club, after due consideration, have announced that their assembly will be held on the evening of Friday, Nov. 29th. This is just about two weeks hence, so that the boys will have to do considerable hustling from this time forward. It was thought that a date in the early part of December would have been preferable, but the Opera House could not be secured for any suitable date in that month.

The Rugby dance this year will be run purely under the direct management of the Executive of the club. It has been the custom in past seasons to call in outside assistance and the dance committee has from time to time been augmented by a number of gentlemen who have very kindly worked indefatigably in the interest of the club. But the management feel that they will not, this season at least, impose on the good nature of any of those outside the membership of the executive, and there is reason to believe that they will receive the hearty support of all. A dance committee of six of the Executive, consisting of Messrs. McWilliams, H. B. Burnham, Dr. Andrew Scott, A. W. McPherson, Victor McWilliams and E. S. Clarry have been appointed to look after the details of the work, and Dr. Scott has been appointed to the onerous position of Hon. Secretary. It is expected that the list of patronesses will be given out in the course of a day or two, and nothing will be left undone towards keeping up the high standard the Rugby dances in the past have attained.

An Increase of Nearly $1,500,000 For the Period Ended October 31—The Figures Given in Detail—Proposal to Further Extend C. O. C.'s Term—Warrant Issued for Arthur Buckley.

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—The regulations governing the granting of yearly licenses and permits to cut timber within twenty miles of either side of the Canadian Pacific in British Columbia provide for a rebate of 40 cents per thousand feet, b.m., on lumber exported from that Province to places outside the Dominion, on the production of evidence to the Crown Timber Agent as to the quantity exported. This concession was made in order to enable lumbermen in British Columbia to compete with those across the international boundary, who were operating under more favorable conditions. Recently, however, representations have been made that the lumber interests of British Columbia are now established on a firm basis, and that the conditions under which the licensees conduct their business are more favorable than across the line in Washington Territory. Such being the case, an order in Council has been passed rescinding the provision under which the rebate was granted.

Four Month's Revenue.

The ordinary revenue of the Dominion for the four months ended October 31 was $19,506,490, or $6,870,000 in excess of the ordinary expenditure, which amounted to $11,635,378. For the same period of last year the revenue was $17,329,353, and the expenditure $10,148,234. The capital expenditure for the four months was $4,456,070, as against $3,742,801 for the first four months compared with 1900 is as follows:

	1900	1901.
Customs	$9,936,524	$10,690,761
Excise	3,380,914	3,699,261
Postoffice	970,000	1,045,000
Public Works	2,100,603	2,310,215
Miscellaneous	941,280	761,251
Totals ...	$17,329,353	$18,506,490

Gen. O'Grady-Haly's Term.

An order in Council has been passed, on the recommendation of Col. Hon. F. W. Borden, extending General O'Grady-Haly's term as General in command of the Canadian militia, until June 30. In an interview some weeks ago Col. Borden announced that the Government desired to retain Gen. O'Grady-Haly's services for a further period. He was first appointed for one year. This expired in July last, but an extension was granted until December. The further extension is scarcely likely to be approved by the Imperial authorities.

Marshall Knew His Voice.

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Arthur Buckley, a farm hand, who is charged with shooting Andrew Marshall at the latter's farm Thursday morning. Marshall is living, but is dangerously wounded. While he did not get a close view of the man who called him to the door and shot him, he says his assailant's voice was that of Arthur Buckley.

Malt Breakfast Food

Creates a Healthy and Natural Appetite.

The extraordinary statement that the large majority of people sit down to breakfast with uncertain and jaded appetites, is only too true.

Weakened and unhealthy morning appetites are largely created by the use of starchy foods that call for too great an expenditure of energy in the work of digestion. Oatmeal, cracked wheat, hominy and the majority of prepared cereal foods are responsible for many a poor and unhealthy appetite.

Malt Breakfast Food made from the choicest strength-giving wheat and the purest health-giving malt, the whole partially digested, forms what food experts call a "perfect health food," delightful to the taste, appetizing, energizing, sustaining and invigorating. Malt Breakfast Food is the only prepared grain food that perfectly agrees with the digestion of young and old. No other breakfast food is so heartily indorsed by physicians. Your grocer sells it.

Dead Will Exceed Twenty.

Roanoke, Va., Nov. 16.—Nine bodies had been taken from the Daby Mines at Pocahontas up to noon yesterday. It is believed the list of dead will exceed twenty. The number of injured will be about thirty. The mine is still burning, but no more explosions are looked for.

C.P.R. Coal Chute Burned.

Winnipeg, Nov. 16.—The C. P. R. coal chute at Maple Creek, by which the engines were supplied, was burned to the ground yesterday. There was about 100 tons of coal in the chute at the time, and this, also, caught fire and spread across the track.

On Magnetic Healing.

Much is spoken and written during these times about this mysterious method of treating disease. The most remarkable cases of magnetic healing which have come under the notice of the writer have been those in which Dr. Chase's Ointment was used. This preparation seems to have magical powers in stopping the dreadful itching, burning sensations of Salt Rheum and Eczema, and when used regularly makes the cure permanent and thorough.

Boxing Bouts in Toronto.

Toronto, Nov. 16.—The Crescent Club yesterday completed its card for the boxing show on Thanksgiving Day. The bouts are Tom McCune, Detroit, vs. Fred. Vannuch, Toronto, 12 rounds at 145 pounds. Tim Callahan, Philadelphia, vs. Jack McClelland, Pittsburg, 20 rounds at 126 pounds.

Pan-Am. Liabilities.

Buffalo, Nov. 16.—The total liabilities of the Pan-American Co., not including the capital stock, is $1,-889,694.

MR. G. H. KENT.

The above is a likeness of Mr. G. H. Kent, 408 Gilmour St., Ottawa taken from a recent photograph. Seven years ago Mr. Kent was cured of Bright's Disease of the Kidney's in its last stages by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and has enjoyed good health ever since. The full particulars of this remarkable cure, as sworn to, were published in these columns a few days ago.

Old Folks' Backache.

When people get past the meridian of life they are liable to be troubled more or less with kidney complaint.

Pains and aches, stiffness and soreness of the back, difficulty in urination and frequent rising at night are some of the troubles that seriously afflict the old.

There is no remedy brings such relief and comfort to those advanced in life as Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. They soothe all irritation, tone up and invigorate the urinary organs, clear away all sediment, take the ache and pain out of the back and permit undisturbed rest at night.

SPRIGHTLY AT 69.

Mrs. Geo. Boutin, Harrington Street, Arnprior, Ont., says: "I have had so much benefit from using Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets that I do not hesitate to recommend them. Since I used them I am free from that constant backache that quite unnerved me and robbed me of all energy. My kidneys have been so invigorated that there now remains no annoyance or inconvenience from the secretions. I wish you could see my father. He is sixty-nine years of age and before using Pitcher's Kidney Tablets suffered acutely from rheumatism in his back. Now he is sprightly and nimble as a young man. He says never anything before did him as much good as Pitcher's Tablets. I am confident that those who have failed heretofore to obtain any relief from bad backs and sluggish kidneys will find themselves well rewarded by using Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50c. a box, at all druggists or by mail from Dr. Silas Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

TAPS FROM THE WIRES.

At Beloit, Wis., William Hamilton, mechanic, on Friday shot himself and his wife as the result of a quarrel.

Toronto's snowfall on Thursday night was just one-fifth of an inch, while in Port Stanley there was five inches, and in Montreal 12 inches. In Manitoba sleighs are running and the mercury is below zero.

Bad Food For Soldiers.

Paris, Nov. 16.—La Liberte yesterday asserts that two million francs' worth of deteriorated American tinned foods have been discovered among the military stores at Verdun. Gen. Andre, the Minister of War, has consequently, ordered all tinned foods among army stores, whether French or American, to be sold, on the ground that it would be better to have no stores at all than to depend upon canned provisions which would be found to be bad at the outbreak of war.

Violet Leaves Cure Cancer.

New York, Nov. 16—According to the London representative of The Journal and Advertiser, the Onlooker contains an account of a most remarkable cure of cancer which medical circles are eagerly discussing. It says the cure was discovered through the use of Lady Margaret Masham, sister of the Earl of Romney. Lady Margaret became so ill that her throat nearly closed, nourishment had to be administered artificially and her death was expected in about a week when a friend prescribed the use of fresh green violet leaves. The suggestion was followed. Relief was immediate. The large, hard external tumor disappeared and in a week all pain had ceased and the cancerous growth in the tonsils disappeared in a fortnight.

Paine's Celery Compound Possesses Special Virtues and Powers for Female Health-Building.

ALL WOMEN WHO SUFFER FROM DISEASES PECULIAR TO THEIR SEX SHOULD USE IT.

A Hamilton, Ont., Lady Whose Life was Despaired of is Made Well and Strong After Years of Suffering.

Paine's Celery Compound has stood the test of time and experience, while hundreds of the common preparations are fast sinking into obscurity. Paine's Celery Compound is not a patent medicine; it is the discovery of one of the greatest and ablest physicians that ever practised the noble profession, and for this reason it is prescribed by many able doctors who recognise its worth.

Paine's Celery Compound possesses special virtues and powers for female health building. It banishes nervousness, weakness, backaches, and all the nameless ills that come to women of all ages. It gives them rosy cheeks, sparkling eyes, and restores the freshness and activity of girlhood.

Miss Blake, of Hughson street, Hamilton, Ont., gives her testimony for the benefit of woman who are suffering — many in silence — and earnestly looking for health and strength.

"For years I suffered much and was under the care of doctors who finally told me I was going into consumption. I became worse through the use of medicines and gave up my doctors. While in a very critical condition, not able to sleep or rest, always faint and weak, appetite and digestion bad, my system run down and little life left in me, I commenced to use Paine's Celery Compound. After the use of one bottle I felt much relieved. I have used in all seven or eight bottles, and am now a new woman, can enjoy life, and am as well as I wish to be."

THE BRITON'S WAY.

Lord Rosebery on Some Shortcomings of English Methods—The National Self-Complacency.

In his speech at the distribution of prizes to the students of the Birmingham and Midland Institute, Lord Rosebery made several remarks which have since been widely discussed and generally with approbation. Speaking of the Briton's "national self-complacency," he said:

"The nation which is satisfied is lost. The nation which is not progressing is retrograding. 'Rest and be thankful' is a motto which spells decay.

"The New World seems to possess more of this quality of progressiveness, in its crude state, at any rate, than the old. In individuals it sometimes seems to be carried to excess. I do not by this mean the revolutions which periodically ravage the Southern and Central American Republics. I think more of the restless enterprise of the United States, with the devouring anxiety to improve existing machinery and existing methods, and the apparent impossibility of accumulating any fortune, however gigantic, which shall satisfy or be sufficient to allow of leisure and repose.

"There the disdain of finality, the anxiety for improving on the best, seems almost a disease; but in Great Britain we can afford to catch the complaint, at any rate in a mitigated form, and give in exchange some of our own self-complacency, for complacency is a fatal gift. 'What was good enough for my father is good enough for me' is a treasured English axiom which, if strictly carried out, would have kept us to wooden plows and water clocks. In these days we need to be inoculated with some of the nervous energy of the Americans. That is true of individuals, collectively every bit as it not also true of the nation?

"Occasionally the nation wakes up and finds that its methods or machinery are out of date, and even decayed. It demands, for example, that some department or another should be placed up-to-date, and having made the demand, it turns its attention to something else, or goes to slumber; then it wakes up again, finds that nothing has been done, grumbles, and perhaps swears, and turns its attention to something else or perhaps slumbers.

"There is a story of an English duke, the husband of an historic duchess, who was awakened with the news that his magnificent palace, in which he was then sleeping, was in flames. He expressed the hope that they would be put out, and turned round and went to sleep again. Now that in itself is not a bad form of phlegmatic courage, a passive force in itself, but it is a quality of strength which contains a peril. Our people in like manner when they are told that their house is on fire are apt to call loudly for a fire engine, but to fall asleep again directly it arrives."

The Queen Out of Mourning.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra had their last mourning photos taken. The official term of grief has expired and Their Majesties will hereafter be taken in the ermine and the purple, but not in black.

The Queen has now laid aside her veil of crepe, upon which the crown posed so jauntily in the spring and most beautiful costumes in various colors, though for the most part in gray, as Her Majesty is very partial to that shade. The King will hereafter don his army uniform or wear citizen's clothes as may please him, but the heavy dead black mourning will not be seen.

The last mourning photos of Their Majesties shows them in full regalia, but with the weeds upon them. The King, ever gallant, holds the Queen's fingers in his own, and the Queen stands a little in the background, as befits a consort. Her Majesty is sweet faced as ever, but a trifle thin. Though a woman past middle life, she still holds her own and is now, as she has been for the past generation, the prettiest royal lady in Europe. Their mourning picture is to be perpetuated in a beautiful painting to be immediately executed by the court painter.

Hodge the Simple-Minded.

An election petition was being tried and a witness was called to prove "bribery."

"One of the gentlemen says to me, 'Hodge, you must vote for the Tories,' said the witness."

"And what did you answer to that?" asked the counsel.

"Well, says I, 'How much?' "

"And what did the agent say?"

"He didn't say nothin.' The other gentleman comes to me and says, 'You must vote for the Liberals, Hodge.' "

"And what did you answer?"

"I said, 'How much?' So he arst me what t'other gentleman offered and I told him five shillings."

"And what did the Liberal agent do?"

"He gave me ten."

Counsel sits down triumphant, and up starts the other side.

"Did you vote for the Liberals?"

"No."

"Did you vote for the Tories?"

"No, I ain't got a vote!" — London Spare Moments.

Losses of British Ships.

According to a recent Parliamentary return the number of losses and minor casualties of vessels of the United Kingdom in 1899-1900 was 5,463. There were 420 vessels, of 179,676 tons, totally lost, or less by 164 vessels and 27,284 tons than the average for the last twenty-four years. In the last twenty-four years there have been 6,586 British ships wrecked and 40,797 lives lost. The seas about the United Kingdom are particularly dangerous, as Caesar found over nineteen hundred years ago, and the Spaniards later. As many as 79 foreign vessels, of 47,267 tons, were wrecked and became total losses in 1899-1900 near British coasts.

Neuralgia

is Rheumatism of the face. Uric Acid left in the blood by disordered kidneys lodges along the nerve which branches from the eye over the forehead, and across the cheek to the side of the nose. The cause is the same as in all Rheumatism— disordered Kidneys. The cure is likewise the same—

ONLY TWINS.

But They Made a Lot of Trouble on "De Omnibus."

Here is a story from Mr. Barry Pain's amusing book, "De Omnibus." It is the conductor that speaks:

"That ain't the only time I've bin done. 'Ere's another kiss. Yer don't horter see tew people eguackly alike, nort even in apperunce. I did once, and I wish I 'adn't. It 'appened this wye: A young man gort on my bus, 'at back of 'is head, grye coat and striped bags, ferryin' a brarn piper pawcil and black walkin' stick with a white handle to it. 'E wen' up on top. I followed 'im, punched a penny ticket and give it 'im, turned raind and went down ag'in. As soon as I got darn I finds 'im sittin' inside ag'inst the door—sime fice, sime 'at, nose the sime wye, sime clothes, pawcil, walkin' stick and ev'rythink.

"'Egcoose me, sir,' I says, 'but 'ow did yer get 'ere?'

"'The or'nery wye,' says 'e, lookin' surprised.

"'Thet yer didn't,' says I, 'or yer'd 'ave 'ad to come pawst me.'

"'I dunno whart ye're talkin' abart,' 'e says. 'Give me my ticket!'

"'I've jest this moment give it yer!' says I.

"'''Ave yer?' says 'e. 'Well, I 'av'n't got it, any'ow.'

"'''Ere yer aw, thin,' says I. 'Yer kin 'ave a dozen o' 'em fur a shillin' if ye're fond o' 'em.'

"'Yer'd better be keerful,' says 'e. Presintly I 'as to go up top, and blest if 'e wasn't theer, just wheer I left 'im in the fust time.

"'Look 'ere,' I says. 'I don't know 'ow yer works this ankypanky, but I've 'ad abart enough of it, and so I tells yer strite!'

"'E says, 'I dunno whart yer thinks ye're a'yin', but yer kin tike it from me that if yer gits drunk while ye're on this 'bus yer'll find yerself in trouble.' I goes darn ag'in, and there 'e was settin' ag'inst the door as afore.

"'Very well,' says I, shikin' my fist in his fice. 'If yer moves ag'in egsep' ter git art in the or'nery wye, I'll tike yer and throw yer inter the road.'

"'Ye're drunk,' 'e says. 'Yer ain't fit ter 'ave chawge of a bus!'

"'I ain't fit ter 'ave chawge of a bloomin' box of miracles like this,' says I, 'but I'll keep my heye on yer, all the sime, my friend!' Just then the bus stopped, and 'art 'e got. As I was lookin' arter 'im the other one come darn off the top and went pawst me. Theer was two of 'em, as like as two peas. They went off tergether lawfin'."

Pat's Clever Scheme.

"Plase, sir," said an Irishman to a traveler, "would yes be so obliging as to take me greatcoat here to Liverpool wid yes?"

"Yes," said the man in the wagon, "but how will you get it again?"

"Oh, that's mighty aisy, as it is," said Pat "for, shure, I'll remain inside uv it!"

Not Strong Enough.

"It seems to me that our friend has so much faith in money that he almost makes a religion of it."

"I don't like the comparison. The word 'religion' implies at least a remote chance of backsliding."

They Had It.

Towne—Do I understand you to say that Spencer's case was really a faith cure?

Browne—Yes. You see, the doctor and the druggist both trusted him.—Philadelphia Press.

FOOD OF AMERICANS.

An English Woman Tells of the Strange Things She Ate Here.

An English woman who visited America a short time ago has been telling her country women about the "strange food across the water." Of course she discovered green corn, but she had been prepared for that. Oyster crabs were quite new to her.

"They look like Boston baked beans," she explains, "but they taste much better."

An oyster cocktail filled her with awe and enthusiasm. She tried it at Delmonico's and thought it was soup. Of course in England one didn't serve soup in a glass; but, then, neither did the English serve boiled eggs in a glass. One could never be sure of Americans.

Of canvasback duck she has a poor opinion, but thinks she might like it better if Americans would have it cooked or even warmed. As for terrapin, she sings its praise. She found it much like calf's head, and she always liked calf's head. Shades of Maryland gourmets, what a slur is there!

"All the puddings in America are pie or ice cream," she says, but it must be understood that pie does not mean game pie. The Yankee pie is a tart and is ubiquitous, she explains.

She sat next to an American man who ate a lump of cheese with his strawberry pie and turned a plateful of ice cream over both, but she doesn't know that that is a general custom.

The oysters were good, but had most impossible names, and the cockles (meaning clams) are excellent. On the whole, Yankee food and cooking are good, but there is too much of the food on the table at one time.

Portrait of Cocker.

Edward Cocker, who lived in the reign of Charles II., is chiefly known to the present generation by the saying in common use, "According to Cocker," which means in accordance with arithmetical rules. I saw the other day amid the treasures of a private collector a copy of the first edition of Cocker's immortal work on arithmetic, published by T. Passenger at the Three Bibles on London bridge. Only two, or at most three, perfect copies are known to the book collector. One is in the British museum. This particular copy, its brown morocco pitifully faded, bears on its title page the inscription, "Cocker's Arithmetick, Perused and Published by John Hawkins by the Author's Correct Copy."

It contains what purports to be a portrait of "ingenious Cocker." Experts, however, shake their heads over the authenticity of this work of art. There are many engraved portraits of the epoch, but there was only one Cocker. The British museum copy has no portrait, and there is too much reason to fear that this embellishment was added by some ingenious owner of an earlier century. Cocker died in 1675. This rare relic of the past bears date 1678.

Flowing Sleeve Gowns Take the Place of the Strong Tailor Made.

There are many women who cannot wear the plain tailor made. For these fashion has devised soft, careless effects in both jackets and skirts. The Etons also can be matened by means of figured vests, sailor collars and soft belts which are allowed to show three or four inches.

A pretty shirt waist hat for this same style of girl is made in fine straw and trimmed with a soft Indian scarf, with the fringed ends falling over the left side of the brim. The prevailing style of trimming on the edge of the brim is particularly suited to her. A broad, soft style of headgear is also more becoming than a narrow, set model, no matter how smart.

Lavender, cadet blue and crushed strawberry or old rose tints are particularly stunning shades when made up into these semitailor made costumes. A touch of black should, however, invariably be introduced to make the toilet thoroughly up to date.

A very attractive street gown is here pictured. Heliotrope novelty goods are the material. It is made with a short Eton laid in deep folds and having bishop sleeves. There is a wide collar of black moire edged with lace. The skirt is perfectly plain, with the exception of a deep flounce all laid in folds.

Changing the Color of Flowers.

A foreign investigator tells of using alum, hydrochloric acid and caustic potash to change the color of flowers. Watery extracts were made of various red, purple and lilac colored flowers and dilute solutions of the chemicals mentioned added. The alum changed the lilac to blue and the rose color to lilac. Hydrochloric acid changed the lilac and the light red to a copper red, and in some cases the lilac was changed to green or brown. Potash transformed the rose and lilac to green or yellow. Similar results were obtained when cut flowers were placed in solutions of the above or by watering with them plants grown in pots.

CHAPTER X.

As a matter of fact, it was immaterial whether he was or not, for the horses generally behaved well and there was really nothing to be done only go the rounds, adjust covers, tie horses that were loose and keep things right in general. The most laborious duty I can remember, was the grooming of horses, after a parade on a warm day, when mud was plentiful, and this was no uncommon thing. As soon as the boys reached the stables, they unsaddled their mounts wet with sweat and plastered with mud, removed their serge jackets and sebing a wisp of hay or straw began operations. This rubbing and scrubbing process went on without interruption till the horse was fairly dry, when the wisp was discarded and brushes substituted in their place. The brush continued the good work for another half hour or so till the animals were perfectly dry when they were blanketed and fed. The horse was perfectly dry to be sure, but dear me! you could pick up a wisp and rub the sweat off poor Tommy. The need for such care was apparent. The stables like our own quarters were intended for summer use, and had rather too much ventilation for comfort in the winter season. The inclemency of the weather greatly added to the discomfort. Some days the horses would be sweating with their covers only half-spread, and on others they would be shivering. A visit to the hospital would give you an idea to what extent the sudden extremes wrought havoc among our mounts, no less than eighty being confined in it at one time, the majority suffering from pneumonia. If your horse should from any cause become an inmate of this institution, you were obliged to perform your stable-duties there and sometimes this was required even when you had no interest in it.

We were supposed to be organized according to the system of Boer formation, which in detail was briefly as follows. Each troop under the command of one commissioned officer with the rank of lieutenant was divided into groups of four men, each one of which acted as group leader and was responsible for the arms, equipment, behaviour and general appearance of all. The men were granted the privelege of forming themselves into groups, and it was thought by this method, those who were familiar with each other's dispositions and peculiarities would cultivate a greater sympathy, and work more harmoniously and to better advantage than if they were strangers and uncongenial company. They were to stand by each other through thick and thin, regardless of consequences, and if three of them were absent from stables, the one remaining had to attend to the four horses and discharge their various duties whatever they might be. This was a hard matter to successfully perform with pans at the mess-table when you were expected to eat four meals. For a time we were typical Boers in this respect, but by and by our companions began to disregard what a short time previous they were particular to impress, and we were marched to stables in single file, and detailed off in numerical order to lead horses to water. Every man took two and perhaps every individual in certain groups was out and not a single one had a horse belonging to himself, or any other member of his group. This careless, haphazard manner of doing things completely crushed the interest out of the whole affair, and made us indifferent in the discharge of duty. If they never intended to observe the rights of groups, why did they spend so many days in properly organizing them, and put the boys to so much inconvenience? 'Twas simply the same old story repeated scores of times on our trip to the Orient and back in Khaki. In accordance with army regulations we were obliged to shave every morning. The Government issued a razor and lather brush for this purpose, and apparently believed the former's edge would last forever, for they failed to provide a strop with which to put on another. A mirror was also a minus quantity, thus we were expected to turn out in a presentable condition with only a half of the necessary equipment for doing so. Our officer who was billeted in one of the most palatial hotels in the city, would come down to the barracks about half an hour before parade and if he observed a man not freshly shaved would enquire, "Did you shave this morning?" and on receiving the reply, "No sir! I hadn't time," which was frequently the correct reason, and a good one too, he would sharply answer, "Nonsense! I had time to shave and you'll have to do it before parade," and he would rub his smooth face with an air of satisfaction. Little thanks to him, his servants did his work, and he might well look so prim in the early morning, when he had a first class barber to lather and scrape him. He didn't contend with the same disadvantages we did. If you formed the bright idea of doing it the night before, when you were inspected in the morning, you might receive a sharp "calling down" and be ordered off parade to do it over again. Even on ship-board this duty was required to be regularly performed, but after we went up country, we discarded our shaving outfits and vied with each other in raising beards. Some experienced no difficulty in obtaining a fairly luxuriant decoration, others worked hard and then only displayed the dude's moustache, nine hairs on a side; and yet another class, alas! poor fellow, could only boast of a shaggy growth of a deathly pale hue. I called doubtfull-down, because it was as yet impossible to determine what it was going to be—hair or feathers. The shaving outfit incomplete as it was, represented but a small fraction of our general kit, which was as nearly as I can remember as follows:—one rifle-green uniform; three khaki uniforms; two pair of boots; four pairs of socks; two pair of drawers; two undershirts; two flannel shirts (greybacks); a toque or glengarry cap; a service cap; cowboy hat (pony); overcoat; blanket; tin of shoe-polish, tin of dubbin for water-proofing purposes; tin of gall cure; shoe-polish brush; hair brush; daubing brush; clothes brush; button polishing brush; shaving brush and two towels; two handkerchiefs, so we were not obliged to use our coat-sleeves or another man's shoulder; button-stick; soap; razor; jackknife; knife; fork; spoon; gloves; two combs; hold-all; housef or housewife; kit bag; saddle-valise; grooming kit; corn brush; water-brush and another brush of which I forget the name; a tail and mane comb, curry comb, hoof-pick, scissors, two spools of thread, thimble, buttons, yarn, darning-needles, sewing needles, safety pins and other pins that weren't safety, a horse, halter called a head-stall, horse-cover, saddle numnah blanket to go over the numnah, breast-plate, bridoon halter and reins, nose-bag, muzzle, two hay-nets, rifle, bucket, spurs, bandolier, water bottle, mess tin, haversack, rifle, bayonet and waist belt, heel-rope, portion of the built-up rope, cornsack to put saddle in on wet days, two pins—one iron and the other wood, for picketing purposes, rubber coat, two horseshoes, saddle-girth, revolver, revolver pouch, revolver cartrige pouch, lanyard, putties, emergency rations etc. enough to set us up in business. When you had gone through your "kit" to see if it were all there, you would feel as fatigued as a man taking stock in a wholesale department store. The curry combs were prohibited or at least forbidden to be used, and if we were detected using them it was a serious offence. We used them just the same however, and when an officer made his appearance at either end of the stable, the man nearest or whoever saw him first was suddenly seized with a violent fit of coughing, and before the spasmodic action of his diaphragm had ceased, the curry combs were out of sight and brushes plying merrily. When we were equipped with our khaki uniform the rifle-green became a fatigue-dress, worn only at stables and other untidy work. The khaki was worn at all other parades, and no man was under any pretence whatever permitted to leave barracks in any other habiliment. One night I remember I was going down street accompanied by two or three others, and as we passed the guard-room dropped in to report, which was compulsory. The corporal on duty was a member of our troop, and a pleasant boy he was, his countenance always a beam of sunshine. He inspected us closely as we were divulging the conditions under which we were granted liberty to leave the barracks, and as we turned to leave the guard-room, he objected to me going out improperly dressed, I had as a matter of fact, forgotten my spurs and there was no alternative but return to quarters and get them. The corporal was only doing his duty and strictly adhering to orders, consequently there was no room for remonstrance. The very next day, as usual on the Sabbath we paraded to divine service and it was purely optional except on one occasion, what church you attended. On the occasion referred to, we were compelled to go to the Episcopal church. On the day in question, when we were told off accordingly to our creed, the order came out, "Only the English church party will wear spurs. The remainder will be dismissed and after leaving their spurs in their quarters, will reassemble and proceed to service." We were accordingly dismissed and proceeded to do as commanded, but such an aggregation of grumblers I never saw before. We were all talking as fast as we could and nobody seemed to care whether he was heard or not. We were terribly mortified, not without due cause, and the storm of profane epithets that fell in that house, had they been Mauser bullets would have shattered it beyond recognition. Had the Episcopal party been ignored, no doubt a similar episode would have been enacted. It was contrary to regulations no matter who gave the order, and we considered it nothing but a slur directly hurled at other denominations, and such it certainly was. One party had just as much right to wear spurs as another, and none should march to church improperly dressed. Someone had blundered and the impressions made by such blunders are not easily effaced. We declared by everything we wouldn't go to church at all, and had we insisted on doing our duty as "Soldiers of the Queen," we would not under any pretence whatever, have turned out improperly dressed to parade to church bare-heeled. Eventually we decided to do so and I don't suppose anyone who saw us at service, would have surmised anything of the kind had transpired before we left the barracks.

INTERESTING MILITARY NEWS

The Recruit Class Being Well Attended.

The old Time Company Suppers Should be Revived—Other Matters.

Now that the annual drill of the 57th is over for the season 1901, excepting, of course, that which is done in the class of instruction the men of all ranks should not let their military ardour lie dormant during the remaining six months of the year. When such is the case it generally takes the first three or four weeks of the spring drill for the men to become acquainted or in any way enthused in the work.

Last winter, and in fact for several winters, the regimental rooms in the Opera House block, had a stimulating effect on both non-coms. and men, many of whom can look back with pleasure to the smoking concerts and other little social functions that were held in the rooms. But the maintenance of the rooms was expensive, too much so, in fact, which was to a very great extent the reason for their having been abandoned. However, the Bugle and Drum Corps of the 57th, which, by the way, is one of the most enthusiastic branches of the local service, are determined to have rooms of this kind, of their own, down town, and it is most likely that they will succeed in their efforts in that behalf.

But there is another way in which a feeling of sociability may be fostered in the ranks and amongst the non-coms. of the regiment. What has become of the old time company suppers? Those happy little social gatherings, where the men meet around the festive board and talked freely of the past season's work, the adventures, amusing and exciting, that have during that time occurred with regard to their connection with the regiment, and also when the officers of the companies are cheered, toasted and eulogised as far as is consistent with military etiquette between officers and men? The Military Editor of this paper is not growing hungry for a dish of oysters or a feed of wild fowl, but he is only voicing the sentiments of the military men of the town when he advocates a series of these old time social gatherings. So far this season there has been none of them. Even No. 4, which in the past has prided itself in setting the pace in matters of this kind, has not made a move in the matter. Wake up, somebody, and keep up the military enthusiasm of the town.

Class of Instruction.

A very noticeable and pleasing feature in connection with the local regiment during the past season was the efficiency of the non-coms. Not one of these, it might be said, are what are called school men,—that is, men who have attended such institutions as "C" school at Toronto,—no, they are all, smart, intelligent, and well drilled young men, who have received their training in town, under Sgt.-Major Brittain. The class of instruction that was formed one year ago for non-coms. and those desiring to further their military proficiency was taken advantage of by quite a number and the results were quite apparent, for it gave to the regiment a first-class body of non-coms., of whom it is often said that they are the back-bone of the regiment.

For this winter another class has been formed, and it, too, has so far been very well attended, but still, there are many more young men in the regiment who should take advantage of this excellent opportunity afforded in being able to qualify for non-coms. certificates, whether they expect to receive such appointments or not. The class cannot be too large, and as it meets only one night in the week, Tuesday, it is not such that would interfere with any person's business or social engagements to any extent at least. The class is only now in an organized state, and it is not too late for more to join. Applications should be made to the Sgt.-Major. The list of them who have already joined is a large one.

A WINTER'S WALK IN CANADA.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—Lest some of your readers should miss this admirable article in the "Nineteenth Century," by Mr. Arnold Haultain, formerly of Peterborough, I venture to call their attention to it. Peterborough has an especial interest in it for it not only emanates from a former resident, since become distinguished in the world of letters, but it also deals with the town itself, no other conclusion being possible. It has received the very highest praise in England, and Mr. Haultain is deserving of the gratitude of every Canadian.

CANADIAN RECRUITS

Communication Received From the Imperial Authorities.

THE NETHERLANDS AND BOERS

The Government Again Announces Its Policy of Neutrality—The Captured Yeomanry—Fifty-Eight Were Taken by the Boers and Then Released—Rumored Peace Proposal by Kitchener.

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—The Imperial authorities have communicated with the Canadian Government in regard to the recruiting of a mounted force in the Dominion for service in South Africa, and from what can be learned it would seem that the former are not indisposed to accept the services of Canadians who may be disposed to volunteer for work at the front. The Premier is absent at Athabaskaville, and a number of the ministers who were seen could not give any information on the matter. It is quite reasonable to suppose, however, that the War Office may be desirous of learning whether the offer of last spring to allow the recruiting of 600 mounted men in Canada is still open.

The Netherlands and Boers.

The Hague, Nov. 18.—The Government, in the course of a communication to the Chamber, dealing with the Foreign Office estimates, reiterated Saturday its desire, for the time being, to maintain its policy of neutrality in connection with the South African question, and said: "But, while we should scrupulously observe the obligations of international law, no one would suggest that the ties of consanguinity of race existing between the Dutch and the South African states be forgotten. The Government, therefore, will always remain on the alert, to sieze an opportunity for the restoration of peace."

Fifty-Eight Yeomen Caught.

London, Nov. 18.—The South African casualty list shows that in the affair at Brakspruit, Nov. 13, which Lord Kitchener reported last Friday, 58 Yeomanry were captured by the Boers and afterwards released.

Peace Proposals to Boers.

Paris, Nov. 18.—The Liberte prints a despatch from Durban, Natal, which states that Lord Kitchener has sent a letter to the Commandant-General, Louis Botha, in which he suggests that negotiations for a settlement of the war should be re-opened.

Jamaicans and Boer Prisoners.

Kingston, Jamaica, Nov. 18.—Sir Augustus Hemming, Governor of Jamaica, has expressed himself as in favor of sending Boer prisoners here. There is considerable opposition to this proposal.

Bragged of Murder.

London, Nov. 18.—A correspondent of The Times, wiring from Middleberg, Cape Colony, says a Boer patrol, under Commandant Theron, son of the President of the Afrikander Bond, captured two natives near Burghersdorp, took them a few miles and then shot them. The Boers subsequently bragged about this deed to a local farmer. Dissatisfaction is said to be prevalent among the Boers in the Orange River Colony, owing to the scarcity of provisions.

Parliament Further Prorogued.

Cape Town, Nov. 18.—The Parliament of Cape Colony has been further prorogued until Jan. 15.

Trooper Hann Wounded.

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—A cable received last evening says that Trooper John Hann of Montreal, who was with Kitchener's fighting scouts, was severely wounded at Freitfontein.

"BOBS" MAY QUIT.

A Rather Improbable Rumor by Way of New York.

London, Nov. 18.—I hear on the highest authority, that more dissatisfaction than ever reigns in the War Office, says The New York Herald's correspondent. It is now thought almost certain that Lord Roberts will resign the post of commander-in-chief next April, if not sooner, and therefore will not take any prominent part in the coronation ceremonies.

There is a considerable amount of grumbling at his continued absence from Pall Mall, where, I hear, an enormous batch of papers is left unanswered by him.

Only the other day application was made by Sir Evelyn Wood for another aide-de-camp. As the Commander-in-Chief was not present, Mr. Brodrick took it upon himself to answer, and gave rather a curt refusal.

This was really a matter which had nothing whatever to do with the Minister of War. Those who are likely to know prophecy an early outbreak in Pall Mall. The storm brewing cannot be delayed very much longer.

I am sorry to say there is absolutely no doubt there will be an enormous number of resignations sent in when the war comes to an end.

Through 23 Generations.

Pekin, Nov. 17.—The Empress Dowager issued another edict eulogizing the late Li Hung Chang, and ordering the erection of a memorial arch near his birthplace. The edict also directs that the rank of Marquis, conferred upon the oldest son of the late Chinese statesman in his own right, shall descend through 23 generations. It confers high rank upon the other sons of Earl Li.

CURED OF GENERAL WEAKNESS

BY OZONE,
the new Oxygen treatment.

Nature demands a tremendous lot of womankind. If the system is not prepared to meet the exacting strain, the sufferer becomes weakly, goes into decline and dies. Powley's Liquified Ozone is most remarkable in its effect on weak women. It brightens and strengthens them almost from the start and soon makes a permanent cure. Read Mde. A. Girousc's statement. It indicated what a wonderful preparation it is.

For the past two years I have been on the decline very much run down and weak and tired feeling, and for the past six months I have been confined a great deal to my house, unable to attend to my housework. About the first of June I saw your ad in La Presse, of Powley's Liquified Ozone, I secured a bottle and began taking it. I at once began to gain strength and now I feel a different woman. My appetite is good, my strength has returned and I am feeling better than I have felt for two years. I feel grateful to you for what your preparation, Ozone, has done for me. I consider it a great remedy and would not be without it in my family.

I have used only three bottles of it and it has done me more good than any medicine I have ever taken. I gladly recommend it to others, knowing the good it has done me.

MDE. A. GIROUSC, 1143 City Hall Ave., Montreal, P. Q.

Powley's Liquified Ozone should be taken internally and used in douche form by any woman who suffers the peculiar weakness of her sex. If you desire our booklet on the special treatment for different diseases such as leucorrhœa, irregularities, tumors, etc., write us and we'll send it free of charge.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A man has been killed in the hunting woods in Muskoka for a deer. The killer it appears aimed at some bushes in which the victim was moving, and accidently shot him. If he had been aiming at the man, doubtless the latter would have escaped. In this case a blunder is worse than a crime, the blunder killed the man, who might have escaped if killing had been intended.

No wonder, says the Hamilton Times, Mr. Whitney hates the name New Ontario. The Tories spent vast sums trying to wrest it from the Province, and even parcelled out its timber as political rewards "for the boys." Now Mr. Ross' policy of development of New Ontario appeals strongly to the Province at large, and Mr. Whitney in his rage calls it "the land of the stunted poplar." Had Whitney's friends' plan of robbery succeeded we should not have had New Ontario to legislate for.

The question is asked by a correspondent, "Why is the Prince of Wales 'created and not born?'" The reason, the Ottawa Free Press explains, is that it is not an hereditary title, but has to be conferred by the King. It need not be called into existence at all. The eldest son of the British Sovereign is born Duke of Cornwall, Earl of Chester, Duke of Rothsay, Earl of Carrick, Baron Renfrew, Earl of Renfrew. It is perhaps worthy of note that the Duke of Cornwall and York, now Prince of Wales, is the sixteenth since the Black Prince, and of these five never succeeded to the throne, and only thirteen out of twenty-four Kings since Edward the First have been created Princes of Wales.

The Baffin's Bay Census.

We are reminded by the census officials that Baffin Land is in Canada. It is said to contain 670 Eskimos and one Scotchman, which revives the old prediction about a Scotchman being found at the North Pole. We warn all those who are inclined to scoff at Baffin Land that good crops of wheat have been grown at Great Slave Lake, and that Fort Simpson, still farther north, has an electric light system.

Probably 20 Dead.

Bluefield, W. Va., Nov. 18.— The reports from the Ruby Mine are that the fire practically has been extinguished. Saturday three more bodies were taken out, all badly charred. Miners say that at least eight more are in the shaft. The list of bodies already recovered numbers 12, and two or three of the injured will yet die.

Queen Wilhelmina Improving.

The Hague, Nov. 18.—The Dowager Queen Emma, mother of Queen Wilhelmina, who has just returned from the royal chateau at Hetloo, has informed the authorities that her daughter's health continues to improve.

BANKERS ARE OPTIMISTIC.

View the Increase in Deposits and Foreign Trade Returns With Keen Satisfaction.

Canada a Thrifty Community—Association Re-elects all its old Officers.

General Manager Clouston, of the Bank of Montreal, on Thursday, was re-elected President of the Canadian Bankers' Association, and Messrs. Thomas McDougall, D. Coulson, H. Stikeiner and George Brown, vice-presidents, with all the other officers alike re-elected.

The feature of the day was the president's address, which was quite optimistic. He said: "Since our meeting a year ago, the figures of the bank returns show steady increase, and, without going into details, I may mention that the circulation has expanded during that period about $5,600,000, public deposits have risen nearly $40,000,000, and the banks have some $14,000,000 of loans employed in the business of the country. Our present condition, indeed, may be contemplated with satisfaction, and, with reference to the future, I can only give expression to the hope that our prosperity may continue for some time to come.

INCREASE IN FOREIGN TRADE.

"With regard to the general business of Canada, the great commercial prosperity, which began in 1897, remains undiminished, all the outward and visible signs of active and profitable business having increased largely during the twelve months. Our foreign trade amounted to $377,725,600 in the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1901 or $5,000,000 more than in the preceding year, and no less than $146,000,000 in excess of the foreign trade of 1896. That is to say, in the brief space of five years, the money value of our imports and exports had been enhanced by 63 per cent.

BALANCE OF TRADE.

"An analysis of the figures brings out many gratifying points. For example, the foreign and domestic exports have contributed more largely to the increase than have the imports, and for the past seven years our aggregate exports have exceeded our imports. Without opening up that much-debated and many-sided question, the balance of trade, it is obvious that a debtor country is relatively accumulating wealth when exports exceed imports, and in this connection it is significant that, while, from 1886 to 1891, the domestic exports of Canada were less than the imports by $127,726,000, from 1896 to 1901 the imports only exceeded the domestic exports by $6,000,000, or a betterment in the balance of trade of upwards of $120,000,000. Home trade, has likewise greatly prospered. Manufacturing concerns, with few exceptions, have been busily employed, railway traffics have been the largest in the history of the country, labour continues scarce, and the rate of wages relatively high. Mercantile failures are few in number, and not formidable in extent. In a word the good times are still with us.

CANADA IS THRIFTY.

"How thrifty a community Canada has become, let the following figures tell: Placing the population this year at 5,400,000, as indicated by the later census returns, I find the foreign trade per head to have been $71.50, in the fiscal year 1901, as against $45 in 1891; and $49 in 1871. The deposits of the people in the joint stock, government and savings banks have risen in steady progression from $19 per head in 1871 to $27 in 1881, $40 in 1891 and $74 in 1901 — most striking evidence of the practical prosperity of the people. The amount of money employed in the daily business of Canada, excluding subsidiary coinage, is now $11 per head, whereas, twenty years ago, it did not exceed $7.70 per head.

EXCELLENCE OF BANKING SYSTEM.

"One word more, and I have done. A quarter of a century ago, the paid-up capital stock of banks in Canada was $65,800,000; to-day it is $87,480,000, or practically the same amount. In the interval, the rest or reserve of profits has risen by more than 50 per cent., and now stands at $36,900,000. We have, therefore, been able to conduct an immensely increased domestic and foreign trade upon a stationary bank capital stock, a result due to the excellence of our banking system, and affording convincing evidence of the adaptability of that system to the requirements of a young and growing country.

ONE LINK WANTING.

"A link remains to be supplied in the chain of inter-Imperial communication, in the form of a fast steamship service to Great Britain. It ought to be our motto that the best is not to good for Canada. More than forty years ago, viz., in 1860, the Legislature of the old Province of Canada deemed efficient steamship communication with Great Britain of sufficient importance to justify a grant of $8000 per trip, or $400,000 yearly, in aid of a weekly service, a charge upon the public revenue immeasurably greater in proportion than would be to-day the sum necessary to secure us as speedy a service as anywhere exists."

Karl's Clover Root Tea corrects the Stomach

HELP AT HAND.

The Terrors of Dyspepsia Have at Last Been Overcome—No one Need Suffer a Moment Longer.

Since man began to eat his stomach has been a source of trouble.

Often he eats what he should not, and how he should not.

Then nature protests in Heartburn, Sour Stomach, Dyspepsia or Indigestion.

For many years laxatives were the only remedy thought of for such troubles.

Now, however, man has become wiser, and has at last found a better medicine—one that cures.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have never failed to cure stomach weakness.

They are composed of the very best digestive and curative agents known to medical science.

The proof that they are right is found in the fact that they always relieve, and when used persistently never fail to cure.

And still many suffer the tortures of Dyspepsia, because they have not heard of this wonderful medicine, or because having heard, they confuse Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets with the thousand and one so called Dyspepsia Cures.

There is only one sure cure, and the name is Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

They are 50 cents a box. All druggists sell them. If you are a sufferer, don't hesitate a moment. If you are not, but know of one who is, let him hear the good news.

RANSOM REDUCED.

Brigands Are Willing Now to Accept 20,000 Turkish Pounds.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 18.— The brigands who captured Miss Ellen M. Stone and Madame Tsilka have reduced the amount of ransom they demand to 20,000 Turkish pounds. Coincident with this intelligence is the information that the leaders of the band, if convinced that this is more than Mr. Dickinson will get, would accept 15,000 Turkish pounds. Even this sum is greatly beyond the cash at Mr. Dickinson's disposal. Therefore, unless the captors of the missionary further abate their demands, there is no hope of an immediate settlement.

Big Gun Again Tested.

New York, Nov. 18.—The Gathmann aerial torpedo and the big 18-inch gun was tried at the proving grounds at Sandy Hook again on Saturday. Two shots were fired and the heavy charges of wet gun cotton with which each shell was charged, was detonated. The first torpedo fired did no damaged to plate or backing to any great extent. The second was more successful, cracking the plate from top to bottom and do the plate from top to bottom, and doing consi.able damage to the bracing. Each shell contains 500 pounds of wet gun cotton and 216 pounds of powder were used to drive them from the gun. Gathmann claims a victory.

Mussolino Tries to Escape.

Rome, Nov. 18.—The brigand, Mussolino, has made three determined attempts to escape, and is, consequently, guarded more closely than ever. Since his capture he has kept up his murderous faith, and has solemnly declared his intention to kill all those who had anything to do with his arrest. The intention to conduct his trial at Reggio has been abandoned, as it is believed it would be impossible to obtain a jury there which would not contain some friends of the brigand. He will probably be tried at Lecce. It is already evident that the proceedings will assume the dimensions of a state trial.

STR. ELK WRECKED.

The Crew of 25 Perish—The Barkentine Titania Also a Total Wreck—Fears for Fishing Schooners.

Halifax, N.S., Nov. 18.—A despatch from Louisburg, last night says that the Norwegian steamer Elk has been lost off the Newfoundland coast with all hands.

The Titania Wrecked.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 17.— The barkentine Titania, Liverpool, for St. John's, was wrecked Saturday morning in a dense fog near Cape Race. One man, Williams, lost his life in trying to reach the shore. The captain and the rest of the crew, all of whom were badly injured, had a terrible experience. They were on the wreckage 36 hours, lashed to the rigging, and were not rescued until Saturday afternoon. So thick was the fog that the coast folk were not aware that a wreck had occurred, the crew being unable to make any signals that would attract their attention. The fact that the Titania was in a cove between high cliffs made it impossible for the crew to land. The ship is a total wreck, and the cargo is lost.

TWENTY-THREE MISSING.

Fears Entertained That Many Lives Have Been Lost on Newfoundland.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 18.— The fishing schooners Nimbus and Campana, with crews aggregating 23 men, are missing, and it is feared they were lost in the recent gale. Little hope of their safety is entertained.

KINGSTON MEN LOST.

Four Thought to Have Sunk With Schooner Marine City.

Goderich, Nov. 18.—There can no longer be any doubt regarding the fate of the four men who were aboard the schooner Marine City, which broke adrift from her anchorage off this port during the teriffic gale on Thursday night. Part of the cabin, along with other wreckage, has drifted ashore. The four men were from the crew of the steambarge India, which found the schooner drifting and abandoned about 40 miles north of Thunder Bay, and towed her here.

All Kingston Men.

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 18.—All the sailors of the schooner Marine City were known here. All were married and three had families. Three of the wives live in Kingston, and one on Garden Island. Halpin and Connolly were aged 32, and Larush and Lawrence, about 50. Connolly recently left the Locomotive Works to go sailing.

IT COST MONEY.

Many a man has spent all his earnings in trying to get rid of rheumatism. It cost Mr. James Davison, Oconto, Ont., between $1,000 and $2,000 before he tried Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. He was a helpless invalid for six years but suffered from sciatica in his hip joint for ten years. Six bottles cured him completely and he is now working his farm. This great blood purifier is put up in bottles containing ten days' treatment. Price 50 cents at all drug stores or The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

Hamilton Girl Drowned.

Wilson, N.Y., Nov. 18.—George S. Humphrey of Allegheny, Pa., Henry Loftus of Westerville, Franklin County, O., and Miss Edith Kennedy of Toronto had an experience on Lake Ontario last week which nearly cost them their lives. Miss Grace Benham of Hamilton, Ont., a member of the party, did not escape as fortunately, and her body lies at the bottom of the lake. The young people tried to sail down the lake from Youngstown to Olcott in a small sailboat. When they were opposite this place and within sight of the American shore, a squall came up and overturned their small craft. The occupants were precipitated into the icy water, and only the two men could swim. All four clung to the bottom of the boat for three hours, but Miss Bonham became exhausted and let go before she could be lashed fast.

M. T. OSTROM
MANAGER FOR ONTARIO.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER.

MAYOR MORRIS CONVICTED.

Ottawa's Chief Magistrate Disqualified Municipally for Two Years.

Ottawa, Nov. 18.—A conviction against Mayor Morris was procured in the Police Court Saturday morning disqualifying him from sitting in the council for two years, under heavy penalties. There were two charges of treating during prohibited hours, one on Saturday and one on Monday. Mr. Osler appeared for the Mayor and pleaded guilty to the first offence and not guilty to the second, and said the Mayor did not wish to drag in the names of the gentlemen who were with him, and preferred to accept disqualification and take the consequences. A fine of $5 and $2 costs was indicted, and an acting Maypr will have to be appointed by the council to-day. The action against the Mayor was brought by the Chief of Police soon after the mayor's complaints against the latter had been heard by the Police Commissioners.

Enthusiastic Converts.

There are Thousands of Them Who Believes as This Woman Does.

Miss Ira Knowlton, of Butte, Montana, is a most enthusiastic convert to the virtues of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets as a cure for obstinate stomach troubles. She says: "I had poor digestion nearly all my life. It now seems to me that for years I never knew what it was to be hungry, to have a good natural appetite.

"I was troubled with gas in the stomach, causing pressure on the heart with palpitation and short breath. Nearly everything I ate soured on my stomach; sometimes I had cramps in the stomach which almost resembled spasms.

"Doctors told me I had catarrh of the stomach, but their medicines would not reach it, and I would still be a sufferer had I not, in sheer desperation decided to try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"I know they were an advertised remedy, and I didn't believe anything I read about them, as I had no confidence in advertised remedies, but my sister living in Pittsburg wrote me last spring telling me how Stuart's Tablets had cured her little daughters of indigestion and loss of flesh and appetite and I hesitated no longer.

"I bought a fifty cent box at my drug store, and took two of the large Tablets after each meal, and found them delightful to take, being as pleasant to the taste as caramel candy. Whenever during the day or night I felt any pain or uneasiness in the stomach or about the heart I took one of the small tablets and in three weeks it seemed to me as if I had never known what stomach trouble was.

"I keep Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in the house and every member of our family uses them occasionally after a hearty meal or when any of us have a pain or ache in the digestive organs."

Mr. E. H. Davis, of Hampton, Va., says; "I doctored five years for dyspepsia, but in two months I got more benefit from Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, than in five years of the doctor's treatment."

"Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of the stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, bloating after meals, sympathetic heart trouble.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is not a cheap cathartic but an active digestive remedy containing the pepsin and diastase which every weak stomach lacks, and they cure stomach troubles because they digest the food eaten, and give the weak, abused, over-worked stomach a chance to rest and recuperate.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold in every drug store in the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

New York, Nov. 18.—O. B. Wheeler, jr., who was arrested Saturday on charges of forging the names of Chicago business men to notes aggregating $103,000, was arraigned in the police court on Sunday. An attorney, who appeared for him, told the magistrate that his client was, in his opinion, suffering from the excessive use of some drug and that he was now mentally unbalanced.

THE YUKON IN REVOLT

Skaguay Americans Seek to Establish Canadian Republic.

CONSPIRACY AGAINST DOMINION

An Unconfirmed Story of the Steps to Be Taken to Overthrow the Government of Canada and to Set Up in Its Stead "The Yukon Republic" —Five Thousand Miners in It.

San Francisco, Nov. 18.—The Call yesterday printed an unconfirmed story from Skaguay, Alaska, under date of Nov. 6, telling of the discovery of what is alleged to have been a huge conspiracy existing at Dawson, and ramifying to Skaguay, Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle, for the overthrow of the local government of the Northwest Territories, and the establishing of a republic, with Dawson as its capital.

According to the details of the story, arms, ammunition and provisions have been taken in over the railroad and cached at strategic points. Prominent American residents of Skaguay are said to be leaders in the conspiracy. Miners to the number of 5,000 are said to await the summons to arms, ready to fight for independence from Dominion rule of the gold fields, camps and town.

The plan is to overpower the Mounted Police, arrest the civil authorities and take the government into their own hands. The rigors of the Arctic winters would give the insurgents six months immunity from attack by Canadian troops, and the adventurous arch-conspirators hope for intervention or outside assistance by the time the melting of the ice and snow will permit the invasion of their isolated republic.

It is further related that a hurried conference, lasting until midnight, was held at Skaguay Nov. 5, at which were present Captain Corrigan of the Northwest Mounted Police, who had arrived from across the Canadian border late that evening; Judge Brown of the United States District Court; U. S. Marshal Shoup; U. S. Attorney Frederich, and Major Hovey, commanding the United States troops at Skaguay, attended the meeting.

This was the last of several hasty consultations between the civil and military representatives of the two powers in relation to mysterious transportation of supplies into the interior and rumors of a conspiracy to lead the miners in a revolt against the Canadian Government in the Northwest Territories. Those present maintained subsequently the strictest silence concerning the new evidence laid before them, and their evident anxiety helped to confirm the rumors of conspiracy.

Captain Corrigan took a train back across the border the next morning, while U. S. Marshal Shoup embarked on the first steamer for Seattle, which port he reached several days ago. The object of his visit was presumably to confer by telegraph with the authorities at Washington. He sailed on Friday afternoon on the Dolphin, on his way back to Skaguay.

Story Not Believed.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 18.—No credence is given here to the story of the alleged discovery at Skaguay, Alaska, of conspiracy to overturn the Canadian Government in Alaska. United States Marshal Shoup, who is credited with having come here to communicate with the United States Government regarding the matter, is said to have come only for the purpose of bringing some United States prisoners, who had been sentenced to terms in the penitentiary at McNeill's Island. He returned north Saturday.

Silver for Consumptives.

Philadelphia, Nov. 18.—At the Rush Hospital a solution of silver is injected into patients suffering from tuberculosis. Excellent results are obtained. Patients who have been placed under the treatment declare that after two or three days they have less cough, there is much less expectoration, their appetite is improved and they gain in strength. These results have been obtained in cases of tuberculosis in its advanced stages, and that it prolongs the life of the patient has already been established. Whether or not it will effect a cure further experience alone can tell. Those interested in this discovery believe it will). A half per cent. solution of silver in a saline solution is the formula used.

Didn't Know His Wife.

When T. Coleman, a Brantford traveller, left on a three weeks' trip his wife was a yellow-faced, fagged-out woman. When he returned he didn't know her. Her eyes were bright and her skin clear, and she walked differently. Merrill's System Tonic did it. 50c for 50 doses. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

Arbitration Awards.

Berne, Switzerland, Nov. 17.—The Court of Arbitration in the Franco-Chilian guano dispute has decided that the indemnity, £538,565, shall be distributed as follows:

1. To the United States Guano Company, who were consignees.
2. To Preyfus Freres of Paris.
3. To the Peruvian Corporation.
4. To the Pacific Finance and Commercial Company.

The claims of five other parties are disallowed.

Parliament on January 23.

London, Nov. 18.—The Cabinet appears to have awakened from its lethargy with such unexpected energy as to elicit from The Pall Mall Gazette the following comment:

"This strict application to business is to be highly commended, and will be generally appreciated." Parliament, it is expected, will re-assemble Jan. 23.

Found Dead in the Snow.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 18.—Saturday afternoon hunters a half mile west of the Canadian Soo discovered a man in the snow with his throat cut. The gush was evidently made with a large knife, as the hole was large enough for a man's fist and extended back to the spinal column. Tracks of two men led to where the body was found, but only one track led away. No papers were found on the murdered man, who was about 35 years of age and dressed as a laborer. A brass tag, such as are used in large factories as time checks, was found in his pocket. It bore the stamp "M.H. Co., 101." The man had been dead about 48 hours.

Falls Power Disabled.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Nov. 18.—A fire at the plant of the Hydraulic Power Manufacturing Company yesterday afternoon destroyed the tower in which the wires are carried from the gorge to the top of the cliff. The Gorge Railway was without power yesterday, and last night many of the hotels were using lamps. The property loss is about $5,000.

Brakeman Killed.

Winnipeg, Nov. 18.—Charles Hodson, a C.P.R. brakeman, was killed here about 1 o'clock yesterday morning by cars running over him. He was about 20 years of age

ROBT. NEILL,

350, 352 and 354 George Street.

He Commanded Canadians.

Major-General Smith-Dorrien, who commanded the 19th Brigade, of which the Canadian infantry formed part, and under whom the Canadian mounted troops also served, has just received from the inhabitants of his native town, Berkhampstead, a service of silver plate in recognition of his work in South Africa. Mr. T. F. Halsey, M.P., in making the presentation, said that every member of the General's family now belonging to the army had won the D.S.O. General Smith-Dorrien attributes his success largely to the unselfish devotion of the men he had under him. Though often in tight places, and frequently on half rations, they never murmured, but surmounted every difficulty. One of his nicknames was "Half rations and full congratulations," in allusion to the praise he bestowed on them whenever a smart piece of work was performed.

On Magnetic Healing.

Much is spoken and written during these times about this mysterious method of treating disease. The most remarkable cases of magnetic healing which have come under the notice of the writer have been those in which Dr. Chase's Ointment was used. This preparation seems to have magical powers in stopping the dreadful itching, burning sensations of Salt Rheum and Eczema, and when used regularly makes the cure permanent and thorough.

CHURCH CHIMES.

At St. Joseph's Douro, yesterday, 105 persons received the sacrament of confirmation at the hands of His Lordship the Bishop of Peterborough.

"Fear ye not O Israel" was sung by Miss McCarter, last evening, in St. John's church, and the large congregation present was more than pleased with the brilliant rendering which was given the selection.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST.

The services in George street church yesterday morning and evening were quite largely attended. The pulpit was occupied by Rev. Mr. Botte, of Belleville. Rev. Mr. Botte is a young man of much ability and the congregations at both services were highly pleased with his discourses.

Mr. G. W. Mulligan gave a very fine interpretation of "At the Gates of Paradise" last evening in the George street church.

CHARLOTTE STREET CHURCH.

Rev. D. O. Crossley, pastor of the Charlotte street Methodist church occupied the pulpit both morning and evening. In the morning he preached an exceptionally interesting sermon, taking as his theme "The Misplaced Switch." He showed how many unthinkingly leave the line intended for them and by a misplaced switch never reach their goal.

Miss Hendren, the leading soloist of the choir was not present yesterday, being in Lindsay, where she was assisting in the anniversary services of the church in that town.

The solo in the anthem in the morning was taken very acceptably Mr. C. Parks. The anthem in the evening was entitled "Oh, be Joyful," Mrs. Barrie and Miss M. Stephens and Mr. Walter Skitch taking the trio, and Mr. Sid Mitchell taking the solo. During the offertory Mr. Stocker with good effect sang "Thy Will be Done."

ST. PAUL'S.

At St. Paul's church yesterday Rev. Dr. Torrance occupied the pulpit in the morning, and Rev. George Yule, the assistant pastor, preached in the evening. It was announced that the Session had decided that the regular visiting of the congregation would be done by the pastor of the church, and the assistant pastor would be expected to visit the members only in special cases.

In the morning Mr. James Dawson took the solo in the anthem, "The Golden Pathway." In the evening the anthem was "Sun of My Soul," the solo being taken by Miss White.

MURRAY STREET BAPTIST.

In the morning Miss Hall sang the solo, "I Need Thee, Precious Jesus." In the evening Miss Hall sang "Jesus My Saviour to Bethlehem Came." "Saviour, Lead Me," was sung by a trio composed of Miss Hall, Miss Rush and Mr. A. J. Raddon.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH.

The selection given by All Saint's quartette at the evening service was much appreciated last evening.

Another improvement lies in the fact that they can be twisted around in such a manner that the operator can always have the best light on a customer. TAXES.

Collector Green has furnished the Examiner with the following items: Amount of taxes taken in last week, ending Friday night, 15th Nov., $14,975.65; total amount collected to date, $70,781.46. He also wishes us to announce that those who have statute labour tax, or owners of dogs who have not paid their dog tax for 1901, unless immediately settled, costs will be incurred. No one to blame but themselves.

$8000 A YEAR—CAN THIS BE TRUE?

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Dear Sir, — In the Charlotte street church yesterday morning, the pastor, Rev. D. O. Crossley, made the astounding statement that in this little country, of, let us say, six million, over eight thousand a year go under through whiskey — that is through the licensing system.

Surely the reverend gentleman is mistaken. It cannot be that the Protestant Christians and the Roman Catholic Christians of Canada do not know this. They surely do not know that they, the Protestant and Roman Catholic Christians, are yearly by their votes taking the best possible means to secure an annual contingent of eight thousand Sabbath school scholars for—not South Africa—but for perdition. It surely cannot be that those voters who partake of the blessed Body and Blood of our Lord Jesus Christ, in Holy Communion, are by their votes, partners in this character-blasting system. It surely cannot be that Methodist Quarterly Boards, and Presbyterian Sessions, and Roman Catholic laymen, and Baptist Boards and Anglican Vestries, are so engrossed in running the church, and in populating heaven, that they by their votes, and by making Jesus Christ play second fiddle in the face of the political party whip, Grit or Tory — are nonchalantly handing over $,000 annually to the devil. Rev. Mr. Crossley must have had a nightmare; this statement of his is past belief. But if it is true, then each of the Christian churches, in its corporate capacity, then all Christian voters who partake of the the Lord's Supper, and who never cease praying, "Let Thy will be done in Canada as it is done in heaven," must either cease licensing by their votes an evil, or else face the awful alternative of having to explain to an angry Christ why they by their votes, sacrificed eight thousand of His little ones annually. And an answer He will have.

Sincerely yours,
305 Park street. A. W. BEALL.

JAMES D. SMITH DEAD.

Father of Mrs. Thomas Mowat of Town Died on Friday.
Brockville Recorder.

"To-day shortly after noon, the Dr. Williams Medicine Company received a telegram conveying the sad intelligence that James D. Smith, of this town, had died suddenly at St. Vincent de Paul, near Montreal. No particulars were given.

"Mr. Smith is an old resident of Brockville, and one of the town's most respected residents. He had been in the employ of the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company for some time and left here a little over a week ago on a trip through the province of Quebec. He was then apparently in the best of health. His daughter, Mrs. James Scott, with whom he makes his home while in town, is absent in London. Mrs. Thomas Mowat of Peterborough, is also a daughter of the deceased, and James Smith, with T. McGrory, is a son. Deceased was also a brother-in-law of Messrs. W. B. and Walter Thompson. Mr. Smith was 58 years of age."

HUNTING NOTES.

The open season for deer in Ontario closed on Friday. Hunters are, however, allowed seven days in which to ship their deer from the hunting grounds to their destination. After November 22nd, no deer can be carried by any company. Venison may be offered for sale for five days longer. The law states in this regard, "No person may buy, sell or keep for sale, any game bird or animal, no matter when killed or procured, except during open season, and for five days afterwards."

Deer have been very plentiful in Ontario this season, and nearly every hunter has secured his allotted number. The Canadian Express Company reports a heavy shipment of deer this season from up along the Parry Sound Railway, while the reports state that double the number already carried are waiting shipment. Upon to the present time over 300 deer have been brought down from Parry Sound, of which number 125 were for residents of Toronto.

IN LATEST SPORTING CIRCLES

Peterborough Rugby Team May go to Montreal.

What the Press of Ontario Think of the London Match—Sporting Gossip.

A meeting of the executive of the Peterborough Rugby Club will be held in the Y.M.C.A. this evening to consider several important matters. The secretary of the local club has received a communication from the secretary of the Quebec Club and another from the secretary of the Canadian Rugby Union regarding the match between the champions of the Ontario Union and the Quebec Union. According to the constitution of the Canadian Rugby Union the final match for the championship must be played alternately in Ontario and Quebec. It is Ontario's turn this year to have the match played in this Province, unless some other mutual arrangement is arrived at between the two clubs. Should the game be played in Ontario Kingston would be the place named by the Canadian Union. The Quebec Union, however, offers Peterborough a guarantee of $150 to go to Montreal. It is likely that this offer will be accepted.

There will be a rugby practice this evening.

O.R.F.U. Intermediate Champs.

1893—Osgoode Hall II.
1894—London.
1895—London.
1896—Brockville.
1897—Varsity II.
1898—Brockville.
1899—Peterborough.
1900—London.
1901—Peterborough.

It is a peculiar fact that the only London paper that has so little regard for its standing as to uphold the London club in its dastardly act in playing Peel directly contrary to the orders of the O.R.F.U., is the News. The sporting editor of the News is a man of some ability and is making as big a fight as the deplorable circumstances of the case will permit, but he finds himself the only sporting editor in the Province championing his side of the case. This has merely the effect of infuriating that gentleman and he strikes off into violent spasms of satire and irony. For instance:

"Hail Peterborough, Intermediate Champions of Ontario." Let the bands play "The Conquering Heroes." These heroes of a hundred fights in the Council Chamber of the O. R. F. U.! How proud you carpet knights should be of yourselves. Defeated by twenty-seven points to six, turned back like juniors, now by act of the O. R. F. U. created the best of all in this fair Province. The career of the Peterborough club has been such a noble one. Its victory this year has been such a glorious one.

"Wee were the day when football victories are gained by manipulation in executive rooms, when champion kickers are those who kick best in the council. Championships do not go to football players, but to the most successful of gladhanders. A football team to be successful should not have able football men in the line-up but modern politicians."

Now, there is no getting over the fact that this sounds splendid to a mind even prejudiced in Peterborough's favour. There is a ring of satire in it that could even make Byron take a back seat were he living and if the championship could be won on paper the News could pretty nearly win it for London, notwithstanding the severe handicap it is subjected to by reason of the fair minded press of the Province favouring the right side of the case.

As a matter of fact Peterborough did not protest the game. Nor did they send a representative to the meeting to say a word one way or the other. The offence was too glaring and the union took it up themselves.

The News continues thus:—"What the London club will do is not yet known. A prominent lawyer gives it as his opinion that the London players can bring action and force the O R. F. U. to rescind the action taken, and that London can retain the cup. At any rate the cup is in London."

We presume that the last threat, "that the cup is in London at any rate," throws out the hint that the Middlesex Rifles and the London Fusileers are to defend the trophy when called upon by the union to hand it over. This only shows how much deeper the London people are sinking into the mire.

Public Opinion.

The papers throughout the Province continue to comment on the London scandal. The Globe says:—"It is unfortunate for the lovers of straightforward sport in London—and they are many—that the control of affairs in some branches there has apparently fallen into the hands of persons who succeed only in getting into difficulty with the governing bodies with which they are affiliated, but whose regulations they follow or violate just as suits them. And the people of London are not to be deceived by the childish complaint that these things happen because somebody is "jealous of London." The fault is right at home. Clubs, in London or elsewhere, that are dominated by a willingness to play fair and abide by the rules of the contests into which they enter do not get into trouble."

The Toronto Telegram among other things says: "London, Ont., is becoming so notoriously crooked that the people cannot walk straight now, and are indulging in the outside edge, and 'the grape vine.'"

The Toronto News sounds a note of warning in the following: "London is talking of organising an independent league, because it was suspended by the O.R.F.U. It would not be wise for other clubs to enter a league with London, as they would lose their amateur standing."

It is not astonishing indeed to know how that the entire press of the province is down on London in the matter of their recent game against the local team. Here is the way the Montreal Star dismisses the matter: "Sassy Little London! Now will it be good!"

The London Advertiser, the respectable London newspaper, does not uphold the London Rugbyists in their dirty work, but merely comes out with the following words in big type:

Peterborough Wins!
O. R. F. U. Magnanimously Awards Championship to Canoemakers.

HOCKEY.

Lindsay is endeavouring to boom the game in that town, and here's what the Post has to say:—"Like the lovers of the game in our sister town, Peterborough, our local hockeyists are figuring on having a first-class team this coming season. Fortunately we have in Lindsay a regulation size rink and won't have a "soup-plate" to play the game on or to worry over, like our eastern neighbours. Lindsay should be able to place a team in the intermediate series of the O.H.A., and to stand the pace of that association a couple of first-class men must be secured. With the addition of two or three real smart and speedy puck-chasers we will then be able to put a team on the ice that will make a creditable showing."

Omemee has a number of fast hockeyists and they have decided to organize a team. They will very likely enter the Trent Valley League.

THE PIANO OF ROYALTY.

Building a Piano for our Royal Visitors—A Tribute to Canadian Enterprise and Artistic Skill.

A railway train built with the elegance of the royal train on which the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York will enter Toronto on Thursday, must necessarily be complete in all its appointments. These must conform in a perfect manner with the general design and magnificence of the train itself. In a special degree is this the case with what is known as the Cornwall coach, the rear-most coach of the train, so placed that their Royal Highnesses may have an uninterrupted view of the superb scenery through which the train had been passing, and in which is located the reception room which opens directly on to the observation platform, and is the largest room on the suite. No care, taste, skill or labour seems to have been spared in the construction of this coach. In the reception room, whether it is the beautiful panelling in Circassian walnut, the decorations of the ceiling, after the style of Louis XV., the hangings and drapings, the rich Wilton carpet, into which the foot sinks without making a sound, the furniture itself, that finds a prominent place in this section of the coach, all must be of the finest that skill and taste can create.

Considering the situation from this point of view, it is Canadians who can appreciate the compliment paid to the old firm of Heintzman & Company in asking them to construct a piano for the royal train. In design the case had to be such as to conform with the Circassian walnut panelling, and correspond in most perfect detail to the entire rich surroundings of the room. In these particulars this well-known firm have simply surpassed themselves, and, as a result of that marvellous care in piano building that is characteristic of all their work, they have made a piano that has reached the highest expectations of our royal guests. In an equal degree, along other lines, the piano is winning the warmest and most appreciative eulogies from the Duke and Duchess. Its superb action, beautiful tone, delicate, yet powerful touch, and sweet singing quality, have all added testimony to the patient care and ability shown by the makers in the construction of this instrument. It will be welcome news to the people of Canada, whose musical culture stands very high, to know that Heintzman & Company intend to add to their lists a piano constructed along similar lines to that of the one in the royal train, which will be known as the "Duchess of Cornwall and York" style.

Mr. W. E. Green, of Peterborough, is the popular representative for Central Ontario for the Heintzman piano, which is mentioned in such favourable terms in the above article. Communications which will insure Mr. Green's personal attention may be addressed to box No. 714, town.

The regular monthly Board meeting of the Y.W.C.A. was held on Monday afternoon, Nov. 11th, and was well attended, despite the unfavourable weather. The secretary reported the names of 22 new members received since last meeting, with several others still to enrol.

The meetings were well attended and most helpful to all.

The Gospel meeting Sunday afternoon at 4.15 was led by the president, Miss Roberts.

The Victoria Club was specially favoured on Thursday afternoon in having Mr. Elcombe give them a talk on "shells." A hearty vote of thanks was tendered him by the members, one of whom said at the close of the hour: "Well, I never knew half so much about shells as I do now." Mr. Elcombe has kindly consented to continue the talks after Christmas.

LOCAL LEGAL.

In the Divisional Court before Meredith, C. J., MacMahon, J., Lount, J., the following judgement was handed down Friday.

Brophy v. Royal Victoria Ins. Co.—Judgment (oral) on appeal by plaintiff from order of Street, J., in Chambers, striking out paragraphs 11, 12, 13 and 14 of the statement of claim in an action by the Reverend George Brophy, the assignee of a policy issued by defendants upon the life of one Cromar, deceased, to recover the amount of the insurance. By the paragraphs in question the plaintiff alleged in the alternative that the defendants had re-insured their risk with other insurance companies, who on the death of Cromar had paid over the re-insurance moneys to the defendants, with instructions to pay it to the plaintiff. The Judge at Chambers held that these paragraphs disclosed no reasonable cause of action, and that there was no privity between plaintiff and defendants as regards the re-insurance moneys. The plaintiff contended that the moneys were the plaintiff's or held by defendants for his benefit, and the pleading was proper. Held that the paragraphs in question were not embarrassing to the defendants': if the money were paid to defendants, as stated in the defence, the defendants would be trustees for the plaintiff. Although some parts of these paragraphs might be had on demurrer, they should not for that reason be struck out: Attorney-General for Duchy of Lancaster v. London and Northwestern R. W. Co. (1892), 3 Chy. 274; Kellaney v. Bury, 66 L. T. N. S. 500. Per Meredith, C.J.:—There is too often a tendency to apply the provisions of rule—where it was never intended to apply. The rule applies only where the pleading is obviously bad. Where the pleading is demurrable, the opposite party can do what is equivalent to demurring, that is, raise a question of law by his pleading. Appeal allowed. Costs here and below to be costs in the cause. D. O'Connell (Peterborough) for plaintiff. E. Martin, K. C., for defendants.

A True Brain Food.

Must replace the feeling of lassitude and mental tiredness by clearness and strength of mind. Not that it goes directly to the brain, that were foolish. The true brain food must be carried by rich, red blood. If mental fatigue worries and alarms you, look not to the brain, but to the stomach and assimilative organs. No remedy yet discovered possesses the marvellous brain strengthening power that Ferrozone has demonstrated in thousands of cases. Ferrozone does not stimulate the brain into a fitful glow, but by improving digestion, strengthening the nervous system, stimulating the assimilation, giving new strength to the heart, it sends a stream of red vitalizing blood to the brain. Thus it is a true brain food. Ferrozone is sold by Ormond & Walsh.

ANCIENT UMBRELLAS

THEY FIGURED IN CHURCHES IN THE EARLY CHRISTIAN DAYS.

When First Adopted by the Public, They Seem to Have Been Utilized Solely as Sun Protectors—Once an Attribute of Dignity.

In the early Christian churches a large umbrella usually hung over the priest, and it is said that from this custom it became one of the attributes of cardinals appointed from basilican churches. For years the doges of Venice carried umbrellas of state, and in 1286 Pope Alexander III. declared that these should be surmounted by golden statuettes of the annunciation.

Michael Morosini was the first Venetian layman to carry an umbrella, which consisted of a small, flat square of green stuff, over which was a copper spiral. Soon after the umbrella was adopted by fashionable Venetian dames. According to Coryat's "Crudities" (1611), the Italian umbrella was a small canopy and was made of leather extended by a series of wooden hoops. He says umbrellas were used by horsemen, who, resting the handles on the thigh as they rode, bore them so that they should "minister shadow unto them for shelter against the scorching sun."

In the Harleian manuscripts, now in the British museum, there is in manuscript No. 603 a crude illustration showing the figure of a yeoman holding an umbrella over his lord, which leads me to infer that umbrellas were known in England even in the early Anglo-Saxon period.

Beck, as quoted in the Draper's Dictionary, asserts that at the time that Stephen usurped the crown of England (twelfth century) umbrellas were in common use among the English. The first mention of the umbrella in English literature is in Florio's "World of Wonders" (1598), where it is described as a "kind of round fan, or shadowing that they use to ride with in summer in Italy; a little shade."

In 1656 an umbrella was exhibited in the "Museum Tradescantianum; or, Collection of Rarities Preserved at South Lambeth, Near London, by John Tradescant," which was known as "one of the wonders of the ark."

In the church of Cartmell, in Lancashire, England, there was preserved until a few years ago an umbrella said to be over 300 years old, which was used chiefly to protect the host.

References to the umbrella are to be found also in Blount's "Glossographia" (1674) and Phillips' "New Worlde of Words" (1678). In the first the reference reads: "Umbrello, a fashion of round and broad fans, wherewith the Indians (and from them our great ones) preserve themselves from the heat of the sun, and hence any little shadow, fan or other thing wherewith the women guard their faces from the sun." The second runs: "Umbrello, a screen against the sun's heat, used chiefly by the Spaniards, among whom it is known by the name quitasole."

The imaginative Dean Swift in the "Tale of a Tub" (1696) depicts Jack, an ever resourceful type, making use of a parchment copy of his father's will as a nightcap when he went to bed and as an umbrella in rainy weather. Did the worthy Hanway take his cue from this or from Kersey, according to whom the umbrella was a "broad fan or screen commonly used by women to shelter them from rain?" The last reference, made in 1709, is the first mention of it as a protector from the rain. Later Bailey, who in his dictionary (1737) called it a parasol, defined it as "a sort of small canopy to keep off the rain."

Small, light umbrellas came into fashion among the ladies of the French court in 1675, and these were carried by attendants. Richelet tells us that they were made of oilcloth or leather and had ribs of whalebone. A century later they found favor with the men, who carried red umbrellas, with edges fringed with gold lace.

The precise date when Jonas Hanway, who died in 1786, introduced the umbrella into England is not recorded in any of the encyclopedias I have at hand, but they all state that he was popularly known as its introducer.

With the Dutch, as with the Indian grandees, the umbrella was first an attribute of dignity, and well it might be, for the prices paid for them at The Hague in 1650 ranged from $75 to $120 each. The Dutch colonists who settled at the Cape of Good Hope were not slow to insist on preserving the dignity of the umbrella, for Ryk van Tulbagh, governor of Cape Colony in 1752, enacted that "No one less in rank than a junior merchant or those among the citizens of equal rank, and the wives and daughters only of those who are or have been members of any council shall venture to use umbrellas, and those who are less in rank than merchants shall not enter the castle in fine weather with an open umbrella."—Frank H. Vizetelly in New York Times.

A Nongolfer's Opinion of Golf.

Imagine a great fat creature who ought to wear a turban and a long black robe to hide his grossness whacking a little white ball for miles and miles with a perfect surgery of instruments, whacking it either with a babyish solemnity or a childish rage, as luck may have decided, and incidentally training an innocent eyed little boy to swear and be a tip hunting loafer. That's golf.—H. T. W. Wells in Pearson's Magazine.

A Consultation Held.

Drs. McCabe, Rush and Sims, three of the most eminent American doctors, in a series of articles outlined a tonic treatment calculated to cure a vast number of diseases. Their suggestions were embodied in a formula, which is dispensed by a Brantford druggist, and called Merrill's System Tonic. It is a reliable and pleasant remedy for stomach, bowel and kidney diseases. Sold at 50c per bottle at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

Lasts a Lifetime.

That is just what they say of Vapo-Cresolene. The vaporizer is practically indestructible, and the Cresolene is certainly not expensive. This way of treating affections of the throat is most economical, and is also most effective. Our little picture illustrates how it's used. You put some Cresolene in the vaporizer, light lamp beneath, and then breathe in the soothing, healing vapor. For whooping-cough and croup it's a perfect specific.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a lifetime, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. VAPO-CRESOLENE Co., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

NEW ASPECT OF ETHER WAVES.

Prof. C. A. Chant Lectures on Some Results of Modern Science.

At the regular meeting of the Toronto Astronomical Society, held in the Canadian Institute the other evening, Prof. C. A. Chant, Ph.D., addressed the society on the subject of "Some New Aspects of Ether Waves." Scientists, finding it impossible to believe that light, heat and electricity can be conveyed through nothing, have imagined that space is filled with a substance known as ether. This ether must possess great elasticity to account for the rapidity of the vibrations transmitted by it, and yet be of very small density or the motions of the heavenly bodies would soon be brought to an end.

Dr. Chant explained clearly the unity of the waves transmitted through the ether, commencing with the extremely short invisible vibrations which make themselves felt on the sensitive plate when the spectrum of sunshine is photographed, shading down through the colors of the visible spectrum from violet to red, then running through the longer heat waves and into the still longer electro-magnetic waves.

This long bridge is practically without a gap, and it must certainly be considered one of the most beautiful and ingenious results of modern science to demonstrate the relationship of these radiations, which disclose themselves to us as chemical rays, light rays, heat rays, and last and by no means least, as electro-magnetic rays, which are now proving so serviceable in wireless telegraphy.

Cultivate Good Health

Feed the Nerves Enrich the Blood, Revitalize the Whole Body by Using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Whenever there is an ache or pain, when the appetite fails, when there are sleepless nights, and momentary spells of weakness, look for the cause and see that it is removed at once.

Cultivate good health while yet there is something to build on, instead of waiting until the nerve force is depleted and vitality completely exhausted.

To persons suffering the results of thin blood and wasted nerves, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food supplies all the needs of the system and brings perfect health.

Mrs. E. McLaughlin, 95 Parliament street, Toronto, states:—"My daughter was pale, weak, languid and very nervous, her appetite was poor and changeable, she could scarcely drag herself about the house, and her nerves were completely unstrung, she could not sleep for more than half an hour at a time without starting up and crying out in excitement.

"As she was growing weaker and weaker I became alarmed, and got a box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. She used this treatment for some weeks, and from the first we noticed a decided improvement. Her appetite became better, she gained in weight, the colour returned to her face, and she gradually became strong and well. I cannot say too much in favour of this wonderful treatment, since it has proven such a blessing to my daughter."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food occupies a field by itself, and is unique in the respect, that it cures by forming new, rich blood and nerve force, building up the system and increasing the weight.

It is a reconstructant, restorative and revitaliser of most unusual merit, which sends new life and new vigor to every part of the body, and gradually and permanently cures all nervous troubles and diseases, resulting from weak blood and low vitality. 50 cents a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

When Men Were Earrings.

Among civilized nations the wearing of earrings by men has been by no means uncommon, as it has been shown that in early English days some of the most distinguished courtiers bedecked their ears with very costly specimens. The immortal Shakespeare is said to have worn them, and Charles I. is reputed to have been the owner of a magnificent pair of pearl earrings, which he bequeathed to his daughter the day before he was executed.

In the south sea islands the females and males alike adopt this style of personal adornment, and even in the wilds of Africa they are worn by the untutored savages of both sexes.

At the present day the only civilized persons of the male sex who ornament their ears in this manner are the gypsies, the Italians, the French, a few sailors of other foreign nations, and occasionally a German, but as a matter of course precious few females the world ever will be found without them.

STRENUOUS STINGERS.

The Wasp Has More Executive Test Than Any Other Stinging Insect.

"I read in one of the magazines recently something about the sting of the bee," said a citizen, "and I was reminded of an experience I had with a friend some time ago while in the country. He was plowing over behind a small clump of hills, and they were well wooded almost down to the fence line. It was a section which is noted for making wildcat whisky, and this fact threw me off the track, as will appear hereafter. I was approaching my friend from the hillside. I was riding.

"Suddenly I thought he glanced at me, and at the same time he rushed around hurriedly to the singletree, unhooked the trace chains, threw them across the horse's back, and the animal struck out on a dead run down the turning row which split the ravine. My friend followed, and it was a race for who laid the rail, as they say in the country. I could see through it all in a minute. My friend had been making moonshine whisky, and he thought I was a United States marshal. I split my sides laughing over the thought of the thing, and then I struck down the ravine after him. I traveled some distance before catching sight of my friend and his horse. Finally I found them close to a branch, and my friend was stooping down occasionally, picking up something and smearing it on his hands, face and neck.

"'Hello, Bill,' I said smilingly. 'I guess you thought I was a United States marshal.' 'United States!' he said almost uncivilly. 'I plowed up a hornets' nest.' And sure enough he had, and both the man and the horse were as knotty as a hickory limb as the result of it all. The bee may be a good stinger, but the hornet is the fleetest thing on wings when it comes to using the stinger with swiftness and effect.

"That reminds me of the curious methods of bees and things of that sort in stinging," the narrator continued. "Take the honeybee, for instance. Now, the honeybee is what you might call a lazy, clumsy, docile sort of stinger. Really the bee is awkward when compared with other insects. The bumblebee is a trifle more vigorous, and there is a deal more of what one may call action in its movements. It is a striking sort of sting, and I have seen children almost knocked down by these heavier members of the bee family. It is a mean sting to handle, too, and does not yield so quickly to treatment. The hornet and the yellow jacket sting on the wing, as it were. They do their work quickly, but thoroughly, and they generally leave a record behind them that they would have no cause to feel ashamed of if they had this element in their makeup.

"But there is my old friend, the wasp. I want to speak of him. He is the prince of stingers. You may not forget him so quickly when he stings you. He leaves a sort of waspy taste in your mouth, and it is anything but pleasant, and it is a taste you will remember even after the years have gone by. The wasp is a lingering sort of fellow. He lovingly and caressingly stings, perches for awhile on one's neck, I may say, and then hums about his business. But really, while the wasp lingers longer than other insects while stinging, he also shows more anger and is probably the most spiteful member in the list of stinging insects."

Why Rheumatism is Like Catarrh.

Both are inflammations: the former of the muscle tissues, the latter of the mucous membrane. The only way to cure either is by a course of blood purifying and blood enriching treatment. Merrill's System Tonic is the most thorough blood purifier and at the same time the most rapid blood making remedy known. 50 pleasant-to-take doses for 50 cents. Sold at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

The New Zealand Way.

In industrial disputes in New Zealand the method is as follows:

First try—By Boards of Conciliation, both sides fairly represented.

Second try—Failing agreement by conciliation, the Court of Arbitration, whose findings are binding and duly enforced by law.

Since the New Zealand act became law (August, 1894), 210 cases of dispute have been settled.

A few were withdrawn.

Twenty-four cases settled by agreement.

One hundred and nine cases came before Board of Conciliation.

Sixty-eight cases before Board of Arbitration.

Conciliation Board award accepted in 28 cases out of 109—remainder sent on to Arbitration Court.

Public result—Fair settlements; industrial peace; no strikes.

Canada has Courts of Conciliation and has provided facilities for voluntary arbitration, but New Zealand crowns the edifice by its authoritative Arbitration Court. It will be observed that in New Zealand opportunity for reflection is provided by having all cases go first through the Court of Conciliation; which takes a good deal off the edge of the charge that in New Zealand the arbitration act is an arbitrary act. It comes in—only as the court of last resort; but when necessary, it gets there, and does its work well.—London Advertiser.

Tentative Interment.

A poor Scotchwoman lay dying, and her husband sat by her bedside. After a time the wife took her husband's hand and said:

"John, we're goin to part. I have been a gude wife to ye, haven't I?"

John thought a moment.

"Well, just middling like, Jenny, ye know," anxious not to say too much.

Again the wife spoke.

"John," she said faintly, "ye maun promise to bury me in the auld kirkyard at Str'avon beside my mither. I could na rest in peace among unco' folk in the dirt and smoke o' Glasgie."

"Weel, weel, Jenny, my woman," said John soothingly, "we'll just try ye in Glasgie first, an gin ye dinna be quiet we'll try ye in Str'avon."—Spare Moments.

Summer and Winter Dairy Rations.

My dairy herd consists of 12 Jersey cows. My summer ration for butter is pasture, with corn and oats, two quarts morning and evening. My winter ration is plenty of good hay, with corn, oats and middlings in equal parts. Corn fodder or oat chaff makes excellent rough feed if dampened with warm water. I do not keep my cows out of doors all day, as they become chilled, and a shrinkage of milk will always result.—Allen J. Koster.

STRENGTHENS THE STATE.

Life Insurance is for the protection of those dependent on a man's life; their dependence makes it an unavoidable duty Those dependent we assume to protect by our contract, at his personal cost; our duty to them is to make that contract as large, as secure, and as certainly available to them as possible; thus every Policy written conserves the interest of the State. A man with a Life Insurance Policy is apt to be a good citizen. Anarchists have no use for Life Insurance, and the state has no use for anarchists. The State should encourage every citizen to carry insurance. This Strengthens the State, abolishes alms-houses, and creates property that can be taxed. Further, the income from Your labour ends with Your life. The cost of living to the family continues. Take measures to have the income continue also. The Life Insurance Policy Does It.

The most enterprising and progressive of all the Canadian Life Offices to-day is the Sun Life of Canada. Ten years ago the Company had Life Assurance in force to the extent of $16,759,355.92. On the 31st of December last, this amount had been increased to $57,980,634.68. The increase, therefore, of Life Assurance in force during the last ten years amounted to the tremendous sum of $41,221,278.76.

THE DREAMER.

It seems so lonely mid this din and thronging,
Is seems so dull, this toiling multitude,
My bosom seems so warm, so full of longing,
And all the world is so empty, cold and crude.
Where has this earth for me a friendly harbor!
The words I speak, to others strangely sound,
From North to South I searched with youthful ardor,
But nowhere for my soul a haven found.

How often I that wonderland depicted,
Which in my happy dreams I used to see,
And longingly a reign of love predicted.
Alas—each time derision greeted me.
When one by one my friends with smiles departed
My ardent faith, my youthful courage fled,
Then eagerly I joined the merry-hearted,
Though all their jests for me no brightness shed.

But ofttimes when the busy day has faded
And the gloom of night has sunk to rest,
I dream again and see with eyes unshaded
A brighter world, with love and justice blessed.
Oh, wake me not! our earth yields not an atom
Of all the splendors that my dreams reveal,
And mock me not, though you may never fathom
The depth of bliss these fancies do conceal.

A COPPIN REVIVAL.

"Father of the Australian Stage" Plays Byron's Mr. Mould.

There is an interesting item of theatrical news by this week's Australian mail, says The London Chronicle. At the advanced age of eighty-three the Hon. George Coppin, the "father of the Australian stage," has emerged from his retirement to play Mr. Mould in Henry J. Byron's "Not Such a Fool as He Looks," for the benefit of the benevolent fund of the Old Colonists' Association, of which he was the founder. Mr. Coppin may be said to have been born on the stage, for he first saw the light in the Village of Steyning, Sussex, where his parents, strolling players, happened to be performing. As a boy he learned to play the violin, and also juvenile parts in plays. More than sixty years ago he was performing in London and the provinces, but in 1843 he went to Australia, where he has built up fame and fortune as actor, manager, legislator and philanthropist. For twelve years he represented East Melbourne in the popular chamber of the Parliament of Victoria, and he has also sat in the Upper House of the same State. There was a densely-crowded audience in the Princess Theatre, Melbourne, when the veteran actor-legislator stepped forth. He was accorded an enthusiastic ovation, and had to stand bowing for five minutes before he could proceed with his part. It was one of his favorite roles in the sixties, and, as one of the local critics observes, "Mr. Coppin proved to the present generation that their fathers had not erred in their judgment, and that there was no appreciable difference between good acting thirty years ago and good acting to-day."

The King's Coronation.

The coronation of the King, falling as it will in June next, will come at an opportune moment for the making of a national holiday. In the past, however, English Sovereigns have not always, as an English daily reminds us, been so careful of the convenience of their subjects. William I., following the example of the Emperor Charlemagne, who was among the very first to set the fashion in coronations, was crowned at Westminster on December 25. Henry III., owing to circumstances over which he had little control, underwent the ceremony on Oct. 28, and as the crown had been lost with the baggage of King John, he had to do without one. Henry VIII. chose what is now quarter day in June, and the last Edward was crowned on January 28. In modern times Anne favored April, the first three Georges September and October, George IV. July, and William IV. September. If Coronation Day is in future to be observed as a public holiday, as it certainly will be next year, it will afford a pleasant break between the two popular English holidays of Whitsuntide and the first Monday in August.

London Women Vegetarians.

Women vegetarian enthusiasts in London are doing some beneficent as well as educational work in their charity this summer. The New York Tribune correspondent tells of four new soup kitchens for poor children, through which it is hoped this diet may be introduced into large numbers of those homes. As soon as the kitchens are in full operation it is intended that soup shall be furnished to families in their homes at a nominal cost.

Each kitchen is provided with six huge boilers of soup, and for a penny any waif may obtain one pint of soup, a large slice of whole meal bread, sometimes varied with a sweet. The scheme was introduced by Miss Florence I. Nicholson, general secretary of the London Vegetarian society, and the London Vegetarian association.

Died Aged 160.

A despatch to The Daily Mail from Athens says that the oldest man in the world has just died at the village of Khuti, in Albania. His name was Ismail Hudjo, and he was 160 years of age. He leaves behind him 200 descendants. The old man had all his teeth, and his faculties were unimpaired even up to his last hours.

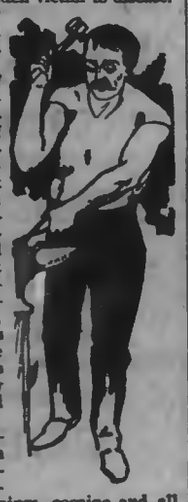
A Lady Servant.

The following advertisement appeared the other day in The London Post:

"Wanted—A lady to groom and take care of a small pony and to assist in the housework of a small house in the country. The cook is a lady, and no servants are kept. Only gentlewomen need write."

Muscle

Does not make the man. "The blood is the life," the vital force of the body. So it not infrequently happens that the man who looks to be a picture of physical strength falls a sudden victim to disease. A proper care for the blood would prevent many a serious sickness.



The cleansing of the blood is perfectly accomplished by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It drives out the impurities and poisonous substances which corrupt the blood and breed disease. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands, and so increases the supply of pure blood. It builds up the entire body with good sound flesh.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

The dealer who offers a substitute for the "Discovery" does so to gain the little more profit paid by inferior medicines. There is nothing "just as good" for the blood as "Golden Medical Discovery" therefore accept no substitute.

"I took five bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' for my blood," writes Mr. William D. Shamblin, of Ramy, Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory. "I had 'ring worms' on me and I would burn them off and they would come right back, and they were on me when I commenced using 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and they went away and I haven't been bothered any more."

SPIDERS AND WEBS.

Interesting Information Concerning These Insect Manufacturers—Webs Placed to Accomplish Spider's Desire.

It is marvelous how numerous spiders become during the hot summer and early fall months. You never realize this until you see the sun shining on them while the dew is fresh in the early morning. They are everywhere; webs cover the tops of every weed, the grass bends under the weight of a great carpet of webbing, which is silver in the early light. Great wheels of silver hang high over woodland paths, and as the light wind stirs them the dewdrops glow all the shades of the rainbow. On some of the low hanging branches you may see great, wide, flat, close woven webs leading to deep funnels of silken webbing. If you look close into these funnels, great spiders' eyes will glow red or green as he comes slowly forward. Notice for a moment how different these webs are in their weaving and in the manner of their hanging. Those great wheels high up in the forest trees catch numbers of small insects which fly direct through the three tops. The small webs about the tops of the weeds catch innumerable insects which fly over the open wheat fields and meadows. The wide, flat webs under which the blades of grass bend catch insects which hop about through the grass and would escape any other style of web. Here and there you will find these webs strong enough to hold a good sized grasshopper.

Some of our spiders which do not weave any webs stalk their insect prey or lie in ambush for it. I saw this wonderfully exemplified late one autumn. I was admiring a great nodding plume of goldenrod when I noticed a small bee on one side of it. Even when I plucked the plume the bee remained perfectly still. I was very much mystified, for usually the slightest jar will frighten the bee away from a flower. I touched the bee and still it did not move, but remained with its head buried deep in the golden blossom. I pulled at the bee, and as its head came out of the blossom the mystery was explained, for a spider had the bee fast in its heavy jaws. The spider was a beautiful gold and brown, just the colors which would make it almost invisible as it nestled close in the blossom of the goldenrod waiting for some luckless bee to come foraging for sweets.—James Speed.

The Age of Stonehenge.

In undertaking to determine the age of Stonehenge the scientists have set themselves a fascinating, albeit a difficult problem. Their investigation will be chiefly along the lines of orientation, or relation to the sun. This wonderful collection of monoliths is on Salisbury plain, England. The great rocks have been in existence from the earliest times recorded in history, and there is no knowledge of the period of erection. The scientists are now working on the theory that Stonehenge was an ancient Druidic or Celtic temple of the sun god. This theory seems borne out by the fact that several of the principal stones are in line with the great central altar stone and that on the longest day in the year (June 21) the sun shines almost directly along the tops of the former full upon the eastern face of the latter—in fact, that these stones are "oriented."

The First Electric Victim.

The first death in the world, so far as we know, from artificially conducted electricity was that of Professor Richman of St. Petersburg. He devised what was practically the first lightning rod and was killed by it. He ran an iron to the top of his house in present lightning rod manner and waited for a thunder storm. It came. There was a terrific flash of lightning. The professor's appliance worked well, and he was found dead by the side of it.

George's Father.

Augustine Washington, the father of George Washington, was engaged in 1732 in making pig iron at Accokeek furnace, in Stafford county, Va., about fifteen miles from Fredericksburg, when his famous son was born. This furnace had been built by the Principio company, composed of English capitalists, as early as 1726, on land owned by Augustine Washington, aggregating about 1,600 acres and containing iron ore, Mr. Washington becoming the owner of one-sixth of the furnace property in consideration of the transfer of his land to the company.

In my opinion the man who kills his fellow is the hero of barbarism; the man who risks his own life to save the lives of others is the only hero that a true civilization can honor.

THE MEMBERSHIP IS LARGE.

Gymnasium Work of the Local Y. M. C. A.

The Various Classes—Enthusiasm of the Members The Work Being Done.

Perhaps only a very small majority of those who should know, have any idea of the excellent work that is being done by the gymnasium department of the Y.M.C.A. at the present time. The work at the outset may be said to be in a highly satisfactory condition at the present time, and is reflecting much credit upon the Physical Director and his staff of volunteer assistants.

Perhaps the reader has never taken the privilege of visiting the "gym" of this institution during the evening, when some of the classes are at work. If he has not, it is time that he should, for it is a treat, indeed, to stand in the gallery of the handsome "gym" and view the performances below. Each evening this gallery contains quite a number of spectators, all of whom watch with much interest the physical exercises of the men of the various classes.

There never was a time when the physical department of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. was so popular with the public. This is evidenced by the fact that there never before was such a large membership nor was there ever so much enthusiasm displayed on the part of those who attend.

There are ten classes held each week. Of course this does not imply that there are ten distinct classes, but there are six different classes, five of which meet twice a week. They are as follows: Junior Boys' Class, Senior Boys' Class, Intermediate, Senior Gym Class, Young Men's Business Class, and Leaders' Class.

The Junior Boys' Class is made up of the smaller school boys; the Senior Boys' Class is made up of the older school boys; the Intermediate, generally termed the working boys' class, is composed of boys for the most part between the ages of 14 and 18 years of age, who are not attending school, but who are engaged in various vocations around the town; the Senior "Gym." Class has as its members the young men who go rather extensively into gymnastics, and who have on more than one occasion given exhibitions to the public of Peterborough, that have been much enjoyed. The Young Men's Business Class is chiefly made up of the young business men of the town who spend a few hours several evenings of the week in various kinds of exercises. The Leaders' Class is composed of a set of young men who volunteer their services to the Physical Director in assisting him in the work of the various classes. In this way very effective work is accomplished. The leaders are kept brushed up in their work by the Physical Director, who instructs them once each week.

The total attendance at the various classes during the month of October was 854, which was a record breaker. However there is reason to believe that this is not the limit, for a peculiarity about the attendance is the fact that as the nights grow colder and wilder, the attendance climbs up at a great old pace.

BASKET BALL.

Basket ball is a game that has become exceedingly popular at the "Y," and one or more leagues have already been formed. This is a game that is exciting, not only to the players, but to the spectators as well, and promises to draw large crowds to the various matches. It has been played for several years in Peterborough, and a number of swift men at the game have developed.

On Saturday an exciting game took place between the teams of the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co. and the B. F. Ackerman wholesale harness house. The game resulted 9—4 in favour of the Hamilton men. It is understood that the winners will play the team of the General Electric Co. on Saturday night next. The basket ball practices are held on Tuesday and Saturday nights and Saturday afternoons.

INDOOR TEST.

The "Gym" Department has given it out that they intend to put on an "indoor test" on the evening of Dec. 6th, when five different events, all worth seeing, will be presented. The public will be cordially invited. It is to be regretted that the Physical Department does not put on more of such entertainments for the public. The fact of the matter is that they have been too modest in the past, but it is understood that the public will be from time to time this winter given an opportunity of showing their appreciation of the work of the Physical Department in this manner. Entertainments of this kind could not but be well attended. Then the proceeds might be devoted to further equipping the "gym" and keeping the present outfit in repair.

It should be distinctly understood, however, that the public is cordially welcome any evening to the gallery of the "gym," and every one who goes once will certainly go again.

"INTERMEDIATE."

LIZARDS GALORE.

They Were Found in a Well at Fenelon Falls Recently.

In cleaning out and deepening an old well on Francis street east, Mr. Peter Campo and his son Perry dug up no fewer than forty lizards, varying in length from two to seven inches, all of them quite lively and apparently in the best of health and spirits. The well, which had not been used for years, was filled to within about seven feet of the top, and between that depth and twenty feet, when water was struck, the lizards were found, generally two or three at a time, but in one instance there were ten of them congregated under a piece of board. The stuff taken out of the well was a mixture of sand, gravel and clay, and the lizards were bluish black in colour. They were all either fat or in good condition, and probably ate worms or various kinds of insects, as they must certainly have had food of some kind, and we don't know of anything else they could have got.—Fenelon Falls Gazette.

THE CONTAGION OF CANCER.

Rooms Become Tainted and Transmit the Disease.

The theory that the disease of cancer may through certain media prove itself infectious is one which is meeting with considerable attention in nonmedical as well as in medical circles, and the conviction is gradually spreading that houses and more particularly individual rooms may become infected with the germs of this fearful malady.

Specific instances are constantly being cited in support of such an assumption, and one of the most telling which at present has come before our notice is that of two women contracting the disease after occupying a house wherein four or five years previously a cancer patient had died.

The remarkable part of this story is that a third lady who had resided in the house between these two tenancies also developed the illness after an interval of close upon two years.

To learn whether such instances are commonly recognized in the medical profession or whether they are merely isolated examples to which no particular importance may be attached a reporter visited several cancer specialists.

At the Cancer hospital in Fulham road the authorities were reticent on the subject.

"I believe," observed the house surgeon cautiously, "that cancer is not regarded as contagious in medical circles."

A well known specialist, however, who has devoted many years to an exhaustive study of the subject was more inclined to waive the professional etiquette which disallows a conversation with a layman upon matters medical.

"I should be only too pleased," he said, "if this matter received the attention at the hands of the public which it undoubtedly deserves. For my own part I am fully convinced that cancer, without being essentially a contagious disease, may under certain circumstances prove itself infectious. Whether this view is generally entertained I am not prepared to state. Nevertheless I have no hesitation in asserting that before many years have passed precautionary measures will be adopted in the case of cancer patients, as they undoubtedly will in the case of consumptives.

"There is nothing at all remarkable in the instances you refer to. Only a few weeks back my attention was directed to the case of a young and apparently healthy girl who developed cancerous troubles after sleeping in a room wherein her mother had some years back succumbed to the disease. This might possibly be a hereditary case, though the likelihood is considerably discounted by the fact that a third woman who occupied the room also contracted the malady.

"Such instances are becoming far too common to be disregarded. Thorough disinfection would probably be an effective remedy, though it is necessary in the first instance to trace the actual causes of infection."

From a seaside resort comes a report of a family who stayed for a few weeks at a house where a woman had died from cancer about a year previously. A girl who occupied the patient's bedroom subsequently developed cancer, not a trace of which had hitherto existed in the family. —London Express.

Neuralgia Almost Drives People Mad.

Only those who have suffered it, know of the darting, distracting pains and aches neuralgia inflicts. Ordinary remedies don't even relieve. It requires an extraordinarily strong, penetrating liniment to drive out the pain. To get relief rub Polson's Nerviline into the spot. Pain can't resist Nerviline, which has five times the strength of any other liniment. Drives out neuralgia in half an hour. Never fails! Never harms! Always successful. Try a large 25 cent bottle.

Made Him Careful.

A schoolmaster after giving one of his pupils a caning for speaking ungrammatically sent him to the other end of the room to inform another boy that he wished to speak to him, at the same time promising to repeat the punishment if he spoke to him ungrammatically.

The youngster, being quite satisfied with what he had got, determined to be exact and thus addressed his fellow pupil:

"A common substantive of masculine gender, singular number, nominative case and in an angry mood that sits perched upon the eminence at the other end of the room wishes to articulate a few sentences to you in the present tense."

MORMONS IN CANADA

THEY HAVE A TOWN IN ALBERTA AND DO NOT PRACTICE POLYGAMY.

The People, However, Believe in the Teachings—A Singular Case of a Man With Two Wives Obeying the Letter But Not the Spirit of the Law—Daughter of Brigham Young Is Conspicuous.

A new town is rapidly growing into existence on the rich irrigation lands of Southern Alberta, says the Calgary Herald. It is named Raymond, in honor of the son of Jesse Knight, a rich Mormon capitalist who has taken a great interest in the Mormon settlements of Southern Alberta.

A few years ago, a number of the Mormon settlers in Alberta sowed some sugar beets and had them sent away to Utah for the purpose of testing them. They were found to contain a remarkable quantity of the saccharine essential for sugar making purposes. In some cases they were found to contain fifty per cent. more of this matter than the beets grown in the State of Minnesota. Mr. Knight, who makes his headquarters at Salt Lake City, took an interest in the matter, further tests were instituted, and the results were all that could be desired. Mr. Knight has accordingly purchased a large tract of land in the vicinity of the big irrigation canal, and is allowing settlers to take up holdings on his property under certain conditions.

One of the conditions is that at least twelve acres of sugar beets should be grown every year; another condition is that no liquor establishment should ever be operated on the land. A site has already been located for a refinery, and plans drawn, and within the next month building operations will be commenced.

Mr. Knight is a very devout Mormon and is very popular with the people of that religion settled in Canada. The Mormons have always been good settlers, being progressive and up to date in agricultural operations. The whole of Southern Alberta contiguous to the boundary line is given over to them, and they have transformed a wild country into a perfect garden.

Although a great many of the Alberta Mormons are polygamists, they don't practice ploygamy in Canada. Most of the older men have a wife in the States and one in Canada.

A peculiar incident occurred recently which shows the desire of the Mormons to live within the letter of the law. A prominent resident of Cardston, the little Mormon metropolis here, had brought one wife with him from Utah, while wife number two remained in the States. With him in Canada was his little son, the child of his absent wife. The little boy became very ill, and his mother was sent for. The same train that brought her into Canada carried away the father, as he would not remain in the country with both his wives. The child recovered and his mother took him back to Utah with her. This Mormon is very much attached to both his wives, and regularly visits wife number two in the States for a period each year.

Although the Mormons don't practice polygamy in Canada, there is no doubt that they still believe in it, and they will defend it vigorously in argument. They are very religious, and the old men are especially devout. The younger ones are at times inclined to kick against the restrictions imposed by the church, but they usually find that it is to their advantage to stand in well with their ecclesiastical leaders. One Sunday in each month they have testimony meetings. As these meetings are held at two o'clock in the afternoon and those participating are supposed to have fasted since the previous midnight, they are often in an excited and overwrought condition. Some little time ago, at one of these testimony meetings at Cardston, a young Mormon woman got up to recite her experiences. She was in a very overwrought condition, and stood for a minute or so gasping for the utterance that would not come. Then all at once she began to speak freely in an utterly unknown tongue, gesticulating freely. She continued like this for about a quarter of an hour, then subsided into her seat the picture of mental and physical exhaustion.

Then up rose the old Mormon Bishop, as if nothing out of the way had happened, and said: "The Lord has given our sister the gift of tongues; who is there here who can interpret?" Several people jumped up at once, but an elderly woman, the wife of a dignitary of the church, caught the eye of the bishop first, and he motioned her to proceed. She declared that the language just heard was ancient Syriac, and that, being interpreted, it was a message of the Lord to bereaved parents who had recently lost their children.

After this there was a perfect epidemic of speaking in "tongues" which continued until a high church dignitary from Utah arrived in Cardston and put a stop to it.

One of the most conspicuous figures among the Mormons in Alberta is Mrs. Card, the wife of Charles Ora Card, who is the head of the Mormon Church in Canada. This lady is a daughter of Brigham Young, the famous Mormon leader. She is a woman of great natural shrewdness, and being possessed of great force of character, exerts a great influence upon the whole community. Last fall when the election for the Dominion Parliament was on, both sides, knowing Mrs. Card's influence, made many efforts to enlist her sympathies. She, however, inclined to the Liberal side. Her remark to Mr. Bennett, the Conservative candidate, was a non-committal masterpiece. She said: "We like the Government, we like Mr. Oliver (the sitting member), and if you are elected we will like you."

MANY ORGANS BURNED.

Serious Loss to Doherty Organ Co. on Saturday Night.

Clinton, Nov. 18.—Saturday night at 11 o'clock fire broke out in one of the large buildings of the Doherty Organ Co., and resulted in a very serious loss. The building contained the machine, case, key and finishing departments, and, with the exception of a few machines, all the interior is a total loss. Some six or eight hundred organs, in the course of construction, were all destroyed. The company carried heavy insurance, but the interruption of trade and the loss to the employes and the town cannot be estimated. The engine room, dry kiln, as well as the other large buildings and lumber yards, were not affected by the fire.

Oatmeal Mill Burned.

St. Marys, Nov. 18.—The oatmeal mill of J. D. Moore, two miles south of this town, was destroyed by fire a little after midnight yesterday morning. The cause is not known. The loss is about $6,000, and it was insured for $2,000 in the Perth Mutual.

Naval Expenditures Curtailed.

London, Nov. 18.—The new program for naval construction is engaging the attention of the British Admiralty. While some provision is expected for adding to the cruiser fleet, the new construction estimates will probably be curtailed, owing to the war expenditures, and attention will largely be devoted to clearing off the arrears of construction, now aggregating in the neighborhood of 20 war ships, money for which has already been voted. It is hoped the arrears will be cleared off by the end of 1903.

World's Automobile Record.

New York, Nov. 18.—One of the most remarkable speed tests ever seen on either side of the Atlantic Ocean took place on the Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn, Saturday afternoon. Probably twenty-five thousand people lined this splendid driveway to witness the contests, and when the afternoon was done and the people thronged homeward everybody had the name of Henri Fournier on his lips. A mile in 51 4-5 seconds. That is the world's automobile's record.

Deafness is Curable!

Sufferers from impaired hearing will be glad to know that their affliction is probably not due to any organic defect in the ear, but results probably from a thickening of the lining of the middle ear caused by catarrhal inflammation. Hundreds of perfect recoveries as a result of the inhalation of Catarrhozone are reported, and on the highest authority we recommend this treatment to our readers. Catarrhozone quickly restores lost hearing, and its efficiency is placed beyond dispute by the case of Mr. Foxell of St. Thomas, who recovered perfect hearing by using Catarrhozone, after years of deafness. Price $1. At druggists or by mail, from Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Fatal Shooting Accident.

Orillia, Nov. 18.—Recently Malcolm Arthurs of Sebright started off to return a neighbor's gun which he had borrowed, but as he did not return when expected a party went out to look for him, but it was not until the following afternoon that the search was successful. When found the unfortunate young man was lying dead upon a rock, his gun beside him and his body covered with blood. Upon examination it was found that the gun by some means or other had been accidentally discharged, and that the contents had entered the left breast just below the heart. The charge consisted of fine shot, and it was fired so close to the body that the wadding of the gun and parts of clothing were blown deeply into the wound. It is thought the hammer of the gun struck a ledge of the rock, thus discharging the weapon.

CANKER.

There is a mistaken idea as to the cause of cankers in the mouth and throat. Sufferers imagine that they arise from stomach troubles, but it is nothing more or less than the result of impure blood. Numerous so-called remedies have been floated on the market, but experience has proven that there is only one cure, "Climax" Iron Tonic Pills. 25 cents a box at all druggists, or mailed on receipt of price. Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

Report of British Labor Unions.

London, Nov. 18.—The annual report of the labor correspondent of the Board of Trade shows that membership in trades unions in 1900 was 1,905,116, an increase of 5.8 per cent. over 1899. Of the total 6.5 per cent. are women and girls, 79 per cent. of whom are in the cotton industry.

The income of 100 principal unions was £1,975,000, their expenditures £1,491,000, and their accumulated funds £3,767,000.

Must be pretty—it should be of such quality as would insure of its remaining pretty. It should have good time-keeping qualities—The case should be thicker than tissue paper and of better quality than (unfortunately) so many are. PARLIAMENT DEC. 27

Must Meet Because of Pressing Boer War Finances.

THE PREMIER TO THE PRO-BOERS

A Pro-Boer Paper Says President Steyn's Wife and Family Have Been Deported From South Africa—Kitchener's Steady Work—More Boers Than Usual Accounted for This Week.

London, Nov. 19.—The original intention was to re-open Parliament Jan. 3, the day of the expiration of the mourning of the court for Queen Victoria, so as to enable King Edward to be present with full state ceremony. It is now understood, however, that financial needs will compel an opening a week earlier. This will be on December 27. The most pressing financial need is in regard to the Boer war.

Salisbury to the Pro-Boers.

London, Nov. 19.—In a letter conveying an expression of his thanks for a vote of confidence in the policy of the Government, Lord Salisbury administers the following characteristic rebuke to pro-Boers in Great Britain;

"We need such encouragement, for England is, I believe, the only country in which, during a great war, eminent men write and speak publicly, as if they belonged to the enemy."

Steyn's Family Deported.

Brussels, Nov. 19.—The Petit Bleu asserts that the wife and family of former President Steyn of the Orange Free State have been deported from South Africa.

Eleven Days' Result.

London, Nov. 19.—Lord Kitchener, cabling yesterday to the War Office from Pretoria, reports that since Nov. 7th the British columns have killed 43 and wounded 16 Boers, and that 297 have been taken prisoners.

A Stormer Policy.

Nkandhla, Nov. 18.—It is understood that further voluntary surrenders will not be accepted, all Boers taken being treated as prisoners of war and deported. According to native reports from Babanango, the Boers in that district are burying their rifles, possibly owing to want of ammunition, and do not intend carrying on further hostile operations.

More "Interference."

Cleveland, O., Nov. 19.— German societies here have made arrangements for a mass meeting of the citizens in the interests of the Boers. They will petition Congress to intervene, and prevent the shipment of horses and mules from New Orleans to Cape Town.

Received by the President.

Washington, Nov. 19.—The Irish Parliamentary leaders who are touring this country agitating the Irish cause, were given a special audience by President Roosevelt yesterday. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Redmond, P. A. McHugh, Thomas O'Connell, Miss Dalton of Australia, a sister of Mrs. R mond, and Mr. and Mrs. St. John Gaffney of New York. The President received them with cordiality in the reception room adjoining the Cabinet room. He astonished his visitors by his intimate knowledge of the Irish situation which he displayed.

Shot His Father.

Stratford, Nov. 19. — Recently, John Cook, an old resident of the Grey and McKillop Boundary, was shot in the left hand by his son, who was armed with a rifle, as the father attempted to enter the house. Constable Scott of Brussels was telegraphed for, but the young man had cleared out before his arrival, and no arrest has been made. The trouble is over a family disagreement. Mr, Cook was, fortunately, not very seriously injured.

Conductor Killed.

Halifax, Nov. 13.—I.C.R. Conductor Daniel McKenzie was instantly killed at West River yesterday. His train was moving away from the station, and, in attempting to get on board, he slipped, and fell under the van, which passed over him. He belonged to Picton.

Pope's End Not Far Off.

London, Nov. 19.—The Chronicle from Rome says: "In spite of persistent and well-founded denials that there is any immediate danger of the Pope's decease, the air is full of speculation and apprehension indicating that his end is not considered far off.

READY FOR SENATE

New Isthmian Canal Treaty Signed at Washington.

KNOWN AS HAY-PAUNCEFOTE

If the United States Senate Ratifies It the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty of April 19, 1850, Will Be Superseded—Chief Points of Difference Between New and Failed Treaty of Same Title.

Washington, Nov. 19.—The new Hay-Pauncefote treaty was signed yesterday at 12.05 by Secretary Hay for the United States, and Lord Pauncefote, the British Ambassador, for Great Britain.

The treaty is intended to replace the first Hay-Pauncefote treaty. That convention was amended so extensively by the United States Senate at its last session that the British Government declined to ratify it. Within a few weeks negotiations began afresh between Secretary Hay and Lord Pauncefote, which have just resulted in the signature of the new treaty, drawn with special reference to the objections found by Great Britain with the first treaty.

The principal point of difference between the new and the failed treaty is the withdrawal of Great Britain from the joint guarantee of the neutrality of the canal, thus leaving the United States the sole guarantor. The section of the old provision respecting the right to fortify the canal leaves that right by inference optional with the United States. All commerce of whatever nationality passing through the canal will fare alike; there will be no discrimination in rates in favor of United States shipping.

Otherwise the new treaty is in scope similar to last year's treaty. It replaces technically the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, concluded on April 19, 1850. By the terms of that old convention the United States and Great Britain agreed that neither should seek any advantage in the rights of transit across the Isthmus. By the new convention Great Britain yields her rights in favor of the United States, which is thus at liberty to construct a canal.

Excites Little Comment.

London, Nov. 19.—Except as affording a chance for the opposition journals to attack the Government and the Foreign Secretary, Lord Lansdowne, the signing of the new Isthmian Canal convention does not excite strong interest in Great Britain. It is generally admitted that the British have nothing to gain by a retention of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, while they have much to gain by the construction of the canal.

President Roosevelt and Reciprocity.

Washington, Nov. 19.—The President's time yesterday was occupied largely in the discussion of reciprocity. Senator CuHon of Illinois and Representative Dalzell of Pennsylvania had something to say to him upon that subject, and a delegation of agricultural implement manufacturers, consisting of James Deering of Chicago, A. B. Farquhar of York, Pa., and W. C. Barker of New York, who are here to attend the reciprocity convention, which meets to-day, presented a memorial strongly urging that something be done. The delegation told the President that in its opinion the time for action had come. Reciprocity had been talked and preached about for years, and unless a decisive step was taken now which would effect something the whole subject might as well be abandoned.

Germany Forsaking Beer.

Germany, Nov. 19.—Germany is deserting its traditional beer in favor of the seductive "high ball," "gin fizz" and other forms of "schnapps," according to the statistics of the German Society for Combating the Abuse of Spirituous Liquors. The society finds that every German man, woman and child drinks on an average of five glasses of spirits a day. While the Government's annual revenue from beer is only 100,000,000 marks ($23,800,000), it secures 165,000,000 marks ($39,270,000), from alcoholic drink.

Cure for Foot and Mouth Disease.

London, Nov. 19.—The Italian Government has given official cognizance to a cure for foot and mouth disease, discovered by Dr. Guzzi, a young physician, by recommending the matter to the serious attention of all veterinary surgeons. The cure consists in injecting a solution of corrosive sublimate and common salt in distilled water into the animals. Remarkable success has attended the experiments.

Committed for Trial.

St. Mary's, Ont., Nov. 19. — The preliminary hearing of the charge of manslaughter against Jesse Peers, engineer, and R. M. Sclater, fireman, of the G.T.R., for the killing of Mrs. Elizabeth Camm at the long crossing near St. Mary's, on Oct. 14, was held here yesterday before P. Whelihan, J.P. The defendants were committed for trial.

The Case Dismissed.

Winnipeg, Nov. 19.—The Lisgar election case, in which Mr. V. Winkler, the defeated candidate, was charged with undue intimidation, was dismissed at Winnipeg Assizes yesterday. The judge instructed the jury to return such a verdict owing to lack of evidence.

THE EXPERTS REPORT

Condemn the Jamieson Plans of Montreal Grain Elevator.

A VERY NOTABLE OMISSION

No Price Provided for Certain Works in the Contract—The Three Experts Say That If the Work Were Done in the Jamieson Method the Elevator Would Not Stand.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—Messrs. H. E. Vantelet, Jas. R. Roy and Arthur St. Laurent have made an exhaustive report to the Minister of Public Works, in reply to the report laid before the Montreal Harbor Commissioners by Mr. Kennedy, then Engineer, in regard to the proposed grain elevator.

The Government experts find that no price was provided for the following works in the contract: Steel posts, instead of concrete and iron posts; enclosure of ordinary electric wires (as is done in first-class buildings); provision for removal of dust; outside covering of the elevator from the bottom of the bins to the roof. This last item would be necessary on account of the mode of construction proposed by Mr. Jamieson.

The Government experts say: "We believe the only way in which a contract should be given is on a carefully prepared plan, including all details, and with complete and detailed specifications. The contractor and engineer know then exactly what they have to do, and the work proceeds smoothly and quickly." The Government engineers reiterate their statement that if concrete and iron columns were used, as proposed by Mr. Jamieson, the elevator would not stand. This is the inherent weakness of the Jamieson plan, which is sufficient in itself to demand its rejection. The experts deal at great length with the peculiar design of the proposed Jamieson elevator, and the pressure upon the walls of the bins which would be exercised by grain in motion.

Endorsed by Mr. Lafleur.

In a report to the Minister of Public Works, Mr. Eugene D. Lafleur, acting chief engineer of the department, endorses the criticisms made by the experts consulted by Mr. Tarte in regard to the Jamieson plans for the proposed grain elevator in Montreal. After giving his reasons for concurring in the views expressed by Messrs. Vantelet, Roy and St. Laurent, the acting chief engineer says that in the ordinary practice he could not have approved of the plans and specifications submitted by Mr. Jamieson, as he would have considered the proposed structure wanting in stability, and so unusual in some of its leading and justly criticized features as to be little more than experimental.

BANQUET TO MR. MONK.

An Address by the Conservative Leader of Quebec Province.

Montreal, Nov. 19.—Mr. F. D. Monk, Conservative leader for this province, was tendered a successful banquet at the Queen's hotel last night by the Club Cartier. There were about 300 present, including a number of the prominent members of the party from surrounding districts, and much enthusiasm prevailed. Mr. Monk's address, which was carefully prepared, and, it is said, submitted previously to Mr. R. L. Borden, was in French, and insisted throughout upon the autonomy of Canada. Referring to the patron of the club, Mr. Monk attributed to the late Sir George E. Cartier the formation of confederation, and urged that all the liberties then obtained should be carefully guarded, especially when there arose such questions as Imperial federation, military participation in the wars of the empire, a commercial zollverein, or even the immigration of Europeans and other foreigners to the lands which were the heritage of Canadians. He did not, however, go so far as to repeat his words to the Club Morin, that Quebec's interests had been neglected since Sir Wilfrid Laurier came into power.

The Bull Dog Head
Grip-Quinine
Cures any COLD or COUGH in a few hours.

MR. MULOCK IN NEW YORK.

Arrangements With the United States for Carrying Mails.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Postmaster-General William Mulock of Canada conferred with Postmaster-General Charles Emory Smith and Assistant Postmaster-General Schallenberger yesterday on proposed improvements in the mail facilities between Canada and the United States, principally regarding those transportation routes which run over Canadian territory. Arrangements have been affected, under which Canada will take charge of the transportation of the United States mails across Canadian territory for Alaska after July 1st next.

Exorbitant Freight Rates.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—The extraordinary freight rates which are charged on the White Pass Railway is said by all Yukoners to be a great drawback to the development of that mining region. The Minister of the Interior has been making an unofficial enquiry into the complaints that have been made from time to time, and has laid the whole matter before the Minister of Railways.

In one case it is said that $1,100 freight was charged on a carload of nails from Skagway to Dawson, a distance of 58 miles. Such rates were of course never sanctioned by law.

Mr. Blair has therefore notified the company that a very large reduction will require to be made at once.

The Minister of Railways has also called the attention of the company to the fact that the rates which are now being collected are not authorized, and are so charged contrary to law.

Mayor Davidson, Ottawa.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—Ald. James Davidson was last night elected Mayor of the city by the Council, to succeed ex-Mayor Morris. The council's action was unanimous, and, after the meeting, the new Mayor gave a banquet. The council also abolished compulsory vaccination.

Twenty Million Bushels of Wheat.

Winnipeg, Nov. 19.—At elevators in county points on Saturday the amount of wheat in store, as compiled by the C.P.R., was 7,414,000 bushels. The receipts on Saturday were 372,000 bushels. At Fort William and Port Arthur the receipts for the week amounted to 1,345,149 bushels, leaving in store after shipments of 800,000 bushels had been made, a total of 2,061,000 bushels.

These figures show that there are about ten and a half million bushels in store at the lake ports and interior elevators which will have to be moved this year, and which railroad officials state will be moved before the closing down of navigation. If this is accomplished the shipments for this fall will amount to something over 20,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Mr. Hays and the Grand Trunk.

London, Nov. 19.—Mr. Charles M. Hays, ex-President of the Southern Pacific Railway, is here, with his family. He still talks of the Southern Pacific as "my road," but has nothing to say about his personal position. He has been, however, in conference with Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson. It is believed that the question of the conditions of his return to the Grand Trunk is under discussion. It is officially denied that he will become president, in place of Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, though it is expected, if he returns, he will gain a freer hand in the management of the Grand Trunk System.

The Right Thing.

A New Catarrh Cure, Which is Rapidly Coming to the Front.

For several years, Eucalyptol Guaiacol and Hydrastin have been recognized as standard remedies for catarrhal troubles, but they have always been given separately, and only very recently an ingenious chemist succeeded in combining them, together with other antiseptics, into a pleasant, effective tablet.

Druggists sell the remedy under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and it has met with remarkable success in the cure of nasal catarrh, bronchial and throat catarrh, and in catarrh of the stomach.

Mr. F. N. Benton, whose address is care of Clark House, Troy, N. Y., says, "When I run up against anything that is good I like to tell the people of it. I have been troubled with catarrh more or less for some time. Last winter more than ever. Tried several so-called cures, but did not get any benefit from them. About six weeks ago I bought a 50c box of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and am glad to say that they have done wonders for me, and I do not hesitate to let all my friends know that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are the right thing."

Mr. Geo. J. Casanova, of Hotel Griffon, West 9th street, New York City, writes: "I have commenced using Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and already they have given me better results than any catarrh cure I have ever tried."

A leading physician of Pittsburgh advises the use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets in preference to any other treatment for catarrh of the head, throat or stomach.

He claims they are far superior to inhalers, salves, lotions or powder, and are much more convenient and pleasant to take and are so harmless that little children take them with benefit, as they contain no opiate, cocaine or any poisonous drugs.

All druggists sell Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at 50c for full size package, and they are probably the safest and most reliable cure for any form of catarrh.

The Company Wants More.

Kingston, Nov. 19.—The arbitrators appointed to determine the value of the plant of the Electric and Gas Company, which the city proposes to make a municipal concern, have made their award. The value they fix at $170,370. Two arbitrators decide that the franchise, under the agreement with the city, is of no value. The third arbitrator dissents. The arbitrators decide that if on appeal it is held that the franchise must be considered as part of the deal, then they agree at a sum of $80,000. The company, when asked for its figure before arbitration, said it would sell for $378,000.

W.C.T.U. Officers.

Montreal, Nov. 19.—The Dominion W.C.T.U. Convention is drawing to a close. The election of officers took place yesterday, resulting in Mrs. Rutherford being elected almost unanimously. The new officers are as follows: President, Mrs. Rutherford, Toronto; vice-president, Miss Dougall, Montreal; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Bascom, Toronto; recording secretary, Mrs. McLachlan, Montreal; treasurer, Mrs. Odell, Ottawa.

A communication from Lady Henry Somerset was received during the morning, announcing that the world's convention would meet next year in Ottawa.

Deepest Shaft in the World.

Toronto, Nov. 19.—Hon. E. J. Davis, Commissioner of Crown Lands, and T. W. Gibson, Director of Mines, have returned from a trip to Sudbury, Copper Cliff and Victoria. They say that Ontario mines were never so prosperous. They were also impressed with the wonderful Hecla, Calumet and Tamarac mines across the border. At the Calumet 15,000 men are employed, and the Hecla has paid $70,000,000 in dividends on the $1,200,000 capital stock. The Tamarac mine has the deepest shaft in the world—over one mile deep.

Mere Misapprehension.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 19.—The story which comes from New York about there being trouble over the admission of the Palmer trophy into Canada because customs dues have been demanded by the Canadian authorities is all nonsense. There is a clause in the Canadian tariff specially designed to admit all such trophies won in open competition free of duty. If any officer of the department has been making trouble on this point he certainly does not know his duty, and will quickly be told so if the department finds it out.

CANKER.

There is a mistaken idea as to the cause of cankers in the mouth and throat. Sufferers imagine that they arise from stomach troubles, but it is nothing more or less than the result of impure blood. Numerous so-called remedies have been floated on the market, but experience has proven that there is only one cure, "Climax" Iron Tonic Pills. 25 cents a box at all druggists, or mailed on receipt of price. Lame Back In the Morning.

There are many people who find it a difficult task getting up in the morning, on account of a terrible pain and soreness across the small of the back that makes rising a painful and discomforting operation. Ever know what it was to have your back so bad that when you'd try to get out of bed you'd almost scream with the pain?

Can't do much of a day's work starting off with a back as bad as that—not fit for pleasure either. Well, all this backache and pain, this stiffness and soreness comes because the kidneys are clogged up, can't do their work properly, and your back has to suffer for it.

Just try a box or two of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. What a change you'll find coming over you! You'll be able to spring from your bed in the morning as lively as a cricket, and feel refreshed and fit for your daily duties.

TOUCHED THE SPOT.

Joseph Weeks, Beckwith Street, Smith's Falls, says: "My back was in a bad way. I was desperately lame, and there was a dull grinding pain over my kidneys. At times I had headaches, and often I was dizzy, particularly if I had been stooping. I tried first one thing, then another, but there was no permanent benefit till I began using Pitcher's Kidney Tablets. They go right to the spot and I found prompt relief. Nothing before ever did me as much good. I would suggest to anyone suffering in that way to try them."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50c. a Box, at all druggists or by mail, THE DR. ZINA PITCHER CO., Toronto, Ont.

$400 IN A NIGHT.

Sad Falling Into Gambling by an Exemplary Young Man.

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 19.— Still another illustration of the terrible results of wholesale gambling in Vancouver, which the ministers of the city have been vainly striving to suppress, took place yesterday, when young Charles Albert Eby left the city hurriedly for Seattle, having defaulted to the Sun Life Insurance Company, where he was bookkeeper.

The affair was a shock to the community. Young Eby was considered an exemplary member of the Methodist Church. He is a son of Rev. Dr. C. S. Eby of Toronto.

He confessed, before leaving the city, to having collected $400 of the funds of the company, and lost most of it playing roulette in one night's sitting. He was a thoroughly good bookkeeper, and his books were found in excellent order, correct to a cent. Eby had had the money unlawfully but four days when discovered.

Leamington's Sunday Fire.

Leamington, Ont., Nov. 19.—About 12.30 on Sunday, fire was discovered in the main building of Robert Wigle's barns, just east of here. The wind being in the northwest, drove the fire in the direction of the other barns, and soon the whole six were in ashes, in spite of all the firemen could do. The barns and contents were a total loss. Besides this year's crop of hay and grain, there were $1,500 worth of tobacco, which had been sold recently; also eight cows, 150 chickens, and all his agricultural implements. The origin of the fire is not known. The loss on barns and contents is partially covered by insurance, but Mr. Wigle's loss will be very heavy. The tobacco was insured for $700.

Fatal Dynamite Explosion.

Sault Ste. Marie, Nov. 19.— News reached here yesterday morning of two frightful accidents, caused by dynamite explosions. At Helen Iron Mine, near Michipocoton, James Ryan, a power man, was literally blown to atoms by the explosion of 5,000 pounds of dynamite, which he was drying by a fire.

At the McMillan Copper Mine, near Rock Lake, four miners, while attempting to throw a quantity of dynamite in a blast were frightfully injured by a premature explosion. It is believed all will be totally blind, and two may die. The names of the men are: Nicholson, Ferguson and two brothers, named McLeod.

Leg Mills Little Boy

Peterboro, Nov. 19.—A very sad accident happened here last evening about 5.30 o'clock, by which little John DeRocher, six years old, son of Mr. Israel DeRocher, lost his life. The little fellow was standing near the wagon of Mr. W. J. Cox of Monaghan, who was engaged in unloading a heavy pine log, 30 feet long, in the Dickson Company's saw mill. The log is falling swung round and struck little DeRocher on the head, and pinned him to the ground. Death was instantaneous.

Baby Left in Church.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—Some person left a five-weeks-old baby in the Church of St. Francis, Hintonburgh, Sunday morning, after the mass, and when the priests were going through the church they found the child contentedly drawing nourishment from a milk bottle. The child was well dressed and healthy. The mother is unknown, and the child will be sent to a home.

Identity Established.

Sault Ste. Marie, Nov. 19.—The identity of the man murdered in the woods near the Canadian Soo, Friday, was established yesterday morning by two fellow-workmen, from this city. The dead man is Antoine Tattwrelli, who was employed by the Mason & Hodge Company. It is believed he was murdered by a fellow-workman, as the result of a quarrel.

Shot in the Neck.

London, Nov. 19.—At Delaware, about ten o'clock yesterday forenoon, a youth named Geo. H. Hawes, aged 18, was killed by the accidental discharge of a gun. Morley Forsythe and young Hawes were hunting together, when Forsythe slipped. At the same time his gun was discharged, the contents entering Hawes' neck, killing him instantly.

An Atrocious Story.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 19.—A Grenfell advice says that last Sunday at Marichalf, an infant, tended by a little boy six years old, was left alone for a few minutes, when a pig entered the house and devoured the baby. The little fellow was so alarmed that he ran away from home and was not found until Tuesday.

Prince Ching's Instruction.

Pekin, Nov. 18.—Prince Ching telegraphs to the Foreign Office that he has left Kai Fong Fu with the Empress' instructions to conclude the Manchurian treaty. Whether this means that Russia's terms are accepted in full or are modified the telegram does not say.

A British Fish Story.

A correspondent of The Field says that when trolling for pike in Loch Coultre he hooked on a blue phantom a pike of seven and a half pounds. On the gillie taking the fish into the boat, he exclaimed, "This rascal has been hooked before," and sure enough there was a piece of gimp eighteen inches long sticking out of his mouth. Taking a knife, the gillie opened up the fish and cut from its inside a trolling tackle carrying no less than ten hooks, to which was attached as a sinker the hind leg of a toy lead stag about three inches in length.

Pat Scores Again.

An Englishman was boasting of the big policemen in England. "They are so big," he said, "that they can light their pipes at the street lamps." "That's nothing to the bobbies over in Scotland," said Scotty; they are so tall yonder that they can look over a land o' hooses." "Is that all the size of them?" said Pat; "Shure thim would be called kids of policemen over in Oireland. Ours are so big that they have to stand in a coal pit to get their hair cut."

An Athletic Queen.

The Queen of Portugal is perhaps the most athletic woman ruler in the world. She is particularly fond of swimming, and at Cascais swims farther out from shore than any of the other bathers.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST FAMILY MEDICINE.

Triumphs Over Kidney and Liver Troubles and Constipation.

In the medical world of this twentieth century it would be difficult to find a single remedy which has cured so many cases of serious and chronic disease as has Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. The phenomenal success of this, the favorite prescription of the famous receipt book author and physician may be attributed to the fact that it is the only preparation extant which has a direct and combined action on the kidneys and liver. Anyone who realizes the intimate connection between these two great filtering organs can easily see the reason why Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cure where other remedies fail.

Mr. R. B. Dixon, McGillivray, B.C., writes:—"I have found Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to be exactly what I needed. Since 1897 I have been on the construction of the Crow's Nest Pass branch of the C.P.R., employed in all capacities and exposed to all kinds of weather. I contracted a severe cold, then pain across the back, and owing to the hard fare we sometimes had to live on; the liver got sluggish and out of working order. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills seemed to be the very treatment I needed, and they have made me well again. I also used Dr. Chase's Ointment for Eczema last summer. It cost 60 cents a box, but was worth $60. The cure was complete."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills

Because of their remarkable influence in regulating the kidneys, liver and bowels and thereby curing constipation, kidney disease and liver complaint, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have come to be considered unapproachable as a family medicine. They are found in a great majority of Canadian homes and have by far the largest sale of any similar preparation. 25 cents a box, 5 boxes for $1.00. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS...

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $130 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

An Assault Case.

An assault case engaged the attention of the police court this morning. The assailant justified his rather severe assault on the complainant on the grounds that the latter had made free with the good name of a lady in whom he was interested. A NEW PARISH IN PETERBOROUGH.

All Saints' Church to Separate From St. John's.

THE MATTER DISCUSSED.

Members of St. John's Sorry to Lose All Saints', but Wish the New Congregation Every Success.

A meeting of the Vestry of St. John's church was held last evening in connection with the matter of the separation of All Saints' Church, and the establishment of a new parish in the town limits.

Rev. J. C. Davidson occupied the chair, and gave a very clear and lucid explanation of the matter in hand, stating that the congregation of All Saints' Church had petitioned His Lordship the Bishop of Toronto, to allow them to separate from St. John's, believing that better work could be done if the two congregations were distinct from one another. This petition had been forwarded to the Bishop by the Rector, who had enclosed with it a letter setting forth that while he, himself, thought the idea a mistaken one, yet he was willing to waive any objection which he might have on account of the unanimity of All Saints' congregation in making the request.

In reply, the Bishop wrote that it would be requisite in order to comply with the canon governing such cases, for the Rector as well as the church-wardens to sign a statement setting forth their acquiescence in the matter of the separation.

The Rector stated that the Wardens felt that the matter was of too momentous a nature for them to deal with, without the endorsation of St. John's congregation, and consequently a vestry meeting had been called for the purpose of ascertaining the views of the members.

In response to the Rector's request a large number of those present spoke on the matter of the separation, including Dr. Boucher, Mr. John Bell, Mr. W. E. Conway, Mr. F. D. Kerr, Mr. H. Long, Mr. James Bell, Mr. Edw. Layfield, Mr. W. H. Walkey, and Dr. Halliday.

There was an almost perfect unanimity of feeling voiced, regretting the separation, but at the same time expressing the heartiest good will towards All Saints' coupled with the sincere hope for that church's future prosperity. This same tone pervaded all of the remarks that were made, and consequently, when Dr. Boucher and Mr. Walkey moved that the Church-Wardens be instructed to append their names to the necessary documents, the resolution was carried without a dissenting voice.

BRAINS WERE CRUSHED OUT.

Horrible Death of a Bright Little Lad.

A LOG ROLLED OVER HIM.

Death Must Have Been Instantaneous—Coroner Grey Decides That an Inquest is Unnecessary.

It was a horrible and awfully sudden end that came to little Johnny Derocher, last night, and a sad piece of intelligence that awaited Mr. Israel Derocher, the child's father, as he returned from his daily work at six o'clock, to his home at No. 495 Bethune street.

Johnny Derocher, a bright, cheerful little lad of seven years, left his home after school in the afternoon, as he had on previous occasions done, and at 6 o'clock he lay at the foot of London street near the Dickson Company's bridge, in a pool of blood with his skull smashed in and his breast badly broken. A heavy 40 foot stick of pine timber which lay, beside him was the immediate cause of the fatality as it was by this he was struck and instantly killed.

The little fellow came home from school as usual at 4 o'clock, left his books and started off with a couple of other children about his own age little knowing of the awful fate that awaited him. They played for some time at several places and at about 5.30 o'clock somewhere on George street the youngsters observed a big stick of timber being teamed on one of the ordinary logging wagons. As children are wont to do, little Johnny, and as far as can be learned, the other children, climbed on the end of the timber that projected out so far behind the wagon which was going to the Dickson Co's mill. All went well until just over the bridge on London street that crosses the channel of water that runs down to the Electric Light Co's power station. Here Mr. W. J. Cox, of Monaghan, who was bringing the timber to the mill proceeded to unload the same, and the boy it is supposed, stood to the north side of the long stick and at the end reaching towards George street. The rear end had been unfastened and the log propped near the other end in order that when the front wheels were drawn from under the log it would not cause any sudden jar. The unexpected happened, however, and when the front wheels were pulled from under the log it rolled from off its props, the rear end bounding up with great force, striking the child on the head and then coming down upon him. He never spoke, and death must have been instantaneous. The alarm was given and the coroner was notified immediately. A messenger was also sent to break the awful news to the dead boy's parents and it was not very long until the unfortunate father and a brother were on the scene of the deplorable accident. Dr. Gray decided that an inquest was unnecessary and the body was removed to Mr. Martin McFadden's undertaking establishment, and thence to the home of the dead boy's father on Bethune street.

The funeral will take place at 9 o'clock to-morrow to the Roman Catholic Cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic burying ground for interment.

THE RETAILERS MET LAST NIGHT.

Able Address by Mr. M. E. Trowern, of Toronto.

ABOUT TRADING STAMPS.

A Very Successful Meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Last Night—The Association is now Flourishing.

A general meeting of the Retail Merchants Association of the town of Peterborough was held in the Y. M. C. A. last night, when an address of much interest to the merchants in general was delivered by Mr. M. E. Trowern, secretary of the Ontario Retail Merchants Association. The meeting was a fairly representative one amongst those present being Mr. Robert Fair, Chairman, and Messrs. John Nugent, J. Connal, Thomas Barrie, F. J. R. Mitchell, R. Kerr, Dickson Hall, A. H. Stratton, Wm. Collins, H. E. Bradley, Ben. Shortley, E. F. Mason, R. Hicks, R. A. Dutton and others.

The chairman, Mr. R. Fair, in opening the proceedings expressed his regret that there were not more present as he was sure Mr. Trowern's address would be very valuable.

The Peterborough organization is quite complete and while there have not been many meetings of late still what business of an urgent nature that had arisen had been disposed of by the executive.

The chairman spoke regarding the matter of trading stamps, explaining how that the Association had succeeded in having the town pass a by-law prohibiting their use after a certain date.

Mr. Trowern is not a stranger to Peterborough and his former addresses here have done much to awaken the retailers to their interests. It was Mr. Trowern who organized the local Board some years ago and his able grasp of affairs of vital importance to retail merchants has enabled him to be of much assistance to the general association.

In opening he said that it was the second time that he had visited Peterborough, and he was pleased to meet the merchants again. The work of the Retail Merchants Association was going along vigorously, and the speaker paid a passing compliment to the energy of the local officers. He did not come down to make a speech but merely to talk as a merchant to merchants. Being secretary of the Provincial Association he was able, perhaps, to speak to better advantage than an ordinary merchant.

Mr. Trowern then went on to speak of the present age as an age of organization in every branch of merchantile and business life. The Retailers stands between the manufacturer and the consumer. The manufacturer is looking for profit so is the jobber, and the retail merchants must protect themselves. A large number of retailers have got it into their heads that they must be violently opposed to one another, and while opposition is the life of trade, still, there is a limit to even this.

Speaking as to the formation of the Retail Merchants' Association, Mr. Trowern traced the origin of the movement, showing how that questions of a general character could be dealt with to better advantage by a general organization than by organizations of the separate branches of trade. In Toronto there are over 1,000 members of the Association, which was the result of a great deal of hard work. It was the result of constant perseverance as it is very difficult to get the people educated up to the idea at first. The speaker here took some little time in explaining in detail the system of organization of the Retail Merchants' Association of Toronto. They are fortunate in the efficient staff of officers they had in Toronto, and also in the fact that they had the most respectable men in their membership. They improve trade in many ways. What particular benefit will we get out of this organization, they might ask. They had a convention in 1899 of all the Associations of Ontario, and they drew up a formal list of what might be termed their aims and objects. These the speaker read, they being quite lengthy, and in detail. Some might say that they want a good deal but there is no harm in asking for more than they expect. It might be asked. What have they done so far? The association has done more for the trade than any other association has done for its particular line of trade during the length of time it has been in existence.

The purpose of the Association is not to gain money, although they have collected thousands of dollars which, of course, has been legitimately spent. The various alleged grievances of the retailers were then taken up, chief of these being the alleged highway robbery by corporations doing business in the larger cities, as departmental stores. The speaker made a severe onslaught on the men at the head of these concerns, in which he stated that they had the press of Toronto muzzled, although he was glad to know that they had a good clean press in Peterborough. The Yankees were much ahead of us in legislation checking the abuses practised by departmental stores. The matter of assessment of business places was also referred to. In this regard he spoke of the manner in which the Retail Merchants' Association got after the Eaton Company in their assessment lately, which is one of the largest appeals as to assessment that has been heard in some years. The insolvency legislation of recent years was very ably dealt with, after which the speaker handled the Trading Stamp question without gloves. Trading Stamps were, the speaker said, the biggest fake that was ever sprung upon the public. No man can do a Trading Stamp business, and yet do it honestly. It is a dishonest business and he never heard any one outside of those interested in it say a word in their favour. They got their charter under the name of the Dominion Trading Company to manufacture furniture, and if it had been known that they were going to conduct the sort of business they are now doing they would not have got a charter. The Retail Merchants' Association will fight the appeal to a finish. There had been a great deal of work done in the past, but it required a great deal of money. Some merchants in Toronto pay $100 a year, as they feel it should be supported; others had advanced money in the hope that the merchants of the province would help them out, and he had reason to believe that they would. Up until the present time the expenses had been almost entirely met by the merchants of Toronto.

The credit system can never be shut down; it will always exist. To shut down on credit would be to starve one-third of the population of the town. However, Mr. Trowern explained a very easy system which he hoped would be installed here for the collection of bad debts.

The Association was gotten up by merchants for merchants, and to do business on a fair system. The old system of doing business was an honest one, but it seemed to be the ambition of some business men now to do as much cheating and lying as possible. He considered that there was a great deal of hypocrisy practised by some merchants these days.

Altogether Mr. Trowern's address was a most interesting one and of great value to retailers.

Mr. Fair, the chairman, said that he was sure that he voiced the feelings of all present when he said that the speaker's address would do a good deal towards spurring them up to action. He endorsed Mr. Trowern's system of collecting bad debts, and what he had said on other lines.

Mr. Stratton asked if the Executive of the Retail Merchants' Association intended issuing any more dodgers regarding the postponement of a holiday which came on Saturday, and queried as to what would be done on Christmas, which was a market day?

Mr. Fair also explained the action of the Executive of the Retail Merchants' Association regarding the distribution of bills on the market and elsewhere announcing to the farmers and others that there would be no holiday on the King's Birthday. A few of the merchants had taken it upon themselves to go around town and interview the business men in the various lines. Their opinion was obtained and laid before an executive meeting, which decided on the action taken.

Mr. Shortly did not intend making any remarks but he might say that he was perfectly satisfied with the explanation of the chairman regarding the action of the Executive of the Association. He spoke in flattering terms of Mr. Trowern's address.

Mr. J. Connal thought that the merchants outside the Association, were not fully aware of its aims and objects. He thought it would be wise to have the various branches of trade organised, with representatives on the Central Board.

Upon motion of Mr. Barrie, seconded by Mr. A. H. Stratton, the retailers of the town endorsed the action of the General Board in Toronto in fighting in the courts the Trading Stamp question and recommended a continuance of the same.

The meeting then adjourned and will meet the first week in January for the election of officers.

STOCK EXCHANGE.

Daily Letter From Haight & Freeze's New York Offices.

That the banking interests have confidence in the future of the market, was fully demonstrated yesterday, when the engagement of over seven million of gold for export failed to bring about an advance in the rate for money or influence lower prices for stocks.

We look for some irregularity to-day and some profit taking but we advise purchasing on all recessions as we are convinced that the market is going higher later on.

We are particularly bullish on the Coalers, especially Reading common and second preferred, and Eries, all three of which will have a good advance. We look for higher movement in P. C. and for higher prices for all tractions, and for some further advances in American Locomotive shares, although we advise profit taking on any further rise.

St. Paul will soon be taken in hand and made a market leader, and with Union Pacific will move up sharply.

The political attack upon the Northern Securities Co. will not amount to anything.

Hold Coppers, Steels and Smelters for higher prices.

We look for greater activity in the Vanderbilt stocks within a short time.

St Paul is the feature abroad; U P 1-3 on bid to 169; 4 Union Pac, 165 3-8; Southern Pac 60 1-2, L N 106 3-4, Erie 42 1-2, Steel 43 3-4, coppers dull.

It will be well to take on the Pacific, preparing to average on slight recessions.

A substantial upward movement is looked for in Erie under the lead of the first preferred.

The dealings in 80,000 full shares of Readings, all issues, in one session, shows how far sighted operators are giving their attention to Coalers.

Buyers of Atchison will make quick profits.

CANADIAN HUMOR.

Some Considerations That Account for Its Great Dearth.

A great deal is taken for granted in making use of such titles, but it can be stated immediately that the expression does not make any claim for the existence of a school of Canadian humor. Rather, although it is a sad admission, a doubt may be expressed whether there is much humor of any kind to be found in Canadian publications. If it were not for the editorial writers on our newspapers, who are generally able to discover something worth a smile once a day, one would have to admit that there is a singular lack of sparkle in literary expression of any kind in Canada. We can be sincere and appreciative, very much in earnest about our duties and our surroundings, but the old lady who advocated the establishment of a chair of humor to improve the tone of the average theological college would have some reason for believing that the future of Canada was in a serious way.

Outsiders, it is to be supposed, would account for this state of affairs in one of two ways, either by saying that Canadians cannot take anything but a serious view of themselves, or else that they have a dislike for humorous view of life when it is presented to them by others. Leaving the first explanation for the present, one can say without any hesitation that the second supposition is most unfair. The average Canadian is deeply attached to a joke, whether produced by himself or by someone else. The Canadian is a cosmopolitan in humor. He feels that he can understand the English, Scotch and Irish humorists. He is thoroughly in sympathy with the Americans when they are inspired by circumstances to compose that form of sublimated fiction which contains their best wit; he can enjoy life, although he may be convinced that there is a broader culture to be found in Punch, with its famous school of draughtsmen. Brought up in a welter of dialect, and with a constant recollection that he is only one among a number of nationalities, the Canadian can recognize elevation of spirits in the German, and even in the Chinese, when it is presented to him. How then can it be supposed that Canadians are incapable of appreciating humor? Whatever the explanation may be for the want of written examples of Canadian humor, it cannot be that they would not be popular in Canada.

The question of production is another matter. There is an adherence to time-honored jests in sections of Canada that seems to justify the suspicion that there has not been a great choice of alternatives. You can feel certain that a joke will never die, once it has taken a firm hold on the affections of the people; crops may rotate, but a jest is incapable of exhausting any soil it has once fastened on. It must not be supposed, however, that Canadians are incapable of either unconscious or spontaneous humor; as for example, the native of eastern Ontario, who invested in an imposing marble shaft for his first deceased spouse, and divided it fractionally and horizontally for the two ladies who rashly followed her; or, as in the case of the man in western Ontario, who, after doing his best with the large, dry fish which had been baked for his dinner, to a condition that expelled every recollection of its native element, remarked with unconscious wistfulness, that there must be a lot of eating on a whale.

One of the most singular things about the present dearth of humor in Canadian writing is the fact that earlier in our history this was not the case. Sam Slick, although he was an American, was a clockmaker in New Brunswick, and his Canadian chronicler felt that it was quite natural that he should be so. It did not worry Judge Haliburton that Fredericton and St. John had not a world-wide reputation in 1840. He felt entirely capable of adding that attraction to a most charming part of the world, which he found full of native character that could be treated humorously, and with the fuller, deeper note of truth which always accompanies genuine humor. The author of "The Clockmaker," "The Attache" and "The Letter Bag of the Great Western" would have been somewhat astonished if he had known how long he would have had to wait for a successor. In the meantime, extracts from some of his more famous passages have been included in Canadian school readers; and in this way a conviction has remained in the native consciousness that there once was a man of considerable fame, who lived in the lower Provinces and wrote of politics and character from an entirely Canadian point of view. It may be because the shillalah element has so largely departed from public life that no imitator of Judge Haliburton's somewhat caustic and heavy wit now discusses our relations with the mother country and with the States. A wider knowledge of the politics of other countries introduces a feeling of procedure and criticism into one's own. To hear from Mark Twain how the Magyars and Czechs roll about on the Parliamentary floor in Austria suggests the reflection of how much more cultured and respectable it is to remain seated or but mildly expostulatory at Ottawa. — Marjory MacMurchy, in The Globe.

A Light Wave Phenomenon.

A curious phenomenon has been reported by men on outpost duty three miles from a military station in the Transvaal. On still, silent nights such as come often in the high veldt a distinct purring was heard as the station's searchlight was turned toward them, the sound increasing until the light ray passed directly overhead. The observers were inclined to attribute the sound to light waves impinging against the air.

Lasts a Lifetime.

That is just what they say of Vapo-Cresolene. The vaporizer is practically indestructible, and the Cresolene is certainly not expensive. This way of treating affections of the throat is most economical, and is also most effective. Our little picture illustrates how it's used. You put some Cresolene in the vaporizer, light lamp beneath, and then breathe in the soothing, healing vapor. For whooping-cough and croup it's a perfect specific.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a life-time, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. VAPO-CRESOLENE Co., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

MRS. ANNA E. TAYLOR.

The Woman Who Went Over Niagara Falls in a Barrel.

Mrs. Anna Edson Taylor, the woman who went over Niagara Falls in a barrel and escaped unharmed save for the shock to her nerves, was 43 years old on the day she took her plunge to world-wide notoriety. Mrs. Taylor is a native of Auburn, N. Y. At 17 she was married to a young medical student, who left her a widow when she was 20. Since that time she has earned a livelihood for herself, principally as an instructor in dancing. She is an intelligent and amiable woman. It was while in Bay City, Mich., that she conceived the idea of making her unique and terrible trip over the greatest cataract in the world. After her arrival at the Falls she showed herself possessed of a coolness and a nerve seldom seen even in men. On the morning after her awful experience she sought out the coroner and told him that if she had been prevented from taking the plunge she would have committed suicide. She begged the coroner not to interfere with any person who might seek to imitate her, as she was convinced that such prevention would result in the self-destruction of the person involved.

MRS. ANNA E. TAYLOR.

Unsightly and Foul Diseases Arising From Impure and Poisoned Blood are Quickly Cured.

Paine's Celery Compound

A Cured Man Says:
"It Would Mean the Use of Pages to Tell One Half of What Paine's Celery Compound Has Done for me."

That great and noble genius, Professor Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., the discoverer of Paine's Celery Compound spent years in perfecting his prescription before he gave it to a world of suffering and disease. Years of severe tests and tens of thousands of precious lives saved, have all combined to make Paine's Celery Compound the present day popular family medicine.

Paine's Celery Compound has triumphed over numberless cases of foul and deep-seated blood diseases. It effectually cleanses the blood, braces the weak nerves, builds up flesh and a constitution capable of resisting sickness and disease. Mr. A. E. Hammond, Mansonville, P. Q., cured by Paine's Celery Compound, writes thus:

"Some five years ago it was my sad misfortune to be afflicted with scrofula sores, of which I had five on one leg and three on the other. These were running sores for four years. In addition to this I was taken down with rheumatism in the small of my back so badly that I could not get off my bed; and to further intensify my sufferings, I had sick headache in the worst form.

"While in this condition, a friend of mine, Mr. Perkins, a merchant of this place, sold me a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, with the express understanding that if it did me no good I should pay nothing for it.

"In accepting this offer, I had no idea of ever feeling under any obligation to pay for the Compound, as I had no faith in its doing me good. To my great surprise, however, I grew better; and by the time I had used three bottles I was as well as ever, and what I never expected to see was realized, viz., the sores on my legs were entirely healed.

"It would mean the use of pages to tell one half of what Paine's Celery Compound has done for me. This marvellous cure has been in effect for nearly a year."

COLONIAL FLAGS.

Australia's Flag Has Already Been Designed and Accepted—A Suggestion for a Canadian One.

The Judges appointed by the Government of the Australian Commonwealth to determine upon the question of a national ensign have at last made their laborious selection from the 30,000 designs submitted in the recent competition open to Australian artists and others. The flag decided upon is simple enough, embracing, as it does, the Union Jack in the top left-hand corner, with a six-pointed star immediately beneath it, emblematic of the six Confederated States, while the other half of the flag is devoted to a representation of the Southern Cross. The Government and official color is to be blue, while the mercantile marine of the new Commonwealth will fly the flag with a red ground. The approved design was that of a number of competitors.

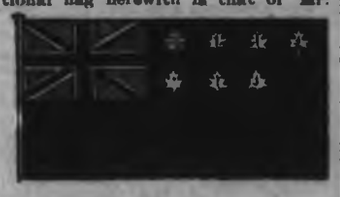
The suggestion for a Canadian national flag herewith is that of Mr.



SUGGESTION FOR CANADA'S FLAG.

A. H. McConnell of Toronto. The body of the flag is of red, with the Jack in the corner, while the seven maple leaves would represent the seven Provinces of the Dominion. Mr. McConnell would like to receive other suggestions for a national flag, if such are to be had.

Are You Aware That

Malt Breakfast Food

Nourishes the Brain as Well as the Body?

Malt Breakfast Food, owing to the fact that the starch and gluten of the Wheat are changed into forms that are quickly absorbed by the stomach, is the best blood enricher. The enriching and nourishing of the blood builds up all the important nerve centres and keeps the brain clear and strong. It is for this reason that physicians and food experts recommend Malt Breakfast Food to business and professional men who depend largely on brain work and effort for success in their restive callings.

Malt Breakfast Food is fast becoming the favourite morning dish with all those who are called upon to sharply exercise brain power. Business and professional men will find in Malt Breakfast Food virtues for the production of sustaining energy and strength that oatmeal and other grain foods can never afford. Your Grocer recommends it.

Two Circus Feats.

"A great deal of unnecessary sympathy is wasted upon the circus man who stands up proudly in spangled tights and lets another circus man bring down a sledge hammer upon a rock placed upon his head with force enough to break it," says an old circus man. "This is spectacular, but is entirely painless and calls for no great strength or endurance. Upon the cranium of the strong man is put an iron contrivance weighing about 150 pounds and provided with cushions both above and where it rests upon the head. A pretty good sized rock is used, and the hammer is a heavy one, so you can see that the blow that cracks the rock is really a serious one. But most of the force is taken up by the rock and the rest by the iron and cushions, while the only sensation felt by the subject is a gentle tap.

"No more difficult than this is the act whereby the hero of the canvas tent permits a rock to be broken upon his chest with a blow from a sledge hammer. So long as the subject's back is free and does not rest against any solid object the trick is perfectly simple. A little illustration: Take a board up and let it lie freely in your hand and hit it smartly with a hammer. It is difficult to hurt your hand, and the thicker the board the less the sensation. But now put your hand on the table and hit the board. Hurts, doesn't it? Well, it's the same with the rock on the chest."

It Strikes the Heart.

Not only is the victim of Rheumatism a constant sufferer, but he lives in continual dread that the disease will reach the heart, which means sudden and unexpected death. Rheumatism can only be cured when the uric acid is removed from the blood by the healthy action of the kidneys. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills make the kidneys healthy and vigorous, and so gradually and thoroughly cure Rheumatism by removing the cause. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

Fredensborg.

Fredensborg is the largest of Denmark's royal palaces. It has an imposing exterior and is surrounded by wonderful avenues of limes, but is extremely simple in its interior arrangements. The bedrooms are small and furnished in the plainest style, and there are hardly any dressing rooms or wardrobes. A very wonderful view may be had from the palace roof, which is made entirely of copper. This metal is much used in Copenhagen; some of the steeples have copper steps by which they can be ascended. Rosenborg has a handsomer interior than Fredensborg and is full of beautiful artistic objects, including, it is said, the finest Venetian glass in the world.

HOW BEAVERS BREATHE.

Curious Method of Using the Same Air Over Again.

"The beaver is really a sort of portable pulp mill, grinding up most any kind of wood that comes in his way. I once measured a white birch tree, 22 inches through, cut down by a beaver. A single beaver generally, if not always, amputates a tree, and when it comes down the whole family fall to and have a regular frolic with the bark and the branches. A big beaver will bring down a fair sized sapling — in about two minutes, and a large tree in about an hour.

"One of the queer t facts about the beaver is the rapidity with which his long, chisel-shaped te t recover from an injury. I have known beavers to break their teeth in biting a trap, and when I caught them again ten days afterward you couldn't see a sign of the break — the teeth had grown out to their former perfection in that short period.

"As compared with the otter or mink, the beaver is a very slow swimmer. His front legs hang by his sides, and he uses only his webbed hind feet for purposes of swimming. It is easy to capture one in a canoe if you can find him in shoal water. He is a most determined fighter, but clumsy and easy to handle. If he could get hold of you with his teeth he would almost take a leg off, so you want to watch him sharply. The place to grab him is by the tail.

"The ability of a beaver to remain under water for a long time is really not so tough a problem as it looks. When the lake or pond is frozen over the beaver will come to the under surface of the ice and exvel his breath, so that it will form a wide, flat bubble. The air, coming in contact with the ice and water, is purified and the beaver breathes it again. This operation he can repeat several times. The otter and the muskrat do the same thing.

"It almost takes a burglar-proof safe to hold a newly captured beaver. I once caught an old one and two kittens up the north branch of the Sou-West, put them in a barrel and brought them down to Miramichi Lake. That night she gnawed a hole through the barrel, and cleared out, leaving her kittens. They were so young that I had no way of feeding them, so I released them in the hope that the mother might find them. Soon after that I caught a big male beaver. I made a large log pen for him of dry spruce, but the second night he cut a log and disappeared.

"Beavers, when alarmed, generally make up stream, so I went to the brook where a little branch came in, and I thought I would go up that a little way, and I hadn't gone more than ten rods before I came across my lad sitting up in the bed of the brook having a lunch on a stick he had cut. He actually looked as if he knew he was playing truant when he caught sight of me out of the side of his eye.

"I picked him up by the tail, brought him back, put him in the pen, supplied him with plenty of fresh poplar, and he seemed as tame as possible, and never gave me any more trouble. I brought him out to Stanley, where he lived for a long time. Turnbull had a mongrel dog, which was jealous of the beaver, and one day attacked him. He did that only once, for the beaver nipped the dog's tail off quicker'n a cat could catch a mouse."—From Rod and Gun.

Newspaper Men in Politics.

Nearly every newspaper man is in politics. The large majority of them are in politics to assist other men, but occasionally some go into the game on their own account. When they do so they are usually successful.

This has been the case in the past, and amongst the successful political editors scores have won high places. Joseph Howe, George Brown, William Lyon Mackenzie, Alexander Mackenzie, and later Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Hon. W. S. Fielding, Hon. George E. Foster, Hon. J. I. Tarte, Hon. G. W. Ross, Hon. J. R. Stratton, Messrs. Parmelee, Holmes, Oliver, E. F. Clarke, R. L. Richardson, and others in Dominion politics, as well as Geo. P. Graham, Thos. H. Preston, A. Pattullo, H. J. Pettypiece, S. Russell, J. A. Auld, Col. Matheson, of the present Ontario Legislature, occur to us at the time of writing as having learned the rudiments of weighing men and measures at the editorial desk.

Our Tory friends have been seized of the fact that newspaper men make good politicians, and up to the present have put several of them in nomination for the forthcoming Provincial election in Ontario. Charters, in Peel; Clarke, in Bruce, and Bowney in Wellington, are three bright men who have been thus selected, and it is believed that the fight in the places indicated will be fully as well sustained as at any other point along the line.—Goderich Signal.

Before Starting for Canada.

Sandy, on the point of starting for this country, left his purse, containing £100, at the railway station in Dumfries.

On his return to his native town the purse was brought to him by a clerk, who expected a slight recognition. Sandy took the purse, counted the money, and then looked enquiringly at the clerk, who said, in astonishment:

"Isn't it right, sir?"

"Richt? No!" was the response. "Where's the interest?"

A Story of Davin.

Nicholas Flood Davin would say such queer things. Talking to the writer once of a well-known journalist, he said, enthusiastically: "Clever fellow," then, lowering his voice, he added, "but he never had the genius for keeping sober." Now, who but Davin would have used the word "genius" in that connection?—Kincardine Review.

BOTTLE BABIES

Bottle babies are so likely to get thin. What can be done? More milk, condensed milk, watered milk, household mixtures—try them all. Then try a little Scott's Emulsion in the bottle.

It does for babies what it does for old folks—gives new, firm flesh and strong life. You'll be pleased with the result. It takes only a little in milk to make baby fat.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

HINTS TO PARENTS.

Let the children make a noise sometimes. Their happiness is as important as your nerves.

As the boys grow up make companions of them. Then they will not seek companionship elsewhere.

Allow them as they grow older to have opinions of their own. Make them individuals, not mere echoes.

Talk hopefully to your children of life and its possibilities. You have no right to depress them because you have suffered.

Bear in mind that you are largely responsible for your child's inherited character and have patience with faults and failings.

Respect their little secrets. If they have concealments, worrying them will never make them tell, and patience will probably do the work.

Remember that without physical health mental attainment is worthless. Let them lead free, happy lives which will strengthen both body and mind.

If you have lost a child, remember that for the one that is gone there is no more to do, for those remaining everything. Hide your grief for their sakes.

Impress upon them from early infancy that actions have results and that they cannot escape consequences even by being sorry when they have acted wrongly.

Teach boys and girls the actual faults of life as soon as they are old enough to understand them and give them the sense of responsibility without saddening them.

Blood Disorders

are simply kidney disorders. The kidneys filter the blood of all that shouldn't be there. The blood passes through the kidneys every three minutes. If the kidneys do their work no impurity or cause of disorder can remain in the circulation longer than that time. Therefore if your blood is out of order your kidneys have failed in their work. They are in need of stimulation, strengthening or doctoring. One medicine will do all three, the finest and most imitated blood medicine there is

I WEIGH 175 lbs.

Former Weight 135 "

Gain 40 lbs.

There are people who say that the benefit derived from the use of put-up medicines is imaginary. It is not the case with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which makes weak women strong and sick women well. A woman may imagine she's weak, or may fancy she's sick, but her imagination can't add forty pounds to her weight. The positive proof of the curative power of "Favorite Prescription" is found in the restoration of health which is recorded in face and form, of strength which can be tested, and weight which can be registered in pounds and ounces.

The general health of women is so intimately connected with the local health of the womanly organs that when these are diseased the whole body suffers loss. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures womanly diseases. It establishes regularity, stops weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I am very glad to let other poor sufferers know what Dr. Pierce's medicines have done for me," writes Mrs. Edwin H. Gardner, of Brockwood, Norfolk Co., Mass. (Box 70.) "You know I wrote to you last summer. I read what your medicine had done for other people, so thought I would try it, and I found it was a blessing to me and my family. I began in June and took six bottles of your medicine, and three vials of 'Pellets.' I took your medicine a year when I had a ten-pound girl. I had the easiest time I ever had with any of my three children. I have been very well since I took your medicine. I took three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' three of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and three vials of 'Pellets.' I had no appetite and could not eat much without it distressing me before I took your 'Favorite Prescription,' and I only weighed 135 pounds. Now I weigh 175."

SMALL NOVELTIES.

Tulle Ruffles, Wreaths of Roses and Striped Bands.

Now that tulle ruffles may be bought for a mere song many of the more conservative leaders of fashion are returning to the feather boa. One thing is sure—one should never attempt to make these ruffled boas at home when they can be obtained so cheaply already made.

There is no doubt that sleeves are becoming much larger. This style is much more suitable for thin frocks, where plain tight effects are decidedly out of place.

Wreaths of little Banskia roses in soft pink and yellow are most becoming on black hats, especially when they are half hidden in folds of soft tulle. Wreaths of foliage are pretty in the modiste's window, but they are usually unbecoming to any but young girls with fresh complexions.

Dainty hats of tuscan straw are trimmed very simply with a flat spreading bow of turquoise ribbon velvet and underneath a crushed bow of yellow lace.

A jaunty little French gown shows a novel striped trimming. It is composed of two shades of tan cloth. The lighter one, almost cream, is disposed in a broad band down the front of the skirt and around the bottom. Tiny black velvet ribbons are sewed on this in such a manner as to form stripes. The short bolero jacket is trimmed in the same manner, except that the broad directoire lapels are left partly uncovered. A soft blouse of pongee is worn underneath the bolero. The belt is of the light cloth banded with narrow black velvet ribbons.

HANDSOME NEW QUARTERS.

The Brunswicke Billiard Parlours in Opera House Block, George Street.

The Brunswick Billiard Parlours in the opera house block, will doubtless prove a great attraction for many of the young men of the town during the coming winter.

These handsome new apartments are equipped and controlled by Messrs M. Rockamora and W.Callahan, both formerly of Toronto, and their enterprise in placing at the disposal of the Peterborough public so excellent a means of entertainment, will fill a long felt want in this regard. Mr. Callahan has had many years experience at the billiard and pool business, and Mr. Rocamora is known as a real good fellow and popular amongst those with whom he comes in contact.

The rooms are centrally located, being in the quarters of the old regimental rooms. They have been very attractively fitted up, and lighted throughout by electricity. The rooms have been artistically papered and in every way made in keeping with the amount of capital invested.

The tables were manufactured by the Brunswicke, Balke, Callender Co., of Chicago, who have an extensive international patronage, and whose tables, cushions and rails, similar to those in the Rocamora-Callahan equipment have been used in all the championship matches played in the last twenty-four years. They are finished in oak and are very handsome, costing somewhere in the vicinity of $300 each. An English billiard table and two more pool tables are to be added in the completion of these palatial parlours. A copy of the standard rules of the various games is also at the service of the players. Among others which will be popular are the three ball carom game, the 14 and 18 inch balk line game, 3 cushion carom, 4 ball carom, continuous 15 ball pool, pin and American pyramid pool.

Before long Messrs. Rocamora & Callahan intend to control the entire second flat when apartments on a club scale will be fitted up and they are determined to conduct the parlours in a manner entirely consistent with the law governing such establishments, and will rigidly enforce the age limit, prohibiting boys under sixteen from being on the premises.

Handsome prizes will be offered for those making highest scores in any month and after New Years a series of matches will be arranged. These will be looked forward to with interest by the many admirers of pool and billiards in Peterborough, and undoubtedly Rocamora & Callahan's parlours will become very popular.

A True Brain Food.

Must replace the feeling of lassitude and mental tiredness by clearness and strength of mind. Not that it goes directly to the brain, that were foolish. The true brain food must be carried by rich, red blood. If mental fatigue worries and alarms you, look not to the brain, but to the stomach and assimilative organs. No remedy yet discovered possesses the marvellous brain strengthening power that Ferrozone has demonstrated in thousands of cases. Ferrozone does not stimulate the brain into a fitful glow, but by improving digestion, strengthening the nervous system, stimulating the assimilation, giving new strength to the heart, it sends a stream of red vitalizing blood to the brain. Thus it is a true brain food.... Ferrozone is sold by Ormond & Walsh.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Last Evening's Meeting Proved to be a Most Successful one.

The excellent fall and winter programme arranged by George street Epworth League gives promise of very interesting and helpful meetings, and the number already given have amply fulfilled all expectations, to which that of last evening was by no means an exception.

The chair was occupied by Mr. E. H. Doidge, and the meeting opened with a short service of song led by the League choir. After the reading of the lesson by Miss Breese, the choir contributed a selection which was followed by an excellent paper on the subject "Preaching," prepared by Miss S. Miller, and read by Miss Bennett. The second part of the topic of the evening "Hearing" was nicely dealt with by Miss Kidd, after which Miss Bertha Parnell was heard with much pleasure in a vocal solo. The meeting closed with a short prayer and praise service in which a large number took part.

The Society is busily engaged in preparing for a concert to be held on the 16th December, which promises to be one of the best entertainments yet given.

Next Monday evening the meeting will be social in character and it is hoped a large number of the members as well as intending members will be present.

SYMPATHY—TRUE SYMPATHY.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir. — Of late I have heard a great many expressions regarding the great explosion which occurred in the cheese factory here a few days ago, and one of the most prominent expressions is this, "I sympathise with Mr. Oakley," and well we, as patrons, might, for I am informed that the insurance policy held by Mr. Oakley only includes fire, so that he is the entire loser of the whole property, and this means a great deal to a young man just starting up in business for himself.

Mr. Oakley has been our cheese maker in this place for some years past, and last season purchased the property from Mr. Ed. Squires, and has been operating it this year himself, and now to lose almost the entire building, as well as utensils boilers and engine, means a very heavy loss.

Mr. Oakley has been fortunate in winning the good will of both patrons and buyers, and we would be pleased to have him continue the business, but I think that we as patrons who sympathize, should do so in some solid way. I mean by action, for "actions speak louder than words," and when we get our bills and cheques let us each put our hand in our pockets, and give "Dan" a five dollar bill, to show that we sympathize not only by word, but by deed, ever remembering that "no man liveth unto himself," and that even a cup of cold water given to some one in need shall not lose its reward. Then I would suggest that those who feel like multiplying by two may have the privilege of doing so, and not only that but let us turn in like men with our teams and help to clear up the wreck, and help in any way we feel will be a benefit.

True sympathy will touch both a man's heart and pocket, while that which can be given by anybody is only of the lips let us then show that ours is that kind which counts, and a little donation from each of us will mean a great help to our cheesemaker, and I am of the opinion that it will be money well spent, for to cheese cheesemakers is sometimes a very serious consideration, and we might lose a great deal more than the amount spoken of in one season by not getting the "best prices" and not being on the "top" of the board.

I also feel quite assured that should any misfortune happen to any of Mr. Oakley's patrons that he would be one of the first to lend a helping hand or assist in any way possible to help an unfortunate brother, and if we can do anything I know that it will be greatly appreciated, and never forgotten.

By writing these few lines I feel that I am only expressing the thoughts of other brother patrons, so I now leave the matter with you, hoping you will all kindly respond to the few suggestions here given, and that we may all be spared to see another season begin with a new cheese and butter factory, second to none, and our old, well-respected friend, Mr. D. Oakley, at the helm.

Thanking you Mr. Editor, for your valuable space,

I Remain,
TRUE SYMPATHY.

Norwood, Nov. 19th.

Neuralgia Almost Drives People Mad.

Only those who have suffered it, know of the darting, distracting pains and aches neuralgia inflicts. Ordinary remedies don't even relieve. It requires an extraordinarily strong, penetrating liniment to drive out the pain. To get relief rub Polson's Nerviline into the spot. Pain can't resist Nerviline, which has five times the strength of any other liniment. Drives out neuralgia in half an hour. Never fails! Never harms! Always successful. Try a large 25 cent bottle.

"And the Band Played on."

And the chorus was "What's the matter with Charley LeGros? He's all right!" New customers dropping in every day to his Tony Tonsorial parlours. Additional swell automatic chair, making four altogether. Your pick of four artists to shave you or trim your hair, without any useless waiting. The latest toilet preparations for face and scalp, electric hair brushes, hot towels for everyone. These are a few of the luxuries that make up a combination that can't be beat anywhere in city or town. Shop recently enlarged and refurnished. Everything up-to-date, right, or day.

CHARLEY LEGROS.

IN THE CHOIR.

(Contributed.)

On entering the choir room try not to see the leader or the organist, so he will be sure to think you are offended or have been slighted. Don't speak to anyone.

Be sure by word or sign to let it be known that someone (else) has made a mistake or a discord.

Of course it is because of partiality that the leader has not recognized you as the best one for the solo of your "part."

Never openly forgive one another, but make all feel as if the choir should be broken up and reorganized.

Remember it is a waste of time to be on hand at the proper hour for practise, and you will be all the more esteemed when you have come "after all."

The new member must be received at Zero, so that she may appreciate the hot springs that arise when a correction is necessary. She must be impressed with the fact that for a quick display of unchristian feeling the choir is the best invention of the devil.

Think all week of something disagreeable in at least one member of the choir. No other member is trying to make it successful.

One should always talk and occasionally giggle for the benefit of the congregation. You are in the choir seats only to look at the people.

Try and wear something that will add colour and variety to the general appearance.

Any old caller or "engagement" certainly comes before your duty to the choir. Your "seat" is there, and blessings rest upon the head of the one who dares to take it.

Of course the leader does not know good music, therefore score a point by mumbling your disapproval of such "stuff." The organist or leader has no troubles, so make sure of telling him what others think.

Instead of congregations objecting to members of the choir talking to each other during the service, they should be thankful that they are on speaking terms.

Wait for a special invitation before attending practise. Services required only once a Sunday.

HELP AT HAND.

The Terrors of Dyspepsia Have at Last Been Overcome—No one Need Suffer a Moment Longer.

Since man began to eat his stomach has been a source of trouble.

Often he eats what he should not, and how he should not.

Then nature protests in Heartburn, Sour Stomach, Dyspepsia or Indigestion.

For many years laxatives were the only remedy thought of for such troubles.

Now, however, man has become wiser, and has at last found a better medicine—one that cures.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have never failed to cure stomach weakness.

They are composed of the very best digestive and curative agents known to medical science.

The proof that they are right is found in the fact that they always relieve, and when used persistently never fail to cure.

And still many suffer the torturs of Dyspepsia, because they have not heard of this wonderful medicine, or because having heard, they confuse Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets with the thousand and one so called Dyspepsia Cures.

There is only one sure cure, and the name is Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

They are 50 cents a box. All druggists sell them. If you are a sufferer, don't hesitate a moment. If you are not, but know of one who is, just him hear the good news.

AN IMPORTANT CASE.

(Toronto Star.)

If a person who had been under water for 15 minutes could be worked with for almost two hours without inducing signs of life, and if after that life were restored what a great significance attaches to it.

There have been cases of drownings in Toronto Bay where a victim, after being under water five minutes, was worked with for half an hour and given up as dead.

Such cases have occurred in all parts of the country.

Yet in the case reported fully in these columns on Saturday, Mr. M. Parkinson worked almost two hours with a victim of a drowning before getting signs of life, and finally succeeded. He was encouraged, he says, by observing that the girl's body did not grow cold, and so the efforts at resuscitation were continued.

This case should be given the widest publicity by the press, for it upsets the general idea that hope must be abandoned unless some signs of life can be induced in half an hour.

The First in the World.

Merrill's System Tonic is the first medicine to combine the tonic with the reconstructive treatment in the cure of disease. The blood is purified, new blood is made, the nerves, muscles and tissues of the heart, stomach, liver and kidneys is toned and strengthened, and then nature is enabled to throw off the disease which has been ravishing the body. For Constipation, Catarrh and Chronic Rheumatism, System Tonic is a positive cure. Sold at 50c. per bottle by Ormond & Walsh, the druggists.

Must be pretty—it should be of such quality as would insure by its remaining pretty. It should have good time-keeping qualities—The case should be thicker than these paper and of better quality than (understandably) so many are. As to the movement, you may think it matters little so long as it ticks. We consider it as important to have reliability in ladies' as in gents' watches.

ANOTHER CONTINGENT

Dominion Cabinet to Consider the Question To-Day.

WAR OFFICE WISH AMBIGUOUS

It Seems, However, That Imperial Authorities Are Desirous of Obtaining Mounted Men From Canada—Probability That Cabinet Will Say That Canada's Offer Still Holds Good—The Procedure.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—It was stated on Monday last that a communication from the Imperial authorities in regard to the enrolment in Canada of volunteers for service in South Africa had reached the Dominion Government. It is understood that the communication in question was in the shape of a wish on the part of the War Office to learn whether the offer made by the Canadian Government last spring to recruit a mounted force in this country is still open. It will be remembered that when that offer was made the War Office asked for time to consider it. Subsequently after an interval of about a month, the reply came that the War Office, whilst appreciating the offer, did not wish to take advantage of it for the present. Now, however, it seems evident that, although the last stages of the war have been reached, the Imperial authorities are desirous of obtaining mounted men from Canada. A meeting of the Dominion Cabinet will be held to-day, when the despatch from London will be placed before the Ministers. It is, of course, not possible to forecast in advance what answer the Cabinet will decide to give to the question which has been put. A reasonable presumption would be, however, that the Government will advise His Excellency to inform the Imperial authorities that Canada's offer still holds good. Should this prove to be the case, the War Office will doubtless communicate its views as to the procedure which should be followed. It is taken for granted that the Government here will, in the event of a force being enrolled, suggest the names of officers to accompany it. It is thought that no time will be lost by the Cabinet in reaching a decision and forwarding it to the proper quarter. Something has been said in the press about the likelihood, if another force is to be raised in Canada, of recruiting taking place wholly in the west. This may not, perhaps, be the course adopted. Doubtless there are recruits in all parts of Canada who are willing to offer, and if they possess the necessary qualifications it would scarcely be fair to refuse them. The Minister of Militia returned to the city yesterday afternoon from Boston, where he had been paying a short visit. Col. Borden had little to say in regard to the possibility of another Canadian contingent. He had heard, he said, that some communication had been received from the Imperial authorities, but was unable to state anything as to its nature. To-day's Cabinet meeting and the results likely to flow therefrom are exciting the greatest attention in local military circles, and developments are awaited with considerable interest.

Arms for the Boers.

London, Nov. 20.—The Government has caused the detention of a British steamer which was fitting out ostensibly for a pleasure cruise at Victoria Docks, on the ground that the vessel was laden with contraband of war, destined for the Boers. It is said the subsequent search disclosed four field guns, quantities of war material for the manufacture of powder, and that the vessel was fitted up inside to accommodate from five to six hundred men. The captain of the steamer says his instructions directed him to call at Hamburg.

Another Canadian Dead.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—A cablegram was received yesterday by the Militia Department from Cape Town, announcing the death at Kimberley Nov. 8, of Abraham Wellington Armsden, South African Constabulary, of enteric fever. Armsden's father is Henry Armsden of Melita, Manitoba.

THE SKAGUAY FENIANS

They Have Been Trying to Stir Up Trouble in the Yukon.

PLOT REPORT NOT ALL BUNCOME

There Is a Fenian Centre at Skaguay, Which Accounts For the Anti-British Spirit Shown There — Another Report Says American Residents of Seattle Planned the Proposed Raid on Yukon.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 20.—Recent arrivals from the north confirm the statements appearing in the San Francisco despatch in so far that Inspector Corrigan arrived from White Horse on the evening of the 5th and held a consultation with United States officers at Skaguay. It appears to be generally accepted as a fact that some mischief was brewing, and it is attributed to the machinations of the Fenian centre, with its local headquarters at Skaguay, but in direct affiliation with the head centres of New York and Chicago. Leaders of this local centre are very well known to the authorities and have been watched for some time in connection with their workings among the local populace and their communications with head centres. The exceedingly mean and hostile spirit which prevails in Skaguay towards everything Canadian and British is said to be largely due to the plotting of this local centre. The recent insults to the British flag, culminating in the actual tearing of it down by a mob on one occasion, as well as certain well-carried-out plots to bring Canadian officials into disgrace, are all traceable to the same gang. The informants aver positively that the report is not all fake and buncombe, that watchful officials of the Government know it is not, and that the country does and always stands in need of great alertness and preparation.

TO RAID THE YUKON.

A Plan of Some American Residents of Seattle, Wash Ter.

Vancouver, Nov. 20.—The Yukon insurrection story is not altogether without foundation. Some hair-brained American drew up the plans for forcibly deposing the Government and police in the Yukon, somewhat similar to the historical Jameson raid in the Transvaal.

Major Wood, N.W.M.P., discovered the scheme and took prompt steps to suppress it, American officials at Skaguay co-operating.

The discovery of the scheme is supposed to have nipped it in the bud.

The Yukon police force consists of about 250 men, who are provided with Lee-Enfields. When the scheme was first discovered, Maxim and Colt guns were mounted at White Horse, which was the first place to be attacked. Major Snyder, in charge of the police there, also received reinforcements, and patrols were kept on the alert night and day. It is said the scheme originated in Seattle and $250,000 was available to aid the venture.

This information has been obtained from ex-police officers of the Yukon force and members of the gambling fraternity, who have come to the coast cities for the winter, and is guardedly confirmed by officials who have just come down from the North.

Nearly a Million Bushels of Wheat.

Fort William, Nov. 20.— Grain vessels continue to arrive here. Since the large fleet that came in Sunday morning, there have arrived here the Lake Michigan, the Myles, Rosedale and Donnacona. The Chisholm also arrived with a cargo of coal from Cleveland. With the loading of the Donnacona yesterday, there will have been shipped since Sunday morning nine hundred and twenty-five thousand bushels of wheat in forty-eight hours. The weather is in fine condition, and not a particle of ice is in sight, either in the river or bay.

Grain Men Complain.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—Some Montreal grain men are asking the Government to "give American boats the privilege of carrying grain in from Fort William to the ports of Goderich, Meaford, Collingwood, Point Edward, Midland, Owen Sound and Depot Harbor," on the ground that rough weather will make every grain shipper otherwise default his contracts. Hon. Mr. Tarte has informed the Montreal men that their application will be considered when the Premier returns to the city.

Ontario Canners Forming Trust.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—Ontario canners are working out the details of a joint-stock company, which looks to control all the principal canning industries of the Province. The object of the amalgamation is to control the output, raise the prices and secure modified freight rates from different points in Ontario to the leading markets. The scheme is under consideration at a meeting now being held at the Walker House. About twenty canners are present.

Halifax to Jamaica.

Halifax, N.S., Nov. 20.—The Kerr Line intend carrying on a regular service between Halifax and a Jamaica port this winter. The first steamer of the line will be the Fraseti, which will leave here on Dec. 3rd.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Prof. Terry says there are two kings of patriotism, the false and the true. He's right. There's the kind of patriotism that serves the country and labours for its up-building, and the kind that lies about and slanders those who are doing it. Both specimens, says the Hamilton Times, are on view in Ontario just now.

The Toronto News in criticising the high school geography, pays a high compliment to the atlas issued by the Department of the Interior: — "The Dominion Government sends out information regarding Manitoba and the Northwest in a large, handsomely-illustrated pamphlet of forty pages. This book is issued by direction of Hon. Clifford Sifton, Minister of the Interior, and thousands of copies are distributed gratuitously. The Sifton publication is called 'Atlas of Western Canada.' It contains up-to-date maps of all the Provinces and districts of Canada; its statistics are reliable, and the letter-press makes extremely bright and entertaining reading. The reader is surprised and delighted with the description of our magnificent land of plenty in the great west. Take it all in all, this book shows how interesting the study of geography can be made; it is instructive to compare the work of the Dominion Government with the high school geography issued by the Ontario Department of Education, which limps fifteen years behind the times." The comparison is not fair, says the Globe, because it is impossible for a text-book to be changed as often as a Government publication is issued. Still, the commendation of the Sifton book, coming from The News, is satisfactory.

ONTARIO FRUIT.

Now that the Pan-American Exhibition is a matter of history, the time has arrived when it is safe for Ontario to count its gains. The results of the judging in the horticultural department was recently made known, and, as usual, the Province of Ontario is well in the vanguard. The State of New York secured a greater number of prizes, and is the only political division of any sort that has surpassed Ontario. New York received the gold medal for the largest number of varieties, while Ontario was awarded the gold medal for its "general display of fruits of superior excellence." After all, it is better to surpass in quality than in quantity, and there seems no question but that our Province has an established reputation as a fruit producing region.

TO "BUILD UP" NEW ONTARIO.

The Mining Industry of the Algoma District.

NEVER SO PROSPEROUS AS NOW

Return of Hon. E. J. Davis and Mr. T. W. Gibson From Their Tour—Sulphite Pulp and Steel Rails Charcoal Being Made at the Soo.

"It can be said that the mining industry in the Sudbury district and on the north shore of Lake Huron never was so prosperous as it is at the present time. There were never so many men employed nor so much product being turned out, and those who are interested were never more hopeful or had better prospects before them." This is the opinion of Mr. T. W. Gibson, Director of the Bureau of Mines, who has just returned from a ten days' visit to Nipissing and Algoma, in company with Hon. E. J. Davis, Commissioner of Crown Lands. During the tour visits were paid to several of the leading mines in the vicinity of Sudbury, to Victoria mines, to the pulp mill, being erected at Webbwood Falls, and to Mr. Clergue's great industries at Sault Ste. Marie. At the latter point the first sheet of sulphite pulp and the first lot of charcoal from the first of the series of charcoal ovens were turned out while the officials were there.

DEVELOPMENT AT SUDBURY.

At the Clergue syndicate's Gertrude nickle mine, thirteen miles west of Sudbury, shafts have been sunk, rock house built and crusher installed, a large quantity of ore taken out and roast heaps are now being built. The construction of a smelter is to be undertaken immediately, and the ore from the Elsie nickel mine nearby, which is being received at the rate of 100 tons a day, will also be roasted and smelted on the Gertrude property. It is understood, Mr. Gibson said, that the smelter to be erected there will be replaced later on by another to be established by the syndicate at a water-power in the Township of Graham, several miles farther west. The party next visited the Canadian Copper Company's Creighton mine, also on the line of the Manitoulin & North Shore Railway. This is considered to be the largest mine yet uncovered in the Sudbury district. The company are taking from it about 500 tons of ore daily, which is shipped to Copper Cliff for treatment. The Canadian Copper Co. have doubled their smelting capacity, as compared with two years ago, and are now treating 1,000 tons of ore per day. Their mattes are retreated at the Ontario Works and reduced to about 80 per cent. metal contents. "Nickel properties in the Sudbury region are held at good prices and considerable American and English capital is looking for investment in the district," said Mr. Gibson.

A visit was also paid to the Victoria Mines Smelting Works, operated by the Mond Nickel Company, where a matte containing about 80 per cent. of metal is produced by the Bessemer converter process. The company have a very complete and substantial plant, one of the features being an aerial tramway, by which the ore is conveyed from the mine, a distance of about two miles. The company employ 300 men and treat 200 tons of ore daily. While at Sudbury Mr. Gibson also heard something of the iron deposits in the Township of Hutton, where steps are being taken to have tests made. It is also understood that negotiations are pending for the sale of some of the claims.

At Webbwood Falls the Spanish River Pulp & Paper Company have 150 men employed in erecting a mill, dam, etc.

PROGRESS OF THE "SOO" INDUSTRIES.

At Sault Ste. Marie Mr. Clergue's syndicate has about 4,000 men employed on the various works. Two charcoal and two coke blast furnaces are being erected, the immense steel plant is approaching completion, and, as noted above, the sulphite pulp mill is finished and turned out its first sheet last week, while the first lot of charcoal was also produced. It is the intention also to make coke on the spot from coal brought from the United States. The ground pulp mill was in full operation, and also the electro-chemical works, producing caustic soda and bleaching powder. The ferro-nickel works were also in operation, the ore from the Gertrude mine supplying the raw material. Mr. Gibson remarked that the immensity of Mr. Clergue's Soo industries might be appreciated somewhat when it was stated that there were no less than 29 miles of railway sidings on the ground which they occupied.

They were taken out on the newly-built Algoma Central Railway as far as Goulais River, about 25 miles, the road being finished to Bass Lake, some twenty miles farther. The line is a substantially constructed one, with rails weighing 85 pounds to the yard. It runs in parts through a hardwood district, and for four or five miles the forest had been felled and the trees awaited transportation to the charcoal kilns. "The impression derived from an inspection of the whole of these works," said Mr. Gibson, "is that they form a truly herculean enterprise, or, rather, chain of enterprises, in which raw materials will be transformed into finished products by the most economical and up-to-date methods, and with the almost total elimination of the middleman's profits. So far they have required the expenditure of vast sums of money, the common report being that Mr. Clergue is at present paying out $750,000 a month for wages and material, and very much remains to be expended before the projects are in their final form."

To the Best of Her Knowledge.

A lady was looking for her husband and inquired anxiously of a housemaid, "Do you happen to know anything of your master's whereabouts?"

"I'm not sure, mum," replied the careful domestic, "but I think they're in the wash."

DRAMATIC ENTERTAINMENT.

The Young People of Centreville do Some Very Clever Acting.

On October 29th, the young people of the Centreville Presbyterian church gave a dramatic entertainment, which was a great success.

The opening number was Godfrey's "Greeting to the King," ably rendered by the choir behind the scenes, and then the curtain rose, and the first act of a drama entitled the "Donation Party," was begun, with Mr. David Deyell as "Rev. George Baxter," Miss Maud Finnemore, as "Mrs. Baxter," his wife; Miss F. Robertson acted as "Aunt Jerusha," and did credit to the part. Miss Amy Donaldson was "Phoebe," the darkey girl, and rendered a number of coon songs delightfully. Mr. J. Isbister represented "Peter Jones," the darkey lad, and he deserves credit for the way he acted his part. The love making was well done by Mr. G. Byers, as "Squire Appleby." Mr. M. Heron's part as "Herbert," the long lost son of "Mr. and Mrs. Baxter," was well taken. Miss McIntosh acted "Marm Brown," the dear old woman that understood everything.

The other male parts were taken by Messrs. L. Anderson, H. Laing and W. Finnemore, who took their respective parts well; and the Misses Baxter, Miss E. Deyell, and Miss Fair were surprised when they heard that their brother Herbert had come back to life, and the ladies that would rather quilt than play kissing games, were Miss Laing, Miss Heron and Miss Anderson, who were all afraid of a little wee mouse.

The entertainment closed about 11 o'clock. The night was fine and clear and the roads were good, and the result was a full house, the proceeds amounting to something over $50. All went home after singing the National Anthem, well pleased with the entertainment.

Enthusiastic Converts.

There are Thousands of Them Who Believes as This Woman Does.

Miss Ira Knowlton, of Butte, Montana, is a most enthusiastic convert to the virtues of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets as a cure for obstinate stomach troubles. She says: "I had poor digestion nearly all my life. It now seems to me that for years I never knew what it was to be hungry, to have a good natural appetite.

"I was troubled with gas in the stomach, causing pressure on the heart with palpitation and short breath. Nearly everything I ate soured on my stomach; sometimes I had cramps in the stomach which almost resembled spasms.

"Doctors told me I had catarrh of the stomach, but their medicines would not reach it, and I would still be a sufferer had I not in sheer desperation decided to try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"I knew they were an advertised remedy, and I didn't believe anything I read about them, as I had no confidence in advertised remedies, but my sister living in Pittsburg wrote me last spring telling me how Stuart's Tablets had cured her little daughters of indigestion and loss of flesh and appetite and I hesitated no longer.

"I bought a fifty cent box at my drug store, and took two of the large Tablets after each meal, and found them delightful to take, being as pleasant to the taste as caramel candy. Whenever during the day or night I felt any pain or uneasiness in the stomach or about the heart I took one of the small tablets and in three weeks it seemed to me as if I had never known what stomach trouble was.

"I keep Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in the house and every member of our family uses them occasionally after a hearty meal or when any of us have a pain or ache in the digestive organs."

Mr. E. H. Davis, of Hampton, Va., says; "I doctored five years for dyspepsia, but in two months I got more benefit from Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, than in five years of the doctor's treatment."

"Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of the stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, bloating after meals, sympathetic heart trouble.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is not a cheap cathartic but an active digestive remedy containing the pepsin and diastase which every weak stomach lacks, and they cure stomach troubles because they digest the food eaten, and give the weak, abused, over-worked stomach a chance to rest and recuperate.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold in every drug store in the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

Anglo-American Amity.

New York, Nov. 18.—Ambassador Joseph H. Choate was the guest of honor of the Lotos Club Saturday night at a dinner and reception given in his honor. About 275 persons were present. The keynote of the speeches was the friendliness existing between England and America, and the desirability of its continuance. Mr. Choate said that whatever differences came up between the countries they would be harmoniously, honorably and amicably adjusted.

EIGHT CONVINCING REASONS . . .

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE IN

THE IMPERIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO'Y OF CANADA.

1. It is a purely Canadian Company, having all its funds invested in Canadian securities, and transacting business only in Canada.

2. It maintains the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

3. It maintains relatively the strongest policy reserves of any Canadian Life Insurance Company.

4. Its past record — the greatest guarantee of the future — has been unparalleled in Canadian life insurance.

5. Its policy contract is one of the most liberal issued, consistent with safety and equity.

6. It has a Capital of $1,000,000, which makes policy-holders' security unquestionable. At the same time, the assured is practically in the same position regarding profits as if he held a policy in a mutual company, the Imperial's charter providing that at least 90 per cent. of all profits shall be divided amongst policy-holders.

7. For every $100 of liability to policy-holders it holds $120 of securely invested assets. These assets are all of the highest order, and will bear the closest scrutiny.

8. An Imperial policy never depreciates in value, but, on the contrary, is constantly becoming more valuable. It is the most valuable estate you can leave behind you.

Only a Penny

To Get Well.

I ask only a postal stating which book you wish. No money is wanted.

I want you to know how nerve power alone operates each bodily function. If some organ is weak, and fails in its duty, I want to tell you how more nerve power will correct it. I want you to know, as I do, that a permanent cure can come in no other way. I have spent my life time on this problem.

I will send with the book an order on your nearest druggist for six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Every druggist keeps it. I will ask you to accept the Restorative and test it for a month. If it cures, pay $5.50, if it fails it is free. I will pay your druggist myself for it.

This offer in five years has been accepted by 550,000 people. Practically all of them had difficult troubles, long endured. Most of them were discouraged. Yet 39 out of 40 who received those six bottles paid for them. They paid because they were cured, for otherwise no druggist asks a penny for it.

I cannot better prove my own faith in this remedy. No physician can do more than pay for your treatment if it fails. No other does so much. Won't you write a postal to learn if I can help you?

Simply state which book you want and name of your dealer, and address Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

PARLIAMENTARY REFORM.

New Rules to Be Presented at the Next Session.

London, Nov. 20.—It is understood that the British Government intends to propose a reform of the procedure of parliament to overcome obstruction.

The scheme will suggest that the House assemble at 2.30 p.m., instead of 4, that Government business be taken first, that an adjournment from 7.30 to 9 be taken for dinner, that questions then be taken up and ordinary business be carried on until midnight.

Under the existing system questions form the first business of the House of Commons and give rise to much obstruction.

It will also be proposed that estimates be first considered by a strong committee representing all sections of the House, in whose proceedings the duration of speeches would be limited, and that the existing cumbrous method of taking divisions be superceded by the self-registering vote machinery used in most continental legislatures.

Under the new scheme disorderly members would be more sternly punished for the first offence and suspended for a month with increasing punishment for renewed offense, and offenders would be compelled to apologize before being permitted to return to parliament.

HELP AT HAND.

The Terrors of Dyspepsia Have at Last Been Overcome—No one Need Suffer a Moment Longer.

Since man began to eat his stomach has been a source of trouble.

Often he eats what he should not, and how he should not.

Then nature protests in Heartburn, Sour Stomach, Dyspepsia or Indigestion.

For many years laxatives were the only remedy thought of for such troubles.

Now, however, man has become wiser, and has at last found a better medicine—one that cures.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have never failed to cure stomach weakness.

They are composed of the very best digestive and curative agents known to medical science.

The proof that they are right is found in the fact that they always relieve, and when used persistently never fail to cure.

And still many suffer the tortures of Dyspepsia, because they have not heard of this wonderful medicine, or because having heard, they confuse Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets with the thousand and one so called Dyspepsia Cures.

There is only one sure cure, and the name is Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

They are 50 cents a box. All druggists sell them. If you are a sufferer, don't hesitate a moment. If you are not, but know of one who is, let him hear the good news.

Deafness is Curable!

Sufferers from impaired hearing will be glad to know that their affliction is probably not due to any organic defect in the ear, but results probably from a thickening of the lining of the middle ear caused by catarrhal inflammation. Hundreds of perfect recoveries as a result of the inhalation of Catarrhozone are reported, and on the highest authority we recommend this treatment to our readers. Catarrhozone quickly restores lost hearing, and its efficiency is placed beyond dispute by the case of Mr. Foxall of St. Thomas, who recovered perfect hearing by using Catarrhozone, after years of deafness. Price $1. At druggists or by mail, from Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

RECIRPOCITY VOICES

Were Feeble at the Convention at Washington Tuesday.

TARIFF TONES WERE DEEP BASS

Present Appearances Indicate That U. S. Manufacturers Are Not a Unit on the Tariff Issue From a Reciprocity Standpoint—The Drift of Some of the Chief Spellbinders.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—John A. Ewan, special correspondent of The Globe, wires:

Washington, Nov. 20.—A meeting which a local paper describes as a gathering of manufacturers to further the adoption of additional reciprocal trade conventions between the United States and other nations assembled here yesterday. It was very difficult for one who sat and listened to the addresses delivered to recognize its character as thus described. Had it been described as a meeting convened in praise and support of a copper-bottomed, double-riveted, lead-pipe-cinch tariff its features might have been easily recognized. Certainly the voices of reciprocity yesterday were quite feeble, while those for leaving the tariff alone were of the deep, resonant bass order.

Reciprocity may have a greater voting strength than present appearances give warrant for believing and at all events it is quite clear that there is a split in the ranks of the manufacturers, and that from this on there will be discussion of the merits or demerits of greater fiscal freedom, and if one were to judge by the speech of Mr. Charles Heber Clarke, the chief spellbinder for the section which says leave well enough alone, the reciprocitarians should have the best of the arguments at least.

Report of the Meeting.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Many of the manufacturing industries of the United States were represented at the national reciprocity convention which began its sessions here yesterday. There were 200 delegates present. The convention is representative of all sections, and its object is to give expression to the views of the manufacturers generally on the subject of reciprocity.

C. H. Clark of Philadelphia made a strong plea to the convention for protection. He took a position against any modification of the tariff, and against tariff concessions, such as he believed to be in contemplation.

Frank Leake, representing the Manufacturers' Club of Philadelphia, favored the creating of a Department of Commerce and Manufactures.

George P. Seabury of New York advocated the upbuilding of a strong merchant marine and construction of an Isthmian Canal as paramount in importance to reciprocity treaties. He urged a "procrastination in general commercial reciprocity."

George A. Loughlin of Wheeling, W.Va., interested in the manufacture of steel billets, arraigned the United States Steel Company.

Mr. Charlton Invited.

Buffalo, N.Y., Nov. 20.—At a meeting of the Floor Committee of Buffalo Merchants' Exchange yesterday, it was decided to invite Hon. John Charlton of Canada to address the Exchange on the question of closer trade relations between this country and Canada, and requesting Mr. Charlton to name the date.

City Treasurer Suspended.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 20.— Mayor Diehl has suspended Philip Gerst from his office of treasurer of the City of Buffalo, charging him with misconduct in office, in keeping inaccurate and false books of account, making it appear that the amount of cash on hand, belonging to the city, was $30,000 and upwards in excess of the actual amount of cash on hand; with borrowing upwards of $30,000 prior to the examination of March, 1901, and placing the same in the city treasury or in somebank to the credit of the city, thereby concealing an actual deficiency in the amount of cash on hand and belonging to the city, and, after examination, returning the amount to the lender; with loaning $8,000 to the Metropolitan Bank, and, finally, with appropriating to his own use during the year 1901 various sums of money.

It Strikes the Heart.

Not only is the victim of Rheumatism a constant sufferer, but he lives in continual dread that the disease will reach the heart, which means sudden and unexpected death. Rheumatism can only be cured when the uric acid is removed from the blood by the healthy action of the kidneys. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills make the kidneys healthy and vigorous, and so gradually and thoroughly cure Rheumatism by removing the cause. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

Call It Colossal Fake.

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 19.—An evening paper published here reproduces from The San Francisco Call, the sensational story of an alleged conspiracy in the Yukon to overthrow Canadian rule there, and establish a republic. Prominent Klondikers, who have come to Vancouver for the winter, state the story is a "colossal fake." In seattle, Wash., U.S.A., the story is also regarded in the same light.

Mother Found Him Dead.

Thornhill, Nov. 19.—Fred Miller, the unmarried 28-old-son of Andrew Miller of this place, committed suicide Monday afternoon by hanging himself in his father's barn. No cause is assigned for the rash act. He had gone gathering beech nuts Sunday morning with some friends, and failed to return for dinner. His mother went out to the barn and found him hanging dead.

Defy Bobrikoff's Order.

Stockholm, Nov. 20.—Unexpected developments have resulted from Governor-General Bobrikoff's order to report the names of officials guilty of signing the people's petition to the Czar. The Senate has informed the Governor-General that several of its own members and many officials of Bobrikoff's staff exercised their constitutional rights to petition their Sovereign. The Senate adds, that if that is a crime, some other body than the Senate must be asked to continue the inquiry. Governor-General Bobrikoff has, accordingly, determined to appoint other investigators.

IT'S A CASE THAT WARRANTS UNBRIDLED ENTHUSIASM. We are bound to make it so—we will put it to a point that will do greater honour to this great store. If you don't want to buy come and look on. WEDDED IN SMITH.

Marriage of Mr. Samuel McConkey to Miss Eunice Etta Cromie on Wednesday Last.

The home of Mr. Charles Cromie, Smith, was the scene of a happy event on Wednesday evening, Nov. 13th, when his eldest daughter, Eunice Etta, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Samuel McConkey, of the same township.

The ceremony was performed at 6 o'clock by Rev. G. Nickle, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a gown of white silk, with veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. She was assisted by Miss Annie McConkey, who was attired in white organdie, and carried a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums. Mr. A. Lorne Cromie, brother of the bride, assisted the groom.

Miss Cullen, of Peterborough, played the wedding march, and at the conclusion of the ceremony a substantial wedding dejeuner was served, after which a very pleasant time was spent in social amusements.

CATHEDRAL WEDDINGS.

Nuptials of Mr. Bert Kennedy to Miss Margaret McCarthy.

A quiet though interesting event took place at 8 o'clock this morning at St. Peter's Cathedral, when Mr. Bert Keanedy, the popular wine clerk of the Queen's Hotel, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Miss Margaret McCarthy, daughter of Mr. J. McCarthy, No. 137 Lake street.

The ceremony was performed by Ven. Archdeacon Casey.

The bride was charmingly attired in blue silk velvet, trimmed with point lace, and carried a beautiful bouquet of chrysanthemums. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie McCarthy.

The groom was supported by Mr. Timothy Carnaham.

The newly married couple will leave this afternoon for their honey moon trip for Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo and Rochester, the home of the groom, after which they will return to town.

The groom is very popular with the guests at the Queen's, and with a large circle of intimate friends, while the bride, too, has many estimable qualities. Their many friends will join in wishing them every prosperity and happiness.

HOULIHAN — RANGER.

At St. Peter's cathedral yesterday afternoon Miss Amelia Ranger, daughter of Mr. Moses Ranger, Parnell street, was united in marriage to Mr. James Houlihan, of town. The bride's maid was Miss Adelaide Ranger, sister of the bride, and the best man Mr. John Houlihan, of Downeyville, brother of the groom. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. O'Brien. Mr. and Mrs. Houlihan will reside on Parnell street. The groom is the genial wine clerk of the Southern Hotel, and the many beautiful presents he received only testify to the esteem in which he is held.

Phrenology and Palmistry.

The science of phrenology is only made valuable in the hands of a skillful and conscientious student. That much of one's character can be revealed by the shape of the head is unquestionably true. By close study and long experience a few men have become singularly successful in accurately delineating character and destiny. Among the few who have made an unquestionable reputation in the science is Prof. O'Brien, of Toronto, who has given it a close study for twenty-five years. This gentleman is now visiting Peterborough and he comes well recommended. In addition to flattering testimonials from the press and prominent people, he received a particularly strong recommendation from the Judge and Jury at the Toronto General Sessions held on March 14th, 1901. The Professor will only be in Peterborough for a short time. See advertisement in another column.

LOTS OF LIMESTONE.

It is of the Quality Required in the Manufacture of Beet Sugar.

His Worship Mayor Denne is leaving nothing undone to secure for Peterborough the establishment of a sugar beet factory, and it is to be hoped that in his efforts he will be supported by the people of the town and country. Following up the excellent analysis of the sugar beets Mayor Denne this morning received from R. Harcourt, assistant chemist at the Agricultural College, Guelph, a report of a satisfactory nature as to the analysis of the limestone in this vicinity. It might be said that limestone is a most indispensable article in the manufacture of beet sugar, and it is important that this should be obtainable in large quantities in the vicinity in which a beet sugar factory is located. As a matter of fact there is plenty of this limestone around Peterborough. The sample which was sent to Guelph for analysis was obtained Bickell's farm, about half way between Peterborough and Lakefield. Great quantities of this could be brought down the canal, to a factory located in Peterborough, at a nominal cost.

The report of Mr. Harcourt is as follows:

T. H. Denne, Esq., Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir, — We have the sample of limestone rock sent from Peterborough on October 7th, and by making an extra push, have now the results of analysis.

Sulphuric acid.....	trace
Carbonic.....	41.310
Silica.....	3.245
Iron and aluminum...	2.235
Lime.....	49.545
Magnesia.....	3.630
Organic matter...	18
	99.225

The rock contains over 90 per cent. pure calmia carbonate (Ca Co3) and but small amount of magnesia and silica the two injurious constituents for sugar beets.

Trusting that this will be satisfactory to you,

I remain,
R. HARCOURT.

DEPUTATION HOME.

The Mud Lake Bridge Matter Discussed at Ottawa.

Warden Fitzgerald, County Councillors Anderson and Hawthorn, and Mr. J. B. McWilliams, returned this morning from Ottawa, where they had an interview with Hon. A. G. Blair, Minister of Railways and Canals, regarding the Mud Lake Bridge matter.

The Dominion Government, at the commencement of the work, agreed to pay one third of the total cost. The Minister of Railways and Canals, in some way understood that the total cost was $22,000. However, it was $25,000, and the deputation went down to point this fact out. They were quite satisfied with their interview, and will, they believe, receive pretty nearly what they asked for.

WANT AN EMBEZZLER.

Frank E. Clohan is Needed Down in Pittsburg—A Description of Him.

The town and county police have received a circular from the Perkins Union Detective Agency, Pittsburg, Pa., in which a reward is offered for the arrest and detention of Frank E. Clohan, indicted by the grand jury of Ohio County, W. Va., for larceny and embezzlement.

Clohan resided at Wheeling, W. Va., with his father, mother and brothers. He is of Scotch descent, and American born.

He was a clerk in the Wheeling Corrugating Company, and he entered into a scheme with other persons whereby he embezzled from the company $8,000 or more.

After his flight, it was reported by some of his friends that he had married a young lady in Wheeling, but this statement has not so far been verified.

The description given of Clohan is as follows:

Age, about 24 years; height, 5 feet 7 1-2 inches; weight, 150 pounds; colour of hair and eyes, dark. Is a good dresser, but rather inclined to be modestly rather than flashily dressed.

GOLF.

The Examiner has received a query couched in the following terms: "Would you kindly inform a large number of the members of the Golf Club to whom it is a matter of great interest, who it is that holds the keys of the Club, and by whose authority?" It is up to the secretary to answer the question.

HOCKEY.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Hockey Club will be held in the rink parlours on the evening of Tuesday next.

A PRESENTATION.

Of a Very Handsome Clinical Thermometer.

Miss Clara Clark, graduate of the Nicholls Hospital Training School for Nurses, who left to-day for New York, where she will fill a position in St. Andrew's Convalescent Home, was called upon last evening by a number of the members of St. John's choir, of which she was a member, and presented with a clinical thermometer enclosed in a very handsome sterling silver case.

A very enjoyable social evening was afterwards spent, refreshments being served at the close.

IT IS A FAKE.

How a Man Obtained Money From the Dressmakers.

A fake, the principle of which is an old one, has been brought to the attention of the local police department. The victims on this occasion were several local dressmakers, who have been taken in to the extent of $2.50 each, being the amount of a yearly subscription to an alleged dressmaking journal.

The gentleman represented himself to be an agent for the Paris fashion Company, and filled in a blank form as a receipt, signing himself as "F. J. Wood, 810 Broadway, New York."

Enquiry elicited the fact that there was no 810 Broadway, nor any agency such as the Paris Fashion Company.

The man was around here about two weeks ago, and the dress makers should be on the alert.

HUNTING NOTES.

Another Peterborough Party Home Again—The Blewett Party Back.

Dr. Greer and Mr. J. D. Collins have returned from the Parry Sound District, where they have had exceptionally fine sport during the past couple of weeks. The rest of the party was composed of Cobourg men, and by all accounts they must be a very fine lot of fellows to hunt with. Game is very plentiful in the Parry Sound District this season, and if the party had taken canoes with them each man could easily have secured far more than his limit, should he have felt so inclined. Heretofore, it seems, the deer have all been shot on the runways, but this year they were able in every case, with but two exceptions, to get into a small lake, which was only half a mile from the camp. Consequently, as the party had no boats the deer had to be shot from the shore, at distances varying from 250 to 400 yards. Rafts had to be constructed in order that the carcases might afterwards be towed to shore. Naturally, a good many of the deer were able to get out of the lake, as it is no easy task to hit a moving mark at the above stated distance. Mr. Collins is reported to have done some exceptionally fine shooting.

A hunting party from Peterborough, Campbellford and Port Hope, passed through to-day to their homes from the Haliburton district. They secured two deer each, among the lot being several fine bucks. In addition to the deer they succeeded in killing a large black bear, wighing over two hundred pounds. Some of the members of the part were, Messrs Alf. Simpson, Peterborough; J.T.Henwood, Port Hope; Thos. Callaghan, Campbellford.—Lindsay Post.

Mr. E. C. Complin, who has been back at Jack's Lake, states that there are large numbers of wild geese in that vicinity.

Messrs. Chris Graham and Paddy Carroll, are back north on a duck-shooting trip.

THE BLEWITT PARTY.

Among the oldest and most successful hunters in the County of Peterborough, the men bearing the name of Blewitt take no second place. This year, they, as usual, were as successful as the law would allow. The personnel of the party was Messrs. W. Blewitt, Jonathan Blewitt, Mitchell McClure, Geo. Brooks and Rev. W. A. Gunton. The party was out in time to get the dogs out at day break on Nov. 1st, and "the minister," as he was called, joined them on Monday the 4th.

The camp was situated on the north shore of Loniche's Lake, at the foot of Long Lake. The hunting was done mostly in the woods, only three deer being killed in the water. The camp was most comfortable, being a tent fourteen feet square, with six foot walls, a good camp stove, a rustic table and a comfortable bed of boughs and marsh hay. When the winds howled and the rain and snow beat down there was a sense of comfort and security while they watched the stove grow red.

The senior member of the party knows how to keep them "out," of Poplar Lake in good style. He was also noted for his wood-cutting and his bed-making qualities. The only good natured fault found was that he and Geordie talked "cheese" too much. Mordecai is a crack shot, being able to smash a bottle at a hundred yards on the water while tossing on the waves. He was also a good hand at frying fish, but drew the line at dish washing. Geordie came late and went away early, but his company was enjoyed. He is an old hunter, and can throw cold lead in proper style. Mitchell is a professional, and has a faculty of cutting their legs off, but if going too fast he simply bores them through the lungs. He knows how to put out the dogs, and give them three runs in about five hours without tiring them, and yet making the deer "skat." Johnnie is a good mate for him. He knows almost every lake, river, pond, hill and rock and clump of trees in the back country. The runways are about as familiar to him as the cow paths on his uncle's farm. He can "stop them" at long range and in hard places. The minister is more accustomed to shooting from the platform than from Wasson's runway, but if he hits as hard from the platform as he hit the largest buck the party got, someone will feel it. He did not need to be excused either when carrying out was on, but shouldered the deer and did his part. He can make vegetable soup and cook potted meat that is pleasing to the palate.

The evenings flew by, and the woods rang with the hearty laughter that followed conversation, story-telling and practical joking.

No man in this party shot with "silver" bullets, as did some of Peterborough's men, but simply used the lead ones, and were willing to bear the laugh of the fellows at home if they could not kill anything. Each member of the party did his duty, was agreeable, kept good natured and sober. They got through on Wednesday, moved out their venison to the head of Long Lake on Thursday, and arrived home on Friday evening.

Keeping it out of the Paper.

There are interested parties ready to throw themselves into the breach at every important occurrence and importune the newspapers to suppress some news item, and sometimes it happens several times a week. Men will expect an item to be suppressed when the entire community is already talking about it, and its publication would harm no one. If the paper declines to leave out the item the applicant becomes very indignant; if it yields and a contemporary later publishes the news it never occurs to the gentleman that he has injured the legitimate business of a newspaper and that he ought to apologize. On the contrary, when a local newspaper leaves out an item which appears later in an out-of-town journal, the very men who ask for its suppression are the first to say, "You must read foreign papers to get the news." Did it ever occur to those who request a newspaper not to publish a report that it would be just as reasonable to ask a merchant not to make a sale? You are asking the newspaper to omit its most attractive feature and to become tedious merely for your benefit. Possibly you may have business relations with the newspapers. That certainly gives you no right to make exactions.—Kingston Whig.

WAS A VERY NOVEL AFFAIR.

Mr. James Kendry M. P. Occupied the Chair—Mrs. Parker and Others Take Part in the Programme.

The handsome building of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. has been the scene of many delightful entertainments in its day; entertainments of various kinds, gotten up for various purposes, and attended by various sized audiences, but the handkerchief sale and concert, which was held yesterday afternoon and in the evening will go on record as one of the most unique, one of the most thoroughly enjoyed, and at the same time, one of the most successful affairs that has ever been held within its walls.

The entertainment was under the control of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the local association, and while the ladies worked indefatigably for some weeks in preparation for the event, and encountered no inconsiderable amount of hard work, still that their efforts met with such success and the fact that every person appeared to enjoy themselves to an immeasureable degree, will certainly be some recompense for their untiring energy.

It was practically "Ladies' Day" at the "Y." Whilst, as before stated, the work was not confined to one day alone, still the grand finale, so to speak, came off yesterday. From an early hour in the morning the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary were up and doing. They took possession of the front of the building down stairs, with the exception of the Secretary's office, and they soon transformed the various apartments into a model home, which for a cosy appearance and attractiveness would be hard to equal.

The decorations were very pretty, to say the least. As one entered the building he could not but be struck with the artistic manner in which the handsome quarters had been arranged. The decorations were mainly of green and crimson, while here and there colours of various hues were introduced with harmonising effect. In the centre of the refreshment room stood a large table, laden with many toothsome dainties; it was the candy stand, and the taste displayed in the arrangements of the sweets, was only in keeping with the deliciousness of the same. This well patronized department was in charge of Mrs. T. A. S. Hay, Miss Laura Davidson and Mrs. H. D. Burnett, who catered very attentively to the purchasing public. The grate fire, near at hand, with its flickering flame, proved a rendezvous for many of the ladies during the early part of the evening.

THE PARLOUR.

The general reading room constituted the refreshment quarters, and it, too, was arranged with exquisite taste. Several tables, with tea services most becoming, were continuously patronized by an appreciative assemblage. The ladies in charge of this department were Mrs. John Nugent, convenor, Mrs. Francis Mason, Mrs. William Davidson, Mrs. George E. Whitan, Mrs. J. D. Collins, Mrs. J. C. Brown, assisted by Miss Maud Mason, Miss Whiten and Miss Eva Whiten. To the left of the main entrance in the parlour, was a very home like place for those who desired to sit around and engage in social intercourse. The regulation furniture and equipment was augmented by a great many other pieces, which brought the furnishings up to that which they should at all times be in this apartment.

The handkerchief table was to the rear of this and was heavily stocked with various kinds and sizes of these indispensable articles. The sale committee consisted of Mrs. Sheriff Hall, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Mrs. C. B. McAllister, Miss McKibbon, Mrs. Frost and Miss Hunter.

The doll table proved to be not the least important department of the wonderful small sized departmental establishment, and was very carefully superintended by Miss Mabel Roy and Miss Barnett. They had no difficulty in disposing of their goods. The small girl bought a doll for herself; the small boy bought a doll for his sister, and the young man bought a doll for some one else's sister. It must have been some system like this that was employed, for the cute little dummies attired in the latest style, moved off, or rather, were carried off, at a great old pace. The sale continued from 4 until 7.30 during which time many town people visited the building.

THE CONCERT.

The concert which was held in Association Hall was attended by a great many and the programme was most delightful. The chair was occupied by Mr. James Kendry, M.P., who after expressing his pleasure upon being asked to preside, called upon Miss Eva Bradd and Miss Nellie Davies to render an instrumental duet. This they did, in a very creditable manner, and were followed by an instrumental duet of a slightly different character, but perhaps none the less enjoyed. Miss Winnie Debbin on the guitar and Mr. R. H. Henderson on the banjo were the artists and the rendering of a portion of the "Tail of the Kangaroo" called forth a request for an encore which was given.

A male quartette consisting of Messrs. Crane, Milne, Dawson and Mein caught the spirit of the audience in fine style and they were well received in their several numbers. Miss Georgie Dennistoun's number, while exceptionally short, was rendered with sympathetic effort, and an encore was appealed for by the audience without effect.
